9-9-1994

The Hilltop 9-9-1994

Hilltop Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_902000

Recommended Citation
https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_902000/116
Ladner restructures University work force

Balancing budget is a difficult and painful process, Interim President says

By Derrick M. Dennis and Shonda Hunter

The Hilltop, friends and family mourn the loss of Senior Kevin Scott, who died August 27. Shira Keich, which means "Brave and Intelligent One," was a criminal psychology major from Boston.

In case we are not going to have to talk someone away from another appointment and into the presidency at Howard.

According to Hampshire-Carson, there are a number of new long-range strategic goals that are being implemented to ensure a five, comprehensive and open process that ensures "giving every information," as they say in the business world. The use of a professional search firm and the willingness to investigate suggested candidates. These features are all good for the process," Hampshire-Carson said. "But more importantly it is the best thing for the university, open and honest.

Shena Tawanda, chairwoman of the Interim President Joyce Ladner, said she is "looking forward to hearing the sound of the candidates making a big difference in the town."

"This search will be one of the most important tasks we will face all over," Ponce said. "Howard has too much to lose and everything to gain."
Dormitory closures create confusion, hassles

D.C. Inspectors shut down Carver, lack of construction permit cited

By Marcy C. Bryan
Staff Writer

"When I looked inside Carver Hall, I was shocked. I didn’t expect to see that," said Michael Smalls, a resident of Carver Hall.

The room was filled with mice, a large amount of trash, and mold on the walls. Smalls said that the mice were so prevalent that he had to cover his nose with a tissue when he entered the hall.

The mice and the high level of filth in Carver Hall are in violation of the Washington, D.C. Health Code, which states that "the premises shall be kept in a clean and orderly condition and shall be free from overcrowding and unsanitary conditions." The health inspector gave the hall a 72-hour deadline to address the issues.

The lack of construction permits has also been a problem for the university. The permits are required for all building projects on campus and are necessary to ensure that the buildings are safe and comply with local building codes.

The university has been trying to obtain the necessary permits for the past year, but has been unsuccessful. According to university spokesperson, "We have been working with the city to get the permits in place, but we have encountered some delays." The university is hoping to get the permits in place as soon as possible.

In the meantime, student concerns continue to grow. Many students are worried about their safety and the future of the university.

"I’m concerned about my safety," said a student. "With the mice and the lack of maintenance, I don’t feel safe living here." The university has assured the students that they will take necessary steps to address the issues.

The university is also working on a plan to address the housing shortage. According to university spokesperson, "We are currently working with a housing developer to build a new dormitory on campus." The new dormitory is expected to be ready for occupancy next year.

In the meantime, students are encouraged to report any issues or concerns to the university’s housing office. The university is committed to addressing the issues and providing a safe and comfortable living environment for all students.

Contract negotiations continue for new shuttle bus service

By Donna Martin
Staff Writer

Negotiations between the University and the Baltimore Metropolitan Area Transit Administration (MARC) for the new shuttle bus service have been ongoing for several months. The negotiations are focused on issues such as routes, frequency, and pricing.

"We are working closely with MARC to ensure that the new shuttle service meets the needs of the university community," said university spokesperson.

The new shuttle service is expected to begin operations in the fall semester. The service will provide transportation between the university and downtown Baltimore.

University students face challenges with the new shuttle service.

Some students are concerned about the frequency of the shuttle service. "I don’t want to wait too long for the shuttle," said a student.

The university is working to address these concerns. "We are exploring options to increase the frequency of the shuttle service," said the spokesperson.

University students are also concerned about the cost of the new shuttle service. "I don’t want to spend too much money on transportation," said a student.

The university is working to keep the cost of the shuttle service as low as possible. "We are exploring options to make the shuttle service more affordable," said the spokesperson.

Overall, the university is committed to providing a safe, convenient, and affordable transportation option for all students.

Students suffer from planned closure of downtown residence halls

By Vieta Brook
Senior Staff Writer

On September 9, 1994, D.C. Inspectors shut down Carver Hall, a residence hall located downtown. The hall was closed due to "unsanitary conditions" and "lack of construction permit." The university is currently working on plans to address the issues and reopen the hall.

The closure has caused disruption for many students living in the hall. "I’m very unhappy with the situation," said a student.

The university is working to provide alternative housing for the students impacted by the closure. "We are exploring options to provide temporary housing for the students," said the spokesperson.

In the meantime, students are encouraged to report any issues or concerns to the university’s housing office. The university is committed to addressing the issues and providing a safe and comfortable living environment for all students.

Upset about the $2.25 per call phone charge?

FILL OUT THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONNAIRE

I support the new $2.25 per call campus telephone system.

I don’t support the new $2.25 per call campus telephone system.

Please return completed questionnaire to the Office of Student Activites, Blackburn Center Room 117 or the Hilltop Office located in the Howard Plaza Towers West, Room P-14.

ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS!!
HILLTOP moves to new office

By Crystal D. Diane
Hilltop Staff Writer

The Hilltop staff is relocating to its new location beginning today. Including the University's student newspaper, it is once again ready to start the year.

And not just the Hilltop. The Howard University community as a whole, which almost prevented the staff from publishing in its first issue, moved to its new location.

In May, the Hilltop moved from its first floor location on the west side of the Howard Plaza Towers to another, larger space.

Housing the Hilltop for the first time in a new office space, the construction workers tore down its first floor offices along with several rows of windows to make room for the Hilltop Annex.

The Hilltop Annex was moved to a room in the Tower that was initially intended to be a daycare.

Last year, however, School of Education student Jeanne Biddlefield's efforts to get the Annex torn down into a usable room for the Hilltop staff and faculty members, and the Hilltop had to move again, this time into a room down the hall from the old Hilltop Annex.

"Last spring, the School of Education had a presentation with the Hilltop to discuss the move," Biddlefield said. "We worked very closely with them, and they agreed to move in, and they were given a new space with the same setup that the Hilltop used.

Hilltop Editor-in-chief is chief of the HILLTOP on the other hand, had initially hoped that the paper could move to a second floor office in the Howard Plaza Towers as "the largest Black collegiate paper."

"It's important that people who are publishing by Howard Plaza can see. Oh, look, there's the HILLTOP.

The move, which was only supposed to last until summer, wasn't completely finished until last week. In the meantime, staff and students who were struggling to publish the entire issue with only our production and computer and three Macintoshes from the old offices.

"We couldn't even publish our first issue from new Hilltop staff and Biddlefield said. She added that the move couldn't have been possible without the help of Dean Raymond Archer of the School of Education, Assistant Student Life and Activities Coordinator Marion Sigler, Assistant Activities and HILLTOP Director Charissaya Chapman.

"It's been, difficult, with so many new locations and so many new people, and it's been frustrating for our staff, oh, and our phone lines have also been turned off," Chapman said. "That's been frustrating for our staff, and it's been frustrating for our readers, and our phones have also been turned off.

Eason echoes the sentiment.

"Families are looking for the best dorm I've ever been in," Eason said. "It's really a great dorm, and it's really a great location.

Student waiting in long lines is a common sight during registration

By Donny A Matheny
Howard University Student

As students move into战胜 Howard University students, moving in to Bethune Annex, many are finding themselves in unexpected situations.

"It's been, difficult, with so many new locations and so many new people, and it's been frustrating for our staff, oh, and our phone lines have also been turned off," Chapman said. "That's been frustrating for our staff, and it's been frustrating for our readers, and our phones have also been turned off.

"It's been, difficult, with so many new locations and so many new people, and it's been frustrating for our staff, oh, and our phone lines have also been turned off," Chapman said. "That's been frustrating for our staff, and it's been frustrating for our readers, and our phones have also been turned off.

"It's been, difficult, with so many new locations and so many new people, and it's been frustrating for our staff, oh, and our phone lines have also been turned off," Chapman said. "That's been frustrating for our staff, and it's been frustrating for our readers, and our phones have also been turned off.

"It's been, difficult, with so many new locations and so many new people, and it's been frustrating for our staff, oh, and our phone lines have also been turned off," Chapman said. "That's been frustrating for our staff, and it's been frustrating for our readers, and our phones have also been turned off.

"It's been, difficult, with so many new locations and so many new people, and it's been frustrating for our staff, oh, and our phone lines have also been turned off," Chapman said. "That's been frustrating for our staff, and it's been frustrating for our readers, and our phones have also been turned off.

"It's been, difficult, with so many new locations and so many new people, and it's been frustrating for our staff, oh, and our phone lines have also been turned off," Chapman said. "That's been frustrating for our staff, and it's been frustrating for our readers, and our phones have also been turned off.

"It's been, difficult, with so many new locations and so many new people, and it's been frustrating for our staff, oh, and our phone lines have also been turned off," Chapman said. "That's been frustrating for our staff, and it's been frustrating for our readers, and our phones have also been turned off."

Homecoming aims to please Howard family

By Carrie S. Gerald
assistant staff writer

Many Howard University students especially appreciated the events Homecoming week afforded, besides providing an opportunity to reunite with old friends and family. In pageantry, however, many felt little or nothing to improve their homecoming festivities. However, Tampa Hayes is not one of them. Howard Alumni Journal, sports editor for the Tampa Tribune, volunteered to apply for the Homecoming position, and the Homecoming Steering Committee, feeling she would bring life into the annual fall festivities, accepted her in quick succession to keep her poised and ready to keep the Homecoming Steering Committee up-to-date.

Howard Alumni Journal, sports editor for the Tampa Tribune

"It is very confident that everyone who takes part in this year's Homecoming will have an enjoyable experience..." -Tampa Hayes

Blackburn University Center, will begin at 10 p.m. Considering the festivities and Homecoming’s informal registration lines, the freshmen probably wanted to pack up and leave town. However, the Campus Pals were on hand to alleviate their problems. Many of the freshmen said they were helped by other freshmen who were assigned to them, which came as a surprise to many. It was a gift to the freshmen, Donna Seabrook, a sophomore, said the Campus Pals put their hands on them and made them feel comfortable. "The Campus Pals were very outgoing and fun," a freshman said in a recent J. Session meeting. (1994)

By the end of the night, the Campus Pals had not only helped the freshmen feel comfortable and at ease, but they also gave them an experience. .

"I want to chill, get a better GPA, and have a fun time," a sophomore said. "I want to be closer with my friends and learn more about Business."

For the Homecoming Steering Committee, which will be held with the assistance of the Student Government, this year’s Homecoming weekend will feature such local groups as the Metropolitan Baptist Church Choir, as well as performances by University organizations. However, many of these programs may focus on some unexpected talents.

The freshman show, which usually spotlights the talents of junior designers, will be comprised primarily of creations by male designers. Fashion Show Coordinator Shenita Hinson stated, "These programs may focus on some unexpected talents. The freshman show, which usually spotlights the talents of junior designers, will be comprised primarily of creations by male designers."

"I want to meet a lot of new people, and get more involved on campus and to develop relationships that will endure beyond my years at Howard,"

Piper McKeithen
junior

"I want to find out what it is I exactly want to do here and take a little time out for myself,"

Deont Wallace
Senior

"I want to become a more spiritual student,"

Hope Kemp
Oakland, CA
Sophomore

"I hope to become a better student, improve my grades and get the best education I can...

Marcus Matthews
Glenarden, MD
Freshman

"I want to chill, get a better GPA, and have a fun time,"

James Jones, Jr.
Chicago, IL
Sophomore

"I hope to become a better student, improve my grades and get the best education I can..."

Midnight Express

"I hope to become more spiritually stable, involve myself on campus and to develop relationships that will endure beyond my years at Howard.""}

Piper McKeithen
junior

"I want to find out what it is I exactly want to do here and take a little time out for myself,"

Deont Wallace
Senior

"I want to become a more spiritual student,"

Hope Kemp
Oakland, CA
Sophomore

"I hope to become a better student, improve my grades and get the best education I can..."

Marcus Matthews
Glenarden, MD
Freshman

"I want to chill, get a better GPA, and have a fun time,"

James Jones, Jr.
Chicago, IL
Sophomore

"I hope to become a better student, improve my grades and get the best education I can..."

Midnight Express

"I hope to become a more spiritually stable, involve myself on campus and to develop relationships that will endure beyond my years at Howard.""}

Piper McKeithen
junior

"I want to find out what it is I exactly want to do here and take a little time out for myself,"

Deont Wallace
Senior

"I want to become a more spiritual student,"

Hope Kemp
Oakland, CA
Sophomore

"I hope to become a better student, improve my grades and get the best education I can..."

Marcus Matthews
Glenarden, MD
Freshman

"I want to chill, get a better GPA, and have a fun time,"

James Jones, Jr.
Chicago, IL
Sophomore

"I hope to become a more spiritually stable, involve myself on campus and to develop relationships that will endure beyond my years at Howard.""}

Piper McKeithen
junior

"I want to find out what it is I exactly want to do here and take a little time out for myself,"

Deont Wallace
Senior

"I want to become a more spiritual student,"

Hope Kemp
Oakland, CA
Sophomore

"I hope to become a better student, improve my grades and get the best education I can..."

Marcus Matthews
Glenarden, MD
Freshman

"I want to chill, get a better GPA, and have a fun time,"

James Jones, Jr.
Chicago, IL
Sophomore

"I hope to become a more spiritually stable, involve myself on campus and to develop relationships that will endure beyond my years at Howard.""}
Kawamba Enterprises
(202) 628-6097

Celebrates Its 5th Anniversary
By Enhancing The 5 Senses

TASTE
FRUIT
Banana  Plum
Apple  Nectarine
Orange  Lemon
Kiwi  Peach
Plantain  Pear

10 FOR $3

SMELL

BODY OILS
Over 200 fragrances available
TOP SELLERS!

MALE  FEMALE
Cool Water  Calyx
Blue Nile  360°
Nautica  Nothing
Black Coconut  Jessica

UNISEX
Egyptian Musk
Frankincense

TOUCH
LYCERINE SOAPS & SHOWER GELS

Vitamin E  $1.50
Aloe Vera  $1.50

Fruit Flavors
Apple  Red Raspberry
Peach  Watermelon
Lemon  Strawberry
Apricot  Blackberry
Orange

SOAP OR GEL $2.50

HEARING TAPES
R & B  Hip Hop
Jazz  Old School
Reggae

$10 EACH

SIGHT CLOTHING

T-shirts  Bags
Sweatshirts  Hats
Jewelry  Visors

$5 AND UP

WELCOME HOME FAMILY
Alumnus Curtis Pree campaigns for mayor

By Ruby May

Curtis Pree, a Howard University alumnus, has a long history of being politically active and working for improvements in the community. He is currently running for the position of mayor of Northwest D.C. and has beenITALY Washington D.C.

Pree is a former student activist and has been involved in various community organizations over the years. His decision to run for mayor is a reflection of his commitment to making a difference in the community and improving the quality of life for its residents.

His campaign slogan, "A Rumor of a Different Tribe," highlights his vision for a more inclusive and diverse community. Pree believes that we need to focus on building bridges between different groups and fostering a sense of unity and cooperation.

Pree's platform includes initiatives such as improving public safety, investing in education, and creating more job opportunities. He also wants to work towards creating a more sustainable and environmentally friendly city.

Pree's campaign has gained support from many local residents and has received positive reviews for its message of hope and change. His dedication to the community and his proven leadership skills make him a strong candidate for the position of mayor.

In conclusion, Curtis Pree's campaign is a testament to the power of grassroots efforts and the importance of community involvement. His commitment to improving the city's future is something that many residents can relate to, and his message of unity and progress is one that can inspire us all.

Alumni Curtis Pree campaigns for mayor

By Ruby May

Curtis Pree, an alumnus of Howard University, is a passionate community activist who has been involved in various organizations over the years. He is currently running for the position of mayor of Northwest D.C. and has been actively involved in the community for many years.

Pree's campaign slogan, "A Rumor of a Different Tribe," reflects his vision for a more inclusive and diverse community. He believes that we need to focus on building bridges between different groups and fostering a sense of unity and cooperation.

His campaign platform includes initiatives such as improving public safety, investing in education, and creating more job opportunities. He also wants to work towards creating a more sustainable and environmentally friendly city.

Pree's campaign has gained support from many local residents and has received positive reviews for its message of hope and change. His dedication to the community and his proven leadership skills make him a strong candidate for the position of mayor.

In conclusion, Curtis Pree's campaign is a testament to the power of grassroots efforts and the importance of community involvement. His commitment to improving the city's future is something that many residents can relate to, and his message of unity and progress is one that can inspire us all.

Benjamin Chavis firing receives mixed reactions

By Naphtha Crayton

There has been a mixed response to the firing of Benjamin Chavis as the leader of the National Council of Negro Women. Some people have condemned the move, while others have defended the organization's decision.

Those who have condemned the firing have called for Chavis's reinstatement and have expressed concern about the organization's future. They argue that Chavis's leadership has been vital to the organization's success and that his firing could be detrimental to its mission.

On the other hand, those who have defended the firing have praised the organization's decision and have expressed confidence in the new leader's ability to guide the organization forward. They argue that the organization needs a fresh start and that Chavis's firing is a necessary step in this process.

Regardless of the mixed reactions, it is clear that the National Council of Negro Women has a significant role to play in promoting the civil rights and equality for African Americans. It is important to continue to monitor the organization's progress and to support its efforts in the years to come.

Islamic Convention stresses educational preparation

By Mike Curtis

The Washington Islamic Convention, held in the United States, has stressed the importance of educational preparation in the Muslim community. The convention, which was held at the Islamic Center of Washington D.C., brought together leaders from various organizations and communities to discuss the role of education in the Muslim community.

The convention's keynote speaker, Nabeel Arbeits, highlighted the importance of educational preparation in the Muslim community. He emphasized the need for Muslims to receive proper education and training in order to lead productive lives and contribute positively to society.

Arbeits also discussed the challenges faced by Muslims in the United States and the importance of addressing these challenges through education. He urged the Muslim community to work together to create a more inclusive and supportive environment for all.

The convention included a variety of sessions and discussions, covering topics such as education, leadership, and social responsibility. The aim of the convention was to raise awareness about the importance of educational preparation and to provide guidance and support to Muslims as they strive to lead successful and meaningful lives.
Oppression plagues Black students in Alabama

By Linda Jones

WEDNESDAY, Alab. - Randolph County, with a Black population of more than 80 percent, is one of the nation's oldest and wealthiest Black communities. But the county's Black students are in no shape to bask in its glow.

No longer the center of attention, Randolph's Black students are finding themselves, yet again, being thrust into the limelight. In a Negro neighborhood, a school is under federal scrutiny.

A $30.2 billion crime bill will include money for tough on crime programs. The law would allow gun owners to keep guns they older will be tried as adults in the criminal system.

By Jonathan L. Wurzel

The school's high office, two years and off for the mommas and "three strikes and you're out" for the kids, are not an urban policy."

The high school offers two career fields for Blacks maintains the division of classes. The Black students will work in factories or drop out, "We're not getting back to my job," Parks said. "I apologize to Mr. Hodgman, it was my fault." Mark Fuhrman.

The school's high office, two years and off for the mommas and "three strikes and you're out" for the kids, are not an urban policy."

The high school offers two career fields for Blacks maintains the division of classes. The Black students will work in factories or drop out, "We're not getting back to my job," Parks said. "I apologize to Mr. Hodgman, it was my fault." Mark Fuhrman.

The school's high office, two years and off for the mommas and "three strikes and you're out" for the kids, are not an urban policy."

The high school offers two career fields for Blacks maintains the division of classes. The Black students will work in factories or drop out, "We're not getting back to my job," Parks said. "I apologize to Mr. Hodgman, it was my fault." Mark Fuhrman.

The school's high office, two years and off for the mommas and "three strikes and you're out" for the kids, are not an urban policy."

The high school offers two career fields for Blacks maintains the division of classes. The Black students will work in factories or drop out, "We're not getting back to my job," Parks said. "I apologize to Mr. Hodgman, it was my fault." Mark Fuhrman.
Debate lingers over Guanama Bay refugees

By Arthur O. Motley

September 8, 1994

The Hilltop Staff Writer

President Clinton revealed last week that the United States had taken no action to help 12,000 Cubans and Haitians who had been stranded on the southern tip of Cuba. The Clinton administration had previously announced plans to send 1,000 refugees to the United States, but has so far only received 674 people.

The government of Haiti has accused the United States of failing to live up to its commitment to help the refugees. "The United States is not living up to its promise," said a representative of the Haitian government.

The United States has been criticized for its handling of the refugee crisis in the Caribbean. "We need to do more to help these refugees," said a representative of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees.

Refugees fear human rights violations, casualties

By Leslie Harris

September 8, 1994

The Hilltop Staff Writer

Refugees from Haiti are feared to be facing human rights violations and casualties in the southern region of Africa. The refugees are believed to be at risk of being used as a "human shield" against South African forces in the region.

The United Nations has called for an immediate halt to the persecution of refugees and the protection of human rights. "We must do more to ensure the safety of these refugees," said a representative of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees.

Mandela strives for peaceful climate

By Steven Ray

September 8, 1994

Mandela has made it clear that he will work towards a peaceful climate in South Africa. In a recent interview, he said that the government should not take any action that could lead to violence.

"We must avoid any action that could lead to violence," said Mandela. "We need to work towards a peaceful climate in South Africa."
City Wings

Eat In • Carry Out • Free Delivery
234-WING
FAX (202) 234-8942
1003 "U" Street -- (The "New "U")

Hours:
Sunday 12pm - 6pm
Monday to Thursday 11am - 12am
Friday and Saturday 11am - 3am
$10.00 Minimum for Delivery
Prices do not include tax.

Chicken Wings Styles:
- Buffalo: The original recipe in 4 temperatures:
- Bar-B-Que: You know 'em. Do it 'em.
- Hickory Smoked Que: Summer's here.
- Teriyaki: The tradition of Japan lives on.
- Szechuan: Have a spicy summer.
- Honey Mustard: They're sweeet, yet tower.

Served with our own Ranch Dressing.

Sizes:
- Wing Dinner: $6.95
- Small (15 pcs.): $4.50
- Large (45 pcs.): $12.99

Supreme Team (22 lbs or more / 130 pcs.): $18.90 lb.

Vegetables (change daily):
- Fresh Collard Greens: $2.25
- Fresh String Beans & Potatoes: $2.99
- Vegetable Plate (choice of 3 vegetables): $5.99

Side Orders:
- French Fries: $1.00
- Fried Okra: $1.75
- Onion Rings: $1.50

Plays:
- Slice Whole:
  - Famous Sweet Potato: $1.50
  - Famous Pecor Pen: $2.25
  - Famous Strawberry Pen: $2.25
- Bevemages:
  - Lemonade with Cherry: $1.50

Snack Attack (10 pcs.): $2.99
- Medium (50 pcs.): $8.75
- XLarge (90 pcs.): $15.99
- Grilled Chicken Garden Salad: $3.99

Famous S "weet Potato:
- Fresh Corn-on-the-Cob: $1.75
- Macaroni and Vegtat cheese: $2.25
- Fresh Cabbage: $2.25

Famous barbecue:
- Mozzarella Sticks: $2.50
- Breaded Mushrooms: $2.80
- Breaded Zucchini: $2.50

FREE DELIVERY TO ALL HOWARD UNIVERSITY DORMS
$5.00
(MINIMUM DELIVERY)

LUNCH SPECIAL
One 10 Pieces, Any Style
1 French Fry
1 Lemonade
$4.99

LATE NITE FORTWO
One 25 Pieces, Any Style
2 French Fries
2 Lemmonades
$10.99

SPECIAL
One 45 Pieces, Any Style
1 French Fry
1 Onion Ring
4 Lemmonades
$15.95

Do You Want Credit Cards?
- Yes
- No

I have MASTER CARD and desire and need Same-

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL

If you have the most prestigious

Send Today
THERE IS A MINIMUM CHARGE OF $15.00 FOR ALL
Chevy Chase Bank to invest money in Black communities

By Sharon Jackson

The United States Justice Department claims that the bank's failure to establish offices in predominantly Black communities was discriminatory.

Chevy Chase's agreement to establish a new branch in each neighborhood is an attempt to redress the discrimination.

The bank will open five offices in the District and 15 in other cities. The bank has been under investigation by the Justice Department for several years and is facing a lawsuit.

Denny's to settle race lawsuits

By Dorothy J. Brown

The Washington Post

A handshake and short statement of regret against the Denny's restaurant chain have ended a race lawsuit.

In light of the settlement, the restaurant chain (Denny's) is now processing applications for its job program. The chain has not made any effort to discriminate against minority workers because of their race, but may be allowed to continue doing so.

According to Corinne Henley, a spokesperson for the Denny's Restaurant, the company is no longer interested in pursuing the case. The company plans to establish a new program that will provide training and job opportunities for minority workers.

Working from home becomes option for many U.S. workers

Working from home has become a popular option for many U.S. workers in recent years. The trend started with the emergence of the internet and the telecommuting industry.

Many workers are now able to work from home and have found it to be a more flexible and productive option. Some businesses have even started offering remote work options as a way to attract and retain employees.

Lower prices increase personal sales

Lower prices on personal items have been a popular trend in recent years. Many retailers have been cutting prices on goods to try to attract customers and increase sales.

Some retailers have been offering discounts on items such as clothing, electronics, and home goods. These lower prices have been particularly popular among older consumers who are looking for deals.

Co-op makes students more marketable

Co-op programs at Howard University make students more attractive to potential employers. The programs provide students with opportunities to gain practical experience and develop skills that will benefit them in the job market.

Many employers value the experience that co-op students gain through their programs and are more likely to hire them. As a result, co-op students have a competitive edge in the job market and are more likely to secure employment after graduation.

The business section is looking for you!

If you are interested in writing for the business section, please contact us at 800-6866. We are always looking for new contributors to share their insights and expertise on a wide range of business topics.

The business section is looking for you!

If you are interested in writing for the business section, please contact us at 800-6866. We are always looking for new contributors to share their insights and expertise on a wide range of business topics.

THE BUSINESS SECTION IS LOOKING FOR YOU!!

If you are interested in writing for the business section, please contact us at 800-6866. We are always looking for new contributors to share their insights and expertise on a wide range of business topics.

Lower prices increase personal sales

Lower prices on personal items have been a popular trend in recent years. Many retailers have been cutting prices on goods to try to attract customers and increase sales.

Some retailers have been offering discounts on items such as clothing, electronics, and home goods. These lower prices have been particularly popular among older consumers who are looking for deals.

Co-op makes students more marketable

Co-op programs at Howard University make students more attractive to potential employers. The programs provide students with opportunities to gain practical experience and develop skills that will benefit them in the job market.

Many employers value the experience that co-op students gain through their programs and are more likely to hire them. As a result, co-op students have a competitive edge in the job market and are more likely to secure employment after graduation.

The business section is looking for you!

If you are interested in writing for the business section, please contact us at 800-6866. We are always looking for new contributors to share their insights and expertise on a wide range of business topics.

The business section is looking for you!

If you are interested in writing for the business section, please contact us at 800-6866. We are always looking for new contributors to share their insights and expertise on a wide range of business topics.

THE BUSINESS SECTION IS LOOKING FOR YOU!!

If you are interested in writing for the business section, please contact us at 800-6866. We are always looking for new contributors to share their insights and expertise on a wide range of business topics.

THE BUSINESS SECTION IS LOOKING FOR YOU!!

If you are interested in writing for the business section, please contact us at 800-6866. We are always looking for new contributors to share their insights and expertise on a wide range of business topics.
ST. MARTIN'S
CATHOLIC CHURCH

PRAY
Masses:
Saturday 5:00 pm
Sunday 8:30 am
Gospel Mass 12:00 noon

SING
Join our Traditional Choir or Gospel Choir

SERVE
Tutor
Work with Youth
Teach Sunday School

1/2 mile from campus at North Capitol & 1st Street

ST. MARTIN'S CATHOLIC CHURCH
1908 North Capitol Street, N.W.
(202) 232-1144
Serving the African American Community Since 1950

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24
9:00AM - 4:00PM
BLACKBURN CENTER

ALL STUDENTS ARE INVITED.
ANY ORGANIZATION WISHING TO PARTICIPATE SHOULD STOP BY ROOM 117 BLACKBURN CENTER
PARTICIPATION IS FREE

sponsored by the Office of Student Activities

HOWARD DELI PRESENTS
THE FRIDAY SPECIAL

TURKEY & CHEESE SUB CHIPS
LARGE 32 OZ ICE TEA FOR ONLY $3.99

ACROSS THE STREET FROM THE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
6:30 A.M. - 4:00 P.M.

-AFRICAN-AMERICAN OWNED-
2612 GEORGIA AVENUE, NW • WASHINGTON, DC 20001
TEL: (202) 332-5747
UNIVERSITY PLAZA

8 Newly Renovated Town Homes

* 4 Bedrooms
* 3½ Bathrooms
* 3 Levels
* Wall-to-Wall Carpeting
* Central Air Conditioning
* New Kitchen
* Rec. Room or Rental Unit (available)
* Wall-to-Wall Carpeting
* Central Air Conditioning

$135,000

$145,000 with One Bedroom Rental Unit on First Level

Properties In The Howard University Area

2 Blocks from Howard University

* 3 Bedrooms
* Separate Dining Room
* Full Basement
* Extra Storage Space in the Garage

$67,000

1 Block from New Petworth Metro Rail Station

* 4 Bedrooms
* 1½ Bathrooms
* Built-in Garage
* Extra Storage Space in the Attic
* Full Basement

$135,000

Near Howard University

Attractive office building with large auditorium, atrium, 77 parking spaces in the garage, etc.

For more information call Shawn Caison at (202) 672-7398

Houses • Rentals • Churches • Land
Apartment Buildings • D.C. & Maryland
WE CAN SERVE YOU!
DANGEROUSLY OVER THE LIMIT

Students learn disadvantages of hastily applying for credit cards

BY RASHAUN SYDET
Hilltop Staff Writer

Many students stop to fill out these applications without being told about their responsibilities. Students should be required to provide seminars on how credit cards work. Many college counselors oppose this idea because they look to popularize the card companies.

Some students have received a rude awakening after applying for the first time. The credit card companies failed to educate students about the heavy marketing tactics that are used to persuade students about the responsibilities of having credit. When you get off school and go to the job market, it is difficult to get credit or even a job paycheck. Many students are not aware of the possibilities of getting that, that job, and even that job.

Some students have received a rude awakening after applying for the first time. The credit card companies failed to educate students about the heavy marketing tactics that are used to persuade students about the responsibilities of having credit. When you get off school and go to the job market, it is difficult to get credit or even a job paycheck. Many students are not aware of the possibilities of getting that, that job, and even that job.

Over 200 How and students made their way through the hallway and onto the stage to present their first look forward and present their most impressive "walk" in hopes of being selected for this year's Homecoming fashion show. "We're colorful"—black limestone.

Varying in shapes, sizes, gender, and style, each station consented to please the select panel of judges by performing the "walk" that was earlier demonstrated by coordinator Nicki Hicks.

At the top of the audience was Hicks, a professional model,blazing her way all the way, which consisted of an opening pose, a stroll down to the mid-stripe of the runway complete with two half turns in pace at the end of the runway with another half turn, and a "twerk" or walk back to her original position. She concluded with a closing pose and exit.

The credit card companies offer but others are more cautious.

"I would never apply for cards at one of those stands because they look too shady. Why would they make them so accessible?" said Andre Harrison.

A survey done by Bank卡 Holders of America has shown that many students are interested in credit cards.

"We're not seeing as many as last year because the Persian Gulf War," stated a disturbed Hick before asking the first card companies about the way back to the runway. "And the "walk" again.

Students, who do not inquire about this information, may end up paying interest, monthly fees and company have marketing arrangements with student organizations where the organization gets a commission.

What more credit card companies neglected to students is that there is a high likelihood of government spending and deductible debt. Money sometimes spend on marketing tactics that are aimed at the students and even more so for less payments, etc. Students who do not inquire about this information can easily find themselves over the limit.

"We're not seeing as many as last year because the Persian Gulf War," stated a disturbed Hick before asking the first card companies about the way back to the runway. "And the "walk" again.

Students, who do not inquire about this information, may end up paying interest, monthly fees and company have marketing arrangements with student organizations where the organization gets a commission.

What more credit card companies neglected to students is that there is a high likelihood of government spending and deductible debt. Money sometimes spend on marketing tactics that are aimed at the students and even more so for less payments, etc. Students who do not inquire about this information can easily find themselves over the limit.

"We're not seeing as many as last year because the Persian Gulf War," stated a disturbed Hick before asking the first card companies about the way back to the runway. "And the "walk" again.

Students, who do not inquire about this information, may end up paying interest, monthly fees and company have marketing arrangements with student organizations where the organization gets a commission.

What more credit card companies neglected to students is that there is a high likelihood of government spending and deductible debt. Money sometimes spend on marketing tactics that are aimed at the students and even more so for less payments, etc. Students who do not inquire about this information can easily find themselves over the limit.

"We're not seeing as many as last year because the Persian Gulf War," stated a disturbed Hick before asking the first card companies about the way back to the runway. "And the "walk" again.

Students, who do not inquire about this information, may end up paying interest, monthly fees and company have marketing arrangements with student organizations where the organization gets a commission.

What more credit card companies neglected to students is that there is a high likelihood of government spending and deductible debt. Money sometimes spend on marketing tactics that are aimed at the students and even more so for less payments, etc. Students who do not inquire about this information can easily find themselves over the limit.

"We're not seeing as many as last year because the Persian Gulf War," stated a disturbed Hick before asking the first card companies about the way back to the runway. "And the "walk" again.

Students, who do not inquire about this information, may end up paying interest, monthly fees and company have marketing arrangements with student organizations where the organization gets a commission.

What more credit card companies neglected to students is that there is a high likelihood of government spending and deductible debt. Money sometimes spend on marketing tactics that are aimed at the students and even more so for less payments, etc. Students who do not inquire about this information can easily find themselves over the limit.

"We're not seeing as many as last year because the Persian Gulf War," stated a disturbed Hick before asking the first card companies about the way back to the runway. "And the "walk" again.

Students, who do not inquire about this information, may end up paying interest, monthly fees and company have marketing arrangements with student organizations where the organization gets a commission.

What more credit card companies neglected to students is that there is a high likelihood of government spending and deductible debt. Money sometimes spend on marketing tactics that are aimed at the students and even more so for less payments, etc. Students who do not inquire about this information can easily find themselves over the limit.

"We're not seeing as many as last year because the Persian Gulf War," stated a disturbed Hick before asking the first card companies about the way back to the runway. "And the "walk" again.

Students, who do not inquire about this information, may end up paying interest, monthly fees and company have marketing arrangements with student organizations where the organization gets a commission.

What more credit card companies neglected to students is that there is a high likelihood of government spending and deductible debt. Money sometimes spend on marketing tactics that are aimed at the students and even more so for less payments, etc. Students who do not inquire about this information can easily find themselves over the limit.
Alumna Brings Journalistic Guidance and Expertise

Pearl Stewart: A Gentle Giant in the World of Newspaper Journalism

By Traci N. James

Panorama reporter

Pearl Stewart has returned full of ideas and plans to prepare Howard students for the rigors of the competitive world of journalism. Stewart began her career in 1971 and has successfully refuted critics’ claims that she lacked the aplomb to handle pressure with graceful professionalism. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration.

Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominantly White high school where she excelled, but not without an occasional run-in with the nuns at her school. Stewart’s self-sufficiency made her question her goals and standing by her principles. Stewart’s strength of conviction and her principles believe her tenacious attitude about achieving her goals and standing by her principles will continue to be an inspiration. Stewart started that dream early, her father, William Stewart recalls. When most girls were playing with their dolls and dreaming of a prince charming, Stewart and her friends were publishing a newspaper and distributing it to their neighbors.

"During the 1960s, Stewart attended a predominan
J. CREW
Kankouran keeps spirit of West Africa alive

By Miguel Benítez and Arnarda Hinds

Hilltop Staff Writers

The Kankouran West African Dance Company, the Kankouran and many other cultural centers across the United States have preserved and interjected Kankouran keeps spirit of West Africa alive through music and dance. This is because the spirit of Kankouran is sacred. It's so stressed. "We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.

The nonprofit, Washington D.C.-based dance company was founded by Avisse Konte and Airou Kouyate in 1983. For the past 11 years, they have been teaching African Americans of all ages in the ancient arts of dancing and drumming. In addition, they have traveled to the United States and the Virgin Islands, receiving international acclaim.

Konte, who is the director of the dance company and a professor of dance at Howard University, said the international alignment of the organization's participation is important.

"I feel very good about it. Every year the company progresses. We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.

The nonprofit, Washington D.C.-based dance company was founded by Avisse Konte and Airou Kouyate in 1983. For the past 11 years, they have been teaching African Americans of all ages in the ancient arts of dancing and drumming. In addition, they have traveled to the United States and the Virgin Islands, receiving international acclaim.

Konte, who is the director of the dance company and a professor of dance at Howard University, said the international alignment of the organization's participation is important.

"I feel very good about it. Every year the company progresses. We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.

The nonprofit, Washington D.C.-based dance company was founded by Avisse Konte and Airou Kouyate in 1983. For the past 11 years, they have been teaching African Americans of all ages in the ancient arts of dancing and drumming. In addition, they have traveled to the United States and the Virgin Islands, receiving international acclaim.

Konte, who is the director of the dance company and a professor of dance at Howard University, said the international alignment of the organization's participation is important.

"I feel very good about it. Every year the company progresses. We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.

The nonprofit, Washington D.C.-based dance company was founded by Avisse Konte and Airou Kouyate in 1983. For the past 11 years, they have been teaching African Americans of all ages in the ancient arts of dancing and drumming. In addition, they have traveled to the United States and the Virgin Islands, receiving international acclaim.

Konte, who is the director of the dance company and a professor of dance at Howard University, said the international alignment of the organization's participation is important.

"I feel very good about it. Every year the company progresses. We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.

The nonprofit, Washington D.C.-based dance company was founded by Avisse Konte and Airou Kouyate in 1983. For the past 11 years, they have been teaching African Americans of all ages in the ancient arts of dancing and drumming. In addition, they have traveled to the United States and the Virgin Islands, receiving international acclaim.

Konte, who is the director of the dance company and a professor of dance at Howard University, said the international alignment of the organization's participation is important.

"I feel very good about it. Every year the company progresses. We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.

The nonprofit, Washington D.C.-based dance company was founded by Avisse Konte and Airou Kouyate in 1983. For the past 11 years, they have been teaching African Americans of all ages in the ancient arts of dancing and drumming. In addition, they have traveled to the United States and the Virgin Islands, receiving international acclaim.

Konte, who is the director of the dance company and a professor of dance at Howard University, said the international alignment of the organization's participation is important.

"I feel very good about it. Every year the company progresses. We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.

The nonprofit, Washington D.C.-based dance company was founded by Avisse Konte and Airou Kouyate in 1983. For the past 11 years, they have been teaching African Americans of all ages in the ancient arts of dancing and drumming. In addition, they have traveled to the United States and the Virgin Islands, receiving international acclaim.

Konte, who is the director of the dance company and a professor of dance at Howard University, said the international alignment of the organization's participation is important.

"I feel very good about it. Every year the company progresses. We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.

The nonprofit, Washington D.C.-based dance company was founded by Avisse Konte and Airou Kouyate in 1983. For the past 11 years, they have been teaching African Americans of all ages in the ancient arts of dancing and drumming. In addition, they have traveled to the United States and the Virgin Islands, receiving international acclaim.

Konte, who is the director of the dance company and a professor of dance at Howard University, said the international alignment of the organization's participation is important.

"I feel very good about it. Every year the company progresses. We have guest teachers from everywhere," he said. "Joinled Cobb, heading business, creative and development efforts also praised the group for its emphasis on the youth.

In the structure of the company's dance programs are designed for children and even inculcates the idea of preserving the culture so they can keep a balance in the community.
It Takes Preparation To LEAD
Consider Joining Howard University's LEADERSHIP EDUCATION AND DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM
A New Approach to DEVELOPING TOMORROW'S LEADERS

Eligibility:
1. Junior or Senior Status
2. A minimum GPA of 2.5
3. Be highly motivated to make a difference
4. Be available to attend a workshop 6:00 - 8:00 p.m. each Monday, and able to work for 10 hrs. per week beginning in January.
5. Complete an application form by 9/19/94

1st Semester Leadership Workshop
2nd Semester: Paid Internship

MEETING
Hilltop Lounge, Blackburn Center
Monday 9/12/94
6:00 - 8:00 p.m.

For information and applications contact Dorothy Fogle
Frederick Douglass Hall, Room 144
Department of Political Science, 896-9384

Dr. Ronald W. Walters
Dr. Dennis G. Davis
Director
Associate Director
SPORST

Bison win close season opener 27-25

By Shona Harris

The Bison (1-0) got on the board first as junior kicker Britton Johnson kicked a 33-yard field goal that increased the Devils' hopes for victory. Washington State was held to a touchdown in the first quarter.

“At press time, the Major League Baseball player's salary was still unknown. However, the owner has set a deadline of April 15 for a battle with baseball over the base of the sauces will be cancelled.

Howard State Giants outfielder Barry Bonds, preferred the court to come back in his courtly manner in his life with his wife and children. He is the only player who has been involved in the baseball's decision and required the appropriate Bonds to pay the original $15,000 a month.

Women's volleyball team kicks off new season

By J. C. Spencer

The Lady Senators (1-0) are through to the First Annual Great Gulf Coast Classic at Busch Memorial Stadium this weekend. The Lady Senators played their first game of the season against the MVSU on Friday night.

The home game versus a team from the neighboring state of Maryland was held at 7:30 p.m. in the brand new Hilltop School gym.

Delaware State University

Jimbo Williams, head coach of the Delaware State University women's volleyball team, said the team's performance in the opening game was a reflection of the hard work they put in during the off-season.

“Everyone knows the team's potential, but it takes hard work to turn that potential into success,” Williams said.

The Lady Senators had a strong start to the season, recording their first win of the year against MVSU.

“Today was a good day for us, and I'm proud of the team,” Williams added.

University of Charleston

The Lady Eagles (0-1) were not as fortunate in their opening game against the MVSU. However, they showed promising signs of improvement.

“While we didn't get the win, we learned a lot from the game,” said coach Betty Johnson.

The Lady Eagles have the opportunity to bounce back in their next game against Morgan State University.

“Every loss is a learning experience,” Johnson said. "We will use this game to build upon our strengths and work on our weaknesses."
HOWARD INTRAMURALS AND RECREATION

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SPORT</th>
<th>ENTRIES DUE</th>
<th>LOCATION</th>
<th>TEAM MEETING</th>
<th>PHONE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VOLLEYBALL</td>
<td>October 3 - 13</td>
<td>Lower Burr Gymnasium</td>
<td>October 14</td>
<td>806-7226/7227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TENNIS</td>
<td>September 5 - 15</td>
<td>Banneker Takoma Tennis Courts</td>
<td>September 16</td>
<td>806-7226/7227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BILLIARDS TOURNAMENT</td>
<td>September 5 - 12</td>
<td>University Center Recreation Area Game Room</td>
<td></td>
<td>806-7226/7227</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1-800-COLLECT

Save The People You Call Up To 44%.

Undergraduate Photos
- Undergraduate photos are now being taken in the music listening room in the Blackburn center until September 16th, 1994. You may take your photo between 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
- Senior photos will be taken September 19th - October 22nd.

Attention
- to all interested in participating in the production of the 1995 Bison Yearbook. The interest meeting will be September 15, 1994, at 7 p.m. in the Forum in Blackburn Center.

All Returning Howardites
- If you have not picked up your 1994 Bison yearbook, come by the Bison office, Blackburn G-6 with identification to get it. Hurry before they are gone!!!!!!!!!
No Way, Jose'

Around the globe for decades, the possibility of legal immigration has been a point of contention between the United States and other nations. The flow of immigrants to the United States has been irregular, and has resulted in a series of policy changes and in some cases dramatic changes in the way immigration is handled. The process is complex, and involves legislative action, administrative decisions, and judicial review.

Immigrants from Haiti and Cuba, for example, face different conditions and procedures than immigrants from other countries. The United States has implemented various policies to control the flow of illegal immigrants, including the use of border patrols and the establishment of detention centers. These policies have been challenged in court, and have resulted in changes to the way immigration is handled.

In recent years, the United States has seen a surge in the number of illegal immigrants, particularly from Mexico. This has led to a number of policy changes, including the construction of a wall along the border with Mexico. The wall has been controversial, and has been criticized by some as ineffective and expensive.

In conclusion, the United States continues to grapple with the issue of immigration, and the policies it implements are complex and controversial. The process is ongoing, and will likely continue to evolve in the years to come.
Climbing family tree for knowledge

Living in a facade of Black Consciousness at Howard

Rashid Randall

He wrote no steed. Neither grace nor fancy rates his name. No stall, no thrill. It is 35 years of blood, sweat and tears that has brought him here today. We have heard him speak before, in a different voice, perhaps, but still, a voice that has been consistent. He has been a consistent voice on the issue of education, on the issue of race, on the issue of Black consciousness. He has been a consistent voice on the issue of the struggle for Black liberation. And today, he will continue to be that voice.

His face is the face of a man who has been through the fire of struggle. His eyes have seen the beauty of the fire, and his heart has been touched by its flames. He has been a man of many faces, and each face tells a story of struggle, of hope, of perseverance.

He has been a voice in the wilderness, a voice that has been heard by many, but not all. He has been a voice that has been silenced by those who have not wanted to hear it. But he has continued to speak, to be heard, to be listened to.

His voice is the voice of a man who has been through the fire of struggle. It is a voice that has been heard by many, but not all. It is a voice that has been silenced by those who have not wanted to hear it. But it has continued to speak, to be heard, to be listened to.

The struggle for Black consciousness is a struggle for knowledge. It is a struggle for understanding. It is a struggle for liberation.

Professor Rashid Randall writes a monthly column for the "Hilltop."
SUBSCRIBE TO THE HILLTOP

YOU CAN HAVE EVERY ISSUE OF THE NATION’S LARGEST BLACK COLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER MAILED TO YOUR HOME OR OFFICE

NAME

COMPANY

ADDRESS

PHONE

$25/ SEMESTER

MAKE CHECKS PAYABLE TO: THE HILLTOP

OR

$45/ YEAR

2251 SHERMAN AVENUE, NW

WASHINGTON, DC 20001

Call Kofi Simpson, office manager, for details at 202-806-6866
WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

ATTENTION:
All Academic Deans and Student Council Presidents

The first Who's Who Nominating Committee meeting is today, September 9, 1994.

All appointees should

Who's Who applications are now available in the Dean's office of your school or college or in the Office of Student Activities.

FLAT RATE 800-COLLECT INSTEAD
SAVE THE PEOPLE YOU CALL UP TO 44%
USE IT EVERY TIME YOU MAKE A LONG DISTANCE COLLECT CALL.

ELAINE
806-6866

WE'RE FOCUSING ON YOUR IMAGE.
We Carry Unique, Interesting, & Hard-To-Find Designer Frames

Focal Point OPTICAL INC.
Dr. James Jackson • Licensed Optician & Owner
3230 Eastern Ave, N.W. • Washington, D.C.
(202) 829-2700

Contact Lens Package

50% OFF Lenses With Purchase Of Frame
There! All Student Council Treasurers are Hilltop lounge. Please be prompt. Blackburn Center Forum, Sept. FIRST 10 WORDS ANDS TERMS THEREAFTER. PER- TROPHIES ARE CHARGED $5. Anyone interested will be an important Student council. This is your chance to showcase TLE BROTHER. WAYNE-TITO MEAND JURY. More info call (202) 234-0840. Thank you for your cooperation. THE HILLTOP. set for 3rd, 9, 1994. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby. I'm sorry. It won't happen again baby.