HERE AND THERE

During the month of February, the Florida A. and M. Clinical Association, composed of physicians and dentists of Florida and neighboring states, held its annual meeting at the Florida A. and M. College. The sessions were well attended and the enthusiasm with which the men entered into the sessions can be an example for any group. Dr. John A. Turner, of the Howard University Dental Faculty, was the guest dental clinician.

On Saturday, February 18th, the Ohio Valley Dental Society held its second annual banquet at the Hotel Manse. The committee, composed of Drs. Charles Carroll, "Art" Edwards and T. Inge Wilson, were commended highly for the success of the occasion.

At the annual installation banquet of the Mound City Dental Society of St. Louis, Missouri, Dean Russell A. Dixon, of the Dental College, was guest speaker. While in St. Louis, Dean Dixon addressed the Parent Teachers' Association, and was guest speaker at a mass meeting held at the Pine Street Y. M. C. A., under the auspices of the Dental Society.

TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL SESSION OF THE OLD DOMINION STATE DENTAL SOCIETY

In the shadow of Mill Mountain, one of Roanoke, Virginia's distinguishing landmarks, the Old Dominion State Dental Society met on April 10th and 11th.

The attendance was a hearty response to the official call to meeting. The program committee presented scientific sessions which proved beneficial to the members, and a public health meeting which was of such local interest as to produce a capacity gathering at First Baptist Church.

At the latter meeting, the Mayor of the city was the principal speaker, while Mrs. A. M. Howard, of the College of Dentistry, Howard University, delivered the health address.

Clinicians for the scientific sessions were: Drs. R. M. Hendrick and E. J. Scott of the faculty of the College of Dentistry, Howard University. Dr. C. T. Ferebee, of Washington, D. C., and Drs. G. P. Downing and J. B. Claytor, of Roanoke.

The social events, very attractive in nature, were the Annual Prom, a sightseeing trip, a bridge party and a dance, the latter sponsored by the Maids and Matrons Club of Roanoke.

One particularly pleasant bit of news that arrived during the meeting was in the form of word that Dr. L. E. Paxton, who has been at the Piedmont Sanatorium, is showing rapid and favorable progress in his convalescence.
