WOMEN’S LEAGUE LEADING IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

The Women’s League of Howard University is an organization composed of all the women students. The organization was perfected four years ago and since then under Dean Bieve, and able staff officers was accomplished much.

This scholastic year has been, and promises to continue, a gala year in the history of the League. Under the able leadership of Miss Marion Thompson, our president, the Women’s League was guided through a successful and eventful Autumn quarter.

This League sent a representative Miss Gabrielle to attend the Annual meeting of the National Student Federation on which was held at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. There was only the only two Negro colleges represented at this Conference.

It is interesting to note that the Y. W. C. A. (which is not synonymous with the League) is composed of Howard Women sent its representative to the New World Conference, on International Relations, Conference on Causes and Cure of War, and to the National Student Conference at Minneapolis, It sent two representatives, Miss A. Lee Hill and Ernestine Morgan. These reports brought back from all of these conferences have been interesting and riveting.

The Women’s League has also done its bit toward furthering school spirit by aiding to the football team on the eve of each of its games.

BRAZILIAN STUDENTS PROTEST TO REIGN OF IMPERIALISM

Brazilian students of the University of Rio de Janeiro at a meeting on the Senior League of the University in January 18, applauded vigorously the statement that “Brazil faces the peril of being Americanized.”

A statement of the students said: “Today’s meeting is a protest against American imperialism, which shows its civilization by a German war forum. If we are not careful all of South America will be 100 percent Americanized.”

Another student, with equal vehemence said: American soldiery was “dying for liberty in the European war, but they are fighting for American capitalism.”

The next war will be between American and Great Britain, quarrels through South American resources.

Brazil is already being devoured by New York and London financial interests which we do not believe represent the spirit of the American people.”

The students adopted a resolution to send messages of sympathy to the representatives of Mexico and Nicaragua and also to communicate this message to the American Ambassador Edwin V. Morgan. The Brazilian students energetically protest against the armed intervention of the American government in Nicaragua.

STUDENT FREEDOM

In a statement issued in Philadelphia, Pa., recently, Wallace A. Bet-chie, president and founder of Oklona Industrial School at Oklona, Miss, took notice of the dissatisfaction among students regarding the management of some of the private schools and colleges for education and training of Negro youth. He indorsed recent unrest at Tisk University and Atlanta University.

“For the last half dozen years there have been vivid evidences of the freedom in schools,” which are “very private schools, I should call anarchy and mob violence.”

“Out here on the border of our private schools and colleges have been through or are now passing through, some form of mutiny and anarchy.”

“If there are real grievances, re- dress should come orderly through the formal system and a desire to seek a true appreciation of the needs of religion in this life.”

It should be a matter of pride to Howard students to know that their president, Dr. Modoc Johnson, speaking on the race question, was the first speaker to draw applause from the students assembled there.

The 1927 Bison is an assured fact. The Senior Class has entered enthusiastically into the work and work of the book will be completed by April 5.

The publication this year is a radical deviation from past annuals. What it believes as a matter adopted, and will portray the progress and achievement of the race in general and Howard Alumnae in particular.

The front eight pages are a rare combination of fine art work and careful planning. These eight pages will be done in two colors and a ruled border will run through the pages.

The cover is being especially designed and will be most appropriate for this 1927 work of art.

Deliveries will absolutely be made by the President to work with this, now being made and all seniors should call at room 447 Blue house office and see Senior Editor Mr. Allen Berry to arrange for their copies.

PROF. MEIKELJOHN IN CONFERENCE

"Can the average young American be literally educated?" asked Professor Alexander Meikeljohn in what was generally considered the most important speech of the Congress. Desperately, he said, colleges are asking whether they can give a liberal education. The process of informing and training and making a man is still away toward understanding this fact.

Do we succeed? We don’t. The colleges are not places of understanding. Our prize exhibit is composed of our alumni. What ever you say of the American alumnus, of one thing you may be sure; he doesn’t read books. What’s his attitude towards the college?“To him it’s a place of sentimental loyalty and and comparatively contacts and friendship and other immediate necessities. Family college loyalty is one of the most unintelligent of things when it believes as a matter of Gospel that he is the best college in the country! Pretty quickly and correctly caught up in something else. The way of understanding! The way of study, of liberal education? No! And yet we say we are too much to be blamed! The colleges fail because they are in America. They hard to teach literature to children from home where no good book is read, or philosophy in a society with no taste for speculation. Meanwhile there was one thing which America has great faith in education, even if which it belongs.

HOWARD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FETES DEAN COOK

On Thursday, January 13, 1927, in one of the private dining rooms in the New Dining Hall, the officers and members of the Chamber of Commerce of Howard University tendered Dean George W. Cook a testimonial luncheon as a token of the esteem in which he is held, and in honor of seventy-second birthday.

The room which was decorated with floral pieces, which were generously donated by Mr. Jefferson, proprietor of the Floral Company, was the scene of a group of young folk who were determined to achieve success in the business world.

The dinner which was served by Mr. E. E. Thornton consisted of three courses. Throughout the entire course of the dinner music was played by the New Orthophonic Victor, which was cheerfully lunched.

NATIONAL STUDENT 1927 BISON CONGRESS MEETS

Three hundred delegates, mostly responsible student officers, student newspaper editors and other campus leaders poured into the Michigan Union Building for the second annual congress of the National Student Federation. They had come from one hundred and sixty institutions and from every geographic region, to discuss “The Student’s Part in Education.” Gravely and successfully they listened to speeches burned about the corridors of the imposing Union building, discussing committee meetings—there was not something dinned in the floor of the house. Here, according to the recommendations of the committee is what the American students and the American colleges should be doing:

According to the committee on the curriculum (led by Douglas Orr of Swarthmore and Marvin Brekenridge, of Yassar), the colleges must become "distinctly cultural and intellectual," taking greater pains to stimulate "intellectual curiosity."

Students should participate in this educational policy, studying the cutaneous and making recommendations, as student committees have already done as Harvard, Dartmouth, Oregon, Bowdoin, Kansas and Wesleyan.

Teachers will be studied by their students as to general quality, while the National Student Federation will try to help the good ones when they are suppressed.

The committee on teachers and teaching, headed by Frederick Field, chairman of the Harvard Crimson on the move toward understanding this plan, also showed a liking for tutorial systems.

THE MILWAUKEE CONFERENCE

The Mission Ernestine Morgan and Anne Low Hill, and Mr. E. Sylvester Blaney, representing the Howard Student Christian Association attended the Conference of Student Christian Associations at Milwaukee, Wisconsin December 29 to January 1. They report that there seems to be a growing realization among people throughout the world over that they have been kept too long in religious bondage to certain questionable forms of and a desire to seek a true application of the methods of religion in this life.

It should be a matter of pride to Howard students to know that their president, Dr. Modoc Johnson, speaking on the race question, was the first speaker to draw applause from the students assembled there.

Opinion Column

The recently elected members of the Student Council from the Freshmen class are Mr. Ethel G. Griffin, and Miss Willet Smith. We wish them to the Council and hope that they will begin at once to realize, that the members of the Council are not only students, but are leaders of the students of Howard University. They will find the problems of our University are not for any one person.

The newly designed extra-curricular card has many advantages. It is divided into sections marked, Debate, Receptions, and Miscellaneous. Those sections are numbered making it easier to punch, and prevents the card from being used by more than one person.

The issue will soon be brought before you to vote for compulsory extra-curricular fees. This new ruling will be put in effect, beginning with the Autumn Quarter 1927.

No loyal Howardian will refuse to support this measure which is the only means of financing student movements at Howard University.

Of his address, the newspapers have thus to say:

"Mr. Johnson's address included an appeal for the application of the principles of Jesus to the race problem in America today and to the problem of international strife and race discrimination.

"Christians of America, truly practicing the precepts of the Christ, could lift the stigma inferiority from the Negro in this country within the next year," he said.

"The Negro wants to be on an equal footing with the white man in politics, at the ballot box in industry, everywhere. Why shouldn't he be?"

Professor Neall, of the college faculty, was also present and led one of the discussion groups during the period of the conference.

Contrary to an established practice, the body of students declined not to discuss any resolutions, but in the session the students expressed no opinion by vote on the following questions:

On the question of war the vote was:

Against supporting any war, 327; in favor of supporting some war, and not supporting other wars, 740; in favor of supporting any war conducted by the nation, 101; ready to consider themselves, 556.

On the race question, a virtually unanimous vote was given to the proposition of giving to every race the same opportunity as any of the races have, but on the proposition was no unanimity.

"Regarding some races as inferior to my own, I favor keeping those inferior races in their place," there were eleven who stood. For giving up any privileges on the campus to all races the vote was 681, and 435 unwilling to consort themselves.

The economic situation received attention from six angles, and on this feature only 67 were commercial. A committee of three was appointed to take the findings to the president and Congress of the United States, and to the hundred college campuses. There were twenty-two nationalities represented among the 2,500 students.

Howard Morgan and Miss Hill made reports on the conference Sunday afternoon and Wednesday night in the University Prayer Service. Mr. Busey will report in the chapel with a few others.

HOWARD STUDENT SHINES AT WHITELAW RECEPTION

Charles Manney Speaker of the Day

Led by McNeil M. Johnson, president of the Young Men's Business Association, an association composed of prominent young men of the city, in the dining room of the Whitelaw Hotel and received Col. Robinson, the manager, by tendering him a reception. The occasion was a mark of appreciation to Manager Robinson's accommodating spirit towards Howard University.

The purpose. Howard must keep its reputation for being a well known hotel, a position it has filled for the past three years. Dean West and others made addresses extolling the worth of Col. Robinson. The speaker of the evening was the eloquent young Charles Manney. He speaks for about twenty minutes and is gvent a standing ovation by Col. Robinson's management of the hotel. He told how the Colonel took charge of the management three years ago, and shows a lot of the hotel. He filled in on his days in the hotel and reduced them to three.

by the Music Department of the General Motors, the Choir, under the direction of the vice-president of that firm.

Mr. Emile E. Beusey of the class of 37, who is president of the Chamber of Commerce, was master of ceremonies. The speakers were Professor George W. Elmes, principal of the Department of Business Practice, and Associate Professor in Finance at Howard University, who gave a brief sketch of the life of Dean Cook; following him were Pro- fessor W. Lewis, Professor of Finance at Howard University, who stated that Brown and Clark were to be graduated in 27 years of age, and pledged himself to do more for the establishment of a systematic course of busi- ness administration.

Mr. Beusey, in introducing the next speaker, stated that the Chamber of Commerce was extremely fortu- nate in having Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson present. Dr. Johnson in his address, emphasized the problem of bettering the economic conditions of the colored race and the fight for the religious doctrines and teach- ings of our parents. He concluded by stating that instead of turning our backs on the injustices and religious iratitudes of our fathers and mothers, we should strive to establish a religious re- union, one which would collaborate with others and enable us to fight for a broader and better race.

Mr. George W. Patterson, Jr., former president of the Chamber of Commerce, was the next to speak and he referred to the fact that he was not attending to enter the commercial world.

Dean Cook, in his remarks, stated that he had been a member of the Society of Commerce and Business Practice, and that he had been a member of the group of young men and women determined to enter the business world was enough to convince him that the Negro was both needed and wanted commercial edu- cation, and that he would not continue until his place in the now established School of Commerce and Business Practice was in the hands of Negroes.

Finance was established.

Mr. Beusey in the office of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Emile E. Beusey, was president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Emile E. Beusey, was vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Emile E. Beusey, was president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Howard University, Professor George W. Elmes, principal of the Department of Business Practice, Professor J. W. Lewis, professor of Finance at Howard University, Mr. Emile E. Beusey, was president of the Chamber of Commerce.

VARSITY BASKETBALLERS BEAT STORER

Second String Shows

Rare Promise

Storer College of Harper's Ferry came to the Capital City, Saturday night to demonstrate their ability, or rather disability, at the game of basketball. The game was far from interesting, as the score of 52 to 9 would indicate.

Coach Burr sent in his second combination and so persistent was this aggression in the fury of its attack, until at the end of the half-time period, they had done damage to the Storer lads calculated at a score of 27-15.

The Storer Basketmakers put up a fight, but it was simply a matter of too much Howard.

Five minutes before the end of the second half was over the first combination 'composed' of Capt. Speairs, Coates, Trigg, Simpson and Bundrant went in the game and add- ed seven additional points to the already chalked up by the reserves. Campbell, midget forward, played a similar game for Howard.

This high point score, accumulating four field goals and two free throws for a total of ten points. Carpenter, ex-captain of the varsity, and Cobb also played well, amassing 9 for 8 points respectively. Jeffers did good work for the vi"itors, scoring two field goals and a free throw for a total of 6 points.

In the preliminary game the Howard Freshmen outclassed the Dunbar Night School team by a score of 4-0.

NATIONAL STUDENT FEDERATION MEETS

Student council will have a choice of two paths to follow, for the democratic group will push the majority and a minority, and this good stuff fight. Both factions agreed that the student government could win little faculty respect unless handled fairly by student matters well, and proposed that measures be given full advance publicity to that end. Both factions wanted student government to extend its control over interclass contact, elections, freshmen regulations, alumni entertainments, administration of student government funds, mass meetings and chapel speakers, social legislation, the control of new organizations and activities, the assessment of social routine, the conformity of the faculty viewpoint on all matters connected with the college or university, and the judicial powers to the extent of recommending expulsion. There was doubt as to the wisdom of student council control over the complex athletic policy, and not complete agreement that student council should regulate post-making campus activities.

The fight was on the matter of the extent of student council control. With a view for "student faculty cooperation," the majority proposed faculty representation in the student council or at joint committee, while the minority argued with the desire of first formulating student opinion independently of faculty demands that student government of student affairs be mutually a student matter, and that joint student-faculty committee control matters of joint interest such as teaching and curriculum, leaving the students out of only such administrative matters as college finances, etc.

The college of the future, listening to the advice of the discussion group on the hibber system will be certain to install such a system, though in detail there will be great differences between individual institutions. The chief problem with which it will address itself will be "creating the spirit of honor," which the "expert" of the group reported was a matter of environment and could be trained. J. R. E. Malloy of Birmingham Southern made the report, which was that of the University of Virginia president.
