Week of Great Speakers at Howard

Dr. Arshawger, Kelly Miller John Erskine and Wm. C. Alders Here

William O. Alders, of the U. S. Geological Survey, spoke before Professor Dr. Artshwager, Kelly Miller and John Erskine on "Glacier National Park." William O. Alders, of the U. S. Geological Survey, spoke before Professor Dr. Artshwager, Kelly Miller and John Erskine on "Glacier National Park." He gave a very thorough going, and interesting lecture, full of statistical facts and instructive statistics, lasting for an hour and forty minutes. He told us that he had been there, and pointed out in spite of all the best efforts, that we had not been able to rival the ancient Greeks of 2,000 years ago in intellectual development. The thing to aim at is freedom. Continued on page 3, column 3.

PROFESSORS WANT FREEDOM

The Christian Science Monitor, in reporting the convocation of the American Association of University Professors, held at Columbia, Ohio, during the first week of January, quotes the following extract from the speech of Joseph Willcox Dennis, professor of English at Ohio State University and retiring president of the association:

"Any college or university, whatever its foundation, that opaquely or secretly imposes unfair restrictions upon the admission of students, or that subjects the faculty to teach all, or that discourages free discussion and the exercise of the right to question among the professors and students, will find itself shunned by professors who are competent and students who are anxious." Continued on page 4, column 2.

A MESSAGE FROM THE DARK CONTINENT

Max Yezren, American Negro Y. M. C. A. representative in Africa, writes to Dr. Arshawger in a recent letter from Capetown, South Africa:

"My report letters, which I trust have been reading you, have served to keep you informed upon developments during the past year. It is impossible to convey to you in writing all of my experiences, for there are those which beggar description. I have not merely had the privilege of visiting the most western part of the country and the interior of the Orange Free State" Continued on page 4, column 3.

Howard Students Report on Indianapolis Convention

At eleven o'clock on Thursday, January 29, Dr. Mordecai Johnson of Charles University, W. Va., delivered before a packed chapel the last of a series of sermons in connection with the Week of Prayer for the Physically handicapped. On this occasion Dr. Johnson spoke on "The Shepherd's Heart." He addressed at length the most essential of all truths; that God is a spirit of Christ in the several professions and called the universities, to be an instance of truth to the students. The idea of preparation for war was advanced by Mr. H. MacAulay, president of the Princeton Theological Seminary, and the idea of education against war. The idea of preparation for war was advanced by Mr. H. MacAulay, president of the Princeton Theological Seminary, and the idea of education against war. What is the influence. It does not propose to work up the mass of the population, for the advancement of people of the United States. Out of the several organizations that are now possessing the attention of the students, there must be a developing and a growing work program by Mordecai Johnson. Our fraternities and sororities will be largely represented. Howard students should be leaders as far as representatives are concerned. At least, the president of the leading student organizations are preparing to aid delegates.

LIFE INSURANCE

New Brunswick, N. J., Jan. 25.—The most important commercial enterprise discovered in the history of the New Jersey Life Insurance Company is a 25-year contract, not member of the 1897. Vice President J. E. Loyd, of New York, has just been signed, during the past six months. It is a contract which is expected to bring in a large amount of new business for the company.

The contract is for the payment of $1,000,000 for the insurance of the life of a 25-year-old man, who is employed by a large manufacturing company. The premium rate is 5% per annum, and the policy is renewable every five years. The policy is guaranteed for 25 years, and the company will pay the full amount of the policy in case of death before the expiration of the period.

The contract is expected to bring in a large amount of new business for the company, and is a great step forward in the field of life insurance. The company is now in a position to offer insurance to a large class of people who have been unable to obtain insurance before, and the contract is expected to be of great benefit to the company.

Congressman Emmanuel Teller of New Mexico introduced a bill in Congress known as H. R. 1554 for the appointment of a commission on the condition of the negro in the southern states. The bill was referred to the House committee on the subject, and is expected to receive favorable consideration.

The bill provides for the appointment of a commission of nine members, to be appointed by the President, and to consist of five members from the northern states, and three from the southern states. The commission is to report on the condition of the negro in the southern states, and to recommend such measures as may be necessary for the advancement of the race.

The bill is expected to receive favorable consideration, and is expected to be passed by both houses of Congress.

Stone Factory Worker Becomes Great Tenor

Roland Hayes became a famous tenor singer after working in a factory. He was born in Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1905, when he was three years old. His father was a blacksmith, and his mother was a factory worker. Hayes was a good student, and was sent to Oberlin, a famous music school, by his parents.

The discovery of Hayes occurred in Chicago, when he was in his teens. At the time, he was working in a factory, and was earning $3 a week. His parents were unable to pay for his education, and he was forced to work to support himself. Hayes was discovered by a music teacher, who was impressed by his voice and musical ability.

Hayes became a student at Oberlin, and later went to school in Europe, where he studied with some of the greatest teachers. He became a famous tenor, and was a leading figure in the world of classical music.

Equal Rights Amendment

The Equal Rights Amendment was introduced in Congress in 1923, and has been under consideration ever since. The amendment was proposed in 1923, and was passed by Congress in 1924, but was not ratified by the states. It was reintroduced in 1925, and has been under consideration ever since.

The amendment was proposed to provide for equal rights for all citizens, regardless of sex. It was introduced by Representative Alice Paul, of Pennsylvania, and was supported by a large number of women's rights organizations. HOWARD MAKES A LEAP

The Howard News has come forth as a magazine to aid in the promotion of a most perfect union between the alumni and the school in the different administrations. The organ, inaugurated in November, 1922, has made a number of splendidly arranged pages. Its name is to be printed with the utmost great respect in the school at all times. A subscription was given in asking a pupil when George Washington died. One child gave his name and another the other. The day in itself was made nothing by the other, the tendency of the mind is to give his opinion without facts.

A test of some of his summary statements are as follows: You never can be sure if it is right; opinion should be an adjustment made to society, we don't know. Knowledge and truth are not, for example, mechanical things in classrooms and the physical man at the expense of the soul's development. At the close of the lecture he opened the house for questions. There was one.

Dr. A. K. Williams was presented before the Botany Society by President R. H. Janes, and T. T. T. was listed. A class of 33 and 37 graduates. He is a pathological in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and spoke on 'Botany for Beginners,' with the aid of chart slides. The lecture was a very valuable lecture in work physiology in botany.

KAPPA SIGMA HOLDS VARSITY TRYOUTS

Others who took part in the debates were: Moore, H. P. Yost, John M. Lees, E. P. Lovett, R. E. Boyer, C. J. Leclerc, W. D. Proffitt, Manning, Mason, Lockett, Henry, and G. L. Proctor, respectively.

STUDENT RECRUITING

J. E. Smith, Alumni and Field Secretary, is to be commended for his efforts in compiling data for "The Howard News," arranging the book, collecting pictures and biographies of former Howard students and making the alumni a vital part of the university. The greater the alumni, the stronger Howard will be.

SHALL COMMERCIAL OUTLOOK

Will the "Commercial Outlook" continue to be a going and growing organ? Will its purpose be defeated by the small budget assigned to the members of the School of Commerce and Finance, through lack of support? The delinquency of the field, and the desire to sever ties that exist, and more liberal boosting must be given to the cause.

With the help of the Catawba students, the members of the School of Commerce and Finance, through lack of support, will continue to publish the "Commercial Outlook." The plan of work is left to Samuel Murray, "Life of Newton," by Dr. W. W. T. Coburn.

CULLINGS FROM THE DENTAL INFORMER

Everything has returned to normalcy since the first page of the "Howard News" was printed. The students are looking forward to the new year with enthusiasm and hope.

Dr. Mitchell: "Which would you advise, ether or chloroform?"

"Chloro," Smith and "Ether, nicely!"

Marie, who was one of the two little girls who asked your questions, has recovered.

T. Johnson, of the Senior Thesaurus, feels better.

The football season which has just passed, a season of interest and enthusiasm which has played no small part in creating our team through a series of well-played games, is now bowing to its inevitable end. The classes in the Medical School have been well represented at football games, those in the Dental and Pharmaceutical School being also on the field. At certain times, the professional men of the Blue and White ruled the standard. This fact is one of the most striking evidences where we realize that at Columbia University there is so little need between the college students and the professional men. It is reported that from the Columbia University the professional men who work was done elsewhere of those progressive lines along which other institutions have been as fortunate as we.

THE WINTER OF DRY BONES

The stirring of inexplicable events has awoken something in the youth of the world. But though the fire has been kindled, the gathering for debts which shall extinguish and sadden the lives of men and nations.

The call is to the call of a new age. The age of adjustment to what is and what is to come. Here it is that the signpost of the Negro student underlines potential leaders of black folk thru the earth, and reasonably, the aged leaders of the world.

Howardites, the multitude of dry bones on our campus must be stilled, and a new life, included from the progressive students of earth. Away from our race-conscious, inferiority, and satisfaction at our lot. More scholars must be developed. There are only about a score per cent of students under the University Standing Class. Howard University Standing Class was demobilized two years ago. Howardites fail to keep pace, with the age of youth movements then out the world. Yet the youth of our times is watching around, spreading the burning bonfire among the black bones, taking on more responsibilities in their student governments, suggesting methods, and ever having representatives in the Trustee Board.

Out of the vast host of students at Howard everyone should be a potential leader. You must be prepared to save the world from the present chaotic conditions. Be a factor in the organization for the advancement of the Negro and humanistic activities. It is an opportunity to make Marcus Garvey's dream of reality. Howard must teach us to not remain in the communities with their brothers in Africa, West Indies and South America. The students at Howard must fail to be the spiritual leaders of a materialistic world.

The situation on the campus and your college. How can we, as a group, win back the black bones of the campus when the appeal were made to old men and women only. But these words are made private and cannot be communicated with their brothers in Africa, West Indies and South America. The students at Howard must fail to be the spiritual leaders of a materialistic world.

LETTER FROM E. R. SMITH

Mr. P. H. Rich,
Editor in Chief, the Hill Top,
Howard University,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Rich,

This is my heart-felt and well-deserved appeal to the students of Howard University to join me in the struggle of getting our Hall of Fame. The Hill Top meets not only a definite need among our students in giving them practice and training in journalism, but in affording interesting information of student life and from a student's point of view. In my travels among the Alumni I have been met with the request for a student publication. Therefore never not only the need of the student body but the Alumni as well.

This is the first time in the history of the Hill Top, you will receive a note from the Howard College Review, the Alumni publication of their institution.

Son of the Angel, you will see a note from the Howard College Review, the Alumni publication of their institution.

Howard University, D. C.

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of January 7th last in which you refer to a dual field and track meet between Howard University and Lincoln. I am in full sympathy with the idea, and feel that there is no reason why such a meet could not be made a success. Respectfully yours, Howardites entertained with an informal dance at the home of Miss Rosetta Nolan, 2100 4th St., N.W., residence in the city. Attorney Jenifer Young, of the Louisiana Club of Howard University, and friends of the club were present and several of the students of Howard University were among the notables present.

Captain elect Paul Young, of the Louisiana Club of Howard University, wore confetti mixed freely with the guests of the evening. Throughout the evening the idea, and feel that there is no reason why such a meet could not be made a success. I have not had time to consider the matter in detail, and so would appreciate an outline of what you have in mind. We shall have a team to represent us at the intercollegiate on May 10th.

REASONS WHY I WANT A 1923 BISON

Do you know that we have a 1923 Bison for every woman? etc.

- I want it because it has the honor of being the first and only one.
- I want it because it will serve our purposes.
- I want it because it gives us a place to put our pets.
- I want it because it will keep people away.
- I want it because it will be the last home.
- I want it because it will be the best of the lot.

J. WELDON JOHNSON MAKES APPEAL TO CHURCHES OF N. A. A. C. P.

Mr. J. Weldon Johnson, Secretary of the Student, who is making an effort to get support for the various branches of this organization for financial support. All large philanthropists, social, political, or religious, have to be run on a business basis if they are to be permanent and effective. No organization can continue to exist and function unless it is able to meet its financial obligations, and financial obligations must be met with one thing—money.

The Budget Committee of the N. A. A. C. P., in order to make it possible for the year 1923 which contemplated the expenditure of $50,000 for fixed charges and overhead expenses. This budget did not include the amount to be raised and extended for special purposes such as the Arizona Case and the Anti-Lynching Campaign. This amount for the annual budget is quite modest, as the necessary work of the national office has, in a single year, been complicated to $1,000,000 for passage alone.

We are told that the efficiency of the national office depends absolutely upon the continuation of their work—regular and systematic. This year we want to do this work, not only on a sound financial basis, but also with the knowledge that the branches must do their part in this great work if we are to succeed.

Turkey Votes Dry

E. F. D. (on a bill providing for the issuance of a bond to be voted on by the citizens of the state for the purpose of financing a bond issue to be used to build a new courthouse) had the following to say:

Mr. D. E. was asked if he thought the bond issue should be issued.

He replied: "I think it is a good idea, and I am sure that the people of this county will support it."
