Commencement Notes.

At one-forty-five o'clock this afternoon the procession forms in front of the Administration Building to proceed in a body to the New Dining Hall for the Commencement Dinner.

(Tickets, seventy-five cents.)

There are three Colored women in the United States who have received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. They are Miss Eva B. Dykes, Miss Georgiana R. Simpson, and Miss Sadie T. Mossell. We are happy to have two of them with us today in the academic procession, Dr. Dykes and Dr. Simpson.

The flour used to make the bread and biscuits to be served at the Commencement Dinner in honor of Howard graduates and former students to be held in the New Dining Hall today was milled from wheat grown on the farm of one of Howard's oldest graduates, Mr. E. H. Grasty, Class of 1872, of Winston, Virginia.

Visiting friends, alumni and former students are requested to enter their names and addresses upon the Visitors' Register in the Secretary-Treasurer's office before leaving the University grounds.
