CHARLES H. HOUSTON PAPERS
Collection 163-1 to 163-52

Prepared by:
Helen Rutt
June 1994

SCOPE NOTE

The papers of Charles H. Houston (1895-1950), attorney and educator, span the period from 1857 to 1950, and measure approximately twenty feet. The bulk of the papers covers the period from 1922 to 1950. Throughout most of his career, Houston practiced law full-time and taught at Howard University School of Law part-time. This collection primarily documents Houston's career as an attorney in private practice. It also consists of papers documenting his family, personal life, educational and teaching careers, and organizational affiliations.

In 1924 Houston and his father, William, founded the firm Houston & Houston, which later became Houston, Houston, Hastie & Waddy. Most of the firm's work involved domestic law. Between July 1929 and June 1935 Houston served as Vice-Dean of the Howard University School of Law, which he transformed into a training ground for civil rights attorneys. Houston's notes from a course he taught concerning civil rights are housed in the papers.

In July 1935 Houston left Howard to become full-time Special Counsel to the N.A.A.C.P, a post he held until 1938. The collection includes correspondence and other documents concerning his involvement with the N.A.A.C.P. and its legal department. When he returned to private practice, Houston also served as general counsel of the Association of Colored Railway Trainmen and Locomotive Firemen, and the International Association of Railway Employees. The collection includes both case files and correspondence from Houston's work with these organizations.

Because of his tireless effort to end racial discrimination, Houston is widely recognized for laying the groundwork for Brown v. Board of Education, the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court case that outlawed public school segregation. Among Houston's education cases that this collection documents is Pratt v. Kerr (1944), in which racial exclusion from a class in a public-supported library was found unconstitutional. In addition to case files from several education cases in the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia, the collection includes printed briefs from cases that Houston argued before the U.S. Supreme Court, including Missouri ex. rel. Gaines v. Canada (1938). Also well-documented are cases in which Houston argued against housing discrimination. The collection contains files from several cases involving the enforceability of restrictive covenants in the District of Columbia.

In 1973 Charles Houston Jr. donated the papers to Moorland-Spingarn. In 1982 Shirley T. Dickerson added family photographs to the collection.

Series Description

- Series A                    Personal Papers
- Box 163-1                Documents Houston's legal memberships, credentials, campaign for the office of Commissioner of the District of Columbia, and death. Also includes medical papers, Military papers, and a few personal items, including an autographed program from Marian Anderson's 1939 concert at the Lincoln Memorial.
- Series B                    Family Papers
- Box 163-1
to 163-4                Contains materials primarily about Houston's father, William L. Houston, including correspondence, programs, writings, briefs, and printed booklets. See also Series N, Oversize, for further William Houston correspondence.
- Series C                    Academic Career
- Box 163-5
to 163-6                Divided into two subseries: Education and Teaching. Houston's notes from classes at Harvard Law School comprise most of the educational papers. Most of the teaching materials reflect Houston's tenure as instructor at Howard University School of Law during the 1940-1941 academic year.
- Series D                    Correspondence
- Box 163-7
to 163-16                Contains both personal and professional correspondence between Houston and friends, family, attorneys, activists, academics, editors, government officials, and admirers. Documents Houston's role as vice president of the National Lawyers Guild, and his tumultuous 1945 departure from the President's Committee on Fair Employment Practice. Most letters date from the 1930s to the 1940s. See Series B, Family Papers, for William Houston's correspondence. See

Series D

Correspondence (con't.)

Series J, Cases, for correspondence emanating from Houston's legal cases. See Series K, Organizations for which Charles Houston Served as Legal Counsel, for correspondence relating to the N.A.A.C.P. and the International Association of Railway Employees.

Series E

Writings by Charles Houston

Box 163-16
to 163-18

Arranged alphabetically by title and consists of speeches, articles, memoranda, statements to congressional committees, and notes. Topics include Negroes in the military, the House Committee on Un-American Activities, integration, and lynching. Among the works are "Saving the World for 'Democracy,'" a twelve part series that Houston wrote about his World War I military experiences, published in 1940 in the Pittsburgh Courier.

Series F

Writings about Charles Houston

Box 163-18

Includes biographical sketches, articles, clippings, and programs documenting Houston's contributions and achievements.

Series G

Writings by Others

Box 163-18

Consists of unpublished writings by Houston's colleagues, including William Hastie, Alain Locke, and A. Philip Randolph.

Series H

Organizations

Box 163-18
to 163-20

Contains materials from organizations with which Houston was associated. Among these are the Citizens Committee on Race Relations, the Julius Rosenwald Fund, the National Bar Association, and the National Lawyers Guild.

Series I

Financial and Insurance Papers

Box 163-20
to 163-21

Financial papers include expense statements, an office disbursement book, bank books, tax documents, apartment leases, and receipts. Insurance papers include policies, statements, a household inventory, and a memo concerning the 1938 robbery of Houston's home. See Series N, Oversize, for a 1924 insurance policy.

Series J

Cases

Box 163-21
to 163-37

Most of the cases are grouped according to legal issue, e.g. housing discrimination. Items within the files are generally arranged chronologically, as they were filed in Houston's office. Contains correspondence, notes, briefs, restrictive covenants, photographs, and newspaper clippings. Case files chronicle disputes in which Houston or other attorneys in his firm participated, either as private counsel, or as counsel for the N.A.A.C.P. (Charles Houston only) or the International Association of Railway Employees. Among the legal issues argued were jury exclusion, housing, educational, and employment discrimination. Included in the investigations are issues of election discrimination and police brutality, as well as files from desegregation disputes that did not go to trial. See also Series N, Oversize, for oversize materials pulled from the legal files.

Series K

Organizations for which Charles Houston
Served as Legal Counsel

Box 163-37
to 163-40

Divided between two sub-series: the I.A.R.E. and the N.A.A.C.P. Correspondence comprises most of the I.A.R.E. sub-series. The N.A.A.C.P. sub-series contains correspondence, financial papers, reports, meeting minutes, press releases and committee materials. Among the correspondents are Thurgood Marshall, Walter White, and Roy Wilkins. See Series J, Cases, for case files Houston retained from his service as counsel for the I.A.R.E. and the N.A.A.C.P.

Series L Printed Material

Box 163-40
to 163-49

Printed briefs from Houston's cases comprise most of this series. Also includes annotated legal writings and subject files, most of which relate to the military and restrictive covenants. See Series J, Cases, for printed briefs from cases for which the Charles Houston Papers contains further documentation.

Series M Photographs

Box 163-49

Images include Charles Houston alone and with others, family members, and a few identified colleagues. Also contains snapshots of schools that Houston took while studying segregation in the rural South. See also Series J, Cases, for photos belonging to specific cases.

Series N Oversize

Box 163-50

Includes plats and other documents from case files.

Series O Restricted

Box 163-51
to 163-52

Contains materials that are closed to research either because of preservation or confidentiality concerns. Copies of items that are restricted due to physical deterioration are available in other parts of the collection.
