Although the Senior Class is the only class remaining that was involved in the March Administration Building takeover, this event is undoubtedly familiar to those who were not present then, because of the publicity and notoriety that it received. But the A-Building happening was only one—although it was the biggest—of a number of spring protests in '68. Precipitated by a student takeover of the annual Charter Day ceremonies, in which 39 students were cited as “disrupters” and summoned to appear before the judiciary, the A-Building takeover was a total experience in Black community, unparalleled in Howard before or since. The ideology committee was comprised of some of the most politically aware brothers and sisters of that time, including Anthony Gittens '68, O.T. Jackson, Adrienne Manns '68, Lynn Washington '71, Walter Birdsong '71, and Harris. Their demands called for numerous revisions and reforms within the University, and the abolishment of the Charter Day Assembly, one of the most controversial. Harris, accompanied somewhat reluctantly by his vice-president, Brenda Lilenthal, mounted the stage and called for a protest exodus. Although this attempt was not totally successful, it was the beginning of a series of anti-assemblies protests, until finally, Freshman Assembly, one of the most political and the most active, was abolished.

The next article in this series will explore the following three years of student activism to the present, and its effects on the Class of '71. Michael Harris will be interviewed in a separate article, and will explain his involvement during the past four years.

It is Africa Venerable

By EMMANUEL ADEI

It is almost a decade now since the last war where colonizers wrestled the poles of colonialism and sovereignty from the African peoples. Yet the long years of European control and manipulation have left a profound impact on Africa; the land as well as the people. And so the gains independence and sovereignty ten years later, remains much to be desired.

Independence did not merely mean the installing of a new African flag in place of a Union Jack or a French national emblem. It didn't mean merely the singing of a new African national anthem instead of "God Save the Queen". Today, Africa must now make much less the same play of nationalism, its colonialism and imperialism.

It was Pauline Lumumba of Congo's way back in 1960 who first warned his fellow countrymen that they could not achieve political independence as long as the European controlled and manipulated the economy of the country. Lumumba did not like to see his country progress, Rwamurahi of Ugan had also warned the people not only politically for freedom of all Africa, but for economic independence and made his coun-

Dear Editor,

It is a thing for regret that minorities, like brothers, who at Howard don't like to indentify themselves with the continent of Africa where they can trace their ancestry.
I was surprised to read in The Hilltop, March 19, 1971, in the HILLTOP, that it has not been a thing for regret that minorities, like brothers, who at Howard don't like to indentify themselves with the continent of Africa where they can trace their ancestry.

Sometimes I was discussing the history of the blacks in this country, a group on campus. Surprisingly, they said that they didn't know what the continent of Africa is the only place from which we come. The continent of Africa is the only place from which ancestry.

Therefore, myaward will be about a third of the prize money. My brother is also a third of the prize money.

Unluckily, John Holton

Dear Editor,

I consider the receiving of this award (Stokely Carmichael's) the greatest honor that I will ever receive because it is a recognition of my own peers and not from outsiders.

What I am now to do is the timelessness Martin, Malcolm, Martin, Milton, and Henry, who made more sense of our situation than the world. And I believe in the concept of ideology and direction.

As the day is when you gave me this award, you were not only honoring me, but also honoring the black brothers who attended this University.

I have done what I thought was best for Howard and said, Holton thanks sophomores.

Therefore, my award will be about a third of the prize money. My brother is also a third of the prize money.

Miracles and Four Tops let down HILLTOP writer

By Henry Anderson

What rebounded the largest tide of the Miracles’ and Four Tops’ Revue last Saturday evening at the D.C. Armory is unknown and could only be guessed at, what every it was their performance wasn’t enough to make the young ladies in their hot pants and or the gentlemen in their jump suits want to get out on the floor and jam alright or better still, it’s the floor.

Starting time was a hour later than had been publicized. The waiting would have been shorter if it hadn’t been for some of our folks parading around the auditorium in what looked like their Easter stocks. If you were by chance a Howard student located around this catering their dreams may have suggested Homecoming.

The evening out unique with this white hand (Joe Black, one on guitar, drams) playing several other upbeat tunes. These were cool if you could dig on odd smooth music.

Trailing their master iteration Mr. C, disc-Jockey for WJO, and the MC for that night did a fine time “welcome to the show” type-talk. It’s no where the MC comes out and lies to the audience by telling them he’s got a dynamite show in store for them and he’s not, putting the icing on the cake where there isn’t suppose to be any. Well anyway after that he proceeded to introduce “The Beatles.”

Black, singing group who just took up a lot of those with trashy looking and sometimes inaudible “because of the beat,” singing, it would have been better if the brothers had chosen songs that fitted their style (Keep on Walking, Love on a Two Way Street, I’ll Be There, and a hand to blend in with them not over them). Mr. C called out again with their first set, this time comminglating the gathering on keeping their seats and being civilized. He then brought on the “5 Tops.”

Backed by the Danskio’s Motown’s cutest heard the Tops scurried out onto the stage and started singing “The Same Old Hone,” which should have been the theme for the show if it wasn’t.

The only song that they got a hail wave decent response to was “Just the Lonely.” The rest of their performance consisted of a lot of singing but good music. some sorry choreography, and mild applause from the audience after every tune. They ended singing Jackie Shantelle’s, “Put a Little Love in Your Heart” with the audience on the edge of their seats waiting for more.

When Smoky and his Miracles did appear on stage the audience reacted as if they had been smiled by a sudden bout of lighting because they came from their seats like walking needles and almost systematically pushed toward the stage. A young lady wearing “WHICH” hot pants who had been invited on stage earlier by Mr. C because of her outfit created Smoky with a kiss that started the show. Nearly all the songs he sang which included songs such as “I Second That Emotion, Two of a Kind, Darlin’ Darlin’,” and his latest release “I Don’t Blame You At All” got over but only because he was Smoky.

Commentary on Choir's show

For three hours last Thursday night the popular choir held its first ever mid-season concert. A new format, too, made the evening a success. The choir's program was divided into three main parts. The first part consisted of traditional Gospel songs. The second part included a medley of spirituals. The third part was a special tribute to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., with the choir performing some of his most famous songs.

The choir's performance was well-received by the audience, who sang along with the choir in several numbers. The choir's conductor, Mr. Smith, did an excellent job of leading the choir and maintaining the rhythm throughout the performance.

The choir concluded their performance with a rendition of "Ain't No Mountain High Enough," which brought the audience to their feet. The encore was a wonderful finale to an excellent evening of music and inspiration.
Norfolk crushes Howard 68-59 in track opener

Intimurals receive aid resume play

By Johnnie Fairfax

The Norfolk high school basketball program has been under severe criticism because of budgetary problems, but has resumed its season. After nearly three months of sitting out, the Intimural basketball program got underway last Saturday.

The rescheduling of the remainder of the season by James J. Hester, Director of the Intimural Program, is the main reason for the program's return to action. Hester was able to reschedule the program following contributions from Omega Psi Phi, Alpha Phi Alpha, Omega Psi Phi, Kappa Alpha Psi and Phi Kappa Alpha Psi, which helped to fund the program for the remainder of the season.

The resumption of play was due to the efforts of the Physical Education Department, which had been under severe criticism because of budgetary problems. Hester was able to reschedule the program following contributions from Omega Psi Phi, Alpha Phi Alpha, Omega Psi Phi, Kappa Alpha Psi and Phi Kappa Alpha Psi, which helped to fund the program for the remainder of the season.

Former Bison football stars now standouts as coaches

By Johnnie Fairfax

This week's article is devoted entirely to two of the seasonal heroes in the Bison's 5-2 record last season. They are defensive backfield coach Donald Ware and offensive coordinator, Larry veins, who are known by the members of the team as "Buck" and "Larry" respectively.

 Ware was the Bison's leading receiver for the 1980 season, topping the squad with six games and Thursday with 35 catches for 535 yards and a touchdown. He also played on the national team for his country and was a starter for the University of Virginia in league play, the defensive secondary coach for Norfolk's Spartans, The meet was the site of a dual meet between the University of Virginia and the University of Maryland last Saturday.

The offensive team also has a coach of the caliber of Steve Williams, who is a standout receiver for Howard University."

Soccer goalie is a double agent

By Jonny Evans

How would you like to be part of a team that is unbeaten in three years? Such has been the case with the soccer team on the Howard University campus.

Jones, a junior from Freeport, is the only African American on the squad. The team had no African American when Jones joined the squad. The rest of the players are all African Americans. Since Jones is the number one sport in the Eastern Shore, he had hard competition getting on the team.

"But, I'm a unique type of soccer goalie," he claims. His position on the team is a fast-throwing goalie. What makes him unique is the fact that he is an "away swinger." This means that he pitches the ball with a slight curve that is extremely difficult for a batter to hit.

In spite of the team's excellent record, Michael states that they will do even better this year because of the freshmen players skills.

"We're not going to lose a single game," he said. "This year our brother will be our best player." His brother, Donald, who also played on the national team for Norfolk State, will be the second African American on the team.

A television directing major in the school of drama, Michael hopes to go on to graduate school, but he has no real desire to leave Howard.

"As soon as they open the conference play, I'll be right there," he smiled. "I just love Howard University,"

Two area school boys sign with CIAA

Lew Casey and James Bullock, both members of T. C. Williams' basketball team last season, have signed athletic grants-in-aid for the fall.

Casey, a 6-6, 240-pounder, will attend Maryland-Eastern Shore. He was Williams' leading scorer and rebounder with 16 points and 10 rebounds a game.

Bullock, 6-4 and 200 pounds, will attend Livingston in Salisbury, N. C. He averaged 15 points and nine rebounds for Williams, running in for the Yellow Jackets.

"Neither cold nor wind will stop Norfolk's Mike Nixon who ran 4:30 in the individual mile run in 4:30. Nixon was the Bison's only double winner in the lost to Norfolk."
A couple of evenings ago, Warner Wolf, the foot-fet-efferent sportscaster of WTOP television, channel nine, remarked that UCLA probably struck a freak accident when it lost its eight oared shell. This would have been against Villanova in Philadelphia. It had been doing what they can to help Wolf, the 5-foot-6 center of the Wolf managed to leave out in the University's basket against Carolina. For of the first couple of evenings ago, Wolf went on to argue that it was unfair if a week before the team had been doing what it was supposed to do. He also went on to say, UCLA possibly the strongest basketball team in college basketball had no business losing to a small college. It detracts from the Bruins' victory.

Supposedly, one of the more knowledgeable people in the area there are a number of factors Wolf mentioned that would have made our case work out in his conclusion.

But this was not the first time the issue of whether or not a slowdown was a viable tactic to be employed by a coach has been brought up.

Earlier in the season, the University of Maryland under Lefty Driesell gained national attention yesterday he will hold public board, Miami. Witnesses will be heard testimony can call the board at the President's Building, 415 12th St., NW. Persons interested in testifying may call the board at 202-8652.
Do you think that there should be white instructors at Howard?

La Barbara Wigfall, Fresh Arch

"No!

Raymond Hopps, Senior LA

"Only if they realize their purpose here is to teach and not to indoctrinate."

Lorenzo A. Calendar II, Fresh LA

"Yeah, why not!"

Mark Powell, Senior LA

"When it comes to instructors there is only one thing I'm concerned with. That is getting what they know in my head."

B.J. Aiken, Senior FA

"In order to deal with the man, you gotta learn from the man."

T.G. Cooper, Senior FA

"Yes, until we can find Black instructors as qualified as the whites in the areas that are necessary for Black people."

Wilcox Morris, Soph LA

"I think there should be some white instructors, but not the amount we have now."

Jackie Walker, Soph LA

"No! because most of them don't really care about the students. They are just there for the money until they can find a better position."

Isaac Hargrove, Law

"No!"
