homecoming committee needs largest profit in history

Serving the University community since 1923

JUNE 77, No. 13

According to Strachan, another reason for the profits was because of the new promotions. He said the committee was designed to provide the University with more money.

A controversial vote, the committee made a controversial decision to exclude the 150,000 people who also purchased tickets. The decision resulted in a $5,925,000 victory against the ticketEkas and the 150,000 people who also purchased tickets.

HUSA recognizes outstanding staff

Hilltop Student Association presented the Howard University Student Association (HUSA) Award to recognize the outstanding staff members of Howard University. The award was presented during a ceremony on December 3, 2006, at the Super Summit. The award ceremony was attended by representatives of Howard University's administration, faculty, and students.

The ceremony honored outstanding staff members who have made significant contributions to the university community. The award was presented to recognize the hard work, dedication, and excellence of these individuals. The recipients were recognized for their exceptional service and commitment to the university.

The ceremony included speeches by the university's administration, faculty, and students, who praised the recipients for their outstanding work. The recipients were also presented with certificates of recognition and a plaque to commemorate their contributions.

The ceremony was a day of celebration and appreciation for the university's staff members. It was an opportunity to acknowledge the efforts of these individuals who keep the university running smoothly.

In addition to the award ceremony, the ceremony included a social event where the recipients and their families were able to meet and interact with the university community. The event was a testimony to the university's commitment to recognizing the contributions of its staff members.

The ceremony was a reminder of the importance of recognizing the efforts of our staff members, who are the backbone of any organization. Their contributions are often overlooked, but they are essential to the success of any institution.

The ceremony was an opportunity to show our appreciation for their hard work and dedication. It was a day of celebration and a reminder of the importance of recognizing the contributions of our staff members.

Engineering organization celebrates common culture

By Andrea C. Condon

Members of the Howard University chapter of National Society of Black Engineers held their second annual conference to meet with fellow black engineers and explore their "attitudes" (knish of black engineers) in the profession. The chapter organized the event to encourage students to consider careers in the engineering field.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES were also planned which gave participants a break from the academic atmosphere of Howard. On Friday afternoon, students from Howard, Morgan State, Howard, Cheyney and Bethune-Cookman colleges gathered for a "Party at the Howard Plaza Towers," which is the residence of Howard University's Student Government Association. The party featured music by DJ T-Bone and DJ Deone and dancing. The crowd of approximately 200 was asked to wear white to symbolize the ongoing theme."It was really neat," said one attendee.

Instead of one test for everyone, the CBT is not only a computerized exam, but also the first in a series of computerized exams that will be given in the SATs. F ew students have taken the test before, so there is no way to compare scores among students who have taken it. Some students have not taken the exam due to lack of time.

"One of the pros of using the computer is that the test can be administered more quickly," said one student. "It also allows for a larger number of tests to be administered in a shorter amount of time." In addition, some students believe that the computerized test will be easier to score than the traditional paper-and-pencil format.

"There's a real need for more people to take the test," said another student. "I think it's important that as many people as possible take the test to show how well they can do in math and science." While some students are enthusiastic about the new test, others are skeptical. "I don't think it's going to be any different," said one student. "It's still going to be a test and we're still going to have to work hard to get a good score." Still, others are excited about the opportunity to take a different kind of test. "I think it's great that they're trying something new," said one student. "It's a chance for people to see how well they can do in a different environment." Overall, the students are looking forward to taking the test. "I think it's going to be a great experience," said one student. "I'm really excited about it."

Will the Brady bill make a difference?

It looks like that Brady Handgun Control Bill will finally become law. The bill is named for James S. Brady, who was wounded during the assassination attempt on President Reagan in 1981. Brady, who has always been an active advocate for gun control, along with his wife Sarah, have been very strong on the issue.

The main provision in the Brady bill is giving a prospective handgun purchaser a three-day waiting period. If he or she cannot get a license to carry a handgun within that time, then he or she cannot get a gun. So gun reformers can expect to see a little increase in the number of background checks being performed. However, the bill doesn't do anything about assault rifles or other more dangerous weapons.

The best thing for Americans to do at this time is to support legislation that makes buying a handgun more difficult. The Brady bill appears to cover only certain types of firearms, and some of the weapons sold are illegal.

The Hilltop will continue to follow this issue and bring you the latest developments.

Investing in the future for mother and child

I was recently touched and impressed by the article "Raising Black Queens and Babies" in the February issue of The Hilltop. The piece was written by a young mother and student. Like the other mothers, she has been motivated and I am doing better this semester than ever before. Unlike the other mothers, I do not have my daughter with me. Because of my pregnancy, or rather the first trimester. clip and blue. I have been busy with school and work, and I am doing better this semester than ever before.

Unfortunately, her father was never around. Everyone who knew her knew she was a good person. When she was pregnant, she worked hard and stayed out of trouble. She was a good student, and she was looking forward to her graduation.

The question then became what would care for Aynan. Her family was supportive, and they helped her make the best decision for her. They knew that in order to have a good job or career, there were many options. She could have a job in the future, or she could have a job in the future. She knew that in order to have a good job or career, there were many options.

The ramifications of NAFTA

The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) is a complex and controversial issue. It was signed in 1992 by Canada, Mexico, and the United States. The agreement aims to create a free trade area among these three countries, eliminating most tariffs and trade barriers.

However, the agreement has faced criticism from many quarters. Some argue that it has led to job losses in the United States, as businesses move to countries with lower labor costs. Others argue that it has created new job opportunities, particularly in Mexico.

The future job market is always challenging, and it is important to be prepared for what lies ahead. With the right education and skills, one can find success in the future.

PERSPECTIVES

Life is too short to waste with dishonesty.

J. Barnes

The next time you find yourself in a difficult situation. The next time you come face to face with a difficult decision. The next time you want to make a decision that is not in your best interest, let me be your guide. Let me be your voice of reason. The next time you find yourself in a situation where you need to make a decision, let me be your guide. Let me be your voice of reason.

I believe that our decisions should be based on what is best for us, and that is why I have written this book. I want to help you make the best decisions possible, and I believe that my advice will be helpful to you.

I want to start by saying that I am not a professional, but I have been through many difficult situations and have made many decisions. I have learned from my experiences, and I am sharing my knowledge with you.

I hope that you will find this book helpful, and that it will guide you through the difficult decisions that you will face in your life. I believe that you can make the best decisions possible, and I am here to help you do that.

McDonald’s cracks down on parking violators

By Monica B. Rice

PARKING FOR MCDONALD’S CUSTOMERS ONLY.

Please limit parking to 30 minutes.

Cars left unattended or by those who leave these premises shall be towed at the owner’s expense.

No loitering & no alcoholic beverages permitted.

Thank you for your cooperation.

McDonald’s, located at 2230 Georgia Avenue, has instituted a new parking lot policy that has caused a number of car owners to be towed.

The policies, which became effective on Oct. 15, can be found on signs posted in various locations throughout the parking lot. The policy reads: “Please limit parking to 30 minutes. Cars left unattended by those whose license plates are not towed will be towed at owner’s expense.”

McDonald’s monitors people who park in the hot washing to see if any of the people are patrons.

Shelter aims to help homeless

By Monica B. Rice

For this year at least, Thanksgiving for the homeless was a time of joy and happiness as the Reverend Imagene B. Stewart, founder of the House of Imagination, set the example on a hot November day.

At a local McDonald’s restaurant on Georgia Avenue, Stewart sat with the homeless for Thanksgiving dinner. Other than her former church, Stewart has not been given any support.

Every Thanksgiving, the students from Howard University stay at the shelter for the duration of the meal, and the shelter has received donations from Howard University students.

The shelter’s strict policy allows families to live at House of Imagination for up to six weeks. They must leave the shelter by 9:00 a.m. and return between 3:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m.

Tevin Campbell’s second album expected to be a hit

By Mike Young
Staff Writer

A recording artist without a Grammy nomination can easily get lost in the shuffle of oldies, but not Campbell. He stands tall and strong with a new CD that is well received and is expected to be a hit.

With the release of “Teen Summit” on March 28, Campbell has accomplished what very few other artists have, release a new album, and according to Billboard charts, the album has made the top 10 list. This is huge for Campbell who was previously seen as a young, upcoming artist.

Campbell was welcomed to the world of Black Entertainment Television’s “Teen Summit” by ten of his peers who are all part of the entertainment industry in some way. Campbell was able to meet a lot of people and learn a lot from them.

In an interview with the Hillsboro Tribune, Campbell talked about his new album and the success that it has had so far.

“I feel good about this album,” Campbell said. “I feel like it’s a great album and a great start to my career.”

When asked if he was happy with the album, Campbell responded, “I’m happy with the album. I think it’s a great album.”

Campbell has been working on the album for a very long time, and he is pleased with the final product. He said, “I’ve been working on this album for a very long time, and I’m happy with the final product.”

Campbell’s new album, “Teen Summit,” is expected to be a hit and is already topping the charts. The album has received critical acclaim and is a strong contender for a Grammy nomination.

Campbell said, “I’m happy with the album. I think it’s a great album.”

Campbell’s new album is a mixture of pop, R&B, and soul, and it’s clear that he has put a lot of effort into it. The album features collaborations with some of the biggest names in the industry, and it’s clear that Campbell has been working hard to make sure that his music is the best it can be.

“Teen Summit” is a great album, and it’s clear that Campbell has put a lot of effort into it. The album is expected to be a hit, and it’s clear that Campbell has the talent and the drive to make it happen.

Campbell said, “I’m happy with the album. I think it’s a great album.”

Students sound off about favorite TV talk shows

By Nicole A. Alexander

A direct and a nod for breakfast, to no one for lunch and a big smile for dinner...not exactly what you'd call a balanced diet. Right?

And, yes, some potatoes, sodas and cookies are not typically the kind of groceries men would bring home from the store. But if we're honest with ourselves, we must admit that most men don't like to grocery shop. Without two of the best healthy alternatives mentioned above...

The Hilltop asked students who 'fave the most' and the results were almost unanimous. The Jerry Springer Show topped the list for the interesting, but controversial topics ranging from the socially sensitive to the really bad pan is that they're all on nighttime channel.

By Kariema Meggett

The HILLTOP asked who's in the talk show...even students at Montel and The Jerry Springer Show was on too many talk shows...just too many talk shows.

By Erica Jackson

Other students agree.

The HILLTOP asked why people (men) watch these programs...just too many talk shows. By Leonard

Leonard remains neutral. He claims to be at the table, but he doesn't always keep it. Although the show's popularity often indicates that people are interested in the show's topics, it doesn't mean they're informed. Attention all Howard University students:

Spring '94 Registration Update

Registration arrangements and procedures will remain basically unchanged for the Spring '94 semester. However, please note the following adjustments which are designed to simplify, facilitate, and expedite the registration process for students:

1. The Certificate of Registration will be replaced by a "Validation Sticker." Students who have made (or will make) satisfactory financial arrangements will be issued an orange Validation Sticker to be affixed to the reverse of their Photo ID Card. Stickers will be issued in the Blackburn Center Ballroom by all cashiers starting January 5, 1994.

2. A Student Program Card will be reproduced in each copy of the Directory of Classes booklet. Students will utilize this card in lieu of the personalized, computer-printed card previously furnished. Extra copies of the blank program card will be distributed to schools and colleges.

3. A Student Activities card for Spring 1994 (formerly known as the Certificate of Registration) will be available to all students prior to registration. The card will be used to secure tickets for athletic events, yearbooks, and for voting in student elections. The Office of Student Life and Activities will issue duplicate cards and other cards as needed.

4. On a pilot basis, the Office of the Registrar will station Account Analysis at Camton Auditorium to expedite the financial registration process for Arts and Sciences students to January 6, 7. On January 20, it will be at the School of Engineering to assist Engineering students in the same manner.

Student turns love of books into business benefits

Mail Order Bookstore spreads culture and literature

By Nicole R. Alexander

What do you get when you combine hard work, determination and creativity?

Well, if you are senior Faydra Fields, you get a 3.55 G.P.A. and your own business, as well.

The Mail Order Bookstore, also known as The M.O.B.B.S., has taken Fields two years to establish. Now her business is getting underway.

"About two years ago, I decided that I wanted to go into business for myself," said Faydra Fields, tribe chief. "I started this mail order bookstore because we don't have this sort of thing in the Midwest. Books by black authors and about things that either to black people are not well understood," said Tulsa, Okla. fields.

However, the M.O.B.B.S. is not only geared toward providing books to the Midwest and Fields wants to make her services available nationwide.

"Felds and the idea of owning her own mail order book store stems from another one of her goals. "I wanted to do something great toward African Americans and to keep the doors in the community. The idea of setting books came from me wanting to be an author," she said.

When Fields decided to go into business, she knew that it would require a great deal of effort, but she was prepared for the challenge.

"I did a lot of research on the mail order business and on books. I also worked at the African Heritage Literary Society. I put a lot of time and energy into it. It took me two years to establish the M.O.B.B.S., because I wanted to make sure the business would work," the African-American Studies major said.

According to Fields, owning a business has its ups and downs. First of all, she has to make all decisions by herself since it is the proprietor of her business.

"Since I own and operate this business by myself, if it fails, it's all my fault and nobody else's. However, I think that failure can be avoided," Fields added.

Along with all of the business making and, unpalatability the economy having a viable enterprise, there is also a lot of work. Fields did all of the work for her mail order packets. But the work was paid off in the form of a neat, attractive and well-organized mail order packets.

"Other people have said that the packets are well-organized and I agreed with them. I want my business to come across as well-organized and professional environment that it is," Fields said. "I'm going to make sure that material is present to our customers is essential," Fields explained.

The mail order packets include a listing and a brief summary of the book. The 400 titles Fields' company has in stock, as well as an order form. Books on the M.O.B.B.S. list include:

biographies, adult novels, children's books, fiction and non-fiction. And Fields promises to try to find any requested book that is not on the list.

"Since the butterfly is the symbol for her company, in Fields, the butterfly symbolizes a metamorphosis in spring. While the butterfly business will change and expand, Fields wants metamorphosis to have even broader implications.

I want to see my race as a butterfly. I want people of African descent to be looked at as butterflies, we are experiencing many changes in our country, and I want those problems to help us become a stronger, better race," Fields said.

"We are a large part of Fields' life. When she transferred to Howard University in 1990, she did not know what to expect, but she met the challenge head on.

According to Faydra, she made people who supported her ideas for starting the business. Many showed their support through encourages, while others supported her financially.

African-American Studies Professor Dr. Olive Taylor helped me succeed," Fields said. "I'm very persistent. I'm willing to take on the challenge head on.

Eventually, Fields even went to a school board in order to gain access to funding. However, the teacher was unable to get money in order to offer the course. She believes that the course is a service to our students. She said, "the course is a service to our students. The course is a service to our students. The course is a service to our students."

"My success is only limited by me and the limitations that I put on myself," she said.

African Dance Ensemble captivates audience

By Glenn Lowe

The Full Dance Ensemble's Concert Nov. 19 and 20 and the concert featuring the tap-dancing rhythms of African Dance. The audience received a visual and auditory treat.

The show opened with a dance called "Hemele" performed by the African Dance Ensemble. The dancers wore traditional African costumes and the music was lively and upbeat.

The audience also enjoyed the "Jive Jive" dance performed by the Full Dance Ensemble. The dancers moved with precision and grace while the music was energetic and fast-paced.

The final dance of the night was "The Lion Dance" which was performed by the Full Dance Ensemble. The dancers dressed as lions and the music was filled with the sounds of roaring lions.

The audience was left in awe of the performers and the dances they performed. The African Dance Ensemble and the Full Dance Ensemble both put on a fantastic performance that left the audience wanting more.
1994 Mustang offers more options and a sportier look

When John_waited for the Mustang to stop, the driver's side was still 1-inch higher than the passenger's, which the passenger was forced to adjust daily. The car is a bit taller than the DeLorean DMC-12, which was also on display. However, the Mustang is no longer the taller car. The front seats are now adjustable for height and the back seat is reclined. The steering wheel is also adjustable, making it easier to get in and out of the car.

John also noted that the 1994 Mustang has four-wheel drive, which is a significant improvement over the rear-wheel drive of the previous model. The suspension is also improved, making the ride smoother and more comfortable.

John also mentioned that the 1994 Mustang has a new 3.8-liter V6 engine, which is more powerful than the previous 3.3-liter engine. The engine is also more efficient and produces less emissions. The 1994 Mustang also has a new transmission, which is more responsive and provides a better driving experience.

Overall, John was impressed with the 1994 Mustang and said that it is a significant improvement over the previous model. He recommended it to anyone looking for a comfortable, responsive, and powerful car.

LOVE THROUGH THE CHAIN

A Fairy Tale

Adinar Leveque

There was but a young boy of seven. Yet he knew he felt something for the girl's heart. Tashi was a beautiful girl who could play with the boys and still act like the girl. What more could a boy of seven want in a young girl? She would look at him and smile. She liked him and he liked her.

Yet years went by and Amir and Tashi got closer. Their mud cake made believe din-

What about the seven-year-old in love with a girl? She liked him and he liked her.

As the day came and went, the love would grow stronger and stronger.

The sun came up and the pale face dared to enter the room. Amir grabbed the whip and pulled the pale face off his horse. He slew him with one mighty blow.

And in his native tongue he was a noble warrior and a brave leader. He was born free and without chains. He would not tolerate this any longer.

And when the pale face dared whip him again, Amir grabbed the whip and pulled the pale face off his horse. He slew him with one mighty blow. And in his native tongue he was a noble warrior and a brave leader. He was born free and without chains. He would not tolerate this any longer.
