Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010
A Homecoming Blast

By Jennifer Clagman, Hilltop Staff Writer

More than 100 students marched from the flagpole to the steps of the Department of Justice Wednesday, protesting the recent actions of Fairfax County police officers investigate the shooting death of Howard University student Prince Jones by a Prince George's County police officer last June.

According to police, Carlton Jones, 22, a Prince George's County police officer and a member of Omega Psi Phi's Alpha Chapter and University Student Association held a rally that encircled the flagpole to address their concerns about racial profiling, police misconduct and other larger systemic issues.

"Frustrated by the fact that Prince Jones was a student, and the football game against Norfolk State University will be tomorrow. More than 20,000 students and alumni participated in the protest, which was led by members of the Pan-Africanists of the Pan-Hellenic Council, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Iota Phi Theta, Phi Beta Sigma and the Servantes of Saint Joseph.

The performance from the members of Alpha Kappa Alpha and Phi Beta Sigma thrilled the audience as they re-enacted the civil rights movement of the 1950s and 60s. Singing "Ain't got no money never was real living," several students were held in front of closed shops, Virginians to a

The Hilltop Today

The Hilltop Takes A Look At

The Relationship Between Women On Campus

By Shyrisa Prince

Women are important to Howard University, and a recent survey indicates that most students believe that women are being treated fairly.

A survey conducted by the Howard University Student Association found that 85% of students believe that women are being treated fairly, with 80% of men and 90% of women saying that they are treated fairly. The survey also found that 75% of women said they were satisfied with their treatment on campus.

National & World

President Clinton Pushes For Tougher Drunk Driving Laws

By Jane Smith

President Clinton announced Tuesday that he would propose legislation to increase penalties for drunk driving.

"We need to do more to protect our families and communities from the terrible dangers of drunk driving," Clinton said. "Drunk driving is the leading cause of death among drivers under the age of 21, and it costs our society more than $10 billion a year."

The proposed legislation would increase the minimum sentence for drunk driving to three years, and would also increase the maximum sentence to five years. In addition, the bill would require that drunk drivers be tested for blood alcohol content at least once a month.

AKAs, Sigmas Win First Place at Annual Step Show

By Jack Siler & JAMYE SPI LI.EK

The ladies of Alpha chapter, Kappa Alpha Psi and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. won first place at the Annual Step Show.

"We're really proud of our students," said Alpha chapter president, Melissa Brown. "They put in a lot of hard work and dedication to prepare for this event, and it paid off.

The performance from the members of Alpha Kappa Alpha and Phi Beta Sigma thrilled the audience as they re-enacted the civil rights movement of the 1950s and 60s. Singing "Ain't got no money never was real living," several students were held in front of closed shops, Virginians to a

The Ladies of Alpha chapter, Kappa Alpha Psi and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. won first place at the Annual Step Show.

The performance from the members of Alpha Kappa Alpha and Phi Beta Sigma thrilled the audience as they re-enacted the civil rights movement of the 1950s and 60s. Singing "Ain't got no money never was real living," several students were held in front of closed shops, Virginians to a
The Black Side of the Holocaust: The One-African-German Speaks

By EKUAN TONY

We often view the Holocaust as the black side of history, but the African experience is entwined with Germany's colonial past. A small Afro-German population has existed since the 19th century and continues to grow. African Americans have roots in Germany that go back to the 18th century, and some have become influential in the country's cultural and political life. Black - German societies and clubs have been formed in several German cities, and African Americans continue to contribute to the country's cultural life. However, the experiences of these individuals have largely been ignored by historians and the general public. Many's awareness of their existence is limited to their role as consumers of German goods and services.

Mr. Michael: "Because he would have to face the concentration camp.

Mr. Michael: "I can truly say that I met some great lifelong friends right there on HU campus.

Mr. Michael: "My first introduction to Afro-German culture was when I left Germany.

Mr. Michael: "Of course.

Mr. Michael: "My first introduction to Afro-German culture was when I left Germany.

Mr. Michael: "I can truly say that I met some great lifelong friends right there on HU campus.

Mr. Michael: "My first introduction to Afro-German culture was when I left Germany.

Mr. Michael: "I can truly say that I met some great lifelong friends right there on HU campus.

Mr. Michael: "My first introduction to Afro-German culture was when I left Germany.

Mr. Michael: "I can truly say that I met some great lifelong friends right there on HU campus.

Mr. Michael: "My first introduction to Afro-German culture was when I left Germany.

Mr. Michael: "I can truly say that I met some great lifelong friends right there on HU campus.

Mr. Michael: "My first introduction to Afro-German culture was when I left Germany.

Mr. Michael: "I can truly say that I met some great lifelong friends right there on HU campus.

Mr. Michael: "My first introduction to Afro-German culture was when I left Germany.
Demystifying Politics: The Electoral College

By The Newsy
Washington Bureau

The Electoral College is the ultimate arbiter in determining who will be the president of the United States. But how does it work, and why should we care about it? Some say it is an outdated system that fails to reflect the will of the people, while others argue that it is a vital check on overreaching popular will. The Electoral College is a complex system that has evolved over time, with a mix of tradition and practical considerations driving its operation. In this article, we will explore the history and mechanics of the Electoral College, examining its strengths and weaknesses, and considering whether it is time for reform.

The Electoral College is the institution that officially determines the president and vice president of the United States. It was established by the Constitution in 1787 and has been in place ever since. The system is unique to the United States and is not found in any other country. It consists of electors, one from each state and the District of Columbia, who are chosen by the citizens of each state. The electors then meet in their respective states to cast their votes for president and vice president. The candidate who wins the majority of electoral votes becomes the president. If no candidate wins a majority, the House of Representatives selects the president from among the top three candidates. The vice president is selected from among the top two candidates who did not receive a majority of electoral votes.

The Electoral College is designed to give smaller states a voice in the presidential election. A candidate who wins the popular vote in a state but does not win the electoral votes may still lose the election. For example, in the 2000 election, George W. Bush won the popular vote in Florida but lost the electoral votes. This allowed Al Gore to win the presidency despite losing the popular vote. The Electoral College is also designed to prevent a candidate from winning the popular vote but losing the presidency. This has happened in the past, with a candidate winning the popular vote but losing the presidency. In 1800, for example, James Madison won the popular vote but lost the presidency to Thomas Jefferson.

The Electoral College is often criticized for its complexity and for giving too much power to smaller states. Some argue that it is an outdated system that fails to reflect the will of the people. In recent years, there has been a push for electoral reform, with some calling for a national popular vote system. However, the Electoral College is enshrined in the Constitution and is unlikely to be abolished anytime soon.

In conclusion, the Electoral College is a complex system that has evolved over time. It is designed to give smaller states a voice in the presidential election and to prevent a candidate from winning the popular vote but losing the presidency. While it has been criticized for its complexity and for giving too much power to smaller states, the system is unlikely to be abolished anytime soon. It will be interesting to see how the Electoral College will play out in the upcoming election and whether there will be any significant changes to the system.

Wireless Internet Installation Complete

When you've gotten into college, here's your chance to really go somewhere.

Congratulations. All the coaxing, brainstorming, and first few breakfasts have paid off. You're in college! You've got a home, a community, and if you're lucky, a new set of friends. Now it's time to take advantage of what college has to offer. One thing is for sure, if you're a student of color, you've probably been told a few times that you don't belong in college, or that you're not cut out for it. But you are. You've worked hard to get here, and you're going to make the most of your time here. You're going to explore new ideas, discover new passions, and find your place in the world.

AKAs, Sigmas Win First Place at Annual Step Show

For the third year in a row, the Alpha Kappa Alpha and Sigma Gamma Rho step teams took home the gold at the annual step show. The teams were judged on their precision, rhythm, and creative presentation. The Alpha Kappa Alpha team was judged the winners of the competition, with the Sigma Gamma Rho team coming in second.

Claireban Protests Hilltop Coverage

Editorials, Columnists' Opinions, and Other Editorial Content

The Hilltop's Editorial Board today denounced the paper for what we feel is an overzealous and offensive attack on our editorials, columnists, and other editorial content. We feel that this sort of behavior is unprofessional and disrespectful, and we will not tolerate it.

The Hilltop's special Homecoming edition ran in the papaer before the start of Homecoming. It was a hit with many students, who welcomed the chance to read about their favorite alumni and former students.

Now that you've gotten into college, here's your chance to really go somewhere.

You got this far. Now go farther.

INROADS

website: www.inroadsinc.org

503-587-5880
On Friday Biz Markie will be here from 4-6 p.m. and Saturday Prodigy from M ob Deep will be here.

Supreme Court Decision Is Only a Set Back, DC Residents Say

Store hours, Nice said special guest disc jockeys will be featured to draw an audience at Ward's are all looking forward to homecoming. While store managers will not extend store on Georgia Ave. While working, Ivory speaks of her excitement about the traditionaH festive weekend. And Ward's is not the only store preparing for the event. It seems many local businesses are catching the blue and white school spirit as they prepare for the DC residents. Nice said the store has special plans to close off the parking lot at 10 p.m.

Neither myself nor the owner is from around here. "Ivy said. But all of us here at Ward's are all looking forward to this weekend." Ivy is the store manager of the branch which moved to the Howard area. Originally from Illinois, Ivy said he has never been a part of a neighborhood of black people and anticipates Homecoming weekend, which starts today.

Are you at the store now? The door will stay open for all customers, every day of the week.

"We're going to try to sell as much as possible," Ivy said. "Also the Scarface album has been doing really well. Those CD's along with the events this weekend will increase sales even more."

Howard Alumni and Returned Volunteers

There are also plans on the part of the Mayor's office and a different type of war on Homecoming weekend. Mayor Williams and Council Chair Linda Corey are holding a city-wide Mobilization Meeting on Tuesday, November 28. At the meeting Williams had to be present to get citizens' input on the issues. Williams also helped prepare a list of questions to ask the Congress and full independence for Congress.

According to DC Vote executive director Amy W. Slommer, this election is crucial for the organization. "A political watershed is required," Slommer said. "That is what DC Vote is all about. Slommer said the organization will focus on making the situation clear to people in all 50 states. Slommer said many Americans around DC are concerned about the problem.

The DC Vote plan is to get the word out the planned distribution of DC license plates that will have the "No Taxation Without Representation" and "DC Vote"'s web address. License plates distribution is scheduled for Nov. 5.

Slommer hopes car owners in DC will support the cause by using the plates. Nice and Slommer said public support is one of the most integral parts of the bill.
We invite Howard University students to join us

Monday, October 30, 2000

Professional Skills Module, "2nd Interview Salary Negotiation"
4:00 PM - 5:00 PM
School of Business Auditorium, 2nd floor

Presentation
6:00 PM - 7:30 PM
School of Business, Faculty Lounge, 5th floor

Merrill Lynch is an equal opportunity employer.

ml.com/careers
District Residents Fight to Reopen Pennsylvania Avenue

By KERVIN MAYER BANJAN
Hilltop Staff Writer

For five years District residents and business leaders have been fighting for the reopening of Pennsylvania Avenue between 14th and 16th streets, NW, without public discussion or prior notice. The decision was a result of the April 19, 1995 truck bomb explosion in Oklahoma City. The decision to close the street has long been contentious. Traffic generated by the estimated 29,000 vehicles that would be no traffic at all from 10:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m. The plan calls for movable 60-foot pedestrian bridges to be built over such obstructions. This rerouting has been calculated to add anywhere from 20 to 45 minutes to a trip to the community. Just because we have public housing doesn’t mean people are that bad off.”

Allen Builds Hope in Ward 8

By BRADLEY ROSSER
Hilltop Staff Writer

With the re-election of Sandy Allen (D), development for Ward 8 looks good. Allen, 56, won her second term as chairperson of Ward 8 of the Council on Thursday, November 11, 2000. With only one competitor, Sandra Sassa (D), 49, Allen wins with a landslide victory.

Word on the Southeast is known for being the most populated and crime-infested part of the city. In 1995, Ward 8 recorded the largest number of home invasions and the lowest number of home invasions in the city. Allen has slowly but surely changed the image of the neighborhood. Allen, with her own program and housing facilities, Bob Bobillo, Allen’s campaign manager and the city’s housing director, has made a great impact on the community.

“Sure, we have some poverty,” Bobillo said. “But Allen is well liked, well connected, and works very closely with the community. Just because we have public housing doesn’t mean people are that bad off.”

Allen attracted 10 percent of the vote while Sassa received under 10 percent.

No stranger to poverty, Allen is a former welfare recipient and resident of Ward 8. Allen is fully aware of the negative statistics in her ward. Many of her supporters feel that connection in the area is what fuels her drive to help others in her community as she grew up.

Allen has been active on the city’s human services committees which oversee public, welfare-dependent tenants and homeless patients. The council member also served on an inter-agency coordinating panel of city and county in 1997. She was able to help improve her ward’s once-poor employs the Greater Southeast Community Hospital. The hospital has seen a drastic improvement since Allen was first elected to office in 1998. Allen said that one of the things she’s proud of is that she’s been able to help improve her ward’s once-poor employs the Greater Southeast Community Hospital. The hospital has seen a drastic improvement since Allen was first elected to office in 1998. Allen said that one of the things she’s proud of is that she’s been able to help improve hospitals in her ward.

With the election of Sandy Allen (D), development for Ward 8 looks good. Allen, 56, won her second term as chairperson of Ward 8 of the Council on Thursday, November 11, 2000. With only one competitor, Sandra Sassa (D), 49, Allen wins with a landslide victory.

Word on the Southeast is known for being the most populated and crime-infested part of the city. In 1995, Ward 8 recorded the largest number of home invasions and the lowest number of home invasions in the city. Allen has slowly but surely changed the image of the neighborhood. Allen, with her own program and housing facilities, Bob Bobillo, Allen’s campaign manager and the city’s housing director, has made a great impact on the community.

“Sure, we have some poverty,” Bobillo said. “But Allen is well liked, well connected, and works very closely with the community. Just because we have public housing doesn’t mean people are that bad off.”

Allen attracted 10 percent of the vote while Sassa received under 10 percent.

No stranger to poverty, Allen is a former welfare recipient and resident of Ward 8. Allen is fully aware of the negative statistics in her ward. Many of her supporters feel that connection in the area is what fuels her drive to help others in her community as she grew up.

Allen has been active on the city’s human services committees which oversee public, welfare-dependent tenants and homeless patients. The council member also served on an inter-agency coordinating panel of city and county in 1997. She was able to help improve her ward’s once-poor employs the Greater Southeast Community Hospital. The hospital has seen a drastic improvement since Allen was first elected to office in 1998. Allen said that one of the things she’s proud of is that she’s been able to help improve hospitals in her ward.

With the election of Sandy Allen (D), development for Ward 8 looks good. Allen, 56, won her second term as chairperson of Ward 8 of the Council on Thursday, November 11, 2000. With only one competitor, Sandra Sassa (D), 49, Allen wins with a landslide victory.

Word on the Southeast is known for being the most populated and crime-infested part of the city. In 1995, Ward 8 recorded the largest number of home invasions and the lowest number of home invasions in the city. Allen has slowly but surely changed the image of the neighborhood. Allen, with her own program and housing facilities, Bob Bobillo, Allen’s campaign manager and the city’s housing director, has made a great impact on the community.

“Sure, we have some poverty,” Bobillo said. “But Allen is well liked, well connected, and works very closely with the community. Just because we have public housing doesn’t mean people are that bad off.”

Allen attracted 10 percent of the vote while Sassa received under 10 percent.

No stranger to poverty, Allen is a former welfare recipient and resident of Ward 8. Allen is fully aware of the negative statistics in her ward. Many of her supporters feel that connection in the area is what fuels her drive to help others in her community as she grew up.

Allen has been active on the city’s human services committees which oversee public, welfare-dependent tenants and homeless patients. The council member also served on an inter-agency coordinating panel of city and county in 1997. She was able to help improve her ward’s once-poor employs the Greater Southeast Community Hospital. The hospital has seen a drastic improvement since Allen was first elected to office in 1998. Allen said that one of the things she’s proud of is that she’s been able to help improve hospitals in her ward.
"If you missed a day or two of class, it was nice to be able to get the notes easily online."

—Kelly Barrenes

As a junior chemistry/Tennis team at Course Research Center (course-research-center) and marketing representatives, Veriity.com was bought by CollegeClub.com, the number one college-oriented Web site, according to a report from Media Monitor and WC Data Online. The San Diego-based CollegeClub.com has acquired several other college-oriented Web sites including CollegeProfessor.com, CollegeResearch.com, Compete.com and collegeBons.com. The purchase seemed like a wise deal for Veriity.com, considering that CollegeClub.com's membership grew from 1 million to 3 million in 10 months, according to CollegeClub.com's Web site (http://www.collegeclub.com).

"They were survivors, having just won't regrating," said Ralph Popovich, whose Psychology 101 class was missing several classes this quarter. This fall, however, Veriity.com is no longer available.

"I have on my syllabus a line now that reminds people that the information covered in this class is the intellectual property of me, the instructor, and for them to make money from it is not acceptable," she said. Popovich and it is extremely important for her students to understand the importance of the syllabus and the need to respect intellectual property.

"If you missed a day or two of class, it was nice to be able to get the notes easily online."

—Kelly Barrenes

As a junior chemistry/Tennis team at Course Research Center (course-research-center) and marketing representatives, Veriity.com was bought by CollegeClub.com, the number one college-oriented Web site, according to a report from Media Monitor and WC Data Online. The San Diego-based CollegeClub.com has acquired several other college-oriented Web sites including CollegeProfessor.com, CollegeResearch.com, Compete.com and collegeBons.com. The purchase seemed like a wise deal for Veriity.com, considering that CollegeClub.com's membership grew from 1 million to 3 million in 10 months, according to CollegeClub.com's Web site (http://www.collegeclub.com).

"They were survivors, having just won't regrating," said Ralph Popovich, whose Psychology 101 class was missing several classes this quarter. This fall, however, Veriity.com is no longer available.

"I have on my syllabus a line now that reminds people that the information covered in this class is the intellectual property of me, the instructor, and for them to make money from it is not acceptable," she said. Popovich and it is extremely important for her students to understand the importance of the syllabus and the need to respect intellectual property.
IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN...

General Mandatory Registration for Spring 2001
Monday, November 6 - Friday, November 17

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DAY</th>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>CLASSIFICATION*</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monday</td>
<td>November 6</td>
<td>Senior</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuesday</td>
<td>November 7</td>
<td>Junior</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>November 8</td>
<td>Sophomore</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>November 9</td>
<td>Sophomore / Freshman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>November 10</td>
<td>Freshman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>November 11</td>
<td>Graduate / Professional</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>November 12</td>
<td>All</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monday</td>
<td>November 13</td>
<td>All</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuesday</td>
<td>November 14</td>
<td>All</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>November 15</td>
<td>All</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>November 16</td>
<td>All</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>November 17</td>
<td>All</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*If you are not sure of your official classification, please contact Enrollment Management/Records (806-2712), "A" Building Room 104.

- Students are required to meet with their academic advisor for discussion and approval of proposed course selections before using HU B.I.S.O.N. (202-806-4537, 7AM-7PM).

- Printouts will be available in Cramton Auditorium November 6th through November 17th.

WHEN YOU REGISTER, Think "3"

- Press "3" if you want to receive credit for your courses.
- Press "3" when you finish entering your courses to make sure that they are confirmed.
- Take 3 minutes to pick up your printout at Cramton.
WASHINGTON — The Clinton administration revealed on Friday what it called its final plan for a national law that would make drunk driving a federal offense, adding to the growing list of states that have lower blood alcohol limits.

"If you're under 21, the amount of alcohol you're in your system, the law will speak for you and there isn't a judge or a jury that can interfere," said 17-year-old Latina Taylor, who lost her life in a drunk driving accident in Los Angeles. "It's really going to save so many families."

The new law sets the impaired driving standard at .08 BAC (blood alcohol concentration), the same standard as in about 20 states that have tougher laws. The Clinton administration is seeking to make the law a federal offense in order to give federal courts a venue to prosecute drunk drivers who cross state lines.

President Clinton told families and victims that he signed the measure Monday that would create the first-ever national drunk driving law. In a telephone interview, attorney John Swomley, who represents the victims of a drunk driving accident, said the law is "an urban art form and socially responsible." He claims that hip-hop music has been "rectifying" the image of hip-hop and bringing in youngsters who are buying into the message.

Share the article:

For more information contact:

Howard University

Refreshments - Music - Fun and Fellowship!!!

JESUS?

For More Information Contact:

Sharon Wharton

The campaign will continue through the end of the year. But, for now, the focus of the debate was on the abortion issue. Between Governor Bush and Senator Gore, it was one of the most important issues of the campaign.

Likewise, neither candidate addressed the minority population question. And the racial profil¬

AlO
CHRISTINA ACKAH, competitive Homecoming rates. It is coming like a holiday season and offers Homecoming en masse, so much so that hotels in the area treat Howard's Homecoming as wonderful for alumni to show their support, to revel in our collective victory or to suffer. The support of shots from the stadium is not enough. It's important that alumni think about the memories beyond just nostalgia, more than just Homecoming. It is imperative to give back to the Howard community. We call on our alumni to support Howard in a most memorable way: monetary contributions. After all, didn't Howard University give alumni an educational experience that is priceless?

Lend a Helping Hand
Every year, alumni crowd the football stadium for Homecoming. You see them, to cheer on their alma mater, to fill up on nostalgia and to see how the University has changed. Alumni come to Homecoming en masse, so much so that hotels in the area treat Howard's Homecoming as wonderful for alumni to show their support, to revel in our collective victory or to suffer. The support of shots from the stadium is not enough. It's important that alumni think about the memories beyond just nostalgia, more than just Homecoming. It is imperative to give back to the Howard community. We call on our alumni to support Howard in a most memorable way: monetary contributions. After all, didn't Howard University give alumni an educational experience that is priceless?

Please Grow Up
I was never a problem when I got into Howard's residence halls because I was a second-year student. But it seems that when students get to their senior years, they become more problematic. Last year, two students were arrested in the residence hall and still there are people who say they were 'bad apples.' This is a college campus. The mentally challenged students put paper in the sprinklers on the fourth floor, then lit them and that started the flood. With no regard for other people, their property or safety, these students carried out a mindlessly-acted prank. More paper was found in sprinklers that could have caused even more damage. What kind of immature people would do something like that? What kind of person would get mad at the police because they were reprimanded for a disturbance they caused and go on a wild tirade like that? The Hilltop does not feel sorry for those involved in the fight. We feel this is a place for young adults, so all of us should act our ages.

Closing the Gap
More than two million people were lifted out of poverty last year as the median household income rose for the fifth consecutive year, the longest sustained rise in history. The findings, which were detailed in a Census Bureau study, reported that median income for U.S. households in 1999 rose 2.7 percent, after adjusting for inflation, to $40,800. Overall, the report showed that household incomes living below the poverty line—which last year was $17,029 for a family of four—fell to 11.8 percent from 12.7 percent in 1998.

Every economic group is seeing economic growth, with the greatest gains in percentage terms, being made by the hardest-pressed Americans,' said President Clinton in response to the economic boom. For African Americans it seems the age-old problem still applies: "We've come so far, yet we have so far to go." The median income for African Americans reached an all-time high at $27,910, but that's significantly lower than the $42,501 that the average white household takes home.

With the evolution of technology moving at high-speed things could quickly get too hard to work for African-Americans. With an ultraproductive cyber-world of computers, broadband networks and the Internet, technology may create a gap between the haves and the have-nots that can never be closed.

About This Page
The opinions expressed on the Editorial Page do not necessarily reflect the views of Howard University, its Administration, individual Hilltop Policy Board members, or the students body. The opinions expressed on the Perspectives page are those of the writers and do not represent the view of the Editorial Board.

CORRECTIONS
Due to a reporting error, we incorrectly reported that 13 students were arrested in front of the Towers last week. Only four students were arrested. We regret the error.

The Hilltop is dedicated to accuracy in its reporting and editing. Corrections should be reported to the editor at (202) 806-4748.

Corrections will run on the Editorial Page each week as they are identified.
On the 11th of December, I was ready to face the world. Now, to me, every time I reach out for my soul, but there is only the

It cannot be forgotten.

Brenna Smith in "A Political Philosophy of the Natural"
HOWARD vs. Norfolk State
HOMECOMING
Tomorrow
Sat., Oct. 28 @ Noon

Students with Capstone Cards may pick up a ticket starting at 11 am today at Blackburn Center...while they last.
No free student tickets on game day.
No ticket required to watch the game on the "jumbotron" on The Yard

Support Our Teams!!

BISON SOCCER @ Greene Stadium

HU MEN vs. Marshall U.
TODAY, Fri., Oct 27, 7:30 PM

AND...A SUNDAY DOUBLE-HEADER
Oct. 29
HU MEN vs. SUNY-Binghamton, 1 PM
& WOMEN vs. Fairleigh-Dickenson, 4 PM

BISON BASKETBALL at THE BURR
Exhibition Game
HU MEN vs. The Three Aces
Fri., Nov. 3, 7:00 PM

GOOD LUCK TO:
MEN'S & WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY TEAM AT THE MEAC CHAMPIONSHIPS
IN GREENSBORO, NC
& WOMEN'S BOWLING AT THE EPMIBC IN POCOMOKE, MD

DIVISION OF STUDENT AFFAIRS OCTOBER, 2000
BISON ROUNDUP

MEAC FOOTBALL SCORES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team A</th>
<th>Score</th>
<th>Team B</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Howard University</td>
<td>36</td>
<td>Norfolk State</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida A&amp;M</td>
<td>28</td>
<td>Delaware State</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bethune-Cookman</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>Hampton University</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>North Carolina A&amp;T</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>North Carolina A&amp;T</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MEAC STANDINGS

- Howard University
- Florida A&M
- Bethune-Cookman
- North Carolina A&T

SPORTS BRIEFS

STRAWBERRIES PICKED UP

The Bison football team has added a key player to its roster, as sophomore quarterback Vondle Long has been named the conference's offensive player of the week. Long's performance highlights a strong season for Howard University, which currently leads the MEAC conference.

TWELVES GET STARTED

Howard University football coach Brandon M. Bickerstaff has announced the start of fall camp for the Bison football team. The team will begin practicing in preparation for the upcoming season.

Tydigg's Pick of the Week

- Howard University
- Bethune-Cookman
- Florida A&M
- North Carolina A&T

Reservoir Dogs

A look at the Bison Football team's Unsung Heroes

FREE THROW Did you know?

This year's CAA Champion Charles Rogers is the only Howard Athlete in modern history to win both the men's basketball and track championships in the same year.

THE NEW AUTHORITY ON HOWARD SPORTS

The Lady Bison Spikers travelled to Greensboro, NC for the 2000 MEAC Round Robin Tournament. Story on B2

ON POINT:

For the latest in statistics, standings and updates on your favorite MEAC team, check out our website: www.meacsports.com

THE EXTRA POINT

By Brandon M. Bickerstaff

Thank you for tuning in once again. The Extra Point is your source for the latest news and updates on Howard University athletics. Stay tuned for our next installment.

FREE THROW Did you know?

This year's CAA Champion Charles Rogers is the only Howard Athlete in modern history to win both the men's basketball and track championships in the same year.
Freshman Crystal Perkins is making her presence felt on the Howard women's cross-country team.

"I'm not used to waking up for a 6 a.m. workout," said Perkins. "In high school, I never trained for cross country. I just ran to keep my mind off the race before competition."

Perkins has been the top runner for Howard's women's cross-country team and holds the top time of 20:20 minutes over the 3.1 mile course.

"I am excited about this fall," said Perkins. "I have learned that anything is possible when you work hard."

Perkins, who finished third in last year's Howard Invitational, says she is looking forward to improving her times in the future.

"I want to be the best runner for the team," she said. "I have set a goal of breaking the school record this season."
OPEN MIC POETRY FEST LIVE AT THE HUB CAFE!
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 2000
3:30-5 P.M.

Hosted by FEAMIE ALEXANDER

JOIN US IN THE CAFE AS SEVERAL OF THE EAST COAST'S FINES'T POETS SHARE THEIR SKILLS ON THE MIC.

FEATURED POETS INCLUDE:
2000 BlackWords Grand Slammin' Winner TALAA MCCRY
2000 BlackWords Grand Slammin' First Runner-Up TALAH SAKIMA
2000 BlackWords Grand Slammin' Winner TONYA MATTHEWS
Performance poet and author BONNY SAGER EVANS and more to be announced.

(202) 238-2640
WWW.DCSPOT.COM

DON'T MISS YOUR CHANCE
to get your copy of The Long Walk!

40% OFF
while supplies last.

The Long Walk
The Placemaking Legacy of Howard University

Original price
$100

NOW ONLY $60.00

HOMECOMING
2000
Tracy Price-Thompson
Friday, October 27, 3-5 p.m.
Debut novel, Tracy Price Thompson signing at Black Coffee

Clarence Nero
Friday, October 27, 7-9 p.m.
Howard University alumna Clarence Nero signs copies of his brilliant debut novel Checkin': A Child Out Of The Denline

Marcus Major
Friday, October 27, 5:30-7 p.m.
Talented author Marcus Major signs copies of his wonderful debut novel Good People.

Connie Briscoe
Saturday, October 28, after game
Homecoming treat! Best selling author Connie Briscoe signs copies of her latest release A Long Way From Home. She is also the author of Sisters and Lovers and Big Girls Don't Cry.

Mary Morrison
Saturday, October 28, after game
Howard University alumna Mary Morrison signs copies of her debut novel Soul Mate Disappointment. She is also the author of JUSTICE: Just Us, Just Me, a work of poetry.

Mosaic Literary Magazine
Saturday, October 28, after game
Mosaic Literary Magazine is an exciting quarterly dedicated to all aspects of African American and Hispanic Literature. Come out and meet Mosaic's publisher, Ron Kavanaugh. He will be on hand to take new subscriptions to this great publication.

The finest literary events...
ONLY AT THE HUB!
(202) 238-2640

DON'T MISS YOUR CHANCE
to get your copy of The Long Walk!

Homecoming Special

The Long Walk
The Placemaking Legacy of Howard University

Original price
$100

NOW ONLY $60.00

MOSAIC LITERARY MAGAZINE

Mosaic Literary Magazine is an exciting quarterly dedicated to covering all aspects of African American and Hispanic Literature. The magazine regularly features author interviews, book reviews and previews, feature articles, poetry, and excerpts of some of the latest books released.

Saturday, October 28, 2000
Immediately following the homecoming game.

Come out and meet Mosaic's publisher, Ron Kavanaugh. He will be on hand to take new subscriptions to this great publication.
The Real Deal With Sisters

By DANA CRAWFORD

This has been said that black women do not get along, but that theory would lack credence in the light of two recent publications by the same author. The author, a former actress, details in her new book, The Real Deal With Sisters, that black women do get along. This book, written in a conversational style, is a must-read for anyone interested in the dynamics of relationships among black women. The book covers a wide range of topics, from the complexities of sisterhood to the challenges of friendship. With its 200 pages of insightful commentary, The Real Deal With Sisters offers a fresh perspective on the often-treacherous terrain of black female relationships.

The book begins with a discussion of the nature of sisterhood, exploring the ways in which black women have historically supported each other, from the days of the Underground Railroad to the present day. The author traces the evolution of black women's relationships, from the days of slavery to the present day, and outlines the challenges that have shaped these interactions. She argues that the perceived lack of harmony among black women is a myth, and provides evidence to support her claim.

The book also delves into the ways in which black women have been portrayed in popular media, and how these portrayals have affected their relationships. The author challenges the stereotype of the jealous, possessive black woman, and instead offers a more nuanced understanding of the complexities of black female relationships. She argues that the portrayal of black women as having no friends is a distortion of reality, and that black women, like women of any race, are capable of forming deep and meaningful relationships.

The book concludes with a call to action, urging readers to challenge the stereotypes that have shaped their understanding of black women. The author encourages readers to engage in open and honest conversations about their experiences, and to celebrate the strength and resilience of black women. The Real Deal With Sisters is a powerful and insightful book that will challenge readers to think critically about the ways in which they perceive and engage with black women.
We invite Howard University students to join us

Monday, October 30, 2000

Professional Skills Module, "2nd Interview Salary Negotiation"
4:00 PM - 5:00 PM
School of Business Auditorium, 2nd floor

Presentation
6:00 PM - 7:30 PM
School of Business, Faculty Lounge, 5th floor

Merrill Lynch is an equal opportunity employer.
Jill Scott Shows Howard The Way

By: Jonathan C. Simms

Jill Scott is an artist and performer, known for her unique style and powerful vocals. She has been praised for her ability to connect with audiences and for her dedication to her craft. The event at Howard University was a testament to her talent and the power of her music.

The crowd eagerly awaited Jill Scott's performance at the Howard University Auditorium. The music started with a bang, and the audience was immediately captivated by Scott's sultry voice and captivating stage presence. The atmosphere was electric, and the excitement in the air was palpable.

The audience was treated to a mix of old hits and new songs, all delivered with Scott's signature style. Her range was impressive, and she effortlessly switched between soulful ballads and energetic dance tracks. The crowd was on their feet, singing along and dancing in unison.

But it was her interaction with the audience that truly set the performance apart. Scott took a few minutes to engage with the audience, sharing stories and personal anecdotes that added an extra layer of depth to her performance. She spoke about her journey as an artist, and the crowd was enamored with her authentic and relatable storytelling.

As the night drew to a close, the audience was left with a sense of awe and gratitude. Scott's performance had been a masterclass in music, and the audience was grateful for the opportunity to witness such a talented artist at work.

In the end, it was clear that Jill Scott's performance was not just a musical event, but a cultural experience. Her music had the power to bring people together, and for a few hours, the world outside melted away.

Check Out The Digital Hilltop

http://howard.edu
Shrines Tell Stories About Nigerian Society

By Louis-Gabrielle Düfry
Hilltop Staff Writer

Everyday we are taught the stories and myths that explain who we are and how important we are to the community. These stories are important to us as humans. They are the roots of our culture and our beliefs. They tell us who we are and where we come from. They are the foundation of the people who created the Sacred Figures in Nigeria.

In the exhibit, both figures are adorned with wraps which cover their lower torsos and legs. The jewelry includes a gold bracelet, an ivory bracelet on each wrist, and a crescent in the middle of his forehead that is a symbol of fertility and prosperity of the family. The scarification mark, which runs the length of his torso and legs, is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

In the exhibit, both figures are adorned with wraps which cover their lower torsos and legs. The jewelry includes a gold bracelet, an ivory bracelet on each wrist, and a crescent in the middle of his forehead that is a symbol of fertility and prosperity of the family. The scarification mark, which runs the length of his torso and legs, is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.

The exhibit features two wooden figures from the Urhobo and the Igbo people. These figures are given human characteristics and are housed in shrines that are maintained in family units that are worshipped during weekly rituals and annual feast days. The Uduo figure is a woman who wears a turban and a gold bracelet. She is marked with scars of different shapes. This scarification was used to give the figures a human character and to make them more relatable.
Vibrant Color Defines ‘Roots’ of Local Artist

By Monica Barba

Friday Staff Writer

Tomorrow is the last day to embrace the works of local artist Philyaw Philyaw, whose collection “Roo1s in the Rock” is on display at the Arena Stage through Oct. 27. The first of its kind to survey paintings in silk, “Roots in the Rock” is the artist’s exploration of counterculture and the Great Migration in America.

Philyaw’s work often focuses on depicting the images of African-Americans, which is apparent in her public exhibition “Roots in the Rock,” including her workshop “Working in Silk.” The people in her paintings are often images of African-Americans, which is apparent in her public exhibition “Roots in the Rock,” including her workshop “Working in Silk.”

I remember once asking my mother to recount the day Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. died and she vividly illustrated this tragic event. She depicted how he left the hotel room, her eyes moist with emotion. I watched him out the window, tears in her eyes. Her interest in theater was shown in one scene when the two were writing, he always kept his works private, never sharing them with his mother. His interest in the theater was shown in one scene when the two were having a conversation about life. He wanted his mother to watch him perform. They met in the city, but it was too late. She collapsed and he was not able to save her.

Dr. King died and she vividly illustrated this tragic event. She depicted how he left the hotel room, her eyes moist with emotion. I watched him out the window, tears in her eyes. Her interest in theater was shown in one scene when the two were writing, he always kept his works private, never sharing them with his mother. His interest in the theater was shown in one scene when the two were having a conversation about life. He wanted his mother to watch him perform. They met in the city, but it was too late. She collapsed and he was not able to save her.

Michel Tremblay’s ‘For the Pleasure of Seeing Her Again’

By Monica Barba

Friday Staff Writer

Michel Tremblay’s “For the Pleasure of Seeing Her Again” is a touching story of a man and a woman. They meet in life and fall in love, but their relationship is not destined to last long. However, because the love Nana and Michel have for each other is true, the audience is touched by their performance. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

While many Blacks love and adore Jesse Jackson for what he represents, others do not understand. Also, symbolic of this hindsight understanding was the fact that the universal role of Nana to perfect this feeling does not last long. However, because the love Nana and Michel have for each other is true, the audience is touched by their performance. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.

The planner is transformed into the bright and colorful fields of women, Nana’sIrish step, and Nana is carried to the looking at the beautiful sofas and the room. This scene brings with it an attitude, a message, an insight; the narrator’s vast amount of patience with his mother almost times. This facet of his character is also displayed in the play “Working in Silk.”

The two actors did not miss one beat when they delivered their lines. The play is a must-see for anyone with a close relationship with their parents.
UNTITLED

This says it. We never move past the point of the tree anymore. The winds change, the leaves brown and wet and underfoot, the slight music the coming chill... and still the south's call is less strong than our fear. We huddle in bough shadows and counsel and some of us cry, as the night comes here. We caw and croak and some of us choke as the chill and fear grow near, and in the crisp moment, unmarked by dew, or pressure, some of us cry and some of us die as the north sky grows less clear. No dear, we are supposed to fly into the heart of the sun, not to flee into the temples of Ra.

Christopher Hundley

I thought I would have another day. I thought I had another minute. I thought wrong.

I thought I had another chance. I thought I would have another opportunity. I thought it would have more. I thought wrong.

I thought my time wouldn't come so soon. I thought that because I was so young and active, that way I would try to make it. I thought wrong.

I knew my life had a purpose, but I thought that my purpose revolved around me. I knew that God loved me, and I thought that I loved God in return. I thought wrong.

And when I was standing at the gates in front of someone holding the great book. I thought I would see MY name engraved in it. I thought wrong... and look at what it cost.

-R. L. W.

THE IDIOT

On special occasions, women dress to dazzle. F*ck-me-shoes. Debutante earrings. Glamorous cosmetics. Take-your-time-snapping-the-photo smiles. These annoying amenities keep them in bathrooms for five minutes that somehow equal five hours.

On special occasions, when women are bedazzling, they steal your air. Asphyxiating into idiocy, your mouth opens. Miraculously, you mumble something appropriate, such as, “You look beautiful.”

But what is truly beautiful is a woman who is bedazzling when there is no special occasion.

Then, of course, you are an idiot all the time.

-Michael Winstead

COLUMBIA NC
get-some-action.com
SUBSCRIPTIONS

You can have every issue of the nation's largest Black collegiate newspaper mailed to your home or office.

Be a part of history in the making!

Year $70
(37 ISSUES)
Semester $35

Send subscription information and make checks or money orders payable to:
THE HILLTOP
Attn: Anita Barksdale
2251 Sherman Avenue N.W.
Washington, DC 20001
For more details call 202-306-6866 or email us at thehilltop@hotmail.com
FRIDAY, 27TH

Do you want to be a millionaire? Are you 21 and under? See you today from 4 p.m. – 8 p.m. at Jasmine’s Pina Coladas, 2301-A Georgia Ave. NW, where the Manhattans and Chi-Lites grace the stage and bring back memories (for some of us, and our parents) of the "good old days." For information, call 202-842-0913.

You thought "The Blair Witch Project" was a scary movie? Now, the Burkiusville crew has returned to deliver the long-awaited sequel, "Book of Shadows: Blair Witch 2." Check local listings for showtimes and theaters.

An honest hip-hop and R&B at Coco Loco’s. The party starts between clubs. With special appearances by Ali Vegas and Nature, the party is one you should not miss. Coco Loco’s is located at 810 7th St. NW near the Gallery Place Metro. Remember: 18+ to drink, also THE FIRST 500 LADIES ARE FREE!

SATURDAY, 28TH

Remember when...? Reminisce on those "good old days" tonight at the Back in the Day Cabaret with DJ Ron V. Reyerer Al Green performs his 70’s hits and "Let’s Stay Together," as well as some spiritual tunes. Also performing are Blue Magic and the Ebonys. Tickets are $45 and can be purchased by calling 202-432-SEAT.

Hilltop Boulevard, Cleveland, Ohio, incorporated. Foreman to regain African-American heritage. Dee is born in fraternity is defeats George to become the 1st born African-American mayor of Birmingham, Ala.

Howard University and Catholic University Present
William Shakespeare’s
ROMEO and JULIET
Directed by Mark Jolin

November 1-4, 2000 - 7:30pm
Adults: $15.00
Alumni / Faculty / Staff / Senior Citizens: $8.00
Students: $5.00
For More Information: (202) 806-7700

WEDNESDAY, 1ST

There’s still time for trick-or-treat! Check out DC One’s Fright Night at National Harbor, 1015 Half Street SE, starting at 7 p.m. For information, call 202-584-1584.

TUESDAY, 31ST

D.C. has ghosts! Tonight, go on a tour of historic haunted houses organized by the Octagon Museum, 1799 New York Ave. NW. For information, call 202-842-0918.

WHAT'S GOING ON AROUND D.C.? If you have an event that you would like to publish in the Calendar, please call Ginger @ 202-806-6866.
HILLTOPICS

ANNOUNCEMENT

Organization of Students at Howard (OSAH) will host a "Friends of Hilltop" Quiz Night at In the House of Drew! on Sunday, November 27th; 9:00 PM - 1:00 AM. All local students are invited to attend this event. For information contact Tjado Hancox at 202-291-0912.

RENT

PERSONALS

A Quick To Know Before You Go! Do as fellows when you plan loud the annual homecoming and have fun! Sponsors: Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc. and Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

PROMOTION/TRADE SHOW

WELCOME HOME TO ALL THE HOMECOMING HOMEOWNERS!

WELCOME HOME Willie!

Now It's Crucial!!

SERVICES

CAPITOL

Washington National Bank (202) 723-0102 outside DC, 1-800-932-5282

HILLTOPICS

Della Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated

202-898-0160

SPECIALS

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!

For the Alumni Meet!