The Day of Prayer for Colleges

The Address by President Stephen M. Newman

The Day of Prayer for colleges, observed annually throughout the United States and other parts of the world, falls in the last week of January. This week is the week of examinations in the University. Because of this fact the Day of Prayers services in Howard were held over until a later date, Friday, February the seventh, when the day was fittingly observed.

The regular chapel exercises began at eleven o'clock, at which service Pres. Newman preached a able and inspiring helpful sermon. He based his address upon a part of the seventh verse of the fifteenth chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke, which reads as follows: "And when he came to himself." This discourse was the fifth in a series of sermons on the Prodigal Son. Dr. Newman showed that "when he came to himself" means that the prodigal was first away from his normal self, which in the very nature of the case was necessary before he could come to himself. He was a son of God, an offspring of God, away from himself, yet he had to come to himself and realize he was a son before he could go to his father. Realizing he was a son and remembering the paternal love that had existed for him and likely still existed, he thought the natural thought, "I will arise and go to my father."

Doctor Newman declared that the difficulties of the negro could only be settled on a christian basis, and that it was the Negro's opportunity to prove in Science, Medicine, Literature.

Theology and everywhere that he is a son of the living God, and until then the world will never be rid of its prejudice.

On Thursday evening and Friday afternoon with good results other services were held. On Thursday evening the first prayer meeting was held in the Assembly Room of the Y. M. C. A. Friday afternoon a young men's meeting was held in the Assembly Hall of the Library and was addressed by Dr. O'Connell of the faculty of the School of Theology. A young ladies' meeting was held in Miner Hall, which was addressed by Rev. Waldron.

Alpha Phi Alpha Forms a Chapter at University of Pittsburg

The sixteenth chapter of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity was established on the evening of January 30th at the University of Pittsburg, as the Omicron Chapter, by General President, Charles H. Garvin. On the following evening the Negro Alumni of the University tendered the initiates a banquet at the colored Y. M. C. A. in honor of their being received with the Alpha Phi Alpha. Chancellor Samuel B. McCormick was present and exchanged greetings with the graduates and students.

Track Outlook

For years Howard has been represented by track teams which were a credit to the university, but never have the prospects been as bright as this season.

At the Council meeting last Thursday, it was decided to enter a team in the collegiate events and, by the way, this is the first purely collegiate track team to represent the blue and white.

The track meet on the 28th, will not only be the largest colored indoor meet ever held, but will be the greatest from the standpoint of bringing the famous colored athletes from all sections of the country together. Never has there been an array of colored champions appeared on the same floor before, as will appear on that date.

For Howard, Coach Myers and Manager Beamon will put in the field a complete team of three men for each event, nearly all of whom have gained more than local reputations.

For the fifty yard dash, Curtiss, who has equaled the University of Michigan's indoor thirty-five yard dash record, Martin, the Cincinnati wonder who holds the world's record for the fifty yard hurdles race and Taylor, last year's winner of the open hundred. In the quarter mile, Powe, the holder of the league's record for the 440 and 880 yard dashes, and who has the distinction of running and winning the 600 yard dash against the pick of the great white athletes in New York this summer, in the record time of 1:17; another good man is Sampson, who has made quite a reputation in New Jersey, as well as our old stand-by Worde from the same state.

Smith, Stratton and Powe need no introduction for the mile and the relay will be represented by the fastest four in the country. Smith, Curtiss, Martin and Powe, and a second relay of Valentine, Stratton, Worde and Taylor, which is equally as fast.

The high jump will be taken care of by the undefeated George, with a record of six feet two inches and lanky Sykes who crossed the bar at five feet ten inches.

Coach Myers has had these men at work faithfully for several months and they are in splendid shape and will as usual "bring home the bacon."

Among other track men who are showing great promise are Forteune and Wells in the mile, Richmond and Stone in the dashes, Capt. Gilmore, the all-round champion, who will be absent with the Basket Ball team; Slaughter, the record holder of Iowa University for the quarter, Young of Reading, Pa., and Forbes, weight throwers of no mean ability.

Coach Myers deserves much credit for his untiring efforts and his never dying interest in the rounding out of a team of track athletes. He came to us from Case Scientific School, Cleveland, Ohio, where he holds several collegiate records. He has more enthusiasm in track athletics than any one in the University, and the men on the team are well pleased with his work. We wish for him great success in the making of what will be the greatest track team ever in the history of the University.

Martin seems to be the find of the season. The Cincinnati Post commenting on him has this to say:

"There will be lots of class in the Y. M. C. A. Athletic Carnival Saturday night, but one familiar face will be missing when the thin-clothed athletes strike the floor. Harry Martin, Woodward's black streak, who starred in every meet in which he started, will not be there. He is at Howard University at Washington, D. C., where they have discovered he is a wonderful runner.

"Howard students learned that in some way. Martin was due to be hazed and was lured to the campus one night. Martin saw the intention of the Sophs and beat it.

"Students took after him, but he ran like a broken flying machine coming down and the last seen of him was a dark spot against the moon in the distance."

EDITORIAL

The Alpha Phi Literary Society has just closed a successful and commendable administration. The society, through the work of the past administration is more before the students and the Washington public than it ever was before. The programs, both regular and special have been of the very highest order, which will indicate that the society is holding up to the standards of culture intended by its organizers. The corps of officers elected at the last meeting includes the most efficient and energetic members of the society; and it is believed that these officers will continue the good work of the past administration.

- The season of stagnation in debating is now about over. Debating is to be a reality this year. The colleges with which we are scheduled to clash are Union and Wilberforce. The two teams have been chosen, the question for the intercollegiate debates has been decided upon by the debating societies of the three schools; so there is nothing left for Howard to do but to sharpen her tools and wade right into the fight. Howard is now the undisputed champion in the forensic arena and it is up to her to say whether she will remain so by adding two more victories this spring. We have all got confidence in the teams we are sending out; and no one thinks of anything but victory. While, shameful to say there is no recognized honor for ascendency in debate, yet the boys are determined to make the sacrifice, win the laurels, and satisfy themselves with the consciousness that they have done their duty to Alma Mater though their toil be unrequited in any tangible way.

- The turning aside of our institutions of learning from the daily routine for practically a whole day to devote this time to spiritual devotion is indicative of the fact that our schools recognize the intrinsic and far reaching value of the spiritual element in their life. It is seldom that the students, particularly of a large institution, with diverse interests and varying degrees of religious inspiration, can make it possible to take an active part in the religious services. But on a day set aside for the specific purpose of furthering the religious life, all who will, especially those who cannot find their opportunity as things pursue their even tenor, can find a chance to turn their eyes heavenward with their fellow students and become a real part of the spiritual life of their institution.

This day of prayer comes as a kind of reminder to the student of his duty to his fellows and shows him that his relationship to those with whom he is associated is something more than the common every day hum drum life; it is a spiritual fellowship.

Eighty millions of people have become indifferent to the crime of crimes—human slavery—which involves the moral welfare of the people.

The minds of these people will not be shaken until the negro himself does it, and this can be done only by negro agitation and protest. The negro has the opportunity to become the teachers of ninety millions of people, by setting before them the higher ideal which his fellowmen lack.

The agreement made by the Emancipation Proclamation continued the speaker, has not been fulfilled; two-thirds of the colored people of the country of eligible voting age, cannot vote, two-thirds of those of school age do not receive proper education, and the race on all sides is subjected to discrimination and limitations of its freedom.

"The new abolition is arising to free the white man of his prejudice. Since the Civil War the South has been enraped by every power and every wrong that was assumed to have been wiped out by that war. The most remarkable of remarkable facts is that the conscience of the southern white man has been captured but that the conscience of the southern black man has been captured, that the victory of the South is over the Negro." This, the speaker made evident, is shown by the over-emphasis of the negro on industrial training in his attempt to get money, which has led him to forget his treatment.

Professor Spingarn illustrated this point by comparing the attitude of the negro with that of the black man, if while sitting in his counting house poring over the wealth of the race, when he should be informed that his house was on fire and his wife and children were perishing in the flames, would reply: "I am carrying out my industrial obligation to my race, I will put the fire out when I get through."

Professor Spingarn said that the business of that man was to go and put that fire out even if it cost him his life.

The great agency of this new movement, the speaker pointed out, is the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the Frederick Douglass of this movement is W. E. B. Du Bois. He said that it is up to the negro to fight and gain his own freedom in this period, and take the glory to himself for the freeing of the whites of their prejudices and finally establishing that lawfulness and democracy which are intended for the land.

Professor Spingarn's message was truly one of hope and courage as he claimed for it. Such a message is calculated to inspire spirit into the pessimist.
Dr. Parks Addresses Y.M.C.A.

"The Call of God to the Young College Man of To-day" was the subject of Professor Parks' address before the Y. M. C. A. Sunday. It is repeatedly asserted by those who heard the address that there has never been sounded from the Howard University rostrum a note more significant to the adjustment of the economic, social and political problems of the day.

As a setting for his discourse, Professor Parks analyzed the character and work of Saint Paul and showed that Saint Paul received and answered the call of God. He then said, "God is a vital power in all civilizations. As to the essential and realities of the times, there is the same call to-day. What is the call to college young men? The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. That is what God is calling for. The trouble is that we do not live as brothers. The call is to work for the interest of man, universal man. The problem today is to apply this great principle."

Howardite Honored in Oberlin

H. H. Summers, class 1910, has been elected a member of the Men's Senate of Oberlin College. He is the first colored man to enjoy that distinguished honor.

Alpha Phi Elects Officers

The Alpha Phi Literary Society in its regular weekly meeting last Friday evening elected the following officers to administer its affairs for the second semester: President, John H. Purnell; Vice-President, Miss Lois Johns; Secretary, Miss Edna Lane; Assistant Secretary, Miss Gann; Treasurer, W. H. Harper; Chaplain, P. B. Lemmon; Journalist, L. G. Bailey; Critic, Clarence W. Richardson; Sergeant-at-Arms, Gordon Dingle; Musician, Miss Oliver.

In showing a lack of application of this principle, the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, Professor Parks pictured a present incident of the horrible life-crushing tenant system of the South in which a plantation owner holds his grasp and at his mercy twenty-five or more Negro families.

The speaker then gave a strong plea to the college man to use the power of his culture and influence not for himself but for the masses of the people. He said further, "No matter to what college the young man goes, no matter what the university gives him, he will reach real success according to his work for humanity." At this point, Washington, Lincoln and Garrison were mentioned as examples. "Culture and service are inseparably connected," continued the speaker, "and the mission of service to fellow man is an inseparable part of the end of life."

Setting forth other evidence of the call for the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, Professor Parks concluded his address with these words: "Young men, devote your life and energy to obedience to that call."

Notes

The University Choir, assisted by Mr. Roland W. Hayes, will render a song service, Sunday evening.

Dennis A. Forbes, College of Arts and Sciences '12, visited the campus last week. He was en route to Cairo, Illinois where he will teach German and English in the Cairo High School.

Professor Haynes, Ph. D., head of the department of Social Sciences in Fisk University and chairman of the Committee on Interracial Conditions of Negroes, was present at Chapel exercises Monday and gave an instructive talk on the relation of the Negro college man to the problems in our democracy.

Do You Know These?

When is it easy to read in the woods? When Dame Autumn turns the leaves.

Why are laws like the ocean? Because the most trouble is caused by the breakers.

Why is a schoolmistress like the letter "C"? Because she forms lasses into classes.

What two flowers should decorate a menagerie? The dandelion and the tiger-lily.

What two words contain all the vowels in their proper order? Facetiousness, Abstemious.

Why are the stars the best astronomers? Because they have studded the heavens since creation.

Enough for one, too much for two, and nothing for three: take one to make and two to keep?

College Dramatics

responsible largely for the present debasement of the stage and dramatic literature.

College Dramatics should serve to counteract these tendencies and to protect the great forms and the high achievements of the drama from ever lapsing into disuse or discredit. Therefore, college productions, for educative effect, undertake usually the most standard of authors and plays, many indeed confining themselves to plays that for one reason or another, seldom get a hearing except before exclusive audiences, loyal to the best interests of the drama, without care for financial gain. The college dramatic society should be encouraged to give plays of early historical or classic origin, though they are so seldom performed, since they express the drama in its most educational aspects, or else, the very modern plays that have not yet gotten a general hearing, but which express the best latest effort in the field."

The speaker recommended a program, alternating yearly or half yearly between an early historical classic and a program of recent plays, for example, three or four one-act plays, for the sake of variety and representativeness. He ended with an especial appeal for the elevation of dramatic taste among Negroes, not only because of the great latent talent of the race in this direction, of acting, but because that talent is at present being exploited against it to keep it on the low level of catering to a popular taste which keeps it from developing and that often indeed compels it to misrepresent and limit itself. The same talent might so easily, with an intelligent audience of its own, develop a native drama and a racial support that might at the same time justify both the drama and the race at their best.

Kappa Sigma Compete

The annual competitive of the Kappa Sigma Debating Club, for choosing representatives for the collegiate debates in the spring, was held in Rankin Chapel Wednesday evening. The subject discussed was, "Resolved, that the President of the United States should be elected for one term of six years without eligibility for reelection." Places were contended for by eleven collegians, which was a very small number when it is considered that the enrollment of the School of Liberal Arts is more than 100. There was shown through the contest a lack of interest, and an absence of the proper spirit that should prevail in the college department. Three years ago twenty men were mustered for a competitive without any soliciting, but now, for some unaccountable reason, shameful to state, only eleven participants out of 100 or more student can be found for a competitive.

Under such conditions as these it is not probable that the very best men of the university for debating, that most important and most representative field of outward activity, can be secured. It is interesting to note that for the first time in the history of the university a co-ed contended for a place in the competitive Wednesday evening. Those taking a part were: E. R. Berry, H. Moore, Miss Daisy Jefferson, L. D. Turner, W. A. Pollard, and W. H. Brown, affirmative: S. Curtiss, E. A. Love, J. O. Catalan, J. E. Rose, and L. A. Howard, negative. Those chosen were: H. Moore, J. E. Rose, E. A. Love, L. D. Turner, J. O. Catalan, W. A. Pollard; alternates, L. R. Berry, and W. H. Brown.

Professors Houston, Locke, and Gregory acted as judges.
