Definite student projects are already under way in a good many colleges all across the country as a result of the Evanston Interdenominational Student Conference which met during the Christmas holidays. Reports of these projects are being sent from every section of the United States to the first meeting of the Continuation Committee which recently was held in Columbus, Ohio.

Many of the student-directed undertakings related very definitely to the demand for church unity which was so persistently expressed at Evanston. Thus at Northwestern University the Young People's Societies in the Evanston churches are working more closely together in a common use of the project method.

Recently a representative committee outlaid an experimental program on the question, "What is your idea in life?" Students from various denominations undertook a wide survey of student and adult leaders, from John D. Rockefeller down the line, to discover, if possible, what they think is the idea in life. The sessions at which the answers were discussed were Freewill and more to the point than any of the meetings within the membership of these church groups.

A similar project is under way at the University of Michigan. A committee representative of all the Young People's Societies which has been working out a common program. The first question that is to be replied to by these groups is "What is the University of Michigan?" Student commissions are making a survey of Ann Arbor in an effort to gather data on which to have a discussion for that night.

A project of another sort is that at Ohio University at Athens, Ohio, which is being undertaken by students, with the backing of the churches, who are already set about the job of interdenominational commissions in groups in night and week-end classes.

All the way from Massachusetts to Oregon reports come of the wide spread and increasing interest in the proposals for projects of various sorts which were outlined at Evanston. The Continuation Committee is helping to start five student commissions to head up project work in these various fields. Each of these commissions, although composed of students, will have the help of an expert advisor. The first commission is to undertake the investigation of the educational purposes of the churches, particularly as these purposes are revealed in the facts as they are being broadcast, of how the church is already, in terms of definite cases, helping to build a new social order. The material for this survey will be gathered by students. The second commission is studying ways and means for church student cooperation and relating the findings of Miss Edith Marshall, a member of last year's team who was so readily undertaken by the students themselves. There are commissions on students, and international relationships; church leadership.

The Continuation Committee is seeking to correlate and conserve these various projects. Communications which relate directly or indirectly to this work can be sent to the energetic and enthusiastic J. L. Penn, correspondent of The H. U. Engineerizing Society, 104 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

THE H. U. ENGINEERING SOCIETY

J. L. PENN, Correspondent

The work of the Howard University Engineering Society, like the work of any other technical organization, is not brought to the attention of the student body at large as much as it deserves.

Since its organization, the society has grown to be of material benefit to the student in engineering and architecture. Upon its organization, the society conceived the plan that it could best serve its purpose by preparing periodically lectures and putting pictures stressing the different phases of industry. Recently, under the direction of Messrs. Welch and Logwood of the Senior Electrical Engineering class, instruction in the use of the "Slideware" was begun. This slide rule is an indispensable instrument to the engineer and architect and in fact, to any who have mathematical calculations of any extent to perform.

The society extends to all the student body a cordial invitation to its pictures and moving pictures, and those who are interested in the use of the slide rule are to be encouraged to join the slide rule class which meets Tuesday noon in the Building of Applied Science.

The GERMAN CLUB

The German Club has just held its usual monthly meeting, at which time the resignation of Miss Louise Johnson, who was a very active member of the club, was received. Miss Louise Lashey was elected as the new secretary. The minutes of the meeting were decided to be the annual Spring play. The speaker urged the members to take part in the try outs which are to be held soon. James Van, who has charge of last year's play and was the composer of the music, has charge of the Spring play this year's play also. It is expected that the Spring play of 1926 will be met with as much enthusiasm and success as last year's. The following program was then rendered. Piano solo, Miss Nancy Buell, and a German song by members of the club.

SUMMER MEDICAL COURSES AT HOWARD UNIVERSITY

Howard University, the Medical College of which has been unable to provide the tuition in the science and practice of medicine, is planning this year to conduct extensive post graduate courses in medicine and surgery during the summer session for students immediately following commencement. The work will be done in conjunction with the School of Public Health and will be a boon to graduates of Howard and other medical schools who desire special training before taking professional state board examinations, entering graduate schools of medicine or are interested in these various projects. Communications which relate directly or indirectly to this work can be sent to the chairman, Miss Evelyn Levis, president of the The Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was elected at Howard University some years ago and has extended to fifteen chapters, located throughout the United States to the first meeting of the Continuation Committee which recently was held in Columbus, Ohio.

The general officers of the society are Miss Evelyn Lewis, president; Miss Emma Anwar, publicity editor and Lucille Jackson-Wilson, treasurer.

It was under the auspices of this society that the "Placer Womanhood Work" was held. This is an event to which the students look forward with great eagerness every year. Recently, local members of the above named society presented a program of observance in observance of the event. At the ceremonies in Rankin Memorial Chapel the following program was rendered: Violin solo, Miss Mildred Napous, history of Z phosphorus, Miss Evelyn Lewis; Address by Miss Edith Cooper; vocal solo, Miss Anna Miller; Mrs. Georgia Johnson, president of Zeta Beta Chapter, pro-

DELTA SIGMA CHI MEETS AT HOWARD UNIVERSITY

Delta Sigma Chi National Negro Engineering Society met with the Delta Gamma Chapter of Howard University, in an annual session Saturday, March 6, 1926.

Delta Sigma Chi Chapter of Lincoln University, was represented by Messrs. W. H. Payne and W. R. Ryan, and Kappa Sigma Chapter of Howard University was represented by Messrs. Anderson, George and William E. Allen, Jr.

Necessary amendments were made in the Constitution of the organization and plans were formulated for enlarging the scope and work of the fraternity.

By unanimous consent of the charter chapters, invitations are to be extended to the following colleges and universities or colleges of our group who wish to formal application for membership, with the understanding that others will receive similar invitations and that subsequent organizational meetings it demands.

Problems of the subordinate chapters, meetings, the upcoming constitution of the organization and plans are formulated for their solution. The problems of Kappa Gamma Chi, Virginia Union University, received special attention. Messrs. W. H. Payne and W. R. Ryan, chapter member of Delta Sigma Chi to reorganization chapter in strict conformity to the Constitution of the National Organization.

They were given letters of authorization to the officials making a survey of all chapters of the organization and the chapter.

Under the Constitution, key-members and Chapter-members of the entertaining chapter were invited to participate in the deliberations on the Professor Stuart B. Nelson, and Capt. W. J. Allen, Jr., president, and Capt. Atwood will participate. Mr. Alston will preside. This program will be accompanied by appropriate music will be rendered.

THE PENNSYLVANIA PENN

Augmented by the presence of several new members the Pennsylvania Club held a very interesting and entertaining meeting.

After the business of the meeting had been disposed of the applicants for membership were introduced. They were Miss Edith Marshall, Miss Elizabeth Forrest, Miss Isabel Fair, Miss Clara DeShields, Mr. James G. Tyson, Mr. James Jones, Mr. Cas- seil Johnson, and Mr. William Jr. Miss Marshall, a member of last year's club, in an interesting short talk, spoke of the activities of the club and promised her cooperation. Mr. Tyson aroused considerable interest and enthusiasm by his Student Foremen, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York.

THE HILLTOP, MARCH 11, 1926

SCANDAL

There are always a few in college who lose their firm grip on the strings of common sense and decency and result in consequences not only in disgrace but often ruin their entire careers. When such things occur there is always the question of blame. The monumental day-by-day-drag of college life is apt to lead to an engrossment in many unconventional activities in their search for excitement. However, there is such a thing as carrying it a little too far, the more critical person has an extensive vocabulary of unpleasant nouns to pour out on the young man who stays out all night, but it would take a powerful vocabulary to express the thoughts and suspicions stimulated when we hear of young ladies spending the night away from home and unchaperoned.

The recent scandal that is now on the lips of most every student should be sufficient warning to the other students on and off the Hill. We are taking some desperate chances in carrying this broad, but if we need some sort of a check, like this recent one to awe us to the need of it, then perhaps this is straight and narrow path.

No student can escape the responsibility for such social irregularities. It is the opinion of many that we are at fault; that they are the social standards. This might be true in theory but in practical life it seems that men adjust themselves according to the type of female with whom they associate. The average fellow goes as far as the female permits him to and he achieves his behavior only when he becomes conscious of inclination on the part of the female. If she doesn’t like him to smoke, he will stop, and if she doesn’t like him to drink, he will stop drinking. But on the other hand, if she encourages and admires that beast in man, he gladly permits his beast instinct to predominate. There is no doubt that there are very few men who will telephone men, such as dress, bobbed hair, and love letters, but for the same reason considerable relationships that are common among men it is equally as a guide and social standards of the girl he adores you.

The authors of the first six ranking orations, so judged, shall compete in the Great Oratorical Contest, which will be held in the Memorial Chapel April 22 at 8 p.m.

4. The speakers in the final contest shall attend all rehearsals.

5. The speaker winning first place shall be the final winner for permanent record of the following items: His oration in typewritten form, a photograph of himself, a map or autographed sketch, including the date and place of his birth and the name of his primary and secondary education.

In all cases not covered by these conditions the participants shall submit themselves to the direction of those in charge of the contest.

6. Only two orations have been submitted to date.

UNIVERSITY BARBER SHOP OPENS

Very Next Work Accurately and Satisfactorily Done

The very strange opinions of University Barbers graced the hardwood quiet at which the floor Saturday in the preliminary game against the Freshman class team of the University.

Captain Jones opened shop according to schedule and the newcomers to the city, under the leadership of the captain, were welcomed and made to feel quite at home. The Barbers early showed their familiarity with the technique of the art of which they have boasted to be powerful opponents. A lead gained in the opening frame was never lost and despite all the struggles of the minor team, the operation was continued until pronounced sufficient, and done. There was one rascalistic youngster of the person of Cowan Woods, who came in rather late for the sevices of his hair and who seemed loath to part with it. By means of various contortions, and elusive tactics he came very near saving himself and his team, but the Barbers frustrated his attempts at times when they would play means and he was compelled to accept the fate, long written in the book.

Tyrone was treated rather roughly at times, due to his down-grade attitude. Frank seemed very put off by the fact that the barbershop was crowded with people and that he needed a good shave. The cash register in the barber shop showed cash receipts of 17 for the day’s work, and cash expenditures of 10. Next profit for the day, 2. Of course there is no limit to what it is as good as 200 on these kind of books.

Son: Shifting gears on a lovely pop. Mother: How did you lose your teeth, son?

In the last issue of "The Hilltop" under the Student Council column, seven面子 were undertaken by this body were named. Among these was the extension of student interests to deserving bodies. This opportunity is taken of acquainting the student with a very forward step in this direction.

The World Court Conference held at Princeton, December 11 and 12, has one of the two-fold object: to formulate mature undergraduate opinion in favor of the entrance of the United States into the World Court; and, to create a permanent organization of college students. The first was accomplished and the second is in the making.

The delegates to the Conference voted to adopt a temporary constitution making it possible to put the ideas on trial for one year. This was at the expiration of that time it was found that the students of America were behind the proposition that the organization would make a permanent one and steps would be taken to link it up with similar movements in other countries.

It is the purpose of this federation to over some of the vital problems which confront the student body of America in discovering the way in which to realize it. Undoubtedly, the task of each committee of the Federation was to take a survey of the problems facing its particular college and the methods of solving them. Such an action provides thus for the first time a means for conducting an impartial truly national analysis of the tasks that face the students of the nation, which have been found to exist in particular instances, in uniting the student opinion of the nation, and in facilitating the evils which may be found to exist exist. . . . . . .

Scholarships under the auspices of the National Student Federation of America have been suggested, whereby a student would leave college at the end of his junior year and remain as a student for a year. A more immediate and less far reaching is the co-operation of the Federation with the student organizations of local colleges to further the introduction to local student student, to be issued by Confederation; or through the Federation to students at large, during this summer in Europe.

This is the Federation to the executive committee of which Miss Madeline Holloway was elected. We remember only too well the opposition of those that had to be overcome in order that she might retain the place that she had won. Now it is up to student leaders and leaders of the body to do the same thing. This conference is held for a victory almost nothing, if not for the.
SPORTS

It is said that wonders can be done every night. If there ever was a wonder performed, it was done when that Haley fellow stepped to the front of the field and called for track work. The new gymnasium is now completed which in every way, physical and mental, is the most splendid in the world.

The out-door track is nearly completed and when the entire stadium is finished, the field will be more advanced than in previous years.

The coaches convinced the writer a few days ago that they expect to have one of the toughest years they ever had in selecting the men who will start for the 1926 Penn Relay Carnival. When you have men like Waring, Hill, Bright, Jacon, Langston, Payne, and to say nothing of the captain fighting for a birth, it is no easy job, then concluded. The coaches make no comment in predicting what this year will bring forth. Just as the time when many thought of the House Committee on Appropriations to be killed, it will be just as Killian, had said, set up exercises, and a year and a half of his work, he brought them into the spotlight of the athletic world.

The record which has stood for 18 years was broken in the afternoon of the American Legion track games in Boston recently, when Hubbard sprinted 65 yards in 8.9 seconds. The old mark was 9.7 seconds.

Hubbard, holder of the world's record, in the running broad jump, has added another jewel to his athletic crown.

HOVERD UNIVERSITY NEW GYMNASIUM-ARMORY BUILDING DEDICATED

The New Gymnasium-Army Building at Howard University, for which the Government has appropriated $1,000,000 for the building and for the 1926 stadium and athletic facilities, and in connection with which the University Trustees have expended an additional $293,923.92 was dedicated Friday, February 26th, 1926, at 5:30 p.m.

Impressive exercises were held in connection with the dedication, Honorable Hubert Work, Secretary of the Department of the Interior, and Paten Ex-Officio of Howard University, was scheduled as the principal speaker, but an account of an engagement in connection with the Convention of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, now in session in Washington, was unable to attend the dedication exercise. Greetings were extended by Honorable Louis C. Craney, Chairman of the Sub-Committee of the House Committee on Appropriations, which handles the Interior Department appropriations, under which Howard University comes; by Doctor Theodore Mather Lewis, President of George Washington University, and Doctor Peter Gil-Ball, who spoke for the E. E. Pace, of the Catholic University of America.

Doctor J. Stanley Darke, President of Howard University, presided. In his opening remarks, he said: "More and more we are realizing that a healthy body and a sound mind, both dominated by a healthy soul, means life at its best. On and off the field interaction can be built home, the church, the school, the state, all joining together for training the truest type of citizen. Our American colleges and universities have long sensed this great truth. It's true we have so shamed the physical and mental development; yet it is but seeming. The public talks much about our athletic games and contests, but the real training that helps every student, correcting physical wrongs and leading to soul health, is too little known.

With our old facilities we have accomplished much; with our new facilities, we shall change the life and character of the university. It will be disloyal to the new traditions of Howard for a young man or young woman to fail in physical prowess. New impetus will be given to intellectual attainments. It will be a new day.

But when we face all this as a gift from God, and a challenge to nobler living, then the reward, the mean man, the dishonorable or the unclean morally—all will be futile from life of real men and women, genuine sons and daughters of Howard University."

A brief historical statement of the movement which secured the New Gymnasium-Army Building was given by Doctor Emmett J. Scott, Secretary-Treasurer of the University. The Prayer of Dedication was offered by the Right Reverend E. D. W. Jones, Bishop of the A. M. E. Zion Church. The Howard University band and the Howard University Choir rendered selections. The architect, Mr. Albert I. Caselli, and contractor and builder, Mr. W. L. Morrison, President of the W. L. Morrison Construction Company, were present to the very large audience composed of trustees, officers, faculty, Students Alumni and friends of Howard University.

NATIONAL STUDENT COUNCIL AT HOWARD

On Thursday, April 5th, at 7:30 in Library Hall, the first meeting of a local branch of the National Student Council was held. Invitations were sent out to members of the Episcopal Church at Howard to attend this meeting and help place this branch in the general student picture.

Mr. E. A. McLaughlin acting as chairman and instrumental in calling the meeting.

Professor Tunnell gave an interesting talk on the importance of the student body in the church and the divine mission, and expressed the hope that the group would become united and do everything for the uplift of morals at Howard.

Others who are interested in this new movement for spiritual and moral uplift are urged to affiliate themselves with this new organization.

Elae "W". It's about time you were getting a personal friend. The same applies to C. B. and D. O. W. H.

J. H. Harmon, why not pick some of your own tips instead of playing the crowd?

C. J. You certainly think a lot of yourself. Does Eleanor too?

Say Tyson, she sure was intimate with those Lincoln boys, wasn't she.

"Jackie" Jameson and Mary Sullivan, you both are working hard for your mark in Anthropology. Quiet is it is kept, A. and Grace R. are close seconds.

Evelyn Smith, we wonder why you changed your seat in Psychology. Someone sure must have pulled you wise. Sit in there and fight, girl.

N. Cummings is very particular about whom she dances with. Tyson will not always be at the party to ask you for the first dance.

Kid Scoury sure wins the Cornmeal Medal. While his laundry dries, he plays the piano. Now what do you know, old works.

Speed, keep your weather eye open. Someone would like to camp on your trail very much; so beware ole dam.

We notice that McNeely is a frequent visitor at A. B. H. House. What's up, Mac?

Young Knowles, you are sure some shack these days.

It is too bad that "Bennie" R. is under restrictions. Never mind. Spring Quarters will soon be here. "Bennie", ole boy.

The "Man in the green gloves" is beating it down to a low gray. Come in this house and shut the door.
