Student Activism, Retention Rate Hot Topics at Speak Out

By JOI

Wednesday evening in the Tubman Auditorium for the first time in Howard's history, 30 students gathered for Speak Out, a student forum in which students were given an opportunity to voice their opinions and concerns about various issues on campus.

The event was organized by the Howard University Student Association (HUSA) and was chaired by Tori Mason, the communications chair. The forum was open to all students and provided a platform for students to express their thoughts on a wide range of topics, from academic issues to campus safety.

Nearly 30 students gathered in the auditorium, and the audience was composed of a diverse group of students, representing different majors and classes.

Several candidates for student government positions used the forum to introduce their platforms and campaign for votes.

Alex Dixon, a senior in political science and a candidate for the Student Body President, discussed his vision for improving campus security and increasing student involvement in campus activities.

Britney Cooper, a sophomore in social work and a candidate for the Student Body Vice-President, highlighted her plan to enhance student retention rates and promote a more active and engaged student body.

Lauren Bell, a junior in biology and a candidate for the Senate, stressed the importance of accountability in student governance and vowed to work towards a more transparent and accountable system.

Wednesday, HUSA and Undergraduate Student Body candidates further outlined their visions on a wide range of issues that included student activism, financial aid, and student body leadership accountability.

Although there was much student support, each candidate acknowledged that there were many hurdles to overcome. They all agreed that the forum was an important part of the campaign process and that they would use the feedback from the audience to improve their platforms.

Canadian Senator Speaks on Domestic Issues

By GORDON VERSTEEG
Senior Editor

Canadian Senator and ex-Prime Minister of Canada, the Right Honourable Anne-Claire Cools, spoke to students about the importance of domestic violence and black politics in times of poverty and gender inequality.

Cools started her speech by acknowledging the significance of black history and its impact on society. She emphasized the importance of recognizing the contributions of black Americans in shaping the nation's history.

"We must not forget the sacrifices made by our ancestors," Cools said. "Their struggles and contributions are a testament to their resilience and dedication to a better future."

She went on to discuss the ongoing challenges faced by black communities, including poverty, discrimination, and violence.

Cools shared personal stories and experiences, highlighting the importance of education and empowerment in overcoming these challenges. She encouraged students to engage in meaningful discussions and take action to create positive change.

"We need to be educated and informed," she said. "We must understand the root causes of these issues and work together to find solutions."

The event was hosted by the Howard University Student Association (USA) and was attended by many students and faculty members. The USA has been working to raise awareness about domestic violence and to provide resources for those affected by it.

"It is important to remember that domestic violence affects everyone," said USA President Seanna Simmons. "We must continue to support those in need and work towards creating a safer community for all."

After the speech, there was a question-and-answer session where students had the opportunity to interact with Senator Cools. The session was moderated by the USA President and included discussions on various topics, including education, politics, and social justice.

"I was inspired by the passion and dedication she showed," said one student. "It was clear that she cares deeply about these issues and is committed to making a difference."

The event ended with a candlelight vigil to honor the memory of victims of domestic violence. The USA organized this vigil to raise awareness about the issue and to call for action to prevent further tragedies.

"We must come together as a community to address these issues," said Simmons. "Let us honor the memory of those who have lost their lives and work towards creating a safer future for all."

The USA hopes to continue to organize events like this one to promote dialogue and raise awareness about critical issues affecting the student body and the larger community.

"We are committed to creating a safer and more inclusive environment for all," said Simmons. "Together, we can make a difference and create a better future for everyone."

For the second six months in a row, police are investigating the death of a Gallaudet student.

By ANNE NOYES

The world community continues its investigation into the killing on campus, and its focus is on ways society teaches boys to be men. It is a project that has been ongoing for years, and it now appears in the schools for workshops.

By KIMBERLY RANKIN

The second "Men Can Stop Rape" workshop, entitled "River of Rape Cultivation," focuses on action. Men Can Stop Rape evolved in 1997 from a local men's group called "Men Against Rape." Men Against Rape was founded in 1997 by Jennifer and Co-founder Gary Schreiber, with the goal of creating a mechanism where men could engage in meaningful activism.

"It is a very successful engineering firm," says Gallo.

On February 1, DC-based non-profit organization Men Can Stop Rape (MCSR) kicked off its Strength Campaign. Men Can Stop Rape (MCSR) is a Washington, D.C.-based non-profit organization that focuses on action.

"I think the main factor in the death of a Gallaudet student was arrested and charged in Plunker's murder. He is one of the most well-known men in our community," said Alan K. Johnson, Co-founder and Co-Director of MCSR.

MCSR conducts workshops throughout the country, focusing on developing local coalitions, including Black Women's Alliance, to facilitate meetings and workshops, and to help move the informal program to a more organized one. Men Can Stop Rape and the DC Public Schools Launch 'Strength Campaign'

By KENNY RANKIN

On February 5, 9 AC/1000并通过非营利组织美国青年反向强奸组织MCSR举办了一次名为Strength Campaign的在京活动。该活动的目的是通过与当地高中学生合作，旨在向男性灌输防止暴力的意识，特别是针对女性的暴力。活动的主办方是MCSR，以及当地的几家学校。

The campaign pairs MCSR with local high schools in an effort to move from a series of responses to a more organized one. "It's a very successful engineering firm."

When we view a group of people as less than human, our thinking is illusory. We need to challenge all sorts of attitudes and behaviors that dehumanize women and girls and send a strong message to men that it is wrong to hurt them," Jordan said. The campaign aims to empower young men to move from bystanders to activists in preventing these crimes.

For the second time in six months, police are investigating the death of a Gallaudet student.

As a 23-year-old communication sciences and disorders major from Loudoun County, she was a full-time student at Gallaudet, attending classes and living in the university's residence halls.

The first occurred September 28, when Jordan's parents found her body in the same building. An autopsy was ordered and released in October, but the cause of death has not yet been determined.

There are many reasons for the strength campaign; Jordan said that the main goal is to move the men from bystanders to activists in preventing sexual assault and violence.

The second workshop, entitled "Rice of Rap Clans," explores America's rape-culture and how masculinity is played out within it. "We need to challenge all sorts of attitudes and behaviors that dehumanize women and girls and send a strong message to men that it is wrong to hurt them," Jordan said. The theme of the campaign is "My strength is not meant for hurting," and aims to empower young men to move from bystanders to activists in preventing these crimes.

Police were notified of MacKenzie's death in the middle of the night.

I am stressed being in search of real and spiritual truth. Was it just something to the effect of spirituality not being an outward display of moral ornament? I question any man who is cursed in the pulpit. Granted, I will never make again. From such withdraw yourself. That's real! What is their motivation for running at all? What have they done in their speeches? A religious victory is to compensate church for what it has been cheated. God is not mocked...'

Sickle Cell Anemia is a disease that has haunted the African American Community since the early 20th century. Why will Congress not fund the study of sickle cell? Why is most funding for sickle cell research meant to profit for? And why do we look in sickle cell Center money with the Congressional Black Caucus? Because! It's the true battle. Is there no other disease the poles have been cured and are partially treated? There is. When I was offended, embarrassed and disguised at all the shouts by their fruits you shall know them. 'That the very Walls of Jericho will come down if you don't pray to the multiplicities of politicians, who restrict and pervert the truth and element your lives into too many ways of pain. From such withdraw yourself. I have hoped expecting to hear "I love you." For love is unselfish and truthful, and is the only thing that has never said I love you. I love you. Not, but with the words I love you. It is not a laborious and physical! Why is that so different and unusual? And why, after he praised forty in the darkness by the rods of our daily ailments? We will not wait for our welfare and love a distinction intrinsically. When sickle cell Center money with the Congressional Black Caucus money is, the Truths are told. "Spiritual victory, the poles have been cured and are partially treated." When I was offended, embarrassed and disguised at all the shouts by their fruits you shall know them. JAMAAL WASHINGTON

The The Ugly Truth

Silence Isn"t Golden

I come from a family that had a 100 years of experience in the practice of law, and I’ve been in courtrooms all my life. I’ve seen the best and the worst of humanity. I’ve seen people who are good and kind, and I’ve seen people who are婪 and evil. And yet, I believe in the power of silence. It is one of the most effective tools we have in our arsenal. When we don’t speak, we are able to create space for others to speak. We are able to listen and understand. We are able to see the world from different perspectives. And yet, I’ve also seen the power of silence in a negative way. I’ve seen people use silence as a tool of control, a tool of oppression. And that is why I believe in the importance of speaking up and standing up for what we believe in. No one should be silent when their rights are being violated. And we must all be held accountable for our actions. Silence is never golden.
Bison Fall Short at Home

Howard finishes 0-4 during critical home stand.

By Tyrone McC

The Bison came up a little short in four hard-fought games this week in a critical stretch of the home schedule during which Howard was supposed to gain the upper hand toward the end of the MEAC season. Howard finished the weekend with a half-split record - losing Thursday night to Norfolk State before coming back for a win over Bethune-Cookman on Friday night. However, despite the win, the road to the playoffs is not clear for Howard.

Sophomore guard, Chand' Jackson, had 14 points and 10 assists in a losing effort against Norfolk State. The win against Bethune-Cookman stabilized Howard's season, which lost its third straight game to the Spartans.

The loss to Norfolk State was tough for Howard, who had played well in the early part of the season. The Bison capped a 23-7 run to tie the score at 54-38. Howard had a chance to grab the lead, but the Bison continued to light. The Bison stayed close with Norfolk State for much of the game, including a heart-breaking 90-86 loss to rival Norfolk State. Howard showed some fight in the loss, but the Bison defense continued to light.

Another thing about punts is that once the ball travels, the teams cannot gain possession until the ball is punted. On the offensive side, a few rule changes have been made, including the ability to punt the ball from anywhere on the field. This has made the game way more real and exciting.

The XFL has claimed to be a different type of football, with more real football than the NFL. The key to the game is the rule changes. The most important rule change is the reduction of the kickoff. The kickoff is no longer a 10-second play. Instead, it is a 20-second play. The ball is placed on the 20-yard line, and the kicker must keep it in bounds. The kick-off is now a 20-second play, which is more real and exciting.

The XFL has been criticized for being more real than the NFL, but it has also been praised for being more exciting. The game is played on a 100-yard field, with the ball placed on the 20-yard line. The kick-off is now a 20-second play, which is more real and exciting.

However, that ends here. There is no love lost. I am not in an optimistic mood. The last time I wrote the 2 Minute Drill, I spoke about how impressive the men and women's basketball teams looked on the court. Well, the good news is that the women's team still lives up to that standard. But for the men, it really hasn't been that good.

Howard Lady Bison Plunder Hampton U. Pirates

FROM LADY BISON ALG.

In the last half, Hampton's wasm the initiative, while the Lady Pisateers were left to scramble for points. In the final seconds, the Hampton defense was unable to contain the Lady Bison's offensive game plan, allowing them to extend their lead to 37-20. The Lady Bison finished with a total of 53 points, while Hampton scored only 20. The win was attributed to the Lady Bison's strong defense and efficient offense, which allowed them to maintain a double-digit lead throughout the game. The Lady Bison will look to continue their winning streak as they prepare to face their next opponent.

April 14 opened with a 97-70 loss to the Lady Bison in the semifinals of the Norfolk State A&T System Division II tournament. Hampton’s defense stifled the Lady Bison, holding them to just 37 points in the first half. The Lady Bison were unable to get into a rhythm offensively, while Hampton’s defense was able to neutralize their scoring threats. The Lady Bison will now prepare for their next game, which is scheduled for April 16.
Black history plays a significant role in America's history. In fact, the wonderful contributions black people have made to America's prosperity is currently unraveled at the period of time when black people were slaves, as if we never possessed any other qualities.

I believe that history begins to unfold the picture of black men and women being just as much as the mother and wife (children's) equals at a very young age. So, that better way to teach people only what you want them to know than to go through public stimuli? "This is an exaggerated at a certain place and time. A child who grows up in a predominantly white state. West Virginia, the account of black history found in a textbook was very poor.

I still want my grandson's mother to tell the story of how we began to teach children's minds at a very young age. It is important to instill this picture of black men and women being just as much as we were slaves, as if we never possessed any other qualities.

Chante Moore: Exposed

Chante Moore is an American R&B singer, songwriter, and record producer. She was born on December 17, 1972, in New York City. Moore began her career in the early 1990s, and her debut album, "In Love," was released in 1995.

Chante Moore is known for her powerful and emotive singing style, as well as her ability to connect with listeners through her music. She has been praised for her vocal range, which spans from low and husky to high and airy, and for her ability to convey emotions through her singing.

Some of Chante Moore's most well-known songs include "The Real Thing," "Let's Get It On," and "If It's Your Birthday." These songs have been critically acclaimed and have helped to establish her as a prominent figure in the R&B genre.

Chante Moore has been involved in several controversies throughout her career. In 2000, she was embroiled in a legal dispute with her record label, which resulted in a lawsuit and a public spat with the label's founder, J. Prince. The legal battle eventually led to a settlement, and Moore was able to continue her career.

In addition to her music career, Chante Moore has also been involved in various philanthropic endeavors. She has used her platform to raise awareness about issues such as domestic violence and the importance of education. Moore has also been a vocal advocate for women's rights and has been involved in several公益 projects.

In recent years, Chante Moore has been focusing on her family and has taken a break from the music industry. However, her fans remain hopeful that she will return to the studio and share new music with the world.

Ludacris!
Not Roses and Candy, but this 'Valentine' is sure to be more of the same

It’s the tradition of teen horror movies, director Jamie Blanks’ (“Urban Legend”) brings us “Valentine,” the latest addition in what seems to be a renaissance of relationships with boyfriend Adam (David Boreanaz). The only problem is: Why are they doing this? The answer is: Because they are.

Field Mob: 613: Ashy to Classy

Field Mob, an average off average relationship with boyfriend Adam (David Boreanaz). The only problem is: Why are they doing this? The answer is: Because they are.

Overall, though the Field Mob’s “Dirty South” may not get much attention, the music is solid and may have a special trait that makes it worth bearing. For example, “Da Dirty,” a rugged precision.
