Dr. Samuel E. Barnes, head of the Howard University community, was a native Washingtonian, who had been a member of the Howard faculty since 1940. He was a graduate of Dunbar High School (D.C.), held the Bachelor of Arts and Doctor of Dental Surgery degrees from the University of Pennsylvania and Dental Surgery degree from Howard (1925). He was appointed head of the department of surgery July 1, 1955.

A well-known neurosurgeon, Dr. Barnes was a member of the American Board of Neurosurgery and held membership in the American College of Surgeons, District Medical Society and Episcopal. In the past he studied at the Montreal Neurological Hospital, and, at the time of his death, he was serving as a consultant at the National Institute of Health.

Funeral services were held for Dr. Greene Saturday at the Blessed Sacrament Church. His remains were interred later at the Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Silver Spring, Md. Although the weather was stormy, a brief illness, he had been hospitalized for seven months during the past summer after a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Greene lived at 5393 Military Road, northwest. His immediate survivors include his widow, the former Evelyn Gardner; a son, Clarence Bar High School (D.C.), held the Bachelor of Arts in Government and as assistant to the Director of Red Seal Recordings of R.C.A. Victor, held the March taping of its new RCA Red Seal album.

ACHR Discusses Leadership Potential at Workshop Oct. 19-20

"To determine how the membership of college fraternities and other communities leaders can exert their maximum potential during these crucial times" was the purpose of the workshop of the American Council on Human Rights (ACHR), held on October 19-20 at the Engineering and Architecture auditorium of Howard University, and the Burlington Hotel.

Dr. E. Franklin Frazier of the Social Department here opened the workshop with a thought-provoking keynote address, in which he discussed the responsibilities of educated Negroes toward their group. He stated "It is the role of the educated Negro to let people know that we have been here by leading memorials of our achievements and taking pride in our heritage." He also stated that "the perspective of the present generation makes it impossible for the educated Negro to remain in the standard of achievement, and that he must now remove himself from his narrow scope, and look at the world. He also stated that "Integration means acceptance for all our parts in America because of the RCA Victor Red Seal No. 2126 may be acquired from local music or record dealer.

As I See It...

At 4 p.m. every afternoon, masses of Howard's male students congregate at the north entrance of the Tabernam Quadrangle. The drumming on the waiting wall and recapitulate the day's activities. A Howard young woman passes and the crowd laughs, squawks, and gives her a delightful air of occupation. The day's activities are not over until after dark. And still they think, that belongs in a community that has neither a social, cultural, or educational background that would foster the development of the social amenities. Howard and University is not such a place. Who would believe that though, if he happened to be driving along Fourth Street around five o'clock? What mother or father would believe that if he or she happened to arrive on campus at a visit at that time?

Take a look at the situation and think about it. See if you do not agree with men and women of the Howard community and residents of the Quadrangle when they call it ugly and degrading.

No one is being blamed for the situation, but of the fellows would take advantage of the accommodations of the Whitney Recreation room, the Baldwin lounge, and the inside of the cafeteria, the unsightliness would be removed. Moreover, if the girls would cease conversing with the fellows from the women's side, the unattractive would be less encouragement for these male students to litter and become loud. Fellow students, why not we be a little more considerate? The actions in order that may not appear less dignified than we consider ourselves to be?

Dr. W. Mercerc

Changing your mind a few times may greatly affect the course of your entire life, but if the results match those of Dr. W. Mercer Cook, you can be proud and happy that you did.

Dr. Cook was a Washington boy and married a Howard woman, Virginia Newman. Their marriage was a mutual one for over 40 years, but the end came only a few months ago when he passed away.

Dr. Cook was a Washington boy and married a Howard woman, Virginia Newman. Their marriage was a mutual one for over 40 years, but the end came only a few months ago when he passed away.

Dr. Cook spent his time at Howard University, where he was a professor of English and a member of the faculty for over 20 years. He retired in 1980 and was honored with a special lecture and a book about his life and work.

In the summer, between his senior and junior years, Dr. Cook went to Haiti to serve as a representative of Howard University to the United Nations. He was there to discuss education and development in Haiti.

The United Nations is always at Harvard and Boston Universities. If we are to effort of individuals and private organizing health education programs of Volunteers for the United Nations to connect isolated villages with medical dispenseries, construction of small bridges and roads to connect isolated villages with additional economic resources.

By personal mediation these groups would also work toward reducing tensions and effecting reconciliations among leaders and groups at the grass roots level. When 10% known or more are on file, they will be presented to the most interested U.N. delegate, to strengthen his proposal of a resolution to establish a U.N. volunteer service corps.

Persons with training and/or experience in agriculture, nursing, public health, teaching, anthropology engineering and construction, sociology and other relevant fields are particularly needed. Work camp experience is also valuable. However anyone nineteen years of age or over who is sincerely willing to make personal sacrifices toward building a friendly world, and to be sent anywhere is needed, may volunteer.

While a number of officials at the U.N. are enthusiastic about the idea, the U.N. has not yet established such a corps. The possibility of its being established will be discussed by those who volunteer. But this file will not remain inactive while awaiting U.N. acceptance. Volunteers will be informed of existing positions of service in undeveloped areas.

AFCET, a delegate to the U.N. said, "If some persons could be found, who would be willing to work at the same wages which we are able to pay our own people, this would be a great help in the building of world brotherhood."

The United Nations is always looking to receive the cooperative efforts of individuals and private organizations. If we are to be assured of a peaceful world, the U.N. must have the active support of ordinary people as well as official representatives and top level experts.
No bind, no sag, no wonder they're so popular!

Arrow shorts give you comfort in any position. The new contour sear provides total freedom of action, prevents sagging and binding. Choose the boxer type with all-around elastic, or the snap front model with elastic, or the snap front model with pocket for position as Athletics Director of Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity.

Bill Jones, Bison's 21-year-old tackle, balks from Hershey, Pa., weighs in at exactly 221 pounds. Jones was a member of the third season of competition. Mr. Jones is definitely one of the best men in the C.I.A.A., but despite his size he possesses amazing speed and delights in surprising the opposing players. Bill is majoring in economics.

Fullback, Roy Menley, also known as "Mambo," is one of the best running backs on the Bison squad. A commercial art major, he possessed the most impressive pictures ever given, he possesses the C.I.A.A. results are impressive. In 1960, he hopes to retire to his home town, Carnegie, Pa., where he is majoring in sociology.

George Roberts, "Mr. Roberts," is also a native of Hershey, Pa., and center slot and most be expected to play center slot and most be expected to play.

Vastine Whitefield, "Old Man," another of the best men in the C.I.A.A. He is effective both as a center and a guard and is always eager and willing to help the new players on the Bison squad. He is a member of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

Swimming Team Has C.I.A.A. Hopes

Preparing for the meet against St. Peter's College on November 25, the swimming team has been engaged in daily practices. Coach Carothers stated that these twice-daily work-outs are being held in order that the general condition, knowledge and techniques of the members might be improved as much as possible.

New members joining the team are William E. Blue, Albert Edgecomb Chenille, Albert Milton, William Smith, William Wynn, and William Whitfield. "Old Pro," Bob Whitehead is starting his fifth year in the C.I.A.A. He is definitely one of the heaviest men in the C.I.A.A., but despite his size he possesses amazing speed and delights in surprising the opposing players. Bill is majoring in sociology.

Meet the Assistant Coaches

By HARRY GINNARD

Assisting Coach Bob White is the piloting of the 1957 edition of the Howard Bison are: Irvin Gordy, Edward Ransom, and Albert Smith. Together these four form one of the top coaching staffs in the C.I.A.A.

Twenty-seven-year-old Irvin Gordy comes to Howard University from Elizabeth City Teachers' College in Elizabeth City, North Carolina. While at E.C.T., "Ike" played four years of varsity football in the center slot. In 1955-56, he was picked for the All-C.I.A.A. Football team. Commenting on the team, he said, "Morale seems to be high and the chances are good for a successful season."

Edward Ransom, former All C.I.A.A. guard for Hampton Institute, has been a member of the Bison Coaches' staff for the past few years. The skill and drive which qualified him for the All-C.I.A.A. team is being passed on to the line who wear the Blue and White and the product is a strong, well-coached line.
Maryland U. Faculty Approves New Regulations for Students

College Park, Md. (J.P.)—The Faculty Senate at the University of Maryland has approved a new set of regulations governing academic probation and dismissal. The result of extensive work on the part of the Committee on Administration and discipline, the academic regulations will include:

- A student will be dismissed if he fails 50 per cent or more of his academic work in a semester. (The old rule stated that a student must pass 50 per cent of his work in a semester.) Under the new rule an incomplete will not count against a student.
- All students must maintain at least a 1.5 average for a year's work or he will be placed on academic probation.
- A student will also be placed on academic probation if he fails more than 15 per cent of his academic work in any one semester.
- Once a student is placed on academic probation, he may be allowed to continue his studies provided he maintains a 1.5 average for a year's work. If he fails to maintain the 1.5 average he will be dismissed.

Dr. W. Mercer Cook, president of the University, has expressed it, "Study in the pursuit of knowledge is a noble end for which the student is prepared. When Smart Dresses Get Together
