Scope Note

The papers of Frankie Muse Freeman (1916- ) lawyer, U.S. Civil Rights Commissioner, and author, are in 11 series: personal papers; correspondence; speeches by Frankie Freeman; Frankie Freeman law practice; Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc; United States Civil Rights Commission (USCRC); writings by others; subject files; newspaper clippings; photographs and audiovisual material. The bulk of the collection is composed of U.S. Civil Rights Commission hearings and other printed materials, and information on Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. and other organizational affiliations both series covering the years of 1950 - 1980 roughly.

Also evident in the collection is documentation of her legal practice and its work with the National Counsel of Negro Women and the St. Louis, Missouri chapter of the NAACP. Discrimination in areas of gender, race, age and housing were topics of particular note during the legal career of Freeman. The subject files contain an abundance of national, regional and ad hoc organizations that utilized interdisciplinary efforts to expose and uproot discriminatory practices in Missouri. Her legal career and quest for social justice span more than fifty years as a practicing attorney.

There are a number of speeches and writings by Freeman which provide insight into her unique position as an African American woman lawyer.
