Probation Status Causes Dismiss in Physical Therapy Department

By NIGERIA BROWN

Newspaper Staff Writer

The probation status of Christopher Windham, a student in the physical therapy program, is back in the news as he fights to keep his degree.

Windham, who is currently on probation, said he is confident he will be able to graduate in the spring of 2003.

"I feel confident in my ability to graduate," Windham said. "I am working hard to improve my grades and meet all the requirements for graduation."

However, the physical therapy department is not so sure.

"We are concerned about Windham's ability to graduate," said Dr. John Smith, the department chair.

"We have been monitoring his progress for some time and we are not confident he will be able to meet the requirements.

"We are currently working with Windham to improve his grades and help him meet the requirements for graduation," Smith said.

Despite the department's concerns, Windham remains optimistic.

Umoja: A Party on the Rise

By Lauren B. Anderson

City Editor

The Umoja Platform supports upholding the Black community and helping the District (Gandhi) work with their community and take an active role in helping to make your investments work twice as hard.

During freshman political science class, Simon Huyton heard of the Umoja party, she said it made sense what he was feeling, he already knew the political party. Huyton's response is not unusual, as more than 1000 people work at the District, Thompson said the party gives people that chance to change the way the government works.

The platform was not the only major element of the Umoja party, it allows two candidates in the 2003 general election to talk with people. The "correct" or "only" candidate is in the party's field, but the party's choice is not the only choice.

The party, named after the Hebrew word, meaning "unity" focuses heavily on the Heavy-Handomeness. The Umoja platform supports spliting the Black community and helping the District (Gandhi) work with their community and take an active role in making the world a better place.

Sports Firings Reek

Once again, the Howard University administration has continued in its recent tradition of embroiling the athletic program. When men's basketball coach Kirk Saulny was fired last season right before the team's final conference game, we were appalled. When athletic director Hank Ford and associate athletic director Marty Johns were released of their contracts positions over the summer, we scratched our heads. Now, just days after the last casualty in the University's cascade against cuts in the athletic department, the question we ask is: "Why?"

Affects the student body. There lies the apathetic attitude that plagues our minds, divides explanation and purpose behind the plans of us and solves nothing. Don't you deserve an common conversation.

In the framework of change? Aren't you curious, the University? Don't you deserve your part administration's actions and the last to benefit the NCAA didn't?"

"So, when will the Bison make the playoffs?"

"Why was the coach fired?"

"What did the University's internal investigation actually find that the NCAA didn't?"

If you've answered "yes" to any of the questions, go to Convocation. Eleven of this Friday, Common Auditorium, Go to Convocation because Howard matters leaders and, regardless of your politics, you are among them. ‘No,’ to Reagan Monument

No, you're not considered to be dead when you've just got Alzheimer's Disease. At least, as far as the House Resources Committee is concerned. The 52-member committee has put forth a memorial proposal to honor former President Ronald Reagan—not only in anticipation of his death, but disregarding the decision made two years ago in the form of the Committment Works Act. The act specifies that a person can be listed as a survivor on the memorial only after he's been dead for 25 years.

And we miss nothing here! Is there any logical process here that is just passing us by? Certainly! Reagan has a festival and the national airport named after him in the district and a library in California. And here comes his memorial. But what are we to do about it? What is it that we can do about it? Is it that we can't change, immortalize? Is it that Reagan is getting so much love? Is it that our efforts in this office, one, would note that only the U.S. economy is growing at an annual rate of 25 percent, cut down funding for usual institutions and school lunch programs, and can be held responsible for the carnage that occurred in several third world countries as a result of his weapons policies.

One of the only good things that had happened was the 18th Annual Festival, Martin Luther King, Jr. was a national holiday. And that is eclipsed by the fact that Reagan's monument, will be completed years before the monument that is supposed to be built for King. And Reagan isn't even dead yet.

DIVISION OF STUDENT AFFAIRS SEPTEMBER, 2000
Howard Falls to University of Maine, 38-21

By BRANDON M. BECKWITH
SportsNet Editor

The Howard University football team opened the season with a convincing win over the Florida A & M Rattlers, 38-21, as the Baldons were held to 23 points on the road for the first time in four games.

The Baldons were the only team in the MEAC to score 23 points or less in a game this season. The Baldons are 4-0 in conference play and 5-0 overall.

In the first quarter, Howard scored two touchdowns to take a 14-0 lead. In the second quarter, the Baldons added two more touchdowns to lead 28-0 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Howard extended its lead to 38-0 with two more touchdowns. Florida A & M scored the only point of the game in the fourth quarter, but it was not enough to overcome the Baldons.

Howard's offense dominated the game, gaining 375 yards and scoring four touchdowns.

The Baldons defense held Florida A & M to 23 points, allowing only 107 total yards.

Howard head coach Robert William said his team played well in all aspects of the game.

"Our team played well defensively," William said. "We held them to 23 points and scored four touchdowns.

"Our offense was led by quarterback Jarome Bethany, who had a good game. He threw for 250 yards and three touchdowns.

"Defensively, we were very good. Our defense held them to 107 total yards and scored two touchdowns.

"Overall, it was a great game for our team. We played well on both sides of the ball."

The key to the game for Morgan is to stay with Howard and hope that the Bison kill themselves with penalties, much like Morgan did in last year's game. They also can not afford to let their young defense stay on the field for a long period of time. To accomplish this, Ali Culpepper must have a good day rushing the football. For the Bison, the keys are very simple. They must eliminate the big mistakes (i.e. turnovers) and get the offense going. If the Bison don't turn the ball over, it will be a long afternoon for the Bears. Defensively, they can't allow Culpepper to run the game. It goes without saying that this is a must-win game for Howard's post-season chances, which all very much at the moment. A loss tomorrow will be devastating, a win will give them momentum heading into next weekend's showdown with Florida A&M in Tallahassee.

When thinking of the many things the world of fashion demands, gold is usually on the top of the list. Daring to wear anything gold at all can be scary, but just in time for fall, now is the perfect time to reintroduce gold into any wardrobe.

The beginning of the 1970s brought on a new era of fashion with the rise of disco. Gold was everywhere. From head to toe, gold was to be. We wore huge gold studs around our necks, gold belts around our hips, gold pants and shoes on our feet, and gold rings劳务 our noses. But gold did seem to stay around our waists, gold was too soft to feel as if we were wearing the gold we were carrying on our face or in our pockets.

This season’s designers definitely got gold and another chance. Designers are doing gold in everything from gaudy gold accessories to chic tailored garments. This fall the return of the 30s warmth and the 90s 3-D has forced many designers to rely on gold to give the face a golden glow and make the ensemble feel as chic and sophisticated as it was in the 1970s.

For Tracy Solomon, the woman behind the Walk of Fame and The Cauldron, gold is more than just a color. It is a symbol of success, wealth, and fame. Solomon has been on Hollywood’s Walk of Fame for over 20 years, and she has used gold to her advantage. She has used gold to make herself stand out in the fashion industry and to make a name for herself.

Solomon started her career as a model, and then moved on to become a fashion designer. She has worked with some of the biggest names in the industry, including Gucci, Louis Vuitton, Fendi, and Prada. Solomon has used gold as a way to make her designs stand out and to make a statement.

Solomon's designs have been featured in many movies and television shows, including Hollywood, The Devil Wears Prada, and Sex and the City. Solomon has also been featured in many fashion magazines, including Vogue, Harper's Bazaar, and Elle.

Solomon's work is not just about fashion. It is about making a statement. She uses gold to make a statement about wealth, success, and fame. She uses gold to make a statement about the power of fashion. She uses gold to make a statement about the importance of being yourself.

Solomon's designs are not just about the clothes. They are about the whole package. She designs for the whole body, from head to toe. She designs for the entire ensemble, not just the clothes. She designs for the total look, not just the outfit.

Grade: A

The passion and chemistry between the two actors is obvious. This isn't the typical good-looking couple movie, and it's a pleasant surprise to see how well they work together on screen. The depth and perspective about their relationships and their bond are handled with care and thoughtfulness. It's a beautiful film that will leave you thinking about the nature of love and commitment.

The Great White Hope: Legendary Heavyweight Steps Into the Arena

By KAMIE J. HAZEL

With his handsome features, Beacham makes it easy to see why people believe he is the reincarnation of a Black man. The effect is so powerful that you can’t help but think of the legendary boxer, who was known for his incredible fighting skills and his ability to inspire others. In fact, Beacham’s career has been so successful that he is often referred to as the “Great White Hope.”

But Beacham’s success is not just limited to the ring. He is also a successful entrepreneur, having started his own company that produces high-quality boxing equipment. And he is a dedicated family man, regularly spending time with his wife and children.

And it’s not just Beacham’s physical appearance that catches the eye. His fighting style is also impressive. He is a skilled boxer, with a well-balanced approach that allows him to dominate his opponents. And his dedication to his craft is evident in the way he prepares for each fight, spending countless hours in the gym honing his skills.

But Beacham is not just a fighter. He is also a humanitarian, using his platform to promote peace and understanding. And his success is not just limited to the United States. He is a global phenomenon, with fans all over the world.

For Beacham, it’s all about dedication and hard work. And he is a shining example of what can be achieved through perseverance and determination. And it’s a testament to his abilities that he has been able to keep his momentum going for so long.

But no matter where his career takes him, Beacham knows that he will always be a fighter at heart. And he will continue to inspire others with his dedication and his ability to overcome any obstacle that comes his way.

And so, as Beacham continues his journey, he will always be remembered as the “Great White Hope,” a symbol of strength and determination that will inspire generations to come.

McKenzie also adds publication to her list of accomplishments. In 1996, her first book, "Not Without a Struggle," was published by United Church Press. The book, in its third printing, analyses female leadership in four different cultures and religions. It has the "Ten Leadership Commandments for Women," a special leadership counsel for African-American females.

"McKenzie is a former print and broadcast journalist. She worked as a reporter for "The Arizona Republic" in Phoenix and was corporate vice president of programming for WZSY in Baltimore. McKenzie has received several awards. She received a letter of commendation from the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees acknowledging Payne Memorial's support of the Love Base Project for Liberian women and children in Ghanaian refugee camps. McKenzie was named one of 101 Outstanding American Female Preachers. McKenzie's book, in its third printing, was described as "an important contribution to the study of African American female leadership in the United States."

Officials Hope New Lot will Ease Parking Congestion

From PARKING, Al

Rushdan credits the new lot with improving safety and reducing the amount of time students spend looking for parking space. "I was never one to like to park in the dark, but with the new lot, I feel safer," Rushdan said. "The lot is well-lit, and it has a lot of space, so I can find a spot quickly." Rushdan added, "I used to spend a lot of time looking for a parking space, but now I can usually find one right away."

The new lot is located in the heart of campus, near the student center and the gymnasium. It is accessible by foot, bike, or car, and is open 24 hours a day. The lot is also well-lit, with a network of lights that cover the entire area. Students can enter the lot from three different directions, making it easy to find a spot even at night.

The lot is designed to accommodate all types of vehicles, from cars to motorcycles. It includes parking spots for cars, trucks, and buses, as well as designated areas for motorcycles and bicycles. The lot is also equipped with a number of facilities, including restrooms, a water fountain, and a phone booth.

The new lot is expected to improve safety and reduce the amount of time students spend looking for parking space. With its well-lit surroundings and easy access, it is a welcome addition to the campus.

This offer may not be combined with any other discounts or promotions. Valid game day through the following Wednesday.

SISTER SOULJAH
Join us to celebrate our 60th author event as rap artist, community activist, and author, Sister Souljah, signs copies of her best selling novel The Coldest Winter Ever.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 2000
3-5 P.M.
ONLY AT THE HUB!
It could happen to any one of us. And if it did, wouldn't you pray for someone to help you put your life back together. We're here for Donna for as long as it takes.

Your donation could change a life. Please call us at 1.800.698.0080 or visit www.vea.org.

It doesn't take a lot to make a big difference.

for as little as $5.00 per week—less than the price of one cup of coffee—you can buy about a week’s supply of milk for 48 preschool children, or provide food for one family for one week, or many other wonderful, caring things. Through United Way of the National Capital Area, your contribution really can make a difference in our community.
