Hundredsgather for Bobby Seale Panther forum

By KELLY MARBURY
Hilltop Staffwriter

Bobby Seale, former Black Panther Party chairman, was the keynote speaker at the event.

The organization of the Black Panther Party, therefore, Seale was an authority figure with a message. And why not? The party didn’t refuse to go out and get its hands dirty. The Black Panther Party was a social action organization. It was organized by a bunch of young people. It was organized by a bunch of friends.

A lot of people were out there, and we are all allies. And if we are supporting the party, if we are in a position of leadership, if we want to get in the streets without loaded guns with the guns we are talking.

It was absurd to go out into the street without loaded guns. With all the men we were talking.

True Mathematics, the contemporary mathematics, is a branch of the world. It is a branch of the world of Black people during the period of the generation of people who were outside the boundaries of the world. Mathematics said, "This is an evolution of time that we also had to consider.

According to Raymond Byrd, L.A. S.C. president, the council was the financial backer for the forum, "We paid $900 for Seale’s memorandum." Byrd said.

President James E. Cheek of the University of California said, "We have come in contact with Bobby Seale’s movement. We have a responsibility to recognize the importance of the movement."

D.C. Mayor Marion Barry is listed in stable condition in the coronary unit of Howard University Hospital, after being admitted for chest pains earlier in the day, according to hospital officials.

Barry was taken from the Washington Hilton Hotel by ambulance while avoiding the 13th annual Congressional Black Caucus Legislative weekend.

According to the mayor's press secretary, Arnette Sanders, the government will still run smoothly. She said the mayor will be able to make decisions on government business as he has done before.

Sanders also said according to hospital officials, the mayor will probably be released in five days.

2,500 crowd post - funeral party

About 2,500 people attended a post-funeral party for Dr. William "Stud" Green last Monday at the Blackburn Center on Howard University's campus.

The gathering, which cost an estimated $5,000 dollars, followed a funeral service at the Rankin Memorial Chapel.

Affectionately known as "Stud," Dr. Green supported many civic, religious, social and other service organizations. He had a long devotion to Howard University from which he graduated with a M.D. degree in 1924, and a B.S. degree in 1919.

"He was a guy that lived life to the full. He reached out to help anyone in need," said Dr. Carl Anderson, Vice President of Student Affairs at Howard University.

Attended by university officials, faculty members, students and friends of Dr. Green, the gathering included an abundance of beautifully ornamented food, three bars and a jazz band.

"Trends are like life itself... I wanted to treat a party death..." said Dr. Green in an interview with The New Observer newspaper in February 1983.

Dr. Green is survived by first cousins Mrs. Marie Walter Raywood of Washington, D.C. Dr. George A. Winter Jr. of Cincinnati, Lawrence Towsn of Las Vegas, and Mrs. Lucille Harper Sanders of Bluefield, W.Va. Convocation

"There is no such thing as the hands that feed us..."

James Clark, your president of finance and the treasurer for Howard University from 1968 through 1971, was in attendance for Friday's Convocation. It was the first time he was able to attend the program Clark said that the deficit is "regrettable." Clark went on to say that the deficit is caused by the need to get by without the money that the university would like to place in the hands of students at the university.

Rev. Jesse Jackson, who is considering running for the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination, has announced that he is running for the Senate seat vacated by Senator George McGovern. This decision, announced last week, is expected to create a new round of speculation about who might seek the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1984.

Jackson, who has been a prominent figure in the civil rights movement, has a strong record of political activism. He has been a vocal advocate for social justice and has been involved in a number of high-profile campaigns, including the march on Washington in 1963.

Jackson's decision to enter the Senate race is likely to draw attention to his political ambitions. It is also likely to increase speculation about his potential candidacy for the presidency in 1984. Jackson has a strong record of political activism and has a strong base of support among African American voters.

Take U.N. vow with grain of salt

When President Ronald Reagan addressed the United Nations General Assembly on Sept. 19, he promised that "the United States will continue to play a major role in promoting freedom, justice and democracy in the world." His words were widely expected to be the start of a new era in U.S. foreign policy, in which the United States would take a more aggressive and interventionist role in the world.

But many experts and political analysts believe that the President's speech was more of a rhetorical flourish than a clear articulation of his foreign policy goals. They point to evidence that the United States is still hampered by a lack of consensus among its leaders on how to approach foreign policy issues.

In his speech, Reagan promised to work with the United Nations to "promote peace throughout the world," but he also made clear that the United States would continue to pursue its own interests in the world.

Some experts believe that the United States' continued interest in promoting democracy and human rights around the world is likely to result in a more confrontational approach to foreign policy issues. Others believe that the United States' commitment to promoting democracy is likely to result in a more cooperative approach to foreign policy issues.

Whatever his goals, the United States' continued interest in promoting democracy and human rights around the world is likely to have a significant impact on the world order. It is to be expected that the United States will continue to be a major player in the world, and that its foreign policy will continue to shape the course of events around the globe.
Reagan's Record on Racial Violence

To the Editor:

I am a student at Howard University. The Washington Post devoted two entire pages to publishing an article by a so-called expert that did not present a balanced view of the facts. The article was a biased attempt at undermining the presidency of a most admirable and most effective leader of our nation, Mr. Ronald Reagan. The author, a black woman, appeared to have preconceived ideas and proceeded to castigate the presidency of Mr. Reagan from the opening sentence.

The facts are that Mr. Reagan supports the principles of equal treatment under the law. He is fully aware that there can be no equality without equal opportunity. He is an advocate of conspiracy laws and the death penalty for murder. He has been a supporter of the police brutality of the Ku Klux Klan and its activities.

I think it is unfair and wholly unwarranted for the author to insinuate that Mr. Reagan is a racist. He has always been a man of principle and has stood up against injustice wherever he has found it. He has been a vocal opponent of the Civil Rights Movement and has publicly supported white supremacy.

Sincerely,

The article in The Washington Post was an unfair and inaccurate portrayal of Mr. Reagan's views on racial violence. It is important to remember that he has always been a strong advocate for justice and equality for all Americans. His record on this issue is exemplary, and he continues to work towards a better future for our country.

Letters to the Editor

Where's Howard headed?

Dear Editor,

As a student here at Howard University, I am writing to express my concern about the recent developments on campus. The atmosphere has become increasingly tense and chaotic, and I believe that the university administration needs to take decisive action to address the situation.

Recently, there have been several incidents of racial harassment and discrimination on campus. Students are feeling unsafe and vulnerable, and the university's response has been inadequate. The administration has not taken proactive measures to prevent these incidents from occurring, and they have not provided adequate resources to support students who have been affected.

Furthermore, the recent budget cuts have had a serious impact on the university's ability to provide the necessary support and services to students. The cuts have resulted in the elimination of several programs and the reduction of faculty positions, which is causing considerable distress among students.

I believe that the university administration needs to prioritize the safety and well-being of its students. They should consider increasing security presence on campus, providing counseling services, and restoring the budget cuts that have affected the university's ability to support students.

It is time for the administration to take a proactive approach to address these issues and ensure that students feel safe and supported. I hope that you will consider these points in your ongoing discussions with the university administration.

Sincerely,

Dr. Ernest Everett Just, he broke the boundary that had essentially been monopolized by white scientists. He gave motivation to many Black students. We need role models. This is the kind of history we need to know about Black in the sciences, not just in the arts.

The wearing of Black conscious articles doesn’t convey much because it’s cosmetic. To be Black means you have to think Black, walk Black, and be Black. If you love Black show your Blackness—your color.

Who do you consider the outstanding Black achiever in your academic and/or professional field, and why?

Dr. Kirk Strange, Baruch, Virginia Law Student-First Year

Thurgood Marshall, I consider him the outstanding achiever in that his work affected Blacks not only in a practical sense but in a symbolic one. Prior to his appointment to the Supreme Court, he was a major force in helping to prove the judiciary of this nation is recognizing the rights and privileges of Black Americans (i.e., Brown vs. Board of Education).

Do the buttons and T-shirts worn by Howard students that mirror Black consciousness actually reinforce the messages that are intended?

If we as Black people are secure with the knowledge of our heritage and culture we wouldn’t need buttons, T-shirts to say it, our actions would show it. This applies directly to Howard students.

Howard University has, in my opinion, some of the most beautiful women on the African continent. They will make you and the world regret your existence.

Unfortunately, such beauty is gained in the quantity, quality, and cost of someugo's imagination. The new American proudman fashion patriarchs which is not and is a much appreciated practice. I could have stated the previous sentence in a simpler way, but Howard women don't respond when they're called "had names a j a m a ajam".

Being a beautiful Howard woman isn't just a conceit—It takes many hours of preparation (makeup, appliqué, miniscule pedicures, halter veils), and keeping abreast of what's hot and what's not via magazines, fashion shows and shopping.

The test to determine your fashion conscience is to Friday from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. in front of Phillips. Many Howard women have been known to have campus, change clothes and come back.
Florida A & M to challenge Bison

Florida A&M University invades Howard Stadium tomorrow for another Saturday E.C.C. match-up with the Bison.

E.C.C. Standings:

- Florida A&M 4-0-0
- Howard 1-3-0

Hilltoppers to flex muscle:

Howard, after dropping a season opener against Fort Valley State last Saturday, will look to gain confidence for Delaware State and Tennessee State this coming weekend.

Deutschman, the Hilltoppers have rallied to win both the E.C.C. andMetro Atlantic Conference Championships.

Kelly, currently leads the MEAC conference in total offense but gave up 5 sacks in a 48-17 loss to North Carolina Central.

In the first three games the Rattlers have been led by junior quarterback Mike Kelly who has connected on 31 of 65 passes for 469 yards, six touchdowns and the running of Greg Fudge with 75 carries for 292 yards.

Delightfully, the Bison have rallied to win both the E.C.C. and Metro Atlantic Conference Championships.

Along with the play of linebacker John Benson, 28 tackles and defensive end Darryl Dew 24 stops the defense is solid.

In conference standing FAMU ranks fourth and Howard is ranked 27th in total offense, but offensively the teams rank fourth in the conference ranking as one of 299 yards per game.

According to Coach Peter Taylor, the offense and defense are both in sync with the whole team in force then we can kick off with the whole team in force then we can kick off.

In last week's performance against Tennessee State, FAMU's wide receiver Ray Alexander was named as MEAC Offensive Player of the Week, for his 187 yards, two touchdowns and one interception.

Following the victory against Delaware State, Howard has improved tremendously; however, it was a freshman, and I don't think that this year the team is a lot stronger than the team in 1984.

Along with playing football against the Division I-AA powerhouse Hilltoppers.

The Howard University Men's Tennis team placed second in the Sallie堪 Championship.

The University of Maryland finished first in the 12-team tennis meet.

Elated, the Hilltoppers celebrate another meet win.

The Hilltoppers finished second with 38 points behind the 122 points overall champion Richmond. West Chester State captured the third place spot with 41 points.

The Hilltoppers were once again paced by number one seed Lande Johnson, a transfer from Southern Illinois University of the Macau Islands.

The number one doubles team of Lande Johnson and John-Kerick Finney was defeated in the semi-final before being eliminated.

As a result of his strong performance, John Kerick of Howard was nominated for the All-Macau Islands for his performance in the 4th singles position for the duration of the Fall season.

"I'm honored to have him on our team," said Davis.

The bench strength of the Howard Hilltoppers is a major asset to the team and a major plus for the team's performance.

The days of fourth seeded Jeff Williams and his partner being a threat to American are coming to an end.

Her goal was for a quarter final berth but the days are over for the Davis team since their opponent was a 16 seed and Howard won't be able to take advantage of the advantage Davis won't have an edge of elimination but if she can get past her opponent.

Forward Peter Pren scored with nine minutes left in the first half to lift the Boothees past American University (AU) 2-1. Wednesday.

Howard (5-2-1) showed much determination and were able to fight off the effects of a controversial call by American and equalize the 17 minutes into the second half.

"It was great," said Bison coach Chuck Taylor. "For a referee to call a decision like that, (it) definitely made us stronger." But they kept on.

Bison's two goals came on the strength of forward Dolores Davis. Those were the only goals of the game.

"In order to become successful in life one must practice at what he is good at," said Jordan. "Rozier is a player who enjoys practice so much that he coaches and helps his teammates when he's not on the field," said Coach Chuck Hines.

"Rozier believes that his success also has to do with the fact that he has always practiced through base league, high school, and college games."

"Those coaches always pointed out the importance of practice. I would recommend any little league to practice, practice," said Jordan.

"Rozier set the season opener against Georgetown University, a two day double-header. Rozier pitched 13 innings and hit a two run home run. Later, Jordan has a sensational season, he had 29 runs, 13 home runs, 29 RBIs and an unbelievable batting average of .455."

"Rozier has excellent feet which enables him to move around in the back-field. He had not been playing a position, but showing a lot of leadership ability," stated Taylor.

The Bulldogs scored 10 runs in the first half against S.C. State. Rozier scored a home run and a home run in the second half. Jordan saw no errors in the department which caused some different fielding results.

"Rozier is presently holding the record for most runs in a single season, the record was once held by Jerry Davis, a former Bulldog out for a 1-8 halftime lead."

The Bulldogs faced off against the Bulldogs defense in the second half, when Jones scampered 41 yards and scored the two points. Rozier finished the game with 10 points in the MEAC. Rozier is an All-Missouri Valley Football Coaches Association first-team for the first half against S.C. State. Rozier Jordan led the MEAC in total tackles with 44.

"It was a moral victory because I think we played good," commented Taylor.

"For an 18-8 halftime lead, the buys are seeing that hard work pays off..."

Coach Joe Taylor felt the game was an "easy decision."

But, we had a few errors in that yard run by tailback Steven Cobb and a missed assignment caused the team to lose a touchdown. "In order to become successful in life one must practice at what he is good at," said Jordan. "Rozier is a player who enjoys practice so much that he coaches and helps his teammates when he's not on the field," said Coach Chuck Hines.

"Rozier believes that his success also has to do with the fact that he has always practiced through base league, high school, and college games."

"Those coaches always pointed out the importance of practice. I would recommend any little league to practice, practice," said Jordan.

"Rozier has excellent feet which enables him to move around in the back-field. He had not been playing a position, but showing a lot of leadership ability," stated Taylor.

The Bulldogs scored 10 runs in the first half against S.C. State. Rozier scored a home run and a home run in the second half. Jordan saw no errors in the department which caused some different fielding results.

"Rozier is presently holding the record for most runs in a single season, the record was once held by Jerry Davis, a former Bulldog out for a 1-8 halftime lead."

The Bulldogs faced off against the Bulldogs defense in the second half, when Jones scampered 41 yards and scored the two points. Rozier finished the game with 10 points in the MEAC. Rozier is an All-Missouri Valley Football Coaches Association first-team for the first half against S.C. State. Rozier Jordan led the MEAC in total tackles with 44.
