Jennifer Cover Payne, and the Cultural Alliance of Greater Washington, the Howard University Choir rendition of, "As By The Streams," was sung entirely in Latin. "We are involved because Morris Brown is a sister institution with a great and important history and a bright future," Swygert said. "We are involved because we at Howard take our leadership responsibilities seriously. This situation should be about the business of creating more not lesser higher education opportunities."

ILINOIS GOVERNOR TRADES DEATH SENTENCES FOR LIFE

By Ainder Molhe

Death row is now empty in the state of Illinois. Illinois Republican Governor George Ryan, with two days left in office, commuted the sentences of 147 condemned inmates. Of those inmates, 145 received commutation of life sentences in a gesture without the possibility of parole and according to The Washington Post, three of those death row inmates who Ryan said were sentenced into life without parole were recommended for life without parole by the Illinois Prisoner Review Board. Ryan's decision has been called a moral application of the "second chance," and a moral application of the "second chance".

Illinois Governor trades Death Sentences for Life

While Ryan dismissed talk of an end to sentencing life prisoners, the "second chance," hearings were scheduled. The purpose of the hearings was to determine if prisoners were eligible for eventual release, and if not, to grant them some form of parole. The Illinois Prisoner Review Board, composed of four people, were charged with the task of determining if the prisoners were eligible for parole. The board, composed of people of different races and ethnicities, performed their duties. The last song, which had a very dramatic and ominous feel to the night's performance. Healthy solutions that have been proven to exist in the improvement of health problems. It is a natural factor that can lead to dry skin. The body is often dry because it puts fluids back in the blood vessels near the surface of the skin. Eventually the skin may be broken and the problems can become worse with repeated exposure to cold and damp. Daily moisturizing is essential for dry skin, but applying normal skin as well. According to Paus, moisturizers that are excellent for you include Avon, Keri lotion, and Exsential Moisture.

Comcast, Radio One Create New T.V. Network

In a large market with a small selection, two of the nation’s media giants are targeting black audiences.

Cable-television producer, Comcast Corporation, and Radio One, the largest radio broadcaster targeting black listeners, announced they would become the owner of WYES radio station here in the District, as well as launching a new television network targeting black audi-

The 3.9 million dollar deal was announced Monday. The new television network will feature entertainment, news, opinions, and lifestyle-oriented programming targeted at black viewers ages 25 to 54.

The network has set it’s be-

“We are very pleased to say all Americans. We have some- thing for the people and they’ll have to choose,” said Fox.

Among the regular people in the White House every day, said North Carolina Senator John Edwards as he announced his intentions to run for the Democratic presidential nomination in 2004.

Edwards, 48, plans to refer to his humble beginnings as he grew up the son of a纺织 worker in Robins, North Carolina. We went on to become the first person in her family to attend college, and he graduated from North Carolina State University with an hon- ors degree in communications in 1974. Three years later, he earned a law degree with honors at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

“Edwards and Edwards want to establish a challenge to the current war effort,” Edwards said. “I’ll use my position in the Senate to make sure we do it right. I’ll be the voice of the American people in the Senate. I’ll be the voice of the American people in the Senate.”

Michael "Twitch" Simzak has dreams. He wants to become a lawyer, and he’s never even been to law school.

"They [the military] just called me one night and told me to get ready to leave," said Simzak. He’s not at liberty to discuss where he will be working, but he described what he does as "Three Kings" duty. "I help keep the weapons happy and the Army moving," he said.

Simzak may be going to join the 6,000 other troops, many of them students, already stationed in the Persian Gulf in preparations for a possible war with Iraq.

In January, Simzak had a few weeks to prepare for military life. "I’ve been told that my only option is to make a total withdrawal from the university," Simzak said.

In case of death, an Illinois death penalty debate overwrought with emotion, was only one reason why Illinois’s death penalty wasn’t exactly the same case.

People were convicted of a variety of crimes. One case involved a couple that killed a pregnant woman, cut her newborn twin baby from her womb and murdered two of her remaining three children who happened to be black.

"If I was family to any of the victims of the incompetent, I would be hurt," said Sherrill.

Nelson Mandela and Jesse Jackson have encouraged Ryan, who has faced international attention from those opposed to America’s application of the death penalty.

"As the newspapers [point] out, prosecutors are getting ready to fill death row up again," said Page. "There are far fewer pending where prosecutors are seeking the death penalty for those convicted," he said.

"Allowing the state to take any life puts the blood on the hands of all of its citizens," he said.

looking regal in their matching purple and gold robes. They gave a rousing, soulful performance of the ultimate protest song, “We Shall Overcome,” followed by the brilliant, chiming claves of the choir and the audience singing one of King’s favorites, “Precious Lord, Take My Hand.” After the warm and soulful opening night, the choral director suggested that Tuesday’s performance be a little more intimate.

The evening closed with “I Was Invited Here by My Father,” a composition dedicated to the life and words of the delicious. The choral director, Arphelius Paul Gatling, said that he expected it to be like that. “It was everything,” McMillan said. “It really brought out a lot of emotions in me. I was definitely moved to another performance, even if I have to pay, because it’s worth it.”

Shari Madkins, a senior chemistry major, is a native of Atlanta and is saddled with Morris Brown’s accreditation being threatened. She remembers the value of a HBCU.

The experience at a Howard University choir director, Arphelius Paul Gatling, said. “It was wonderful, powerful, and beautiful.”

Yoga, A Stress Reliever

YOGA from A2

During the process of Hatha yoga, a series of poses, called asanas, was performed during a session. Many postures mimic the body structure of animals, shapes and even tools. Through this process, the yogi will be breathing and reflecting upon the focus of the session.

According to Barger, "Breathing is the most important part of relaxation yoga and of any exercise." The asanas, like many other forms, can be done on a floor, in a pool, in a chair or even lying in bed. Its simplicity is one reason why it is enjoyed by many.

Medical experts increasingly recommend yoga for people with chronic health conditions. These workshops may be held throughout the year. For more information, contact the Career Services office by taking advantage of its benefits. A blanket or chair can be used for support, and a sticky mat is recommended, but not necessary, to keep from slipping on the floor. The dress typically consists of a leotard or other comfortable, fitted clothing to allow for ease of movement.

Success believes, "One thing to remember is that it is not a hard class and that you will get a chance to breathe and find some relaxation during the classes." Even kids, artists and actors, Beyonce Knowles has practiced yoga to improve her performance. "It is like a self-managed aid to get you to relax," the singer said.

For more details call the office at 202-806-7513. Students interested in finding out more about this class can attend a bi-weekly Career and Internship Bank where students may search. This library provides information for those seeking part-time and full-time positions.

More students are interested in exploring new careers, and as well as online resources are available at the Career Services office.

The office moreover offers access to the Career and Internship Bank where students can access. Additional resources can be found at "Hilltop" or by calling the office at 202-806-7513.

Rappers Need to Stop Playing Dress-Up

By Joseph Cusumano

Dressed To Impress

P. Diddy, Jay-Z, Nelly, and salt-n-pepa have all been spotted putting out their faces in being seen. What they're wearing is what they need to say the look. If you're a fan of arts and fashion, you're probably aware of the look these artists are wearing. What you might not know is that these artists are trying to convey something more than just their personal style. They are using their wardrobe to make a statement about themselves and their own identities.

All of these artists want to do it right. They want to look good, and they want to convey something about themselves. If they are wearing t-shirts that are too tight, they are not happy. And if you are wearing a shirt that is too tight, you are not happy. The same goes for any other piece of clothing.

But what about the clothes themselves? What about the style they are wearing? The style of clothes that these artists are wearing is not just about looking good. It is also about conveying a message. The style they are wearing is a reflection of their personality and their values.

For example, if you are wearing a T-shirt that says “I Support Independent Study Projects,” it is likely that you are a supporter of independent study projects. If you are wearing a T-shirt that says “I Support Independent Study Projects,” it is likely that you are a supporter of independent study projects.

In conclusion, the clothes that these artists are wearing are not just about looking good. They are also about conveying a message. So, if you want to look good and convey a message, make sure you are wearing the right clothes for the right occasion.

The ‘Real’ Antwone Fisher

Antwone Fisher

By Harold Heilchenber

Antwone Fisher, whose life was recently brought to film, released his latest book “Who Will Cry for the Little Boy?”

A man of steely bar and emotional speech best describes Antwone Fisher. A man with no inhibition and a personal story that makes him stand out. Fisher has become a star in Hollywood, but his struggle to get there is just as inspiring. This is a true story of perseverance and determination.

Reading a tale of the everyday life of Fisher, we are introduced to the beginning. After seeing the recently released biography “Antwone Fisher” written by himself, Fisher himself, and directed by Activist Award Winner Denzel Washington, we are surprised to discover that it is a true story that is not just about fame and fortune but also about love and loss.

Seeing a real story for our enjoyment, Fisher approaches us and gives us a peek into his personal life. As we delve into the book, we see the real Fisher. The man who has overcome many obstacles and has made it to the big leagues.

Within Fisher’s words, we see a man who has not given up. He has overcome many obstacles and has made it to the big leagues. His story is an inspiration to all.

Another potential hit-maker (what Stone says), these two football staples were the stars of the show. Fisher was skillful, but not as skillful as the other. Stone was proficient, but not as proficient as the other.

"It's literally a who's who of hip-hop artists. And what about Nelly? That was a real shocker." Even more of a tragedy is the recent death of the rapper, who had just stepped on the stage to receive his award. Stone was disappointed and saddened by the news.

And what about the other rapper, who was also a bit of a shocker? Stone was surprised and shocked by the news.

What really kills me is how the hip-hop industry has changed over the years. It used to be a close-knit community, but now it's a business where everyone is just out for themselves. Stone was disappointed and saddened by the news.

In the memoirs of Antwone Fisher, the author suggests that the young man should have seen a psychologist. Fisher was a bit overwhelmed by the whole thing and was searchi defense, because McNair is a playmaker and a Precor winner. If Oakland can shut down the Tennessee running game and contain McNair, they will be able to win.

NFC Championship Game
Tampa Bay Buccaneers (13-4) at Philadelphia Eagles (13-4)
Sunday, Jan. 19, 3:00 PM ET

If we based the Buccaneer chance of winning on previous playoff experiences, the Bucs would not be the favorite to win. They are 1-21 all-time when playing in games where the temperature is 40 degrees and below. In Philadelphia, in mid-January weather, the Bucs can play for just that type of game. Also, Philadelphia has eliminated Tampa Bay from the playoffs in the last two years. However, that was under Tampa's former head coach Tony Dungy, now with the Colts. New coach Jon Gruden has an improved Bucs offensive quarterback Brad Johnson has been terrific. He threw for over 3,000 yards and 22 touchdowns this season. Their defense has been at its best ever. With the always deadly Warren Sapp and the heavy hitters of Warren Sapp, Derrick Brooks and Alphonso Wre II, McNabb must take the time he needs to set up and throw the ball, the Bucs three quality receivers who can become playmakers.

Defensively, it appears that the Eagles have a huge advantage against the Bucs. Philadelphia is sending three of their four starting defensive backs to the Pro Bowl and their front seven is pretty physical. Linebackers Bobby Taylor and Tony Vincent will attempt to shut down Tampa's All-Pro wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson and they'll need help from safety Brian Dawkins. Dawkins, probably the best free safety in football, provides solid run support. Defensive end Hugh Douglas has a non-stop motor and he will likely cause havoc against the overmatched Bucs offensive line. Philadelphia is facing Jo Billa and the Buccaneers had better adjust accordingly if they want to keep their Super Bowl hopes alive.

rule was never to talk about my father. But when I came back, it came back because we look so much alike," explains Fisher.

There is one connection in life that ultimately binds in the heart of every individual. That connection resides between mother and child. The build-up in the film was self-discovery, and the reaction of Fisher with his mother.

To the film, Fisher's character had a lot to say to his mother, but things went quite differently. "I realized the things I wrote of him didn't play how I feel for him," Fisher said.

"When I met my foster father, the social worker sometimes never saw me because they were so many kids."

As illustrated in the movie, Fisher's fears and nightmares are a little boy. Deep down inside, a little boy still resides and smiles despite the fact that Fisher is now known worldwide as "The Best Is Yet To Come!"

Opening the door to new opportunities for Black viewers.

BET's move to the Cable One network is a good thing. It will broaden our views and give us another venue for informing, educating, and entertaining the African American community. Howard Trustee Movin' on Up!

Howard University has received an honorary doctorate of humanities from Convocation just two years ago. Howard's current Board of Trustees Chairman Frank Savage is also a member of the Enron Corporation's Board of Directors. Apparently, some of this money was accepted during the time of the black leadership in this country is on the rise. Two of the most powerful individuals in the country are blacks - National Security Advisor Condoleezza Rice and Secretary of State Colin Powell. It is obvious that we are moving in the right direction with our new network for Black viewers.

Our View: Comcast Corporation and Radio One are headed in the right direction with their new network for Black viewers.

We're Keeping Our Money

We all remember how upset the African American community was when BET was taken out of Black hands and sold to Viacom, American Community was when BET was taken out of Black hands and sold to Viacom, Inc. in 2000. Now, we have seen that important and informative programming on BET, such as Tora Sammlert and Lead Story have been

Not only is it good, but it is necessary for Howard to give back money to those who have been investigated for corporate crimes. Our View: It is not necessary for Howard to give back money to beneficiaries who are now being investigated for corporate crimes.

Bith Kenneth Lay, the Chairman of Enron, and Sanford Weill, the CEO of Citigroup, have had strong ties to Howard. Kenneth Lay was a member of the Board of Trustees until the scandal surfaced and he stepped down. Sanford Weill was honored with an honorary doctorate of Humane Letters at Convocation just two years ago. Howard's current Board of Directors Chairman Frank Savage is also a member of the Enron Corporation's Board of Trustees, though he is not associated with the scandal. Howard hasn't found as much backlash for the acceptance of money from individuals and corporations now under investigation because we do not have buildings named after benefactors. As many universities do, Nevertheless, people have capitalized the use of treasury (donated from potentially corrupt people). We beg to differ.

It is impossible to screen all those who donate money to the University. Moreover, some of this money was accepted during the scandal, but rather prior to the scandal. It is not appropriate for those schools that have buildings named after some of those people to change the names, but it is not necessary for the money to be given back to these individuals or corporations.

Specifically, in Howard's case this is a private university that relies on the donations of our benefactors. It is unfair to say that much needed and much appreciated donations received should be returned.

Howard's Trustee Movin' on Up!

Next leadership in this country is in the rise. Two of the most powerful individuals in our government are blacks - National Security Advisor Condoleezza Rice and Secretary of State Colin Powell. It is obvious that the trend will catch on. It is our hope that the network will be a competitor to BET, but competition is a good thing in the world of media. It will broaden our views and give us another venue for entertainment. We are glad that more Black networks are starting and we hope that the trend will catch on. It is our hope that the program will be both successful and innovative.

Dear Editor

As a student of the on-going conflict and the region, I was intrigued and most excited that a student representative from Howard University would be travelling to Israel and the Occupied Territories.

However, I fear that the information presented in the article called "Conflict in the Middle East" bus into Farsi and "Peace Process Overestimating Fart" by Laura Bayes Anderson, does not reflect adequately the picture of the cycle of violence in the Middle East. I am a student of the region, and I believe that the picture presented is not an accurate reflection of the situation.

I agree that the Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon continues to insist upon the use of the term "Intifada" to describe the ongoing conflict, and I believe that the term is misrepresented to mean "savage violence." However, I disagree that the term is not accurate because I believe that the term "Intifada" is a more accurate description of the conflict.

In actuality, the Accords were between Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak and Yasser Arafat of the Palestine Liberation Organization. It is important to clarify that the major oppositions to the Accords were not the Palestinian people but rather the Israeli military and the Israeli far-right extremist organizations.

Furthermore, those two men who should meet and engage in dialogue for the sake of the innocent civilians on both sides have not done so. Since September 20th, 2000, there have been over 2,500 deaths, including 2,200 Palestinians and 330 Israelis. However, some observers believe that the world has continued to turn a blind eye to the situation of the Palestinian people.

As resultado, the United States, including the Israeli and American Jewish communities, has been the main goal of our country.

The Arab American Institute (AAI) and Americans for Peace Now (APN), a Jewish organization, released a joint survey on November 24, 2000 of 2,000 Jewish and American Jewish attitudes toward Middle East policy and relations between the two communities.

Among the major findings of the survey are that both sides believe that the Bush Administration should ease up on the Middle East policy toward the Israeli-Palestinian peace process. Some expressed a desire for a "middle course" in its policy in the region. However, many others expressed the belief that the United States is not doing enough to support the peace process.

The main goal of our country is to support peace in the Middle East. It is something we unfortunately need to do. It is something that we cannot afford to fail on. It is something that we can do to support the peace process.

Sincerely,
Kenneth R. Massey II & Lara Shlyom-Maxy, "In Memoriam: The Political Science Department"
