SENIOR ACADEMY DRAMATIC CLUB

THE MERRY WIVES OF WINDSOR

Presented at The New Howard Theatre

TWO years ago a number of Freshmen organized the Howard College Dramatic Club and under the direction of Mr. Ernest E. Just, presented with success Goldsmith's Comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer." The next year the same cast appeared in a successful presentation of Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals." For two years under the management of Mr. Wm. Gilbert, the club has made good the object of its organization. The Howard College Dramatic Club directed by Prof. B. G. Brawley and managed by Mr. Wm. Gilbert presented Shakespeare's comedy,

"The Merry Wives of Windsor" at the New Howard Theatre, Thursday and Friday evenings, March the second and third. Notwithstanding the scarcity of material for several of the roles the play was a great success. With the exception of Messrs. B. H. Locke and C. S. Sedgewick, members of the original cast, the members of this cast were raw material.

The heaviest roles, Sir John Falstaff; Ford, a gentleman of Windsor; Mrs. Quickly, servant to Doctor Caius, were taken by Messrs. E. Clayton Terry, Louis A. Howard and Miss Zephyr J. Chisom, respectively. The character Mrs. Ford was rendered doubly difficult because it was

THE ACADEMY PLAY A GRAND SUCCESS

Senior Class Deserves Credit

THE Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel was crowded Friday evening, February 24th, to witness the Senior Class in Norman Lee Swartout's "One of the Eight." This is the first time the Academy has ever seriously attempted anything along dramatic lines and the senior class deserves great credit for showing the initiative. The production was under the direction of Mr. Forrester Washington, Instructor of Elocution in the Academy, and under the management of Mr. A. H. Tavernier. The scenery, lighting and stage effects were exceedingly fine. The scenery was furnished by the Belasco Theatre.

From the first act to the final scene the play was interesting, especially interesting was the third act—the boat race scene. The play is a four act sketch characterized by the author as a "College comedy in four acts." The play is based on the serious as well as the frivolous side of American college life. The plot deals with student life as it exists in the smaller colleges; there is the serious and conscientious student and the crafty and scheming student.

The leading characters performed their parts with very rare dramatical ability. The cast was well balanced, not only the leading parts, but all the minor roles were filled by students of marked ability.

Mr. Percy Garland as Henry Brooks, "One of the Eight" was especially good in his part as the hero of the play. In the first act he took the part of a country boy with no less ability than he acted the part of the college hero in the last act. In both cases his acting was typical of his environment.

Mr. Joseph Franklin's portrayal of "Father Brooks" was very good. He was well suited by his build and voice for this part of the old farmer. His superb acting won much applause for him. Mr. Charles Hendley, in the difficult part of the Englishman, Lord-Chillingworth, gave evidence of a degree of skill as a dramatic artist. However, at times, his accent and actions were not "English" enough.

Miss Mabel Tunnell as Helen Baldwin made a very favorable impression on the audience by her acting. She was the sweet and modest girl throughout. Her acting was easy and she was perfectly "at home" on the stage. Her acting with Mr. Garland was worthy of much commendation. She displayed exceptional ability.

Miss Maud Wilson, as Amey Dixon, was very convincing in her flirtations. She was very good in the second act. Mr. Peter Carter played the part of Caleb Weston in a way that won him much applause. He was a typical college guy. His accent was good.

Mr. Joseph William was very good in the role of Guy Marks, the hypnotist and schemer. His voice was well suited to this exacting part and his interpretation of the villain was good. He was impetuous, daring and clever; he was especially clever in the mystic workings of the hypnotist. Mr. Jackson and Miss Martha Evans made the most of the few opportunities afforded by their parts.

Miss Evans, as Mrs. Brooks was very good in the midnight scene, with her son, Henry Brooks. Mr. Jackson won much applause by his acting as the drunken student.

Miss Alma Duncan as Bab, Mr. L. B. Carey as Ned Andrews, the rich student, and Mr. McAden as Prof. Dixon were very favorably received.

The acting of Mr. Benjamin Taylor as Peter, the Irish valet was exceptionally fine. His Irish accent brought forth much applause. He was well suited to his part. Earl Crampton's acting of the part of Bill Carter, the captain of the crew, brought forth very favorable comment. He portrayed the manly student very well.

Too much praise cannot be given to Messrs. Washington and Tavernier for the way in which they worked this play up. The members of the cast deserve great credit for this production. It was well received by students, teachers and friends.—C. H. G.

Dean Kelly Miller made a trip to Baltimore last Sunday where he addressed an audience composed of various Sunday Schools of the city. The lecture was held in the new Bethel A. M. E. Church which was recently purchased for $90,000 and is said to be the finest Negro church in the country.

taken by a man, Mr. Benjamin H. Locke. Messrs. Edgar Love W. H. Logan, William Winthrop, J. H. Purnell, Chas. Sedgewick, Jas. D. McLendon, Misses Ruth Gilbert and Geraldine P. Greene as Justice Shallow, Abraham Slender, Mr. Page, Doctor Caius, Sir Hugh Evans, Peter Simple, Mrs. Page and Anne Page, respectively, did excellent work both nights. In this connection the name of Mr. Winthrop deserves special mention. Another man had been selected to take the part of Mr. Page, but only ten days before the play was to be staged this young man resigned and left his place open. A vigorous search was made to find some one for this part on short notice. Mr. Winthrop accepted the part and worked like a Trojan to make good. He did make good and his work should receive just appreciation.

No other man in the university would have suited the role of Sir John Falstaff as well as E. Clayton Terry. His temperament, his jovial disposition, his air of self-confidence and his general bearing fitted him well for his part. Mr. Terry carried his lines easily, was well at home in his part and won unstinted applause from the audience. His big voice added much to the harmony of qualities characteristic of Sir John. The earnest work of Mr. Terry contributed largely to the success of the play. He even refused to become a member of the debating team in order that he might devote all of his spare time to the perfection of his role.

Mr. Louis Howard as Mr. Ford won high honors both nights. His work on Friday night was especially commendable. His interpretations of Mr. Ford and his ability as a performer were brought out in his clever work on the stage. His earnestness, his clear expression and his unruffled composure speaking loudly his praise. He was received each time with hearty applause. He went into the work as a green Freshman and came out with merit. His work shows that he has in him possibilities capable of a high development. In this kind of work in the future Mr. Howard will no doubt prove himself an invaluable asset.

Mr. Locke as Mrs. Ford had a very difficult part. Nevertheless he made as good a woman as was possible for a man to make. His features were, of course, somewhat rough for a woman, however he made good in his part and especially did he play the excited woman when Ford with his friends was appearing and Sir John Falstaff had to be disposed of. He adulterated his voice and altered his general makeup so successfully that a great many in the audience seemed to forget that he was only a make-believe Mrs. Ford. It is no easy thing for a man to play successfully the part of a madam.

The principal female part, Mrs. Quickly, was well characterized by Miss Zephyr Chisom. She was so well adapted to her part and so perfectly did she execute her role that she justly won herself the title of heroine of the performance. The development of both plots in the comedy depends upon Mrs. Quickly and this made Miss Chisom's work rather heavy. The promptness and precision with which she rendered her lines and acted her part contributed largely to the general spirit and tone of the production.

If there were space to devote it could be well used in setting forth the merits of each performer chief among whom were Mr. Purnell, Mr. Sedgewick, Miss Gilbert, Miss Green, Messrs. Love, Logan and McLendon. All that can be said here would be only a slight appreciation for the valuable services given by these persons. Every man acted well his part and upon every man depended the success of the play. Every man whether his part was heavy or light acquitted himself with merit.

On both nights the house was well filled although some of the boxes were unoccupied. The performance on the second night excelled that of the first in that the actors seemed more at home and had lost the nervousness so characteristic of amateur performers. The audience of the second night composed largely of students, seemed a deal more appreciative and gave more applause than the house of the previous night.

The scenery was elaborate and well suited to the play and the costumes, which were rented for the occasion, were adapted especially for this comedy. The setting and make-up of the whole show placed it in the highest rank of amateur production.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Lyric Orchestra under direction of Mr. E. P. Robinson. On the first night the music was fairly good but rather rough and uncertain in some places. This was due largely to the fact that the men who constituted the orchestra had not been playing together for some time but had been playing in small combinations and, consequently, had some inconvenience in "getting together." On the second night the music was much better and in fact it was good. The men "got together," the brass played better under the strings and the percussion instruments had more regard for the Director. The selections on Friday night were more in harmony with the occasion, "Poet and Peasant," "Sextette from Lucia," "Wedding of the Winds," and "Spring, Beautiful Spring" being some of the selections rendered. Considering the fact that every man in the orchestra is a student in Howard University the services rendered by the orchestra were of a very high order.

Prof. B. G. Brawley has labored hard and long to bring this play before the public. It seems that there was no end to the hard work, the pruning, the lopping-off, the substituting he had to do in order to put things in the proper shape. It should be remembered that it is no mere play to put anything Shakespearean on the amateur stage successfully. The success achieved amply repays the energy and time expended.

Any compliment we can pay Mr. Wm. Gilbert for his successful management of this project, which is really mammoth for a busy student—such as is this young man—would be only a dim reflection of the appreciation we have for his work. He fully demonstrates the fact that energy properly applied, can always produce the desired results. His successful management of the three plays in three consecutive years enforces upon us a realization that Mr. Gilbert is a man of rare business ability.

This play has reflected great credit upon all who are connected with it, upon the School of Liberal Arts, upon the student body and upon Howard University as a progressive institution.

SENIOR PROM

Announcements are out concerning the Senior Prom to be held at Odd Fellows Hall, M St., N. W., on Thursday evening, March 16, 1911. The demands on the committee for invitations far exceeds the supply and all indications point to the most successful function of the year. Mr. J. T. Warricks is chairman of the prom committee.

THE JOURNAL COMES BACK

The JOURNAL failed to appear last week for the reason that we were in a financial straight and rather than sink deeper into debt prepared to suspend publication. Our subscribers in the main have failed to pay their subscriptions and some of our advertisers on account of their unfaithfulness had to be dropped. An appeal setting forth the need of finance, was made in the chapel last week and the students made a rally and came to our assistance with one hundred and fifty subscriptions. This gave us a new impetus and promise of better support and from this time henceforth, we hope to issue the JOURNAL unmolested by financial worries. We thank all who so kindly contributed to the JOURNAL fund and we hope that you may enjoy our columns throughout the remaining school year.

VACANCY ON THE STAFF

The resignation of Mr. Doggett leaves a vacancy on the staff, which must be filled ere long. Such a place shall be filled by the man who in judgment of the staff based upon the quality of his contributions to our columns and the manifestation of some interest in our journalistic work merits the position. Another assistant is needed on the business staff and only a man of highest business ability and genuine push needs apply; for the success or failure of the JOURNAL depends most largely upon the activity or inactivity of the business managers.

"THE MERRY WIVES" REFLECTS GREAT CREDIT

The successful presentation of the Merry Wives of Windsor reflects great credit upon the ability and work of Prof. B. G. Brawley and also Mr. Wm. Gilbert, who so ably managed the affair. As far as we can hear, the public in general was highly pleased with the play. The student body showed their appreciation by turning out in great numbers. The actors showed on the stage the result of very careful and accurate training in their parts. The JOURNAL pays a special compliment to every individual of the Howard College Dramatic Club and thanks Prof. Brawley for his diligence in presenting to us such an excellent presentation. Next year, we hope to see "Twelfth Night," "Midsummer Nights Dream," or even "Othello." Judging from the remarkable showing made last week, we have the material to make such a presentation and we believe that under the able management of Mr. Gilbert, the public would support such a project.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION

"Careful provision is made for the physical examination of all students." The above is an extract from the catalogue of this University. It is a statement that is not correct and as it should be when in fact it is not carried out at all. Last year it was started, and a few students were examined; but for some reason it was stopped. This school year it was not started at all. What was the trouble? The Freedmans' Hospital and the many medical students of advanced standing certainly afford excellent facilities for carrying out the examinations.

Although the health of students has been exceptionally good and the percentage of sickness is very low, we ought to guard against sickness by requiring the students to come up to a standard physically or not be allowed to enter. Every freshman or new student entering the University ought to be compelled to undergo a thorough examination, physically as well as mentally. Tests of the blood circulation and measurements which deal with the vital organs should be noted.

A student not in good health should be promptly dismissed from the institution on the ground that he or she is not co-operating with the school to bring about a condition beneficial to both. Especially should this be so in the case of those students who are affected with preliminary diseases. —C. H. G.

DR. GRAY SPEAKS AT VESPERS

The Reverend Doctor Gray, pastor of Hamlin Methodist Episcopal Church spoke at the Vespers Service last Sunday. He took his text from the second book of Chronicles, fourth chapter, twenty-third verse. "There they dwelled with the king for his worth". His address was eloquent, pointed and practical. We are indebted to Dr. Parks for this very forceful address by Rev. Dr. Gray.

The Choir very beautifully rendered "Hark! Hark! My Soul" by Shelly. The alto part was very beautifully sung by Miss Olive Wells. This was Miss Wells first appearance in heavy solo work and it is needless to say that she made good. Her solo was very favorably received.

"Calm as Night" was sung by Miss Majorie Jones and Mr. J. E. Jones. Their voices blended very sweetly throughout the duet. This was Mr. Jones first appearance. A very large crowd was in attendance.

Will Lecture on Panama Canal

On Friday evening, March the eleventh, Mr. Walter Dyson, instructor in History and Economics in the Commercial Department, will give a stereopticon lecture on the "Panama Canal." This lecture will be under the auspices of the Commercial Club of Howard University in the Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel. One hundred slides have been especially prepared for Mr. Dyson. He has made a very careful study of the canal and the lecture bids fair to be very interesting. As the admission is free a large crowd is expected.

NOTES

The "Miner Hall line up" was very strong at the Howard Theatre last Friday night.

Miss Lucy Slowe, an alumnus of the School of Liberal Arts, visited the campus last week.

Messrs. Warren Logan and Joseph Martin walked to Baltimore last week. That's walking some.

Under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., President Thirkield addressed a large audience of young people at Grace Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Maryland, on Sunday of last week. The Y. M. C. A. of that city is about to inaugurate a campaign for a new building.

Dean Geo. W. Cook addressed the Alpha Phi Literary Society at its meeting on Wednesday night. The subject was "Money"—the need of money not as an end but as a means to an end and the urgency of thrift as well as industry in the progress of a people. During the business part of the meeting the society subscribed twenty-five dollars to aid the erection of a suitable memorial to Professor C. C. Cook.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Everything is getting in shape for the big Indoor Meet on the 11th of March. Graded school athletes are making the streets about town near school buildings take the appearance of running tracks at certain periods of the day. Track captains are elected and elimination trials are being held to decide upon representatives for the meet. For every boy entering the event it is safe to say that one hundred boys will have done some training and learned some athletic form. Now that the basket ball season is closing track work is claiming the full attention of most schools. Division games committees in two divisions are meeting the aspiring track candidates at convenient playgrounds and are teaching them form.

To further interest in the contests the firm Castleberg's jewelry store has offered a handsome silver loving cup to be awarded annually to the grade school of the P. S. A. L. gaining a majority of points in indoor competition.

Only three events are open to the grade school athletes which will make very keen competition. They are a fifty yard dash for boys under 120 pounds and two relay teams whose members are less than 95 pounds in weight and teams of runners of unlimited weight. All school athletes must be entered by March 2nd.

As an added feature to the interest of the occasion, the management of the I. S. A. A., P. S. A. L. games has made arrangements with four of the crack clubs of New York City to bring down a relay team composed of the best relay runners in each club to represent New York in a match one mile relay with Howard University and a Washington City relay. Coach Marshall of Howard University has a large squad out for training. Manager Gowens and Captain Quarles of the University track team promise a record breaking squad for this occasion and expect to take away a majority of prizes. Entries close this week and all expectant athletes are warned to be on time. Manager E. B. Henderson of M St. High School has entry blanks and information for athletes.

Those who attend the indoor games will see one of the best basket ball games ever played by colored teams. Pitted against each other will be quints representing Howard University and the Alpha Physical Culture Club of New York City. Howard's five has defeated three of the best fives in the east and has now but to defeat the Alpha five to be styled eastern champions. New York teams are accustomed to playing on full sized courts and are usually handicapped in play here, but on this occasion the floor will be ideal in proportions and entirely neutral to both teams. The Alpha have lost only one game this season, that to the 1910 champion Y. M. C. A. team which lost not one game of all played but has since disbanded. The New York boys have defeated all of the crack colored organizations and many of the local New York A. A. U. teams. The game will take place right after the dash events are off the program and will be followed by the quarter-mile, mile, and relay team.

ATHLETICS

BEHIND THE WICKET

Manager De Sueze of the cricket team is arranging his schedule but is unable to give definite information concerning some games. He will play Haverford College in Pennsylvania during the latter part of April. Capt. Overton has practically the same squad that played last year.

AMONG THE QUINTS

Howard varsity plays the last basketball game on local grounds Saturday night at Convention Hall when it meets the Alpha Physical Culture Club Team of New York City. Both teams have played a very heavy schedule this year and have lost only one game. A fast game is expected because the teams will play on a large court, free from obstructions which will eliminate the complaints of the "Big City" teams concerning their inability to play well on a small court.

The Freshman Meds lost to the Mercury Athletic Club Saturday night at True Reformers Hall. The Mercury Club is composed of well known local amateur players of M St., Armstrong and local clubs. The game was slow and full of fouls. The score was 31 to 25 for the Athletic Club.

Manager Jap Brown, through his wise management has conducted his season successfully thus far and has under consideration a northern trip which promises a nice series of games. Mr. Brown has been identified with athletics at Howard for about five years and is upon all the facts. He is highly esteemed by the students and relied upon by the athletic council for his executive ability.

CAUGHT OFF THE RACKET

The Athletic Council will fit up about six new courts this season. There are very many enthusiasts among the students and the call for more courts seems justified. Courts should be fitted up for the young ladies especially since their advantages are limited. The need of a gymnasium is evident but since we have none the Council is trying to enlarge all athletic facilities. Howard has some good amateur tennis players including Professor Lightfoot, Messrs. Pollard, Warricks, McMorris, Murphy, Gregory, Just, Davis, Logan, Dyson, Tom Brown and Kyle. Two courts are not enough for all these men who play regular and the Council is trying to provide for these men.

SPRINTS FROM THE TRACK

Howard track team makes its first appearance this season at the Indoor Meet to be held in Convention Hall, March 11. Two relay teams have been entered and several men in the individual events both Interscholastic and open.

The try-out for the Prep relay team was made Tuesday and out of a field of fourteen the following four made their places: Bryce first, Valentine second, Graham third and Garland fourth. The weather has been very unfavorable and the fellows have not been able to do much consistent training. The final trial for the varsity relay will be run off this week. Some of the candidates are Desmond, Gray, Penn, Curtis, Stratton, Powe and Gowens.

The men entered in the various events are Salinear, Curtis, Hunt, Gowens, 50 yard open; Desmond, Salinear, Valentine 50 yard interscholastic; Powe, Desmond 440 interscholastic; Quarles, Powe, Valentine 1 mile interscholastic; Stratton, Quarles, George, Flipping, Gowens 1 mile open; Gowens 440 yards open; George, Robbins, high jump.

"A clean sweep, a safe prediction both in track events and in basket ball," says Manager W. Q. Gowens.

CAMPUS JOTS

The Senior Prom, March 16.

Mr. James Wright of the class of 1911, College of Arts and Sciences, preached in Baltimore last Sunday night.

Manager Gowens is making arrangements for a big out-door track meet to be held on the campus the latter part of April.

Mr. Benjamin Locke of the junior class, School of Liberal Arts, had the pleasure of having his sister and niece visit him last week.

Miss Lucy Hale Tapley, president of Spelman Seminary visited the University last Monday. She gave a very interesting short talk at Chapel.

Miss Sadie Merriwether of the class of 1910, College of Arts and Sciences, visited the campus last Sunday. Miss Merriwether is teaching in Baltimore.

Mr. Chester M. Lottier of the class of 1910, Commercial Department, visited the campus last week. He was on his way to Chicago where he holds a very good position.

"A Measuring Party" was given last Saturday night in the parlors of Miner Hall by the Young Peoples' Branch of the W. C. T. U. A large crowd was out. The admission was one cent for every inch that you are tall. Some of the short ones were given complimentary tickets. Quite an enjoyable evening was spent.

We feel this is some need, and so the courses are offered. They are not attracting many of our pupils, for the simple reason that they do not see any immediate use they may make of the knowledge and skill.

Respectfully,
Frank L. Williams, Prin.
Summer High School,
St. Louis, Missouri.

My Dear Mr. Dyson:-

We have no commercial course at Talladega. We have a course in bookkeeping, extending over half a year, for our Normal students. This is all we have at the present time.

In connection with a high school course, which we are organizing, it may be that we shall give one or two additional courses of commercial nature.

I think there is a demand for work of this nature for colored boys and girls, because there are some of them whose minds are turned toward preparation for work of this nature.

Sincerely yours,
J. M. P. Metcalf, Pres.
Talladega College,
Talladega, Ala.

THE FISK JUBILEE SINGERS SING HERE

On their way through this city the great Fisk Jubilee Singers of Fisk University will render a recital in the Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel, November 20, 1910 at eight o'clock p. m. All the Fiskites throughout the city will be here and Howard University will be out in full bloom to welcome them that night. The singers need no introduction to the public, they are known all over the world. They always have a large audience. The one disadvantage is that our chapel is too small for the vast crowd that pours in on such occasions. For admission to this recital students will pay only 10c, all others 25c. Let us give Fisk a rare sample of our university life and bid them a royal welcome.

WILL WE WIN AGAIN?

Last year Howard won the Triangular Debating League's honors. We defeated Fisk and we defeated Atlanta. Our showing has been very remarkable in this activity. On Friday night, the seventh of April, this year's debates will take place. The string of victories in the past has been so long that one almost fears it must be broken soon. With the confidence we have in our two debating teams we know that it will not be broken this year. Let us hope, however, that Howard will return the winner once again.

The subject is the "Initiative and the Referendum." Howard will defend the affirmative side at home against Atlanta University and the Negative side in Nashville against Fisk University. What our debaters have to say about this subject, pro and con, will, no doubt, be interesting. The men are working hard to get in shape and when the seventh comes Howard will again be victorious. C. H. G.

The new building for the School of Applied Sciences is nearing completion.

FROM THE DIAMOND

Baseball is on. Captain Hudson Oliver issued a call for candidates last week and a large number signed up Wednesday. There is some good material in evidence. "Kid" Brice will be seen on the slab this year. This slab artist has always taken the College boys' measure in past games in which he opposed them and the home boys are fortunate in having young "Mordecai Brown" with them. Captain Oliver will be in short while "Bullet" Slaughter, the boy that took the pig-skin over at Lincoln, will try out for third.

Perry Bell, the new inanager has been on the twirling staff for the past three years and knows the inside working of the team. Although his schedule has not been completed, he has some important dates scheduled: one of which is a game with Springfield Massachusetts Training School. This game will open the season during the latter part of March. Howard has shown her athletic supremacy over her opponents thus far this school year, and we all look forward to a successful baseball season. The men have done very little heavy work and it is impossible to get a line on them yet.
