Up To Congress To Extend Veterans' Educational Benefits

Are you a veteran? Did you serve during a period since January 31, 1957? If your answer is yes, you qualify for the new educational benefits that are now part of the Small Business Administration's program to help veterans re-enter civilian life.

A bill introduced in Congress by Senator Barry Goldwater (R-AZ) would extend the benefits of the GI Bill to veterans who wish to attend college or vocational school. The bill would also provide funds for the development of vocational training programs.

President's House To Be Razed

According to authoritative sources, the White House will be razed in the near future. It is said that the president's house will be torn down and replaced with a modern structure.

A new feature of the president's house will be the addition of a new wing which has been designed to accommodate the growing family of the president.

About 800 Foreign Students Here Now

Howard University may have doubled its foreign student population since the conclusion of the Second World War. According to Dr. Armond J. H. Johnson, Acting Director of Admissions, the University now has about 800 foreign students in residence, making up about one-fifth of the total student body.

Dr. Johnson also observed that the largest number of foreign students coming in is on the first day of second semester regis

Army To Cut ROTC Training

The Department of the Army has announced a cutback of military instruction in the departments of military science and engineering. According to the Department of Defense, this decision is being made in response to the current economic situation.

The move is intended to reduce the cost of training cadets, which is estimated to be about $200 per cadet.

Air Force Seminar

The history and future of military tactics and strategy was the subject of a seminar presented by the Department of Military Science at Howard University.

The seminar was held in the browsing room of the University Library.

Current Vietnam Study

A current Vietnam study is being conducted by the Department of Military Science at Howard University.

The study is being conducted by a group of 17 students, under the direction of Lt. Col. W. Johnson, USM.

Temporary Arrangements Necessary

DEAN OF MEN DUTIES DIVIDED FOR 2ND TERM

By Leonard S. Brown

Dr. Armond J. Blackburn, absence from the University to serve as advisor to the Minister of National Service of the newly independent African nation of Senegal, has announced this week temporary administrative arrangements for the office of Dean of Men and Foreign Student Adviser. The Dean of Men, Henry A. Ryan, has announced the following:

Frederick's Hospital Transfer Still Pending

Legislation to clarify transfer agreements of veterans from one hospital to another is necessary in the Senate's Labor and Public Welfare Committee. According to Senator Morse (D-Vt.), the legislation in question, S. 1045, is still pending in the Senate's Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

The main objection to the bill's enactment is that hospitals' bills for services rendered prior to the effect of the bill cannot be paid.

S. 1045, which is supported by the Joint Committee on Military Health, would assure that veterans' hospital bills for services rendered prior to the effect of the bill can be paid.

To some extent, however, this is not true because it is not clear that the bill will pass the Senate before the end of the year.

Mr. James L. Carey, Director of the Veterans Administration, has announced that the VA will continue to offer veterans' hospital benefits to veterans who have not been discharged from the military.

Prof. Hamberry resigns

Associate Professor of History William Leo Hamberry has resigned from his University teaching and foreign students advisory positions, according to his announcement in the University's student newspaper.

Professor Hamberry, whose resignation became effective on January 1, 1960, will be replaced by Dr. Robert F. Johnson.

Mr. Hamberry has been active in many African-American organizations and is a member of the American Historical Association.

President of Engineering and Architectural Student Council is an officer of the University's Engineering and Architectural Student Council.

Human Barricades Block Steps, Disturb Miner Hall Office workers

It is high that the conduct of students using the recreation area brought into public light.

On a trip up the front steps of Miner Hall, through the passage way, and into the Student Lounge at a busy noon-time one pourrait be amazed at the number of students that were in the corridor, and young men with hats on their heads inside the building. The blocking of the corridor and the miner from looting has been forbidden to the three offers which carry on happiness in Miner Hall.

We are not suggesting that the situation is constantly disturbing, but its affects aren't very bad.

It must be admitted, however, that the Student Lounge is far too small for the students who press upon it. Steps should definitely be taken to examine the feasibility of increasing Lounge space.

Yarbrough Bill Definitive Need In Veterans' Benefits

When the HILTOP went to press Senator Yarbrough's bill calling for extension of educational benefits for veterans serving since January 31, 1959 was slated for debate on the floor of the House of Representatives.

The bill, Yarbrough says, supports the position of the National Students Association that the measure fills a definite need in our defense program and that educational benefits are "properly considered a means of minimizing the unfavorable effects of military service on the lives of the individuals involved."

Further we agree with a Washington Post editorial of August 2 that "Senator Yarbrough has a definitive need in the public service and that educational benefits are "properly considered a means of minimizing the unfavorable effects of military service on the lives of the individuals involved."

The release from Senator Yarbrough's office states: "It will open educational and job training assistance to some 1 million veterans, to whom a well trained and academically trained technical, scientific, and engineering, whose services are critically needed."

The HILTOP hopes that Congress will pass Senator Yarbrough's bill, since, as the Washington Post stated, "it is indefinitely in the public service."

Letters To The Editor

Fellowship House Dear Editor;

The increasing awareness of the user's need for a positive social, aesthetic, scientific, and educational environment will be tantamount to understanding goodwill in all American communities. Sagacity of the American people will determine whether or not a community or individual is brought forth in the realization of this fact. In this effort to alert a community to its obligations America's House can play a significant role.

Because it is relatively unknown, it is quite the opportunity of the organization to broaden the understanding of the individual through an intergroup experience. Dr. Martin Luther King says: "The racial problem will be settled when and as the white and the colored man learn that every American considers himself a member of a community with "...

On HILTOP BLOOPS

Mr. Michael Thelwel has written a brief story on Dean Ryan in the previous issue. A short by mentioning, in regard to his military record, only that he spent the 30th year of the infantry regiment of the United States. In addition to that fact, the story mentions in the rehearsal for the.fight in 1942, and served also as a member of the Air Force, as a Military Air Force, as a member of the Air Force, as a member of the Air Corps.

The HILTOP also stated that Dean Ryan's daughter is 18 years old. This was a typographical error. She is eight.

In all of the discussion about Dean Ryan, both student and academic, it would appear that the last were not complete without the story of the war. Stories about the war which would not be complete was the 10th issue of the HILTOP and its contents

As expected, "The Valley" was controversial.

It seems to me that a system which provides for young people being taken into its leader or some group, provides a cooperative system in which programs are judged on their merit and not hampered by personal feelings or prejudices that exist. And I was not surprised that this opportunity to voice his disagreement on the development of the new magazine if it was published.

Thus, "The Valley" was hot, in my opinion, explainable that "most people's criticism was well placed."

A MATTER OF FACT

It was the manner in which the issues were discussed. The lack of understanding with damaging ambiguous adjectives that so many of us read personal groups was always an issue, as did the noise from loud speaking, but some time it gets pretty bad.

It must be admitted, however, that the Student Lounge is far too small for the students who press upon it. Steps should definitely be taken to examine the feasibility of increasing Lounge space.

Mr. Wilson has traveled to Norway and all of the countries of Western Europe. He is deliberating on a trip to Africa to work; he is a senior correspondent for the newspapers. Mr. Wilson expressed his regrets that he had not been able to travel in the United States before leaving for the trip.

School of Religion Graduates First Negro Women

The Rev. Emma P. Hill and the Rev. Jessie M. Hickerson were the first Negro women to receive the Bachelor of Divinity degree from the school, and they were graduated on June 5, 1960. The Rev. Mrs. Hill has been in Washington where she attended school. She is a graduate of Dyerer High School, Normal School and earned the Bachelor of Arts degree from the Col-lege of Liberal Arts at Howard University. The Rev. Mrs. Hill was admitted to full membership in the Washington annual conference of the Methodist church at the 80th session in May, 1956. Her acceptance followed by only a few weeks a resolution passed by the General Conference in Minneapolis to open membership in the Methodist church to women ministers on the same basis with men.

The Rev. Jessie M. Hickerson is a native of Texas. She is a graduate of the Phillips Wheatley High School in Houston, Texas; Mary Allen Junior College, Crockett, Texas, and the Bachelor of Arts degree from Tillotson College, Austin, Texas. This week she was admitted to full membership in the Methodist church at the 83rd annual conference in San Antonio. In preparation for her profession as a minister she graduated from the Franklin Beauty School of Houston, Texas, and received a Bachelor of Science in Memphis, Tennessee, and the Wilford Beauty Academy of New York City.

A.U. Offers Grants

Ten scholarships of $300.00 each are available through The American University, Washington, D.C., for students to attend the International Summer School to be held at the Technological Institute in Monterrey, Mexico, the first week of July.

To be eligible, a student must be enrolled at The American University or any other accredited college or university or be a member of a high school senior who has studied Spanish and has been accepted for college in the fall of 1960.

SHARP TONGUES IN ADMIN. BUILDING?

One of the most common complaints that I have heard from students is that about the reception they are accorded by secretaries and clerks in the administration building. During a period of some three years, students have frequently commented on the discourteous reception by secretaries in the administration building. This has been a source of much consternation to teachers. Now I have received a complaint from one of Howard’s students who has had more than his share of discourteous reception from the clerks in the administration building. He contends that the presence of students in the administration building to write to the HILLTOP and give us his side of the picture, it would be very enlightening for the students to get some relative concrete idea of how they appear from behind the clerk’s desk.

Complaint That Guards Mistreat Pros

Several students have complained to the administration regarding the sharp-tongued secretaries or clerks in the administration building. This is not to say that there are no sharp-tongued clerks or secretaries in the administration building, but it seems to be entirely natural that such a complaint would complicate this issue unnecessarily.

According to these student sources, faculty members who have transacted business in the administration, the clerks in the offices that serve students, the faculty, and faculty who have dealt with the people they work for and with.

LONG, LONG LINES—Shown in Room 116 Douglas Hall is one of the students’ major beginning-of-semester disasters—the registration lines. University Treasurer Clarke indicates, in an accompanying article on this page, that progress is being made in smoothing out the registration process.

Treasurer Clarke Explains Why Howard Uses Its Registration Plan

By Alma - Jean Powell

Is the school satisfied with the registration methods now used? Are any changes planned in the methods? Why can’t Howard use the sign-now-pay-later system?

No one method is entirely satisfactory, says James B. Clarke, treasurer of Howard University, “We cannot be satisfied until we can cut down the time to a minimum.” Plans for improvement include simplification of registration material.

Mr. Clarke spoke of the difficulties in our method compared to other universities and the reasons for the differences. Howard University has no assessment of fees whereas other universities have a flat fee. Under the flat fee method, the student first pays a set fee and takes as many or as few courses as he wishes. Everyone pays the same fee regardless of how few his hours.

Mr. Clarke is convinced that improvement over the years is evident since more students complete registration within the time allotted.

Bethelmy Advises Registration Late

By Victoria L. Bethelmy

Eukee! I’ve found it! At last I have overcome the terrible inconvenience of having to stand in line for hours in order to pay fees during registration. The solution is to pay fees late, together with the regular fee, but in the case of a late fee of five dollars. I quite realize that I run the risk of having students adopt this system, which will result in the long lines being transferred to late payments, but then, this will solve the problem with regard to the lines during registration days.

Some weeks ago I had the pleasure of accompanying my roommate to the treasurer’s office in the area during his registration. This college boasts of many more students than ours. The checkbook procedure and absolute efficiency of the office was appealing. I had done there amazed me. Within an hour we were on our merry way back home and my roommate was fully registered—Deferred Payment Plan in all.

Here at Howard, we claim the right to be different. We must have a lady to distribute athletic cards when this could be done by the clerk. The time of payment while the good lady could be changing. We must give a cashier or some other useful position. We must be advanced up—states—on another plan—Deferred Payment Plan, or whatever. We must be heavily policed by an aging, but too gentle,
Colloid and Surface Chem. Contest Open

The opening of the 1960 contest in colloid and surface chemistry among college undergraduates is announced by the University of Southern California. The contest is sponsored by the Continental Oil Company of Houston, Texas and Pontiac City, Oklahoma, and is now in its fourth year.

Students of chemistry, biochemistry and chemical engineering in all four liberal arts universities of the United States and Canada are eligible if they have regular undergraduate status, and are interested in the subject. The deadline for submitting entries is April 1, 1960. Entry blanks may be obtained immediately by writing to Professor C. A. Blatt, Chemistry Department, University of Southern California, Los Angeles 7, California.

Sir Isaac Newton is struck by another great idea!

As sure as little apples, Newton knew that what goes up must come down. But when it comes down to a really pleasurable filter cigarette, it's what goes up—in front of the filter—that makes the difference!

And there's where Winston had an inspired idea—Filter-Blend! Winston specially selects choice, mild tobaccos, then specially processes them for filter smoking. The result: Filter-Blend up front of a modern filter. That's what makes Winston a complete filter cigarette.

Filter-Blend also makes Winston America's best-selling, best-tasting filter cigarette. Take it from Sir Isaac:

``You don't have to be hit on the head to know that Winston tastes good like a cigarette should!''
Peck
A Student Portrait
By Joanne Diven

(Peck) Babson came from a small town of Sipriya, India, in 1950 when he attended Harvard. The majority of the people in the district of Sipriya is quite simple. As he was the only child in his family, he started attending Harvard University. At home, he attended Indian-medium high schools in Tirunelveli, Narasimara College High School. Peck's favorite subjects were English, Latin, and chemistry. He was interested in work in the pursuance of his Bachelor of Science, degree majoring in Chemistry or Economics.

Happy
On the first day I saw him, he was introduced to me and I was somewhat amazed at his innocence. He cannot be quite honestly happy in the United States. In my first conversation with Peck, I found out what he thought of this university.

Harvard University is one of the most prominent universities in the United States; it is comprised chiefly of colored people. The professors and teachers are only willing to assist the students and teachers in the academic field in which difficulty may be encountered. Peck was able to function in number and capabilities.

Peck further stated that many of his other West-Indian brothers at Harvard, while generally satisfied, are experiencing the same difficulty in the novelty of the way in which examinations are conducted. Peck feels that (1) the examinations at Harvard are too frequent; (2) the type of examinations are very superficial, and are based on speed and not on comprehension.

Peck is of the opinion that no examination in physical scientists should be required of the students at the end of the semester.

Changes
Peck spoke on his view of changes he would like to see. They are (1) the immediate cessation of Remedial Reading; (2) the safest possible introductions of remedial courses in Chemistry, Biology, and physical sciences; (3) professors should make an honest attempt to eliminate the increasing problems that arise in the minds of students studying social science; and (4) the staff of the university should consider that very often, foreign students in particular are at a disadvantage because of the lack of foreign professors, which are usually given immediately after arrival in the United States.

On general views and opinions, Peck describes life here as being hectic. The Washington Institute is quite friendly. Football is a novelty. "It is quite an exciting game." He also says that there are more changes here than in India.

Concerning the 7000 desk space for freshmen girls Peck says: "I think Harvard is a result of the following doctrine: simulation. all freshmen girls are to sign in at 7:00 P.M. and yet under the proviso of the library, since harm is along those goods.

Council Delegates Attend NSF Conf.
