Indoor Meet a Success

Howard Quint Wins. New Yorkers take Relay Race

FULLY one thousand people witnessed the big meet at Convention Hall, Saturday night, held by the colored schools of the District in which much striking athletic ability was manifested. The Alpha Physical Culture Club of Brooklyn, the Wissahichen School Club of Pennsylvania, and Indian Athletic Club of New York City were (Continued on page 2, column 2)

Base Ball at Howard

This will be the most Successful Season in Our History

CALL for candidates for the base ball squad was announced March 1st and about 40 promising aspirants responded. The men for the first few days were put through hard practice, but on account of bad weather and lack of a gymnasium for indoor work, our men were forced to stop training and go around with sore arms (Continued on page 6, column 1)

A Trophy Case Needed

No Place to Keep the Prizes Won by Howard Athletes

HOWARD athletic teams have won handsome trophies from time to time, but where can we put these? Where have the banners and shield gone that the teams have won? They have been lost, because there was no appropriate place to put them. The Howard basket ball team won a handsome cup last Saturday evening, but where will we put it?
These few incidents have brought to our minds the great need for a trophy case. A case that we could point to with pride and show what our athletes have won. Although this is a small item, it is nevertheless an important one, one that the proper authorities should attend to at once. There are a few cases on the top floor in the Main Building lying idle that could be used for this purpose if they were fixed up and made a little more secure.

Now, suppose we secure one of these cases, where shall we place it? Since we have no gymnasium—we, however, need one badly enough—we recommend that the case be placed temporarily in our library building. This would not be distraction but rather an added attraction. Here, it would be safe. It would be in a conspicuous place; for this is the first place we carry visitors.

We recommend that the Athletic Council consider this small yet important matter at their next meeting and take steps immediately toward securing an appropriate case.

At some schools they provide regular trophy rooms. They should also take steps toward collecting the other trophies won by the Howard Athletic Teams. —C.H.G.

H. C. D. C.—CAST OF "THE MERRY WIVES OF WINDSOR"

Secretary Marchant of the Y. M. C. A. led the prayer meeting last week.

The Miner Hall "line up" was not represented at the Indoor Meet last Saturday night.

On the evening of April 14th, Joseph Douglas the noted violinist will appear in a recital in the Rankin Memorial Chapel.

Sunday, March the 19th at 6 o'clock, Rev. J. Milton Waldron, D. D., will address the Young Peoples' Union. The meeting will be held in Library Hall. Let all be on time please.

President Thirkield visited Cayton, Ohio, last Sunday. In the morning he spoke at the Grace Church, and in the evening, he spoke at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium in interest of the Colored Y. M. C. A. of that city.
We do not cry for a gymnasium, our dear Alumni, merely because our athletes need it, but because the proper development of your sons and daughters demands it. It would be a blessing to our professors, too, if they could turn a somersault in it now and then. They need a little shaking up sometimes.

THE CONVENTION HALL MEET

The big meet in Convention Hall last Saturday night was a grand affair and was conducted in high style. It is the forerunner of similar athletic events that will take place in this city each year. The large crowd in the hall showed the interest the Washington people have in athletics. Our Howard men deserve our heartiest congratulations upon their fine work. Everything being considered our men made the best all round showing in the meet. We are compelled to borrow space in which to do our training, and many of our runners ran indoors for the first time.

The basket-ball team played a professional game as usual, and the Alphas were by no means slow. If we had a "gymn" the big schools would have to do a great deal more stretching to hold their record.

Two Much Smoke : Must Be Some Fire

Everybody who speaks in chapel tells us what a battle we may expect to find when we get out in the world. Everybody tells us to use profitably every moment of our school life while we have an opportunity. Everybody who has finished school and who has enlisted into the great army where war is the natural course of things tells us that he wishes he had a chance to do his schoolwork over. He realizes how many gaps he has left open; he feels that he could do better if he had another trial. Seriously, don't you think that there is some truth in what all these men are saying? Let us get together then and pull with all our combined forces to make the best of it while we are here.

SCHOLARSHIP AND ATHLETICS

We read with a great deal of pleasure concerning the organization of a standing committee to keep watch over the scholastic standing of Pennsylvania's football players. We feel that this is a most important step in lessening the gap that has stood for years between the prowess of the men of the gridiron and their relative ability in the class room.

We recommend that the Athletic Council perfect a similar organization at Howard. Several times Howard has been deprived of some of her players on account of their class standing. Every year we hear the cry, and and not without reason that the American colleges cherish and overdo athletics to the detriment of the scholastic standing of the student body. The formation of the body would bring about a betterment of existing conditions that would answer these vital questions here, and, perhaps, elsewhere.

This committee would have under its surveillance, all the football men of the school. They

ATHLETICS ON THE DECLINE
Must Have Gymnasium

Howard has long maintained supremacy in the colored collegiate athletic world, but she is fast losing her hold and the white and blue is beginning to totter. That she is growing weak is not the fault of her athletic sons because she possesses some of the "best ever"—men who will risk their lives to uphold the proud name of Howard—but it is because of the lack of facilities afforded for that training that is absolutely essential to development and necessary to carry off first honors in the contests in which she enters. That she has no gymnasium cannot be charged to any particular person but it can be charged up against Howard and that means all she comprises.

The writer doesn't say that no interest is manifested in a gymnasium, nor does he say no effort has been expended but he does say enough attention is not given to it. If plans for a "gym" are in operation "higher up" the students do not know it and are justified in a strong, concentrated demand for one and should make this demand imperative until the building is erected even an athletic room. Our facilities are inferior to those of the public schools. How long shall we inconvenience those boys by intruding upon their rights? Is the University satisfied to see her men thus buffed and cuffed about? Is that the returns she offers to her loyal sons who so nobly defend her? What about our girls—as faithful and true as ever dawned a college confined to their domitory eight months? Unlike schools in the rural districts where the girls may reap the benefit of fresh air and large roaming grounds, our school only offers them occasional walks around the reservoir in fair weather, while during the cold wintry months they must remain confined in the rooms. This is not un-known to the students but it is a fact we fail to consider seriously in making a sum total. Education embraces physical development as well as mental and moral. Will we forever turn a deaf ear to these stifled cries? Howard "expects ever man to do his duty" is the last word before a game! Why should not every man expect Howard to do her part? Obstacles encountered in developing track and baseball teams are tremendous. The snow is scarcely off the ground at the time of the spring track meet. Only last week men had to try out on a track between banks of snow. Late spring leaves the campus too soft for effective track or baseball work. These condition not only interfere with the work of the "squads" but prevents many from trying for the teams at all.

The Task Difficult

This task seems at first overwhelming but it is commensurate with consistent effort. Mr. Karl Fulmer of Dartmouth says in the Intercollegiate Magazine: "The wonderful gymnasium there was built in the characteristic Dartmouth way—not by the munificence of any patron, not by the donations of a few wealthy Alumni but by the combined gifts of about 30,000 Dartmouth men. The importance and value of this gymnasium to Dartmouth is scarcely to be estimated. It will be a rich boom to all its future student, will provide comfort for the visiting teams and should give impetus to a new era in Dartmouth Athletics." We know we can't have a gym like Dartmouth's, nor have we asked for one but we do believe the right spirit and effort will give us one to meet the needs of Howard. Probably the "undergrads" are not broad enough but some of us feel that the Alumni have been neglectful. Occasional meetings and exchange of material but who could train men in a blinding snow storm or on a soft track? The University does not maintain even an athletic room. Our facilities are inferior to those of the public schools. How long shall we inconvenience those boys by intruding upon their rights? Is the University satisfied to see her men thus buffed and cuffed about? Is that the returns she offers to her loyal sons who so nobly defend her? What about our girls—as faithful and true as ever dawned a college confined to their domitory eight months? Unlike schools in the rural districts where the girls may reap the benefit of fresh air and large roaming grounds, our school only offers them occasional walks around the reservoir in fair weather, while during the cold wintry months they must remain confined in the rooms. This is not un-known to the students but it is a fact we fail to consider seriously in making a sum total. Education embraces physical development as well as mental and moral. BASE BALL AT HOWARD

This team plays Harvard, Exeter, Amherst, Pennsylvania State and other big college teams, so a fast game is expected. Our schedule will be out in a few days. The manager with the consent of the Athletic Council has arranged a southern trip for about two weeks which will be published later.

P. S. —Don’t forget the big game on March 24th, 1911.

PLAIN FACTS

"Taxation Without Representation is Tyranny."

There are in Howard University over 1200 students each one of whom pays yearly one dollar for the support of athletics. Men of the University include those skilled in the art and practice of many sports including football, baseball, basketball, tennis, track and cricket. It follows that each of these branches of athletics should have an apportionment of the athletic tax for equipment, grounds, etc.

Herefore, football and baseball have utilized all or nearly all athletic funds, allowing the others to thrive as best they might. The result has been that we have a good baseball and football field, a track built by the I. S. A. A., and no other grounds worth mentioning.

The cricket teams practice on the lower part of the baseball field where they as well as the fielders playing baseball are in danger of being struck by batted balls. The tennis courts covered with gravel of various sizes and surrounded by rickety old back stops are an eyesore to the campus. The basket ball teams either practice in the open or beg permission of the M Street High School to play in its gymnasium. The Athletic Association and the Council have always held that the minor sports are always financially failures. A glance shows that the recent foot ball season closed with a deficiency of over $800 and that the time when baseball was a paying proposition runneth far back in the memory of man. This year the basket ball manager has already returned to the Council above the amount which was advanced him for equipment at the beginning of the season.

The problem is not what we have done to better athletics but what we will do. It is a mistake not to make provision for a branch of athletics simply because we cannot see in gate receipts the result of money expended. It should be borne in mind that so long as we lack a gymnasium here, the fundamental aim of all athletics is physical development. No one will gainsay that the physical side of student life is as necessary as the intellectual and spiritual side— a sound mind in a sound body. Yet less than one third the men engage in the two major sports while many more are kept out of athletics by reason of the lack of proper provision for them.

First of all we need a gymnasium but until we get it let Howard University be as famous for the number of athletes it produces as for the excellence and superiority of its football and baseball teams. —C. P. Murphy.

INTERSCOLASTIC DEBATE

On the evening of March 31st, the Eureka Literary Society promises to give a rare treat to all in the form of a debate between M Street High School and Howard Academy. Since this is the first time the Academy has debated outside of its department it is naturally arousing great enthusiasm among the students. The Eureka has placed on the debate what she believes to be the best of her students, and considering what exceptional ability is usually shown in the Society we have the greatest hopes of bringing the first victory to our department. The subject is, Resolved: That United States Senators should be elected by the direct vote of the people.

Messrs. William Pollard '11, Charles Humbert '11, George Hall '11, and James W. Jackson '11, as alternate, will defend the affirmative side for the Academy. Messrs. Fred Malone, John Freeman, and George E. Hayes will defend the negative side for M Street.

The largest student body and many friends of each school are expected and the Eureka has secured the use of Metropolitan, A. M. E. Church for the occasion. Tickets are now on sale among the students. The Eureka asks the help of all students in making the affair a success.

THE PANAMA CANAL

A large and attentive audience among which were city teachers and their pupils, listened to Mr. Walter Dyson last Friday Evening in the Chapel in a stereopticon lecture on the Panama Canal, under the auspices of the Commercial Club. Judge Terrell who introduced Mr. Dyson, spoke in no uncertain terms of how Mr. Dyson has made good in this community, and how in 1869 when the Suez Canal was opened, there was no young negro graduate of Yale like Mr. Dyson to deliver such a lecture before an appreciative colored audience.

Those not present missed a rare treat. Very seldom does the student body and colored public have an opportunity to attend such a timely and unique lecture on a subject of this nature, before it is stale and ancient history to most people.

Mr. Dyson, one of our young and promising instructors, presented this large and live subject in a clear, interesting and scholarly manner, doing great credit to himself.

The long and intricate history of the undertaking which is greater than all the pyramids combined; its marvellous and difficult construction, and its advantages, were all clearly and forcefully presented by the speaker, aided by 100 choice slides.

After the address Mr. Dyson was a guest at a banquet of the Musoulit Club of the city. Mr. Dyson has been asked, learn, to repeat his lecture in the city.
