COOPERATION
OUR INSTITUTION OF THE UNITED
BY THE DEPART

*R*EADERS of the Bison, when you turn these pages in the after years, you will pause again and again before the name and face of one who has come to be a blessing to the people, and your hearts will burn with joy as you recall the days of your association with such an one in the University. Imagine, then the unspeakable gladness of your teachers and administrative servants!

URE TO DEDICATE TO THE SPIRIT OF EXISTING BETWEEN AND THE GOVERNMENT STATES, AS REPRESENTED MENT OF THE INTERIOR

*H*OWARD UNIVERSITY is truly a national institution. Its student body has been drawn from nearly every State in the Union, and its alumni are counted in virtually every State and in dozens of foreign countries. It should be and is an inspiration to the Negro race. It has steadily forged ahead in its task of fitting the colored youth of the nation, of both sexes, to participate more fully in our social system and in our government. The character of our social order is determined basically by the principles and abilities of those willing and able to accept responsibility. The opportunity for fitting Negroes for this service is one great mission of Howard University, and it is my earnest hope that an increasing number of students will take advantage of the facilities offered by Howard to fit themselves for leadership.

*M*EMORIES and mental images grow faint as the years pass. The faces of our classmates fade away into the dim background of time. The indescribable feeling of satisfaction to be derived from renewing our acquaintanceships, if only through the medium of pictorial records, well compensates us for sacrifice made to compile such records.

It is with a desire of fulfilling this purpose that the staff of the 1934 BISON has put together this volume. May its presence serve always to keep alive in each one of us of the Class of '34 a spark of the Howard spirit ingrained in us during our undergraduate days.

We hope that this BISON will be the successful if unpretentious foundation of a financially sound school-annual program. With such a foundation it is not improbable that the University, knowing a BISON is possible, will overcome its fear of student activities and encourage such projects.

FACULTY ADVISER

*T*HE publication of an annual should be the ultimate realization of every graduating class of Howard University. It occurs at the climax of a period in life that is experienced only once. Through this medium a summarization is given of the collegiate activities and the cultural appreciations that are indicative of a successful academic career. In such an endeavor opposition is to be expected, there will be groups who will attempt to discourage such efforts, other experiences of a bitter nature will be encountered, but the more obstacles that are overcome the greater the reward. This compendium of pictorial and statistical data is a summons to all graduating classes of Howard University.

Ave et Vale

SEVERAL years ago there assembled together a trusting group of young men with a firm desire in their hearts to become followers of Galem and Geoffrey, ancient masters of the noble profession of pharmacy. Some found that the educational sea was too rough; consequently they were buffeted on the shores of other lines of endeavor more suitable for their inclinations and potentialities.

However, in spite of difficulties and obstacles, there were some who had faith in that "do or die" spirit, and as a result of that spirit, these timeworn and weather-beaten veterans have managed to carry on to a successful finish. There goes the remnant of the fighting pharmacists: "Suave" Carter, the sartorially correct Brooks, "Gentleman" George, "Persistent" Daniels, "Reticent" Thornton, and "Father" Farris.

The sunny shores of Southern California beckon to "Suave" Carter. There he sees an open field for an Ethical Pharmaceutical Drug Store. May a good future and an abundant success follow him.

The sartorially correct Brooks thinks there is no place like home. He plans to practice his profession in the heart of the blue grass region, Hopkinsville, Kentucky.

"Hampton by the sea; that's the place for me," says reticent Thornton, "because we iron men either find a way or make one." It is there that he hopes to pursue his professional career.

"Persistent" Daniels looks forward for a successful future down in Charleston, S. C. We wish him many years of success.

"Father" Farris hopes to settle in the middle west with his ability and determination to succeed. We hope this shall certainly follow him.

"Gentleman" George, the quiet, and unassuming young pharmacist, who has been outstanding in his scholastic work, will, with the same determination and courage, stand out among the prominent pharmacists of America.

The University and College of Pharmacy are expecting great things from these young men, and wish them all abundant success as they take their places in the front line of public health.

THE School of Religion opened the year with the following organizations and Activities:

The Student Assembly, with James C. Griffin, President; Thomas C. Garnett, Vice-President; Alexander Gordon, Secretary; Richard H. Johnson, Treasurer.

The Maynard Literary Society, John Bunyan Eubanks, President; James Russell Brown, Vice-President; James C. Griffin, Secretary; Letitia Jones, Assistant Secretary, and Leonard Terrell, Treasurer.

Through the association of the members of this society, much has been added to the cultural life of the School.

The Inter-Seminary Conference of the Middle Atlantic States, of which the School of Religion is a member, met at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N. Y., December 7 to 9 inclusive. The following students were sent as delegates:

Richard T. Brown, Leonard Terrell, Letitia Jones, Thomas Garnett, and Richard Johnson. Terrell was elected as vice-president of the organization for the year, 1934-35.

The baseball team of the School is another outstanding feature of the extra-curricula activities, and was successful in winning from Storer College, Maryland's Teachers' College, and Miner Teachers' College. They were defeated by the Clark Hall Bisons. The lineup was as follows:

L. L. White, 1B; E. M. Booker, C; A. H. Gordon, L. F; L. J. Johnson, P; R. H. Johnson, 2B; J. B. Eubanks, S.S; L. L. Terrell, 3B; J. C. Griffin, C. F; R. E. Austin, R. F; J. B. Bell, Utility.

The School of Religion had two of its students on the 1933-34 football team of the University, namely, "Dick" Johnson, and "Hike" Gordon.

The Class of '34, of the Theological School is widely distributed when we stop to consider the limits of the U. S. A. and then the places from which the members hail.

First in the line of the Seniors is Ralph Austin, who comes from the State of Virginia. Ralph has gained quite a reputation as the All-American sleeper of the Class of '34. Between naps "Little Ralphie" has earned the necessary credits for graduation. From Seattle, Washington, comes Emmerr Booker who has spent four years convincing us that salmon are not the only products of the State of Washington. Besides singing, Booker has spent much time trying to revive the Romantic movement, not in Literature, but in Miner College. Thomas Garnett, our blind comrade, has upheld the standards of the School. Besides this he has tried to regain his sight to view the beauty of Virginia Union's Co-eds. "Hike" Gordon, our poet, hails from New Orleans, and will not return until the Sheriff dies. Hike's poetry is suitable for all occasions. Another product of Louisiana is John Bunyan Eubanks, not a writer of Pilgrim's Progress, but a scholar and Gentleman. "Mood Indigo" Johnson, comes from the State of Florida. He still maintains his practice of basking in the sunshine with "les jolie femmes" in his rumble seat. Dick Johnson hails from Baltimore, Maryland, via Ohio State University. He has inherited Penn's place as the rural pastor.

With this gang working together, Al Capone and his cohorts won't have a chance until 1945 at least.

IT was a promising group that entered the Nursing School the year of 1931-32. The strict military discipline, and routine the Probationers, known popularly as "Probies," have to follow seemed as nothing to these girls determined to be nurses, and they attained honors in all the fields open to them.

Mildred James, Carrie Page, Magnolia Woolridge, Anna Mae Chapman, Dorothy Campbell and many others with special aptitude in certain subjects attained scholastic honors. Musical ability was shown by Hazel McCalla, Helen Harvey, Bernice Jones, Marion Ridgeley and others, who became regular members of the Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Levington Smith.

Among the Seniors who were members of the "Bronze Masque," the dramatic club were Mamie Hale, Clara Blake, Bernice Jones, Nannie Mae Brown, Edith Campbell, Dorothy Campbell, Almiria Plaskett, Virginia Moseley, and Evalyn Skipper.

One of the highlights of the Freshman year was the Freshman Tea. The Freshman Prom was also a success and the event will long be remembered. The Probies ardor was slightly dampened by having to peer through the bannisters at the Senior Prom, but they managed to survive.

At last Juniors! It is during this time when responsibilities are heavy and growing heavier as we approach the goal. The donning of black bands and newly acquired dignity, the turning point in our school life, and the recognition of our status, all these things aided greatly in evening up the score made so shaky by the addition of greater duties. Even the weight of our first Night Duty seemed trifling besides these.

Now is the time for the peak of our social success as leading officers of the Training School. Mamie Hale gained one of our highest honors as president of the Student Organization, and member of the Student Council. Besides this she proved her business efficiency as the Business Manager of the Hemostat. Dorothy Campbell, as Editor-in-Chief of the Hemostat comes to the front, and Clara Blake made "headlines" as "Miss Freedmen" in a popularity contest. Jereline Miller attained the most sought for position of the year as president of the Senior Class and a member of the Student Council, with Elizabeth Gray, Vice-President, Bernice Jones, Secretary, and Carrie Page, Treasurer. Lucia Rapley also has the distinction of being a member of the Student Council.

Basketball enjoyed a successful season with Evalyn H. Skipper, popularly known as "Skippy," as Captain.

The Class of '34 sent as delegates to the Biennial Convention Mayche Eggleton, Mamie O. Hale, Magnolia Woolridge and Sudell Brown. The enviable few who have attained perfect or almost perfect records as far as daily duty is concerned, are led by Elizabeth Gray, who has not lost one hour off duty in the entire three years, followed closely by Dorothy Campbell, Hortense Robinson and Magnolia Woolridge.

A history of the Class of '34 would not be complete without dedicating a few lines, at least, to our supervisors and teachers. The Class entered with its educational advisor, Miss Geneva Massey, and for her it has great esteem. To Miss May, the Superintendent of Nurses, Miss Colbourne, the Assistant Superintendent and Mrs. Seymour and Mrs. Glenn the Class extends heartfelt thanks for their efforts to aid. Because of their aid, to what great heights shall 1934 ascend? Time alone will tell!

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

THE contributions of the Senior Class to the Alma Mater are far too many to be either recited or discussed within the limited space of a year book history. Four years of college-life on the Hill have been typified by a great spirit of loyalty which will not be forgotten by the school or the class for many years to come. During this time, Howard has become a living spirit in the hearts of the members of the class, a spirit which will live on and on in the future activities of each man and woman.

As Freshmen, full of hopes and dreams, the Class of '34 was one of the most active groups in the campus life. Under the leadership of Alvin Wood, many programs were successfully carried out. The members of the class, cemented together by a feeling of loyalty for the class and Alma Mater, gained a reputation which it has kept through the subsequent years.

Sophomore year found a number of the original class missing and equally as many newcomers present. The new members entered enthusiastically into the class activities and not one important happening found the Class of '34 missing from its roll call. In Freshman-Sophomore events the class made itself one of the few to win these events for two successive years. All problems, serious and frivolous, found willing champions among the Sophomores. Alvin Wood, Audrey Moseley, Billy Brooks, Harrison Hobson, Grace Wilkinson, and Marguerite Walker, along with many others stood out in all activities. 1931 was a gala year in our history.

Under a new president, the class started its Junior year with the intention of repeating its achievements. The guardianship of the Class of '36 was an active project with Robert Williams and "Kitty" Middleton at the front in defense of the "paenies." The regular program was interrupted in the middle of the year by the loss of the class banner which was found after much excitement and speculation. Happy days of fraternity politics, dances, classes and athletics followed. 1934 was again a leader in everything.

The opening of our Senior year with classmates as leaders in key positions brought a feeling of finality to the class. It was almost all over. This feeling, however, did not prevent the group from putting forth its best efforts. Bigger, more serious problems confronted us. The lower classmen looked to the Seniors for advice. In all fights for student rights the Seniors were the first to grasp the torch. The achievements of the class may be best summarized by the names of those who won achievement keys. They were Cleveland Jackson, Robert Williams, Harrison Hobson, Alvin Wood, Marguerite Walker, Kelly Goodwin, and William Brooks. Eight men led by Billy Brooks entered the men's achievement fraternity, Alpha Sigma, and many other Seniors won recognition in Kappa Mu and the Historical Society. At last the year book got under way. "Bob" Allen and "Baldy" Turner have worked earnestly to make this final stroke of the Class of '34 a successful one.

It has been said that Howard students have no emotions or feelings such as enthusiasm, loyalty, and regret. They are accused of being sophisticated puppets. We, as Seniors, look back over our career in Howard. From frightened green paenies, through the "foolish worldly-wise" stage of the Sophomore, into the "realization of responsibility" state of the Junior, and finally up to the wiser, graver if somewhat disillusioned condition of Seniors, we all have had our ups and downs and have experienced the whole gamut of emotions.

If we have any human qualities at all, it is impossible for anyone of us to stand up and truthfully say "I'll be glad to get away from here for good." We will remember the classes, the dances, the teachers, the times both good and bad in the Main Building, in Clark Hall, the dormitories; we will remember the friends, enemies, sweethearts; the fraternities, sororities, organizations, games, won and lost. We will remember the campus as it was, both beautiful and ugly as went the seasons. We will remember these things faintly in themselves, but fused together they will represent to us the "spirit" of our Alma Mater, that something, that though intangible, will forever bind us to her.

What the future holds for us, we can only surmise but the lessons of loyalty and love which we have learned at Howard make it easier to predict our fate. With this faith as a guiding light, success alone can be our lot. The battle cry of the Class of '34, now and forever—"Hail to Old Howard."

JUNIOR

*J*UST about three years ago Howard University acted as host to a Freshman Class which was destined to make an impression for all times upon its record of accomplishments. The Class of '35 came in a time of depression, and this was, indeed, enough to show that it possessed some inherent qualities which defied any external obstacles to achieving its mark.

These three years so happily spent in our Alma Mater which has become so dear to us have more than proved the potentialities which reached realization in such an ideal collegiate environment. Ever since that class meeting in our Freshman year when we decided to advance under the colors of purple and gold we have progressed as a unit. As one member to another, we have offered our sincere congratulations in time of victory and offered our sympathy in time of defeat. Each year that brings our parting, we have experienced an anxious period of waiting during the summer months in order that we might again renew those pleasant associations. If this history partakes of a sad note it is because the writer realizes that this happy pasttime of renewing old friendships on the opening day of school shall soon reach its end. Our meetings after that shall be few and far apart, but yet our spirit of unity shall recompense for any physical separation.

In the realm of scholastic endeavor as well as extra-curricula activities the Class of '35 has been true to the ideals of Howard. The individual members have used the activities of the campus to put into productive channels their various talents. Sports, dramatics, and debating can boast of our contribution to their programs.

The basketball team marched triumphantly to a C. I. A. A. championship under the leadership of Frank Pinn, Captain, and Granville Warner as Manager for the second time. Able support was rendered the championship team by Emerson Parker, Laynard Holliman, James Bayton, and Charles Wesley.

The football team having successfully acquitted itself in the annual Thanksgiving Day Classic with Lincoln faces a hopeful year in 1934 headed by the co-captains Ewart McGruder and Joseph Coles. Martin Sutler, James Jarrett, Laynard Holliman, and Joseph Sewell were in the thick of the fight.

The track team will soon offer an outlet for the ability of Edward Plummer, Louis Aikens, and William Bruce.

Tennis is looking forward to a rather extensive season with the completion of our new courts, and we trust that "Prexy" Weekes will be able to hold his own.

And we don't want to forget our cheer leader, Carlton Goodlett, who has completed another year at that most difficult task of wringing out cheers from an interested but silent student body.

The Dramatic Society has used to advantage the talent of Juanita Smackum, Rose Butcher, Owen Plummer, William Bruce, and John Pinkett.

The Kappa Sigma Debating Society has just completed an unusually impressive though abbreviated schedule under the presidency of Leroy Weekes. The three-man debating team, making the extended tour through the South, monopolized the services of Carlton B. Goodlett and Leroy Weekes, both of whom have been awarded keys by the debating society.

As an appropriate climax to this varied extra-curricula program, the Student Council awarded its achievement key for exceptional participation in such activities to three members of our class who were able to amass during the short period of three years eighty points on the Student Council Achievement Chart. Among this number were Carlton B. Goodlett, Kenneth B. Clark, Leroy R. Weekes, and Angella Turpeau.

Kappa Mu, Howard's Honorary Society for scholastic attainment, inducted at its last exercise four Juniors who were able to maintain an average of ninety or better during their three years to satisfy the Junior entrance qualification. This number was made up of Valerie Justiss, Rose Butcher, Martin Sutler, and Ulysess Lee who will be president for next year.

As we look back upon our Freshman, Sophomore and now Junior years, we cannot help but utter a sigh of regret for not being able to live them over again and present an even more enviable record to our Alma Mater. But with constant gaze upon the future and only a glance to the past we trust that the days to come shall offer the Class of '35 an even more fertile field for accomplishment than did our term at Howard University. If such be the case, Howard can feel that she has fulfilled her obligation to the Class of '35.

*T*HE Class of '36 entered Howard as one of the most enthusiastic classes the University has seen. This energetic lasting class spirit has prevailed throughout the Freshman and Sophomore years.

The first year was somewhat trying, but the two sets of officers for the two respective quarters efficiently led the class through its troubles. Officers for the first quarter were: Schuyler Eldridge, President; Elvin Lee, Vice-President; Theresa McCullough, Secretary; Winston Mardis, Treasurer; Thomas McCoy, Sergeant-at-Arms; and Charles Williams, Chaplain.

The next quarter saw Elihu Morson as President; Jane Watson, Vice-President; Laurette Wallace, Secretary; and Edward Bolden, Treasurer. A Social Committee was appointed with C. Waldo Scott as Chairman, Catherine Bonner, Ruth Brannum, Laurette Wallace, Dolores Williams, Frank Reeves, Robert McDaniel, Edward Bolden, and Schuyler Eldridge. The principal social event for the year was the annual Freshman Prom, which was decidedly the most outstanding of class proms for that season. During this quarter Robert McDaniel and Frank Reeves were the Freshman representatives to the Student Council.

With the coming of spring the present officers were elected for the Sophomore year, and Laurette Wallace and Frank Reeves chosen as Student Council representatives.

In the beginning of the Sophomore year, the Class of '36 encountered the Freshmen in the annual Freshman-Sophomore Rush. Losing the events of the Rush, the Sophomores retaliated by defeating the Freshmen 7 to 2 in the football game and carrying all honors for the debate.

CLASS

Not satisfied with merely defeating the Freshmen in football, the Sophomores became campus champions by defeating the Juniors 20 to 0.

The annual Prom was an overwhelming success, featuring many novelties never witnessed before in class proms, among which was the crowning of "Miss Sophomore," the beautiful Miss Lucille Davis being elected to this title. Heading the Prom were James Washington and William H. Barnes, as chairmen of the social and decorations committees, respectively. Other members of the Social Committee were: Laurette Wallace, Catherine Bonner, Flaxie Pinkett, Thelma Dale, John Butcher, Frank Reeves, Robert McDaniel, George Thomas, and Elihu Morson; members of the Decorations Committee: Elvin Lee, Ruth Lewis, Mazie Ridgely, Wilson Savoy, and Robert Taylor.

Members of the Sophomore class are extremely active in extra-curricular activities of all types, in many of which the Sophomores hold the leading offices or positions.

FRESHMAN

*F*ROM the rockbound coast of New England to the sunny shores of California we came, a group of frightened, young and recently graduated "high school-ites." We were extended the usual welcome and stuck under the traditional green hats and Howard had another Freshman Class. We were immediately impressed by the "Howard Spirit" displayed on the campus by upper classmen and members of the faculty. Enthusiastically we began to do our part for our Alma Mater, dear old Howard.

We found at Howard a beautiful campus, modern equipment, and an excellent faculty with a splendid spirit of cooperation. We also found varied activities in which we might participate such as the Hilltop, the Student Council, the Howard Players, the Glee Club, and numerous Academic Clubs. Last but not least we found the Sophomores whose mission it was to make life miserable for us. We engaged in several spirited encounters with the Sophomores during which it was alleged that certain members of that class were maltreated. This was climaxed by our dramatic victory in the Freshman-Sophomore Rush. The debating team composed of Howard Coles, Mildred Rowland, and Azzie Taylor lost a close decision in the annual debate. The football team coached by E. G. McGruder gave the "Sophs" a tough fight for their 7 to 2 victory.

On the gridiron, on the soccer field, on the court, and in other sports members of the Freshman Class have won distinction for themselves. Bishop Hart, Lee Bridges, Humbert Howard, Berry Williams, Edgar Patterson, and Fred Batch were among the letter men on the football team. Joseph Parker, William Wynne, and Fred Douglass earned letters in soccer, while William "Willie" Wynne played a leading part in the success of the basketball team.

During the first semester Joseph Parker served as President, Mildred Jenkins as Vice-President, Mayme Gordon as Secretary, Grayer Williams as Treasurer, and Addison Rand as Chaplain. Officers for the present semester were elected on February 8, 1934. Joseph Parker was re-elected President, Jewell Peacock, Vice-President; Mayme Gordon, Secretary; and William Harps, Treasurer; Thornton Taylor, Sergeant-at-Arms; and Charles Gorman, Chaplain. O. Phillip Snowden was appointed Chairman of the Social Committee; Theodore Elliott, Chairman of the Publicity Committee; Douglass Branch, Chairman of the Constitution Committee; Mildred Jenkins, Chairman of the Banner Committee. Marion Martin and Phillip Randall are the representatives of the Freshman Class on the Student Council.

In January, we gave a reception in honor of the Union-Howard basketball players which was a huge success. A most satisfying banquet was served by the Social Committee. Charles Gorman was chairman of the Social Committee for the first semester.

The most gala event of the year was the Freshman Prom. The dining hall was very beautifully decorated for the occasion. The music was furnished by Tommie Myles and his Cotton Club Band. The Freshman Prom will be long remembered as the most outstanding event of the social year.

We of '37 found a part for us to play at Howard, and we have endeavored to play that part to the best of our ability. We have made a splendid start and we will strive to make a glorious finish. We wish to thank the Student Council and all who have helped us and have aided in making our Freshman days at Howard pleasant.

STUDENT COUNCIL

*T*HE Student Council, 1933-34, has attempted to give the student body of Howard University a "New Deal." Under the able leadership of Harrison D. Hobson, the Council has made a start to reform student government here at Howard University in an effort to place it finally on an ideal plane. This year's Council has made a significant initial spurt in beginning the progress which will eventually bring student government to its greatly desired goal, and it should be the aim of every succeeding Council to carry on the work already begun.

Among the highlights of this year's program we find that, under the supervision of the Student Council, seven State Clubs have been organized and are, at the present time, successfully operating; that the student body of Howard University was represented at the N. S. F. A. Convention which was held in Washington, D. C., December, 1933; that the Council, this year has entered into the fight to make Kappa Mu Honorary Society a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa; and finally that for the first time in many years the Council has put on a revival, featuring the "good old Howard Spirit."

Perhaps the revival of the Howard Spirit has been due to the fact that this year, the Council has a "cheer-leading president," who, with his eager enthusiasm has brought inspiration into the group—an inspiration which has permeated the entire student body. At the beginning of the year the Student Council, with its same enthusiasm set out to establish a sincere cooperation with the students at large in order to promote student opinion and leadership.

Two outstanding student activities of the year have been the bi-annual Student Council receptions to student presidents and leaders. In these meetings representative student leaders have come together to thrash out student problems and difficulties in an effort to better student government at Howard University. Some of the Council's most valuable suggestions have come from comments and criticisms made in these meetings.

This year the Student Council hopes to make contact with the leading minds of faculty members and administrative officers in an effort to determine their opinion of just what student government should be. When this has been accomplished, suggestions will be set down outlining the ideal student government as seen by outstanding leaders, where this year's Council has succeeded and where it has failed, and these suggestions will be presented to the newly-elected president in an effort to aid him to attain an ideal student government here at Howard University.

"THE HILLTOP"

STARTING the year with an optimistic plan for steady improvement as a weekly paper, The Hilltop, Howard's sole undergraduate paper, met with many difficulties before the year was half over.

As usual, financial difficulties came first. Before the end of the first semester, the paper's appearance became steadily more infrequent. To counteract this problem, the size of the paper was cut for the second semester, and a rigid budget stressing economy was drawn up.

Before the second week of the new semester, the problem of financial control came up. The Treasurer of the University asserted his right to negotiate contracts for the paper and, later, to supervise the advertising accounts. Believing that students should be allowed the right to exercise full control over student organizations, The Hilltop staff resisted this move. The fight came to the notice of the general student body with the resignations of the editor-in-chief and of associate editor.

At this writing, the problem has not yet been solved; the paper has not yet reappeared. The Student Council has unsuccessfully, however, attempted to arbitrate, but there is no indication of what the outcome will be.

Among the successful campaigns conducted by The Hilltop during the year was the one against pseudo-sophistication. As a result of this program, a hilarious Barn Dance was given by the Council, students cheered at football games and just before the Lincoln game, spirit on the campus was greater than it had been in many years. Throughout the year, The Hilltop has championed student rights against the encroachments of administrators. It has also backed the projects of the Council and other student organizations and has encouraged the formation of new and more extensive student organizations.

STYLUS LITERARY SOCIETY

SINCE 1916 the Stylus has tried to maintain the high ideal set by its founders, Dr. Alain Locke and Dr. Montgomery Gregory. It has for its aims the stimulation of original composition in art, literature, and music. Members are selected by competitions, held every autumn and spring. Graduate students and faculty members, as well as undergraduates, may enter these contests. For several years the publication of the literary contributions has been suspended; this spring, under the leadership of the scribe, Leighla Whipper, a highly commendable magazine has been issued.

Every woman student of Howard University by virtue of her connection with the institution automatically becomes a member of the Women's League. The purpose of this body is to stimulate wholesome constructive thinking relative to the problems that naturally arise on a co-educational campus; to broaden the sympathies of the women so as to include the humanitarian or social service fields; to foster a number of activities that best give expression to the multilateral interests of the women; to make more effective co-operation with other organizations of the campus betterment possible; and to act as a cultural medium.

This organization is the Student Government Body on the women's campus. It has various functions which may be designated as follows:

1. To regulate all matters pertaining to the student life of those residents of the dormitories which do not fall under the immediate jurisdiction of the faculty.
2. To further in many ways the spirit of unity of the women of the dormitories.
3. To increase their sense of responsibility towards each other.
4. To be a medium by which the social standard of the University can be made and kept high.

THE Howard Players has enjoyed a glorious season and is looking forward to an even more splendid conclusion. The year opened with a rush of new talent. Fortune smiled on the group even more widely, however, for its former director, Professor Sterling A. Brown, reassumed his position this year.

The club presented its first performance on January 19th. The program consisted of three one-act plays: Backstage, by Babette Hughes; an interesting comedy which afforded an outlet for newcomers and an opportunity to display their dancing talent; The Seer, by James W. Butcher; a comedy in which the acting of Thomas Reid, Herman Richards, and Flaxie Pinkett was excellent, and The Monkey's Paw, by W. W. Jacobs and L. N. Parker with John Harris and Juanita Smackum acquitting themselves well.

On February 17th, the Howard Players presented the Union Players in The Father of August Strindberg as an exchange program of the Negro Inter-Collegiate Dramatic Association. The work of James Jackson, Jr., and Vanniesa Reed deserved commendation.

In like manner, the Howard Players presented Ibsen's Hedda Gabbler at Virginia State. Ada Fisher played the lead; Thea Elvsted was done by Audrey E. Moseley; Judge Brack by Stanleigh Murrell, Eilert Lovborg by Leonard Hayes, George Tesman by Bernard Ruffin; Aunt Julia by Angella Turpeau and Berta by Marian Martin.

Howard presented in the N. I. D. A. tournament at Virginia State College, The Giant's Stair, by Wilbur Daniel Steele. In this mystery, honors go to Flaxie Pinkett, Junita Smackum, and Herman Richards. Nat Turner, by Randolph Edmonds, presented by the Morgan Players won first prize. Next year the tournament will be held at Howard University.

The Howard Players plans a tour to points North. Their next program in Washington is to be a group of one-act plays now in rehearsal. For commencement play they propose to present Hedda Gabbler. A gala banquet will end the year.

Profiting from mistakes and triumphs of the year they say—"On with the show!"

KAPPA SIGMA DEBATING SOCIETY

DEBATING at Howard University is carried on by members of Kappa Sigma Society, with Prof. G. D. Lipscombe, Coach.

From its beginning, Kappa Sigma has had a three - fold purpose: To have its members thoroughly understand the essentials of argumentation and logic; to allow its members to appreciate all social, economic and political questions, and to develop the students in the art of public speaking.

Kappa Sigma fills a very definite need in the college program and serves as excellent training for future parliamentarians.

The season of 1934 was a very interesting one, but was shortened because of the inability of opposing teams to meet the proposed schedule.

New York University and Virginia State College were guests of Kappa Sigma on the Howard Campus, and the Howard team was the guest of Knoxville College, Talladega College and a return engagement at Virginia State College, on its annual Southern tour which lasted over a period of ten days.

As in former years, the team this year was coached by Prof. Lipscombe of the Department of English, and managed by Mr. Gustave Auzenne, Assistant Treasurer of the University. A deal of credit is due both of them for the team's success.

Injecting the spirit of leadership into its ranks, Kappa Sigma Debating Society goes forward, developing logical thinking minds and ever-ready masters of the platform.

THE Kappa Mu Honorary Society was founded by a small group of students on October 31, 1923. Its primary purpose is to stimulate sound scholarship. The secondary purpose is to confer on those students who have proved themselves outstanding scholastically a badge of distinction and honor. Eventually the society hopes to become a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Those Seniors who have maintained an average of eighty-five through the first semester of their Senior year, and those Juniors who have maintained an average of ninety through the first half of their Junior year are eligible for membership. No person who has not been in residence at the University for three years, however, is eligible. That Junior who enters with the highest average automatically becomes the President and is awarded a silver loving-cup donated by the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. The winner this year was Ulysses Lee.

This year Kappa Mu opened the year with a reception for the new students. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Charles H. Wesley of the Department of History. A program of music was given also. During the year the society has concerned itself with membership in Phi Beta Kappa and the general apathy of the student body toward Honor Day, the Liberal Art's Dean's List, Kappa Mu and all things scholastic.

The annual Kappa Mu Induction, at which twenty-eight new members were taken in, was held in the chapel on April 18th. The speaker was Dr. Vernon A. Wilkerson, of the Medical School. The day was very appropriately ended with a beautiful banquet in Prudence Crandall Hall.

"The Virginians" organized at Howard originally as the Tidewater Club several years ago. It became inactive for the year 1932-33, but was reorganized this year as a State Club and membership extended to include students from West Virginia. Interest has increased from time to time so that now there are approximately twenty or twenty-five active members. The club at present has several projects on foot, and promises to make valuable contributions to the cause of State Clubs at Howard University.

Pennsylvania State Club

For the past six years the Pennsylvania State Club has been rather dormant. Due to the efforts of the Student Council, the club became active again, and at a meeting held in the Student Council office, elected the following officers:

THOMAS REID.....	President
DORIS DANIELS.....	Vice-President
MARIE WALL.....	Secretary
CLINTON PARKER.....	Treasurer

Since the reorganization of the club, regular meetings have been held and a reception given. With the continued aid of Sergeant Smith, founder of the club, we hope to do bigger and better things. Let's go, Pennsylvanians!

At the beginning of the academic year 1933-34 the students from New Jersey revived the New Jersey State Club. The following officers were elected: Ernest Reed, President; William M. Clemons, Vice-President; Louise Buncamper, Secretary; Ulysses Campbell, Treasurer; Sterling Robinson, Publicity Director; Joseph Parker, Chairman of the Social Committee; and William Clemons, Chairman of the Constitution Committee.

In addition to sponsoring programs that will facilitate Social recreation among the students from the State, the Jerseyites plan to carry on during the vacation months while they are home.

Choir

Few University Choral organizations have ever achieved the immense popularity which the Howard University Choir has won in the cities of the United States. The choir is composed of fifty odd singers—men and women—under the direction of Miss Lulu Vere Childers, who founded the first University Choir some twenty-eight years ago. The choir gets its high musical standard, excellency and success from the indefatigable efforts of its founder, who from small beginnings has lifted it to the important place it holds in the music world of today.

Outstanding events in the career of the University Choir are the annual renditions of the "Messiah," "Elijah," "Hiawatha" and Dubois' "Seven Last Words of Christ." These presentations have been tremendous successes.

The school year of 1933-34 opened to find us confronted with the vital question of whether the College of Applied Science should be closed. However, with the earnest cooperation of the members of the National Technical Association, the Society succeeded in seeing to it that the College of Applied Science was continued.

A banquet was given on Thursday, November 2, 1933, in honor of the members of the National Technical Association who were the Committee that labored assiduously in finding and presenting data to the Trustee Board of Howard University in order that it might reconsider its decision of closing the College of Applied Science. The officers of the Engineering Society and all the Senior members, in relinquishing their positions, to their successors, enjoin them to keep aloft the banner of high scholarship characteristic of the Engineering School, and to strive daily for greater cooperation among themselves and a harmonious dealing with their professors and the entire faculty.

Commerce Club

The Commerce Club formerly called the Chamber of Commerce and organized in 1922, is an organization composed of students in the School of Commerce and Finance.

Because of the increasing complexity of the economic system, and because of the limited source of information, it aims to give its members practical and theoretical knowledge in the fields of business and economic enterprises through its affiliation with business men actually engaged in business activities.

The club being anxious to encourage scholarship within its ranks, recently voted to award to members holding "B" averages throughout their Junior and Senior years the key of distinction of the club.

The officers of the club are: A. Harry Turner, Jr., President; William S. Thompson, Vice-President; Emmett Harmon, Secretary; Wesley Franklin, Treasurer; Joseph Parker, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Honorary members are: Jesse W. Lewis, Head of the School of Commerce and Finance; Gustav Auzenne, Jr., Assistant Treasurer of the University; H. N. Fitzhugh, Instructor of Accountancy; William B. West, Dean of Men and Instructor in Department of Commerce and Finance.

The Main Library of Howard University houses over 61,000 volumes; 3,000 of these volumes and 3,000 pamphlets belong to the Negro collection known as the Moorland Foundation.

The Departmental Libraries contain 5,000 volumes collectively, and the Law Library houses 14,411 volumes.

The University Library subscribes to 312 periodicals on scientific, educational, and literary subjects. Most of these periodicals are bound each year.

The Library Staff is composed of six professionally trained librarians, one non-professional assistant, one secretary-clerk, fourteen student assistants, and eleven helpers working temporarily under the Federal Emergency Relief Aids for college students.

The Main Library is divided into a Catalog Department, Order Department, Reference and Circulation Department, and the special collection of American Negro Literature.

The Library is open fourteen hours daily, excepting Sundays and holidays.

The Daubers Art Club aims to develop the appreciation for art which cannot be carried on fully in the class room. This interest is developed through constant contact with both contemporary art and artists, and ancient masters and masterpieces. The club also makes frequent visits to museums, art galleries, and other centers of interest.

Roster: Wynona Wing, Florence Phillips, Catherine Taylor, Wordell Taylor, Fred Aden, Albert Carter, Marguerite Talbert, Bernard Ruffin, Aline King, Mrs. Smith, Louise Cummings, Melrose Carrington, Humbert Howard, Francis Gibson and Louise Johnson.

Members of the faculty are: Professor J. V. Herring, Head of the Department; James A. Porter, Lois M. Jones, and James L. Wells.

The University Ushers were organized during the fall quarter of the year 1932 in order that they might render more efficient service. The meetings are held monthly and are the occasion for many interesting discussions. The activities of the year are climaxed by a colorful banquet. For the type of work done by the ushers, much credit must be given to Reverend Howard Thurman.

COGNAC, champagne, chartreuse, sherry, madeira, malaga, and perrier meant nothing to the Teetotalers before this Repeal era. They still, by reason of import tax and sales prices, keep the Teetotalers in ignorance. But these readers of novels of languishing wastrels covering the Riveria felt that they were missing something, so they banded together to pool the common fund so as to be able to partake of ambrosian joys. And were they mistaken?

First: The money procured when divided pro-rata would have simply produced an appetizer.

Secondly: The club was threatened by the Dean with complete annihilation for even looking at any one of the intended samples.

Thirdly: The club had not the price of cognac, champagne, or chartreuse.

And so the Teetotalers have welcomed the coming of spring—sweet spring, with its sprouting of dandelions and promise of dandelion wines—if the club can find a jar for brewing.

Doomed by circumstances to a life of audity, the Teetotalers have applied to the W. C. T. U. for admission as a men's auxiliary.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

DURING the year 1933-34, the Historical Society has presented some of the most distinctive programs on the campus.

The society, which is one of the largest academic associations on the campus, has since its "Renaissance" of 1931, steadily progressed until today it is one of the largest clubs at Howard. Having as its purpose the furthering of interest in and benefits derived from the historical studies, the club is open to all who are interested in pure history. As sponsor of numerous programs, the society has become well known in historical circles.

Outstanding was the number of noted speakers brought to the campus by the group. Dr. Kelly Miller, Dr. Abram Harris, Sterling Brown, Harold Lewis, Vernon Johns, John P. Davis, Dr. Alain Locke, Dr. Charles H. Wesley, Miss Sadie Daniel, Miss Mary P. Burrell, and Dean Lucy D. Slow were among the speakers of the society during the year.

Negro History Week, February 11 to 16, was the high-point of the year's activities. A unique oratorical contest, won by Howard Coles, the awarding of the Historical Society keys to Ella Battle, Carrie Watson, Harry Piersawl, Elsie Cain, James Jarret, and Frank Pinn; a retreat to Barry Farms and Frederick Douglass's home and several addresses featured the celebration.

The officers of the society are: Robert L. Williams, President; Marie Fuller, Vice-President; Walter Fisher, Corresponding Secretary; Marian Pettiford, Recording Secretary; Howard Cole, Treasurer; Granville Warner, Publicity Director; Harry Piersawl, Sergeant-at-Arms; James Jarrett, Historian; Charles Fields, Chaplain. Mr. J. B. Browning is the faculty advisor for the club.

The Historical Society News, a small quarterly publication of the Historical Society, offered during the year an opportunity for all undergraduates desiring to do historical writing. It sponsored an Essay Contest, which, at writing, has not been concluded. The editors of the paper are: Ulysses Lee, Editor; J. Walter Fisher, and Harry Piersawl, Associate Editors.

CLARK HALL COUNCIL

The men living in Clark Hall felt the need for some type of organization among the men who live on the campus which would create more spirit. To fulfill this need the Clark Hall Council was set up during the winter quarter of 1932. The aims of the Council are:

1. To promote a greater spirit of fellowship on the campus.
2. To promote a more cultural atmosphere in Clark Hall.
3. To foster high scholarship.
4. To create a closer faculty-student relationship.
5. To aid in Freshman orientation.
6. To foster intramural athletics.

This year's program was very extensive. Among the highlights were the following:

The first annual faculty-student smoker attended by fifty or more male faculty members; the next was a Talent Night making use of the wealth of talent present in Clark Hall; numerous dances and smokers were also sponsored and the climax of the program was the Howard Stag Night held in the gymnasium. The last event consisted of athletic contests, short speeches, and free eats.

The Clark Hall Council has finished up a fine year and is looking forward to an even larger list of activities next year.

R. O. T. C.

*T*HE R.O.T.C. Unit was organized at this institution on February 1, 1919, its first P.M.S. and T. being Major M. T. Dean, Infantry, U. S. Army. Since that date there have been various changes and replacements of Regular Army personnel due to War Department orders. Captain E. A. Kimball, Infantry, U. S. Army, who is now on his third year of duty at this school, is the Head of the Department of Military Science and Tactics. First Lieutenant H. F. McG. Matthews, Infantry, U. S. Army, who completes his four year detail at the end of this summer's training camp, is to be replaced by First Lieutenant S. G. Conley, Infantry, U. S. Army. Lieutenant Conley is now on duty with the 34th U. S. Infantry at Fort Mead, Maryland. Other Regular Army instructors on duty in the department are Warrant Officer Roscoe Clayton, Staff Sergeant D. A. Smith and Sergeant J. J. Brice.

The object of the R.O.T.C. is primarily to qualify students for positions of leadership in time of national emergency. The complete course comprises four years, a basic course of two years and an advanced course of two years. A systematic and standardized method of instruction prescribed by the War Department is carried out in detail by the instructors in the various military subjects. A student who has successfully completed all the courses, including a six weeks' attendance at the summer training camp, is rewarded with a commission as a second lieutenant of Infantry, O.R.C.

The unit is organized into a Provisional Infantry Battalion, consisting of a Battalion Headquarters, two rifle companies and a band. Major C. O. Lewis, Jr., commands the battalion. Officers of his staff are First Lieutenant J. S. Chandler, First Lieutenant L. W. Crichlow and First Lieutenant R. W. Johnson. The commanding officers of the two rifle companies are Captain W. D. Brooks, Company "A" and Captain W. C. Hueston, Company "B."

In the past years the summer training camp has been held at Fort Hunt, Virginia. This summer, however, it has been changed to Fort Washington, Maryland. The period of the camp will be from June 9th to July 20th. All advanced students from this institution as well as those from Wilberforce University will attend the camp. At the completion of the camp all successful second advanced students will receive their commissions in the Organized Reserve Corps.

The Sabers

The Saber is composed of Juniors and Seniors who are Cadet officers in the Advanced R.O.T.C. unit at Howard University. These Cadet officers have satisfactorily completed two or more years of military training at this institution in addition to the enjoyable six weeks of camp life at some training camp chosen. In July, Seniors will be commissioned Second Lieutenants; Infantry Officers' Reserve Corps of the United States.

Announcement of the establishment of this R.O.T.C. unit at Howard University was made January 29, 1919. Capt. C. C. Johnson, Infantry, was the first professor of Military Science and Tactics. Captain Johnson was soon succeeded on March 18, 1919, by Major Milton T. Dean, who in turn was succeeded by Colonel E. N. Howard in 1922.

The aim of the Sabers is to give a sufficient amount of military training to prepare college men to perform intelligently the duties of commissioned officers in the military forces of the United States, and to enable them to meet the military obligations of citizenship with the least interference to the civil career.

During the past year the Rifle Team, composed of men in the basic and advanced courses of R.O.T.C., competed in several matches with various colleges and universities throughout the United States. The team also competed in the Hearst Trophy Match. The varsity team was headed by J. Harold Nickens, Captain, and composed of Harry Turner, Nathaniel Wright, Jack Armstead, Robert Wilson, and Wilton Hines.

Alpha Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority was founded in 1913 on the campus of Howard University. The sorority stands for scholarship, character, and finer womanhood.

The women of Alpha Chapter in upholding the ideals of Delta have gone out and made their places in the world. Those who now compose the chapter have shown evidence of their wisdom and integrity for they have been selected by their fellow Howardities to hold many of the most responsible offices on the campus. Examples of this are Carrie Watson, President of House Government Committee; Adelaide Charles, President of the Y. W. C. A.; Marguerite Walker, Associate Editor of the Hilltop, and Vice-President of the Howard Players. In the Howard Players Ada Fisher took the leading part in Hedda Gabler, the play of the year. In addition to this the students have chosen Grace Wilkinson as May Queen. Delta is also well represented in Kappa Mu Honorary Society having eight members in that organization.

THE PYRAMID CLUB

The Pyramid Club is the pledge club of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and consists of those Freshmen and upperclassmen who have shown that they possess some of the ideals for which the sorority stands. *A*S we glance over the pages of history, dotted with outstanding epochs, we are carried back to November 17, 1911, when the first Greek-letter fraternity, in a Negro institution, was established at Howard University and called Omega Psi Phi.

Visualizing the need of a fraternity movement for the Negro student, Brothers Oscar J. Cooper, Edgar A. Love, and Frank Coleman, in company with Ernest E. Just, founders of the Omega Fraternity, blazed the trail for the organization of additional Greek-letter organizations among Negroes.

Filled with the belief that, manhood, scholarship, uplift, and perseverance should predominate any useful organization, the founders of Omega adopted these as the four cardinal principles of the fraternity.

Today, as those living founders look back over the twenty-three years of the fraternity's existence, and see more than three thousand stalwart sons spread throughout ninety-two chapters, carrying on the work which they so nobly advanced, and as they glance over the membership roster and their eyes fall on such personages as Col. Charles Young, Roland Hayes, Dr. Carter G. Woodson; and as they see those three-thousand sons following the leadership of that man of men, that prince of princes, Lieutenant Lawrence A. Oxley, is it a wonder that they should carry to their graves the satisfaction of a work well done?

THE LAMPODAS CLUB

*T*HE Lampodas Club is composed of a group of twenty-two young men who have pledged themselves to support the four cardinal principles of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity: Manhood, Scholarship, Perseverance, and Uplift. The club has had a year of achievement under the capable leadership of its President, Ulysses Campbell. The other officers of the club are William Wynne, Vice-President; Phillip Randall, Secretary; Joseph Parker, Treasurer; Henry Robinson, Chaplain; and Bishop Hart, Sergeant-at-Arms.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI

*K*APPA ALPHA PSI Fraternity was founded at the University of Indiana on January 5, 1911. It had its birth in a unique conception, and it was the accomplished aim of the founders to organize a Greek letter fraternity wherein all the ideals of true brotherhood, scholarship, culture, patriotism and honor are realized and prevail. The fraternity has been a national organization since its founding, and there are now scattered in the leading universities over the United States more than fifty active chapters. It has been the policy of the national organization to place chapters only where there is the sanction and the cooperation of the college authorities.

The fraternity ably supported its national movements. The Housing Fund is by far the most ambitious program that any fraternity has undertaken, and will eventually result in adequate housing facilities for the chapters. Through its "Guide Right Movement" the fraternity has assisted many high school men to choose the right form of training which will point them to successful preparation for their life work. They are assisted in adjusting themselves to whatever occupation seems best fitted for their individual case. The Scholarship and Research Loan Fund enables the worthy of the fraternity to obtain knowledge that will fit them to give to the world the fruits of productive scholarship.

The national organization publishes each month a magazine, the Kappa Alpha Psi Journal. It is the only Negro college fraternity monthly in the world, and compares equally with any such similar publication. To those members who have achieved high distinction, its highest honor—the Laurel Wreath—is awarded. Kappa men are prominent in the social, business and professional life of America.

The Xi Chapter of the fraternity, located at Howard University, was founded on December 27, 1920, and had as its charter members seventeen of the outstanding students at that time. Since its foundation, Xi Chapter has contributed from its membership men who have been active in every phase of student activity in the University.

THE SCROLLER CLUB

THE Scroller Club, composed of pledges of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, was organized in 1919 at Ohio State University. At first the clubs were organized in certain sections of the country, but now it is a national organization.

The Scroller Club is active at Howard University, and participates in all extra-curricula activities. The Scroller Club of the year 1924-25 presented a cup to the Freshman gaining the highest scholastic average for the year to inspire students to higher ideals and higher scholastic attainments. This cup has been handed down from year to year. This principle is one upon which Kappa Alpha Psi is built.

Next the Scrollers of the year 1929-30 presented the president of Kappa Mu Honorary Society a loving cup. The president of Kappa Mu is the Junior with the highest scholastic standing for his term of residence. The Scrollers have also been active in basketball, football, and track.

"To Sigma"

With arms outstretched to garner in her fold,
 Ambitious souls who aim beyond the stars
 For knowledge unalloyed by man or gold,
 Fair Sigma beckons freely without bars;
 Her kindly bosom quenches thoughts of hate.
 Her ivied head with dreams of peace and love,
 Reclaims mankind in spite of glee of fate—Transforms this earth to paradise above.
 Give every son of thine the righteous will to fight with trenchant zeal the wiles of man; let every Sigma of this sacred hill bolster the chain of love that fruits this span; and as we wend our way through life or death by Thee, humanity shall have rebirth!

FOOTBALL

FOOTBALL, despite mediocrity, undoubtedly remains the most popular sport at Howard University.

Despite four very prosaic years of the sport preceeding the 1933 season Bison supporters began early in the season to evidence their support for the Hilltop eleven. As the afternoons grew shorter during the pre-season practices the sidelines filled more and more with team supporters watching daily drills.

Coach Tom Verdell began the season with several star players of the previous year still unable to report for practice. The hope for a good season never dwindled although the outlook for such lowered with each defeat.

With the return of "Showboat" Ware and McCarther to the line-up the eleven immediately "perked" and again the outlook brightened.

Then to add to the headaches of the coaching staff came the one-day strike when the team members stayed away from practice with the threat of quitting unless more of their number were given the work scholarships they claimed to need.

The strike was soon settled with several of the squad—those with eligible averages—settled in their jobs and once more, the next day in fact, going through their drills.

From all of this emerged a Howard team that won three of its eight games and above all defeated Lincoln on Thanksgiving Day. With this victory under the banner some were wont to call the season successful—after a fashion.

The final C. I. A. A. football standing placed the Bisons at Eighth place and in the second division among the twelve association teams.

Many will remember both the closely contested games from which the eleven emerged on the short end and also those encounters in which the team fought gallantly only to be trampled.

FOOTBALL RESUME—1933

SAINT PAUL

Washington, D. C., October 14—In a hard-fought, nip-and-tuck battle, Howard University went down to defeat in its opening grid game in the Walker Stadium before St. Paul of Lawrenceville, Virginia, bowing in the closing minutes when Fullback Jones kicked successfully for an extra point after an aerial attack had tied the score in the last three minutes of play. The count was 13 to 12.

VIRGINIA STATE

Washington, D. C., October 21—"Showboat" Ware, Bison backfield ace, thrown into the lineup in the second period, electrified his teammates in the University Stadium as he rambled all over the lot and rallied them to defeat the Virginia State Trojans, 20 to 2.

The Virginians' two points loomed large at the end of the half as they led by that margin at the outset after a bad pass from the Bison center was recovered only to be thrown for a safety by Lewis, Trojan center.

WEST VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., October 28—After ramming the ball down the field in a concerted march in the second period for a 6 to 0 lead the Howard University Bisons lost by the narrow margin of one point when West Virginia State Talled and made good the extra point in the third period to leave the score in their favor, 7 to 6.

MORGAN

Baltimore, Md., November 3—Although considered the underdog, the Bison machine held the championship Morgan College Bears scoreless in the first period only to yield stubbornly to a 27 to 0 defeat under the lights of the Bugle Stadium in Howard's first night game of the season.

HAMPTON

Washington, D. C., November 11—Unable to ward off the strong Hampton Pirates the Howard Bisons went to defeat 28 to 0 in their grid encounter in which the Seasideers were held scoreless until the waning minutes of the first half when Culler and Richmond led a drive from mid-field to score seven points one minute before the half ended. Richmond's toe accounted for four drop kicks for as many touchdowns two of which were scored in the last quarter by Weatherford and one in the third by Carter.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE

Durham, N. C., November 17—An intensive drive coupled with an accurate passing attack accounted for Howard's victory, 7 to 0 over North Carolina State College when Berry Williams dashed nine yards in the first play of the second quarter when the drive had placed the ball when the initial period ended.

LINCOLN

Atlantic City, N. J., November 30—Turkey Day brought the Howard University Bisons their ninth successive victory over the Lincoln Lions when they came out on top of 13 to 7 score inside the Convention Hall, world's largest auditorium. It was the first indoor game in the 29-year-history of the classic.

Two blocked punts in the dying moments of the game gave Lincoln its first official score against the Thundering Herd since 1924, one of the few thrills in an historic encounter between these perennial rivals.

The flying feet of "Showboat" Ware sweeping the wings, his vicious knifing his way brought down the enemy barriers, his spotty though effective punting were the weapons largely employed by Bisons to subdue the outclassed but scrappy Lions.

FLORIDA

Jacksonville, Florida, December 2—Fighting valiantly the Howard Bisons went to defeat, 9 to 6 in their first intersectional contest after a field goal in the first period gave Florida A and M College the three point lead it never relinquished to the long-delayed aerial attack of the Bisons.

SOCCER

*W*ITH several of the members of Howard's championship soccer team of the year before lost through graduation the Bison booters went doggedly into the season despite the biting chills of an early winter and the snow which fell during most of their games.

Only one victory was counted during the season and that over Lincoln by a 3 to 0 score. Both Lincoln and Hampton were met with the second Lincoln game resulting in a tie and Hampton handing Hilltop soccerites two defeats by counts of 3 to 2 and 6 to 2.

BASKETBALL RESUME

1933-1934

EARLY hopes of a C. I. A. A. championship in basketball became evinced in the first game when Howard courtmen were barely nosed out by Morgan's championship team by a score of 29 to 25. This first and two others were the only defeats handed the Bison cage team in association encounters.

As the season wore on and attracted the attention of sports writers throughout the country because of the close margin separating the leaders Howard's hopes went skyward with the team piling victories over Union, Lincoln, Morgan, A and T, and Bluefield.

With Howard slightly on top and beginning their first Southern tour Union caught them off-guard and handed the second defeat of the season in Richamond, 36 to 29.

Going into the second game of the trip it was a revengeful team that went against St. Paul in Lawrenceville, Virginia, and trimmed the Virginians 40 to 34.

Dopesters and most of the sports writers were then filling their columns with ream upon ream of copy centered about the C. I. A. A. race for the flag. The hardest games were yet before most of the teams and there were several teams yet figured as having a chance to cop the championship.

Through all of this Coach John Burr determinately whipping his charges into mid-season form in preparation for their second invasion of the South and to meet Hampton, A and T, and Lincoln, all three considered to be in the running and serious threats to any team.

Virginia State, A and T, and Hampton all fell before the Bisons in that order on the second trip. With the defeat of Hampton, Howard was once more considered among the top three.

Howard University resounded throughout the C. I. A. A. following the defeat of Hampton on the Seaside's home court.

St. Paul fell next to Howard in Washington when the Bison team rolled up 51 points to the Tigers' 22.

With two more games to be played at home the Bisons had yet to lose a single game on their home court.

Lincoln threw a scare into the Bison camp in defeating them in Philadelphia. Hampton played in the role of visitor and was trounced 31 to 29. In a non-

C. I. A. A. game Lincoln defeated the Hilltoppers at Orange, New Jersey, 26 to 18, however, the game did not count in C. I. A. A. ratings.

Even at this late date in the season many sports writers were figuring Lincoln, Morgan and Hampton as possible winners due to the late-season threat being made by Virginia State.

It was a determined team that faced Virginia State in the Howard gymnasium the night of the final game. They were determined to keep their record of not losing a game on the home court. State at one time became a threat but not for long, however. The encounter ended with Howard on the long end and several of the substitutes being sent in the line-up. Howard won 49 to 29 and the rafters of the building shook with the din of the crowd as they cheered this last victory of the then champions.

Although it had not been officially announced by the C. I. A. A. in May following the season of 1933-34, season statistics show Howard the winner, according to the Dickerson system of rating which is used by the C. I. A. A. in computing championships.

Twelve C. I. A. A. games were won and three lost while for the season the Bisons won 14 of their 18 games played.

The Boxing Team

TRACK

Prospects for Varsity Track at Howard

*A*BOUT forty candidates have been practicing earnestly to represent Howard on the cinders and field this season. Perhaps the coaching staff is one of the best ever to attempt to mold a track team on the Hill. It is organized with Professor John Burr as head coach with former track men as his assistants. Professor T. J. Anderson, has charge of the field events, Milton Larry, former hurdler and dash man, Daniel Mack, a sprinter of note and William Cheyney one of the best quarter milers ever to wear spikes at old Howard, all are out daily giving of their experiences and spirit to our material in their specialties.

Due to conditions of the track and pits it has been impossible for the team or the coaches to develop the skill necessary for the best performance and most likely will show in the participation for the best performance and most likely will show in the participation of the team. It is hoped that these conditions will be improved for future seasons so as to warrant students giving their best.

Show Well at Relays

*T*HE season went off to a good start with the team showing well in the Penn Relays and winning a set of silver medals—the first in several years of competition in this meet—as the mile relay team placed second in their division. Those running in this relay included Eddie Plummer, Stalling, Tom Reid, and Joe Stratton.

LeRoy Scurry surprised the spectators when he won the sixth heat in the 110 metre dash although he failed to place the finals.

The sprint relay team ran second to Cornell in the fastest heat of the meet and Cornell's time was the fastest of the day.

Martin Sutler, distance man, was entered in the 3000 meter steeplechase but failed to place as well as did medley relay team.

DEFENSIVE ARTS

Astounding!

That lone word fittingly describes the reaction of athletic officials when they realized the genuine approval given the innovation of the defensive arts into the athletic program of the University.

The coming of boxing to Howard represented the culmination of many years of effort on the part of followers of the squad circle and of Clarence W. Davis, acting head of the Department of Physical Education for Men. For more than two months before the definite date had been set Mr. Davis and his associates went into the matter thoroughly leaving no detail unmentioned.

Mr. Davis took over the duties of coaching the boxers and wrestlers and Mr. John H. Burr, basketball coach, directed the fencing end of the program.

Boxing

"'Chappy' lands a left to the head"

That is probably what the radio announcer would have sent over the ether as Chappelle Cochrane defeated John H. Malloy of Hampton to win the welterweight decision for Howard; giving the spectators one of the snappiest bouts of the card.

Wrestling

Weight for the press!

"Hike" Gordon, Bison wrestler, weighing 187 pounds, tosses Frank Veney, Lincoln's 240 pound grapper, from the canvas into the press table with a resounding thud in the heavyweight finals in which Gordon won the decision over the Lion's man-mountain.

Fencing

Sergeant Darwin E. Smith, U. S. A., parries a lunge made by Coleridge M. Gill in their fencing match in which "Sarge" was declared the winner by Referee John H. Burr of the Department of Physical Education for Men. Sergeant Smith scored seven touches to the five made by Gill.

Governing all athletics at Howard University is the administrative body, the Board of Athletic Control, composed of representatives from all three branches of University membership—Alumni, students and faculty.

The board consists of three members each from the students, alumni and faculty, the head of the Department of Physical Education for Men and the treasurer of the University.

Through the Board, students managers are elected for the various teams. All home contests and trips of all teams are under the supervision of this body.

It was through the efforts of the Board during 1934 that defensive arts was innovated in the C. I. A. A. This and other activities has made it prominent in the improvement of athletic affairs throughout the conference.

INTRAMURALS

*A*LTHOUGH Intramurals were lacking of definite organization this branch of athletics, centered around the classes, got off to a good start despite the handicap.

Beginning with the Freshman-Sophomore Class Rush the ebb of class rivalry forced Intramurals into the other sports.

The first year college class topped the Sophomores in the rush scoring three points as they won as many events against two for the second year men. Beginning the rush day with the defense of the greasy pole upon which rested the Sophomore flag the second year men were unsuccessful in keeping the flag from the newcomers. Aside from winning the flag the Freshmen took the tug-o-war and the pins while the Sophs won the relay race and the needles.

Bitten by the pigskin bug the Frosh and Sophs went into their traditional game despite the bitter cold and biting December winds and the Sophomores were victorious by a 7 to 2 count.

The Sophomores and Juniors engaged in a grid iron encounter and began another event in Intramurals. Th Sophomores again enjoyed a victory when they trounced their rivals to the overwhelming tune of 27 to 6.

The annual campus comedy in the form of the Freshman-Sophomore Medics' football game ended with the Sophs winning 13 to 0 after several backward runs and other unimportant indiscretions upon the rules. All ended well the same night, however, as the teams celebrated the game with an accompanying party.

Undergraduate lower classmen then carried their rivalry further, indulging in a series of basketball games in which the Freshmen won three to the two of the Sophs.

The delay in readying the courts for tennis prevented classes rivaling in this activity, however, the fraternities initiated this sport with a match between Omega and Kappa during the Omega Spring Prom weekend.

harrison hobson—henry the eighth, including the wives.

alvin woods—the timid soul in distress.

along with the responsibility of getting full value from their cuts and getting free lunches, these serious students have lighter duties. these duties (or are they duties) include boy friends and girl friends. for this reason i pause to offer a little benevolent advice to the lovelorn:

Note: This column is conducted by Aunt Petunia Blossomtime.

DEAR AUNT PETUNIA:

What would you suggest as a good reducing diet.

BEATRICE

DEAR BEATRICE:

Pretzels and beer.

A. P.

DEAR AUNTIE:

I suffer from hiccoughs. What should I do?

ROBERT

DEAR ROBERT:

Stop breathing.

A. P.

DEAR AUNT BLOSSOMTIME:

I am shy. What shall I do?

EVANS

DEAR EVANS:

C'mup 'n' see me sometime.

PETUNIA

DEAR AUNTIE:

The girls all chase me. I would like to get rid of them. What do you suggest?

BILL HUESTON

DEAR BILL:

Discard Listerine and Lifebouy.

A. P.

DEAR PETUNIA:

They call me half wit. What shall I do?

RUFUS

DEAR RUFUS:

Don't worry. Half a wit is better than too much breed.

A. P.

DEAR A. P.:

How can a girl make a man kiss her?

SYLVIA

DEAR SYLVIA:

Any girl can make a man kiss her, the skill lies in getting them to stop.

A. P.

DEAR A. P.:

I call on a girl in whom I'm very much interested but I have to do all the talking. She will neither agree nor disagree with me. Advise me.

HARRISON

DEAR HARRISON:

You should take up salesmanship. Probably your line is too heavy to put over on her.

A. P.

DEAR A. P.:

What is this thing called love?

WILTON

DEAR WILTON:

Take it from me. It's a victrola record.

A. P.

DEAR A. P.:

I am a girl of 45. Do you think I am too young for lipstick and rouge?

KITTY

DEAR KITTY:

Yes. It probably wouldn't do any good anyway.

A. P.

DEAR AUNTIE:

I am 16 and in love with a 74 year old millionaire. What shall I do?

DORIS

DEAR DORIS:

Send me his address.

A. P.

DEAR A. P.:

I am 29 and he is 16. I want to marry him. Do you think he will marry me?

JUANITA

DEAR JUANITA:

He will marry you if you can get within firing distance but don't shoot out of season.

A. P.

Speaking of lovers, there are a number of dating spots around the campus. 's funny how original these Seniors (and others) aren't. They all pick the same places to keep their dates. It must get rather crowded sometimes. After all, the Student Council Office, the library and the Reservoir Park won't hold everybody. But this is how it's managed—

The Student Council office is open only at certain hours (all day long) and only to certain people. (Student Council members and guests). What with a radio and good furniture and a telephone, it's really the best joint on the Hill. Admission is by key only. Anyone may get a key. Only financial members may use the bar.

The Library is open to all who wish to appear there. It is too well chaperoned to be popular. Some of the best lovers dispense books and love advice from the circulation desk. Very often the encyclopedias hide multitude of sins but altogether the place is a lovely night club from seven till ten. Admission free.

The Reservoir Park is too chilly for year round use but a few hardy couples venture out—particularly the engaged ones. The benches are not upholstered but there are nice lawns. Admission, a hearty constitution.

Along with these popular resorts there are several minor joints on the fourth floor Main Building among them the Experimental Theater, the Kappa Sigma roadhouse, the belfry and behind the eagle cage. The Experimental theater is not so popular but it's better than nothing. The theme song of the Kappa Sigma roadhouse is I Just Couldn't Take It! The place is nice but the lock is changed so often that even the proprietors can't always get in. The belfry is very exclusive. Only the elite can play tag around the bell. After sundown there is absolute quiet and the view is revealing! Behind the eagles' cage is one of the cosiest spots on the campus. Year round resort. Due to the shortage, chairs must be rented in advance.

Guides will be furnished for all interested parties.

The Story of Hoboken Ellabelle, or the Birth of a Nation

BY THE FAMOUS CHINESE AUTHOR

One Lung Hung Low

CHAPTER DCCXXVIII

Lost in the Jungle of Despair

Removing the burnt cork from her face, Ellabelle looked down her nose and saw the savages had removed her skirt. "My Madeira! My Madeira!" yelled Ellabelle. The King looked around the corner and fell in the bosh-basket.

When the Sniper sat diligently on the cracker-barrel, Muscatawny, the Catfish, thought that never had a soul looked more soulfully. "In the role of Thais I was more graceful than the famed Madame Pushitover Jeeves," observed Ellabelle. "You were!" answered the King.

And so Ellabelle became the Queen, much to the distress of the King's wife.

CHAPTER XXXVIII

When the Moon Speaks Yiddish

Never had so beautiful a sight graced the Steamship "Gloriova." The captain said so, the first mate said so, the second mate said so, the steward said so, the cook said so, the cabin boy said so, the cat said so. BUT—Ellabelle said so. She looked in her mirror and observed the angle of the bird's nest with its wooded forest, the color in them cheeks, the delicacy with which the ankle peeped from under the Mother Hubbard. She made an excellent maid.

CHAPTER LXXII7/16

H'i's'y," said the Heathen King from Brooklyn, "you claim to come from Austria, Miss Ella Bella but your Spanish is what you call, 'ousy-lay'."

"My good man," spouts Ella, "you are mistaken, I am a recognized member of the Indian Veldt; therefore, I shouldn't be boiled in erl."

"Nertz," roars Abercrombie, the King, "you shall be berled to a toin!"

And thus endeth our lesson for the day according foremost and popular prophet, Moses.
