College Life at Howard

About this season of the year is the time that the high school and academy graduates begin to make their plans for College the succeeding year. In the choosing of an appropriate institution for a college course, the youth cannot be too careful. Social advantages, opportunities for adequate work in science, competency of faculty and many minor considerations must be taken into account.

Howard University holds a unique place in Negro education. It is unquestionably the first institution for the education of negro youths in the world and the nearest approach among the negroes to the big university. The curriculum is arranged so that one can get in his course through college, just what he wants and needs. It does not stick to the old iron clad idea that the same thing is for everyone. Every student is not required to stick to the traditional Latin and Greek as of yore, but can take the things for which he feels that he is adapted.

The social advantages at Howard are all that can be expected of any school of its standing. Just here is where one of the advantages of Howard over the big white institutions lies. Howard is primarily for the colored youths and here every one is considered a select man and is permitted to enjoy social advantages on a par with his fellows. The social contact of college life is just as essential in the broader development of the individual when all is said and done as the regular class room work. It is in the social contact that man learns the cultured way of dealing with his fellowman. The part of society that is segregated and set aside from the majority is likely to thrive over there by itself and in a selfish way. Thus, if this freedom of social contact is not allowed, the individual becomes an intellectual giant and a social dwarf.

In Howard colleges alone there are more than four hundred students, these boys and girls brought into immediate relationship each with the other learn what it is to deal with equals and what it means to rub shoulders with the strongest of humanity.

In the two Colleges, there are about forty or more faculty members, graduates of the best institutions of America and England and boasting, most of them, of several years of experience in pedagogical work, some of more than twenty years of service. There was a time when the man under whom the pupil studied was the chief concern. It is indeed an important part of our present day scheme of education. Efficient teachers, all things being equal, make efficient pupils and vice versa.

The laboratory and library facilities are far beyond the ordinary, making the courses in engineering and practical science among the first in the country. The two science halls are well equipped with the choicest appliances, many special pieces of apparatus furnished by the government.

And, too, athletics form a large part of the life of Howard University. With the advantage of a gymnasium, which seems to be a necessity for next year, athletics promise to be placed on a collegiate basis.

Here, then, is the possibility for the young man to develop his athletic propensities, become a brilliant student, and at the same time enjoy the best possible social advantages. The student about to embark on a college career should think well before he sails. While it is true that the college does not make the man; yet the college can ruin the man.

The Forensic Clash

Howard Argues the Income Tax with Union and Wilberforce Friday Night

The intercollegiate debates, Howard versus Wilberforce and Howard versus Union, will take place next Friday night. Wilberforce will meet Howard in Rankin Chapel and Union will meet here in Richmond.

The two teams here have been doing actual debating on the subject for more than three weeks and now feel confident that they are in condition to win easily over their opponents.

The subject to be discussed is a live one, one that is more than any other, barring the tariff, before the American people today.

These intercollegiate debates are always looked forward to with quite a deal of interest and expectation not only by the student body but by the general public.

Banquet and dinner functions are now about to begin and the "henpecks" are getting in action.

Who is who with Miss R. T. Duke Wimberley, Clarence Richardson, Toussaint Alston or Frank Cook?
Letter of Condolence

Howard University, Washington, D. C.,
April 15th, 1913

My dear Miss Lane,

"God hath given and God hath taken away."

When this right has been exercised by our Heavenly Father, in taking from the midst of the home the one around whom the home is built, the one to whom we always look for guidance and cheer in the time of sorrow, we may feel tempted to question the justice of it all.

Your mother has been taken away from you, and your home will know her presence and influence no more: but those who know you, feel certain that she has been a good, devout, and forward colored mother, because she has sent to us here a daughter who portrays in such a creditable manner, that sort of home training.

We who know what it is to have a mother can sympathize with you in your loss, and our hearts go out to you and the other members of your family in your bereavement. It is this which prompts us, the members of the Freshman Class of the College of Arts and Sciences to write to you this letter of condolence.

We trust that you will bear up under your great loss and return again to us to take up the work which has been so unhappily interrupted.

With a sympathy which is sincere, we remain your classmates,
Class 1916.

Committee on Condolence:

The Y. M. C. A. Meeting

Consistently and enthusiastically, the Y. M. C. A. continues its wholesome and uplifting service in the university. The meeting on last Sunday was preeminently indicative of the fact, for inspiring discourse and soothing music reigned supreme.

Rev. Arthur Randall, of the Peoples Congregational Church, gave a very eloquent address upon the "Demand of the War." He took the character of James Marion, a devout and forward colored man of the South and held him up to the young men as an example of one who satisfied the demand of the hour. The speaker told how James Marion, once a boot-black, rose gradually and steadily, by doing good to those about him, until he reached the place where, well stationed in the business and religious world, he made himself the strongest factor in obtaining the Y. M. C. A. building for the colored men of Columbus, Georgia.

This portraiture of a man's character and deeds served well its purpose, the inspiring of others to seize the opportunity and meet the demand of the hour. The other feature of the meeting was the unusually good music rendered. Mr. Reginald E. Bowen sang "Who Knows" and Messrs. J. E. Jones, Chas. Howard and H. C. Stratton sang very effectively a trio.

Kelly Miller's Monographic Magazine

A New Effort in Negro Journalism

We all note with much interest and pleasure, Prof. Kelly Miller's new effort in negro journalism, his Monographic Magazine to be published "often and on." He proposes to give to the reading public the best literature of the world bearing on the race problem.

In his salutatory Dean Miller states that his Monographic Magazine proposes to cover the entire range of the race problem by a series of comprehensive essays. The essay comprising the first number is on the subject, "Education for Manhood."

To say that it is Prof. Miller's product is sufficient recommendation for the magazine. This will be one means of securing to the world more literature from the pen of this writer, conceded by some to be the best among the Negro. Prof. Miller has always supported the cause of the negro in a clear, logical, forcible style, and as a medium for such the Monographic Magazine promises to be a powerful weapon in the hands of a powerful man.

Attend the lecture in Chapel Monday Evening, April 21.

Big Mass Meeting

The biggest mass meeting yet will be held in Rankin Chapel next Wednesday evening. All the Howard songs and yells will be rehearsed. Stereopticon views of Howard’s heroes in every line of endeavor will be shown; debaters, athletes, orators, and stars of days of yore will all be thrown on the canvas.

All who have won medals of any description for efficiency in any line of work will wear the same and on the night of the mass meeting will please hand in to the cheer leader a typewritten statement of how he won the medal.

Every loyal Howardite from every department is expected to turn out and join with all his spirit in the proceedings of the evening. The spirit of the rabble must be sharpened in order to assist the debating teams in winning and keeping the laurels at home.

Howard Man Making Good

The Rev. Anthony Deanes, B. D., who has been for several years a student of Howard University and who has, since 1911, been the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Warrenton, Va., is making good as a leader. Although the Rev. Deanes was a mere student of theology and inexperienced as a pastor when he took hold of the work yet he has proved himself worthy of the task placed upon him.

He has encouraged the spirit of unity among his people, in that he has influenced the churches of the community to work together for the social, moral and intellectual interests of the race.

Since he has been pastor he has paid off all the indebtedness on the church, purchased a new organ, and installed a new steam heating plant. His congregation has been fully doubled and he was instrumental in adding many names to the church roll.

He has organized a School Enrollment League, of which he is president. Through this league he has raised $380.00 to be used in securing better buildings and equipment for the colored public schools. The Rev. Deanes is a senior in the Teachers College and will receive his Bachelor of Arts degree with the class of ’13.

Wherever the disciple of Howard goes, the Howard spirit is manifested and wherever the Howard spirit is manifested, success is achieved. The community is blessed. Howard is honored and Jesus Christ is exalted.

Prof. Turner will give a stereopticon Lecture in Rankin Chapel, Monday, April 21, at eight o’clock p.m. Be sure to attend.

EDITORIAL

* The man who achieves success in his school work is he that endures to the end of the term through these beautiful April and May days.

* Every student of Howard University should hail with a hearty welcome Dean Kelly Miller's Monographic Magazine; especially those who come in contact with him; for they are in a position to understand the worth of the man and what a magazine conducted by him stands for. Howard men should be the first to contribute to the success of the magazine by subscribing to it.

* The singing of Mr. Harry T. Burleigh at the funeral of the great, philanthropic, wide hearted magnate, J. P. Morgan, goes to show that competency and efficiency are recognized in any individual or any race. Mr. Burleigh is known to be one of America's best and finest cultured baritones; he can deliver the goods and hence is never excluded on account of color.

That's the only way the Negro is going to receive due recognition, to do whatever he does better than anybody else. The best product is always that which is demanded.

* The time for the selections of a new JOURNAL STAFF is almost at hand. Already many students have begun to think about this matter. Prior to last year each staff made its own selection of successor, but now the naming of a staff is the property of the student electorate.

Now, then, every student of the College of Arts and Sciences and of the Teachers College should consider this his responsibility and do his part toward the securing of a good and efficient staff.

In the next issue of THE JOURNAL will appear a carefully selected ballot for your consideration.

* A noteworthy thing about our university is its growth and prospects of its College Departments. These two departments number more than four hundred young men and women. This growth can be seen to have its effect upon the tone of the institution, and upon student life generally. The College Department is the nucleus of any university, in fact the representative department of the university and as such should exert a dominating influence. The teams that represent the University should be college teams. A very important step in that direction has been noted in track athletics this year. For the first time in the history of the University a silver cup was won by a strictly college team. Of course, all of our debaters are College men, and in football and baseball we have more and more College representatives on the teams each year.

The students must realize the situation and awaken to the fact that Howard can never hope to compete on equal terms with her larger white institutions until the college men come into possession of their rightful heritage.

Mrs. Robt. Lafollette Speaks

Thursday evening, at 8:30, in Library Hall, a large and enthusiastic crowd of students listened attentively to a sound and rational address by Mrs. Robt. LaFollette, wife of Senator Robt. LaFollette of Wisconsin, on behalf of the Howard University branch of the Lucy Stone Woman's Suffrage Organization.

Among the things she said were the following:

"Colored women being connected in the various industries, and contributing their part in the production of the world's goods, should have as much right to vote as the whites. The question is not so much man-suffrage or woman-suffrage, but universal suffrage. The colored women are a vital and necessary part in the economic life, and they should share in all the factors which condition that life. Women share equally with men in religion and education, they also should share in the government."

She emphasized the fact that suffrage was coming and that the women must be prepared to figure in it creditably.

President Newman made a few remarks in favor of Woman Suffrage, and said he was in favor with the cause because it was based on common sense and right.

A K A to Present Mr. Nathaniel Guy

The Alpa Kappa Sorority will present Mr. Nathaniel Guy, an elocutionist and reader well known to the Washington public, in Rankin Chapel Saturday evening.

Mr. Guy will appear in the choicest repertoire and promises to be highly entertaining.

Howard has recently seen the results of Mr. Guy's efficient work in the successful rendition of the "Lady of Lyons" by the Dramatic Club.

The work of the club, under the competent direction and coaching of Mr. Guy gave the finest performance of its history. The admission is a popular price for such a grand occasion - fifteen cents. It is hoped that the student body will give Mr. Guy a large audience, and thus show their appreciation of his work with our Dramatic Club.

Prof. Turner's Lecture is Monday, April 21, 1913, at 8:00 p.m. in the Rankin Memorial Chapel.

Oath of Afro-American Youth

"I will never bring disgrace upon my race by any unworthy deed or dishonorable act: I will live a clean, decent, manly life; and will ever respect and defend the virtue and honor of womanhood. I will uphold and obey the just laws of my country and of the community in which I live; and will encourage others to do likewise: I will not allow prejudice, injuries, insult or outrage to cover my spirit or humiliate my soul; but will ever preserve the inner freedom of heart and conscience: I will not allow myself to be overcome of evil; but will strive to overcome evil with good: I will endeavor to develop and exert the best powers within me for my own personal improvement; and will strive unceasingly to quicken the sense of racial duty and responsibility: I will in all these ways aim to uplift my race so that, to every one bound to it by ties of blood, it shall become a bond of ennoblement, and not a byword of reproach."

This is the oath composed by Professor K. Miller and recommended to be taken the same as the oath of the Ancient Greek youths by all Afro-American youths.

Maynard Prize Debate
Emory B. Smith and Volley Stokes Winners

The Maynard Prize Debate of the School of Theology was held in Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel, Friday evening, April 11th, 1913. This event, the largest of its kind, given under the auspices of the School of Theology, is for the purpose of stimulating interest and proficiency in oratory and debating in that department. Two prizes are offered, $10 as the first, and $5 as the second prize.

The debate was equal to anything of its kind previously held by the School of Theology. The occasion was very much enhanced by the stage decoration of pennants and flowers, a departure of this department.

The subject under discussion was, "In this Twentieth Century of the Christian Era is War Justifiable?" The disputants on the Affirmative side were Messrs. David B. Blake, Geo. F. McMillar, Emory B. Smith; on the Negative side there were, Messers. William B. Baker, Volley V. K. Stokes and James A. Walker.

Each speaker acquitted himself with honor and dignity in the handling of his arguments and showed that he had the subject well within his grasp. Mr. Emory B. Smith, '13, the winner of the first prize deserves special commendation for his masterly presentation and argument on the subject. He argued against the justification of war, because of its high cost to society, and because the peaceful means of settlement, particularly arbitration afforded finer victories.

Mr. Volley V. Stokes, who won the second prize argued from a biblical standpoint, maintaining that Christ sanctioned war, thereby upholding the affirmative side.

The distinguished divines discussed war in its every phase, presenting its good and bad effects, denouncing and justifying it in this civilized day.

Music was furnished by the Theological Quartette. The judges were: Rev. Donald C. Mac Lord, D. D., Dr. J. H. N. Waring, Rev. Charles H. Butler.

NOTICE!

The intercollegiate debate between Wilberforce and Howard will be held in Rankin Memorial Chapel, Friday, April 25. Two strong teams will meet and the discussion promises to be heated.

You help the Y. M. C. A. by attending the stereopticon lecture in Rankin Chapel, Monday, April 21, at eight o'clock.

The German Club Banquets

The German Club held its first annual family banquet Monday night, April the 14th, in Minor Hall. There were present a half hundred enthusiastic German students, all members of the German Club.

During the first hour the Club was entertained with sweet and melodious German songs by Miss Olive Wells and Mr. Grant, and with delightful instrumental solos by Misses Burton and Oliver. This phase concluded, the Club jovially repaired to the banquet hall proper where there lay spread before them five tables of German viands and delicacies. The air of the room itself lent mirth to the occasion and the resounding of the German accents gave all indications of a real, unadulterated German function of the first order.

As the club became gradually accustomed to the delicious diet the toastmaster, Mr. C. D. Harelee, directed the toasts as follows:

2. In the midst of this excellent program extemporaneous toasts by Misses Holmes, Washington, Oliver, Burton and Ford, Messrs. Newman, C. L. Johnson, A. D. Stone, and Granady, called forth bursts of pleasant laughter.

As the bells of night pealed forth twelve, the German merry makers with a touch of their glasses, that sparkled with crystal water, left with sweet remembrances for better cares.
