October 20, 1903.

My dear Mrs. Ruffin :--

I have your letter of October 12th, which reached me in New York. Both Mrs. Washington and myself are very sorry that you could not come South with me, but I write to say that we shall be very glad to have you come any time during November, or either of the winter months that will best suit you. It is my present plan to be in Boston some time in November, and shall talk the matter over with you at that time. It is possible that I shall be coming through by about the 30th of November, or a few days before that date.
