3-11-2003

The Hilltop 3-11-2003

Hilltop Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010

Recommended Citation

https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010/117

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Hilltop Digital Archive at Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Hilltop: 2000 - 2010 by an authorized administrator of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact lopez.matthews@howard.edu.
Run Off and New Elections to be Held Thursday

Elections Committee Relieved of Duties

By David Johnson
Hilltop Staff Writer

Monday, general elections votes were tallied and announced. For HUSA, there would be a run off election between James Smith and Tasbina Williams "The Hun," and Daniel B. Blackmore and Faith Wall "Restoration." For undergraduate trustee, a run off between Kareem Merrick and Jacqueline Parish was to take place. Charles Coleman was elected undergraduate trustee.

But within hours, at an informal General Assembly meeting, grievances against elections were discussed and the undergraduate trustees were relieved of their duties. The General Assembly decided to hold another round of elections on Thursday. The HUSA vote will be run off, but the undergraduate trustee race will be done over again. After attempting to conduct elections in the School of Business, Pharmacy, Nursing and Allied Health, it was decided to hold them on Thursday.

The elections committee headed by Corey Cunningham was in charge of the vote. The General Assembly voted on three elections chair and co-chair, Larry Blinn Jr., a representative from the School of Communications and Student Senate, a representative from the School of Business, respectively. "Newfangled has asked us to restore a sense of integrity to the elections process," Cunningham said. The candidates were relieved of their duties.

See ELECTIONS page B2

Elections Breaks 'Contract' With Team Platinum for $500

By David Johnson
Hilltop Staff Writer

While students, faculty and University staff await election results, Team Platinum waits for the return of money contributed but never used by General Elections.

Team Platinum, a business marketing group affiliated with Free and Equal Legal Services, agreed to contribute $500 to General Elections to subsidize the cost of advertising, facilitating and conducting elections in exchange for advertising on billboards, flies and a banner to be hung in Blackbum.

However, after nothing was done to advertise the elections on behalf of Team Platinum, the group asked for a refund. Team Platinum member and senior international business major Kyle Bacon said although several attempts have been made on behalf of the group to secure a refund, nothing has been done.

"I have worked with elections for the past few years and know the challenges faced by General Elections," Bacon said. "Fiscally it was a way to do away with some of the recurring problems and level the playing field for the candidates."

While a contract was drafted of a contract, and the contract was put into place. Some of which clauses have been terminated by the group, the elections are in progress. It was important for us to hold another round of elections, "Cunningham said. The group holds the contract signed by Elections Chair, Corey Cunningham.

See PLATINUM page B2

Charter Day Dinner a Success

The Charter Day dinner, an annual fund-raising event where Howard alumni are honored, was a success this year. Ticket sales alone raised over $1 million. Oleta Adams performed, Osie Davis lead announced ceremonies.

Amnesty International Forum Grabs Student Attention

By Motie Cartier
Hilltop Staff Writer

The yellow fliers which read, "How to make a Negro" caught the attention of several students in their building-to-building campaign. Howard University's Amnesty International Chapter hosted the program on Thursday. The group's purpose is to denounce the principles of human and civil rights and proceed against any person or organization to commit justice.

The program addressed the myths of the Willy Lynch letter and spread myths about globalisation and injustices throughout America and the world.

Allah Tucker, a sophomore, economics major and campus coordinator for Amnesty International talked about the myth.

"Our biggest concern this year is bringing awareness to Howard through all venues," Tucker said. "We as a group want to just want to bring awareness." Tucker believes that right in the up coming war and war on globalisation. Amnesty thought the Willy Lynch letter was appropriate to address.

According to core members, Amnesty International is growing and the event was open to the entire student body.

by the organization have arrested the attendance of many students on campus, but they went without many."

"We feel that the support we are getting is good, but we want to be more. Our goal is to have the whole campus involved," Tucker said.

See NEGRO page A9

CBC Chair Speaks at Charter Day Friday

By Ruth L. Tisdale
Hilltop Staff Writer

The themes of reconstruction and empowerment were repeated throughout the 35th Charter Day program. Howard Cummings, chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus, brought the Charter Day address.

During the ceremony Cummings was awarded the Doctor of Laws honoris causa. While Cummings was being presented, President H. Patrick Sayegh read some of Cummings' accomplishments in the field of politics.

"You [Cummings] were elected to the Maryland House of Representatives in 1986 and later elected to the U.S. House of Representatives (1992- ). You have been elected to the House of Representatives and have been one of the House leadership. You have served in several leadership roles there you have served five consecutive terms."

"Congressman Cummings also serves on several Maryland boards and commission including the National State University Board of Regents and the Maryland Higher Education Commission."

When Cummings began his address, his daughter, Jessica, named the program sponsored by the Hilltop.

"It was important for us to host the event to reach more.

See CHAIR page A9

Hussein Says U.S., U.K. Liars

By Mia Marie Davis
Hilltop Staff Writer

The U.S. and Britain have gone forward with resolutions calling for Saddam Hussein to dissolve the ban and población, respect the international community, and cease military action. Britain and the U.S. have been working to meet the deadline for the resolution authorizing military action.

"France has been dragging in an examination of what it terms a U.S. and British threat to use military action," and along with Germany and Russia have threatened to veto the new resolution authorizing military action.

Russian Foreign Minister Igor Ivanov has confirmed that the U.S. and Britain have been working to meet the deadline for the resolution authorizing military action.

"If the proposed resolution is ratified, it is said that the U.S. would adhere to the Mar. 27, 1996, deadline, but if rejected, President George W. Bush might simply 'address the nation and send his troops into battle with...

See HUSSEIN page A9

Sadrabad Muslims.

In hours.

On Friday, the report to the Iraq Security Council, calling for the end of the war and the protection of civilians, would adhere to the Mar. 27, 1996, deadline, but if rejected, President George W. Bush might simply 'address the nation and send his troops into battle with..."
Emergency Loans Help Students

By Joelle A. Williams
Contributing Writer

College students are not only faced with academic and social pressures, but they often carry financial challenges. An emergency loan in many cases is an option to help solve for qualified needs.

Howard University's emergency loans program is one institution that helps students who experience temporary financial hardships, for a few short problems. The application for an emergency loan is "handy and available in most emergency educational situations," which can "indeed be more limited."

According to Deirdre B. Simonson, an employee in the Office of Financial Aid, 80 percent of the Emergency Loan Employment, students request financial aid for a variety of reasons.

"People need loans for rent or for books, sometimes they try to get loans for personal stuff such as paying for food, buying food or shopping," said Alexander. "You have to specify what the loan is for and what address it is and it is not to be used because they perform background checks to ensure that your reason is valid.

Depending on the availability of funds and repayments, personal loans are made to individuals. The maximum amount that can be borrowed is $500.

Emergency loans are funded from a variety of places. The $500 self-help loan, which is included in the tuition package, is one source of funding that was established and enabled by students for the specific purpose of emergencies.

Many students complain that this self-help loan should not be included in tuition payments because all students are not able to raise an emergency fund. However, Mary Simpson, a psychology major, disagreed with that idea.

"It's not like taxes. The people with more money always have the help to pull weight for people with less money," Simpson said. "Tax dollars for welfare are for people who aren't eligible for welfare."

Emergency loans are also funded through private organizations, such as Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, along with alumni associations such as the Class of 1951 Distinguished and the Club of Sigma.

In order to obtain an emergency loan, students must meet:

- Must be a returning student
- Must be enrolled at least 12 credits
- Must be in good academic standing
- Must demonstrate need
- Must complete a detailed application and questionnaire, which can be retrieved in the Office of Financial Aid

Scholarship and Student Employment, room 205 of the Administration Building.

By Ruth L. Toddle
Hilltop Staff Writer

The mood of former students and alumni of the Trinidad Quadrangle, Denise Green, shocked residents and staff alike.

Green told The Hilltop Friday she handed in a letter of resignation to President M. Darling on February 20 in the best interest of the students.

Green said that she was resigning for personal reasons.

Students agreed that Green did many things to help freshmen and others get settled at Howard. She "hired me," said one, "for just one school." Green did her job of community director well.

"She [Green] performed her job of community director with excellence," Ross said. "When I didn't have money to pay rent, she gave me her own personal parking space."

Many of the students were shocked and disappointed to learn Green would be leaving the position of community director.

"I had just talked to Ms. Green and Ms. Johnson said, 'When I found out she resigned, I was shocked.'" Ross said. "I didn't know what to do next." Green will be missed.

Amy Williams, resident assistant for Douglass Towers and a graduate student, disagreed. "She will be missed." No replacement has been set for Green.

"I'm broke. Yet few know how I managed to make some cash and pay my past due rent," said Singletary.

Singletary will announce the winners of the annual Scholarship and Student Employment, room 205 of the Administration Building.

"I'm broke," Somer Ross, president of the Junior Who's Who, said in an interview with The Hilltop.

Ross said, "We are worried about our students and how they save their money to make ends meet."

Washington Post/Penny Pincher.

Penny Pincher Contest Comes to HU

By Jodi Reid
Contributing Writer

Most college students can relate to the statement "I have money, but I don't know how to manage my money." The Washington Post is attempting to help students learn to manage their cash and show them their options with the "Penny Pincher" contest.

Toni Alexander, who is an employee in the Office of Financial Aid, said, "The Washington Post is sponsoring a contest to help students manage their money and show them their options with the "Penny Pincher" contest."

To participate in the contest, students must write a 200-word or less statement about how to manage their money and what they have learned from that experience. The Washington Post Penny Pincher Contest will award the $100, second place will award $50, and the third place will award $25.

All e-mail entries should be submitted to angietyng@washpost.com by Mar. 28 at 5 p.m. You must include your full name, major, classification, phone number, and e-mail address. Finalists will answer questions about their personal finance methods. The Washington Post Penny Pincher will award prize money to the student.

Teaching Conference Held at Howard

By Ruth L. Toddle
Hilltop Staff Writer

Howard University hosted the 2002 National Conference on Culturally Appropriate Teaching (CACT) at the Strathmore Hall on March 7.

The conference addressed how educators can navigate some of the challenges in teaching African American children in the public school system.

"It is a must for educators to be sensitive to the interests, the development, and the special needs of African American children in the general education setting," said Davita Anthony, chair of the Department of African American Studies.

"Many times educators think that they can change children's teaching style," Anthony said. "Teachers know that they can't change things without doing things different.

The achievement gap that is prevalent between white children and African American children is a problem of education, and a disheartening facet of education in America. The Board of Education once brought the achievement gap between white children and African American students to a step forward in their teaching methods.

"I'm broke," Somer Ross, president of the Junior Who's Who, said in an interview with The Hilltop. "When I found out she resigned, I was shocked." Ross said. "I didn't know what to do next." Green will be missed.

"She will be missed." No replacement has been set for Green.

"I'm broke," Somer Ross, president of the Junior Who's Who, said in an interview with The Hilltop.

Ross said, "We are worried about our students and how they save their money to make ends meet."

Washington Post/Penny Pincher.

Penny Pincher Contest Comes to HU

By Jodi Reid
Contributing Writer

Most college students can relate to the statement "I have money, but I don't know how to manage my money." The Washington Post is attempting to help students learn to manage their money and show them their options with the "Penny Pincher" contest.

Toni Alexander, who is an employee in the Office of Financial Aid, said, "The Washington Post is sponsoring a contest to help students manage their money and show them their options with the "Penny Pincher" contest."

To participate in the contest, students must write a 200-word or less statement about how to manage their money and what they have learned from that experience. The Washington Post Penny Pincher Contest will award the $100, second place will award $50, and the third place will award $25.

All e-mail entries should be submitted to angietyng@washpost.com by Mar. 28 at 5 p.m. You must include your full name, major, classification, phone number, and e-mail address. Finalists will answer questions about their personal finance methods. The Washington Post Penny Pincher will award prize money to the student.
A ‘Nibblett’ of Women’s Month with Lottie

By Kellie Carter
Hilltop Staff Writer

March 11, 2003 The Hilltop

By Kellie Carter
Hilltop Staff Writer

ed as National Women’s History Month, Lottie Nibblett, a local African American woman, but she has an extraordinary past.

The University has a historical tie to as Miss Lottie) has experienced sharecropping, integration and racism and survived strong and spiritual.

Nibblett recalls, "Starting from May to September we spent all day pulling the tobacco and harvesting. Then in October, school would start."

Nibblett can remember having to travel as many miles from the nearest integrated school. The Supreme Court Decision of Brown v. the Board of Education in 1955 left Nibblett at her time. In addition of full 25 white children and 12 blacks.

"Segregation was a big deal because at first it was all black, it just seemed the salt and pepper mixed up together," says Nibblett who believes that segregation was a good thing.

"I didn’t like school. The teacher called on all students, but the black ones, we had to work hard to get a grade."

Nibblett endured fighting, being spit on, name calling and having children knock books out of her hand at school. But outside was another battle.

"When school was out, men would be in their pickup trucks, call black children names, and force us to run into the woods behind the school."

Nibblett recalls, "The tobacco fields were in the middle of a field surrounded by white people's houses."

The five-minute walk for white children was a 45 minute one for Black and sometimes longer.

However, Nibblett is a woman of few complaints and so little trouble with her past. She recalls the log cabin house they lived in on the farm all about three miles from the road, very beautiful with a wooden stove and heater.

All eight children were born in that house. She roomed the spacious with wall where she practiced writing her name.

When asked if her childhood was pleasant she responds, "Oh yes, I had a lot of fun playing house, swing, and having children pickling to make fish sauce."

"Miss Lottie" is a woman who has learned hard work throughout her life; she’s been in six car accidents and was once hit by a drunk police officer near Howard University reservoir. She has lost two siblings and a husband. But she maintains that courage, contentment and Christ have kept her.

Through it all, she imparts her own personal words of wisdom. "I wouldn’t rather for people to know that life is worth living if you let God come into your life then you won’t look at what you have to lose, you’ll look at what you can gain because the Lord will give it to you. It may not be rich, but with Jesus I have it, I don’t worry about it."

Lottie Nibblett has worked for the University for over 16 years.

Ellis Marsalis

considered one of the world’s premier jazz pianists.

He’s taught some of the world’s most famous musicians. Even favored a lot of his own.

But with retirement approaching, he didn’t want to improvise. Not when it came to money. We worked with him on ways to make the most of his retirement plan, so money wouldn’t get in the way of his music. After all, peasants aren’t supposed to play the blues.

Leg on for ideas, advice, and results. 1-800-842-0860

BROWN AND THE EARN AND LEARN PROGRAM

Some of the hardest questions students face have nothing to do with classes. But, rather, things like, how will they pay for college? UPS offers the perfect solution.

Through the Earn and Learn® Program, students who work part-time at UPS can get up to $23,000 in college education assistance to help pay for the tuition, fees & textbooks. Brown really does have the answer to your questions.

WANT WHAT CAN BROWN DO FOR YOU?

To learn about UPS-Burtonsville (14841 Sweitzer Ln, Laurel), call 301-937-2064

Or call: 1-800-842-0860 of the Earn and Learn® Program, students who work part-time at UPS can get up to $23,000 in college education assistance to help pay for the tuition, fees & textbooks. Brown really does have the answer to your questions.

WANT WHAT CAN BROWN DO FOR YOU?

To learn about UPS-Burtonsville (14841 Sweitzer Ln, Laurel), sign up on-line for a tour at:

UPS Jobs

March 11, 2003 The Hilltop
NASA Staff Cuts

(BBC) Top NASA officials have engineered a massive downsizing, the realization of which is expected to come as soon as Friday. The cuts, announced on Monday, were necessary due to a number of factors, including the United States space agency's budget constraints and the need to improve system-wide efficiency. The agency produces and distributes professional services, under the most rigorous of conditions, ensuring that all pertinent tasks are completed in a timely manner.

Alamo Under Siege by Termites

(Houston) The 250-year-old structure, where a small band of Texas volunteers battled to the death against the invading Mexican troops under General Santa Anna, is in under siege by swarms of harmful termites. "We have some termite infestations, especially in the upper two feet of the window boxes of the site," Alamo Director David Sterrett said.

The Alamo is mostly made of adobe bricks, which is more of a wood-destroying wood beam and window box than a harmful tourist attraction in Texas. Sterrett said the problem has been going on for 30 days and ended with a hazardous lesion on the ground of the entire Alamo.

No Show on Broadway

(AP) Virtually every musical shut down Friday after their musicians were blackballed by the American Federation of Musicians, who walked off the picket line due to the threat of terrorist attacks.

"We believe in the freedom of the picket line and the right to demonstrate," said union official Michael Francis. "For some of us, it means giving up the job Friday. The musicians have paid a hard-earned price for this, and we are prepared to stay as long as necessary to ensure the safety of our families and security of Broadway theater-goers."

By Rachel Davis

Most teachers and students have been caught off guard by the threat of a terrorist attack that is said to have spread across the area. "We had no idea this was coming, " said Mr. Millard, a teacher at one of the schools affected. "This is the first time we've had any warning, and we aren't sure what to do."

Several schools, including the local high school, have been locked down due to the threat. "The last thing we need is for parents to come in and think we're not doing our job," said Mr. Millard. "We are doing everything we can to keep our students safe, and we will continue to do so as long as necessary."

By Rachel Davis

While the term "martyr" is often associated with the terrorist movement, it is important to understand the history and context behind it. "The concept of the martyr is a complex one, and it is important to understand its roots in both the Islamic and Western traditions," said a scholar of religious studies.

"The martyr is often seen as a sacrifice for a greater cause, and it is important to remember that this concept is not unique to the terrorist movement," the scholar continued.

US Captures Chief al Qaeda Mastermind

By Rachel Davis

Kuwait-born Khalid Shaikh Mohammed, identified by the United States as the terrorist mastermind behind the Sept. 11 attacks on the Twin Towers, was captured Tuesday in an operation by the United States. President George W. Bush said the capture was a "significant" event, and it was confirmed by other sources.

"Khalid Shaikh Mohammed is the leader of Al Qaeda and the mastermind behind the attacks on Sept. 11," Bush said. "He has been responsible for many of the most deadly attacks on American soil, including the attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon."

The United States has been on high alert since the Sept. 11 attacks, and the capture of Mohammed is seen as a significant development.

By Rachel Davis

As the war threat of terrorism in the future, the US, the UN and NATO will be working on the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries that have been identified as the most important political and economic players in the region.

The United States and the United Nations (UN) have been working closely together to ensure the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region. The UN has been working on a number of initiatives to ensure the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region.

The UN Security Council, on the other hand, has been focusing on the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region.

By Rachel Davis

As the war threat of terrorism in the future, the US, the UN and NATO will be working on the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries that have been identified as the most important political and economic players in the region.

The United States and the United Nations (UN) have been working closely together to ensure the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region. The UN has been working on a number of initiatives to ensure the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region.

The UN Security Council, on the other hand, has been focusing on the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region.

By Rachel Davis

As the war threat of terrorism in the future, the US, the UN and NATO will be working on the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries that have been identified as the most important political and economic players in the region.

The United States and the United Nations (UN) have been working closely together to ensure the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region. The UN has been working on a number of initiatives to ensure the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region.

The UN Security Council, on the other hand, has been focusing on the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region.

By Rachel Davis

As the war threat of terrorism in the future, the US, the UN and NATO will be working on the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries that have been identified as the most important political and economic players in the region.

The United States and the United Nations (UN) have been working closely together to ensure the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region. The UN has been working on a number of initiatives to ensure the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region.

The UN Security Council, on the other hand, has been focusing on the protection of Iraq, as well as on other countries in the region.
Maybe We Should Relocate

A Look at the World’s Best/Worst Cities

By Jonathan Granum

Contribution Writer

Granada, I figured I could pick a whole fifteen days in to start anew. By Ele is h a John

However, now he had cut them off, stating that he would like to start new.

We may not like it, but we live with it and get accounting. Everywhere you travel in, this will count as an entry in the ‘good life’ of a change in the amount of available housing within a certain square inch. Does everyone really gain as a result of the best places to live in the world?

This, therefore, should result not only be taken with some sort of coldness which will enable me to some idea of what is exact when we travel around the world, an idea which may undoubtedly change once we actually experience the city around.

According to my own survey conducted within my own, it was a stit sampling ratio of domestic to international students.

When asked according to their point of view, the best cities to be interviewed were the following: Granada, Toronto, Dublin, Beijing, Miami. Fl. Too, it’s all perspectives and for me, my own city ranking were Trinid^d and Tobago.

Elisha John

interviews a rare find in a dreadlocked Spaniard

By Elisha John Contributing Writer

One can always tell foreign tourists when they are in the city and think they have the local culture. They always say to; I was so exception. After spending three days in Granada, I figured I could pick the Spanish ‘acho’ and statistics show we have done.

When mid-January—very cold—and we debugged ourselves (old bad enemy) are tried to do, when I was stopped in my tracks by the group of Spanish students passing by, talking, laughing, sporting waist-length dreadlocks and threaded in the unspeakable sound of laughter.

We debugged ourselves (old bad enemy) are tried to do, when I was stopped in my tracks by the group of Spanish students passing by, talking, laughing, sporting waist-length dreadlocks and threaded in the unspeakable sound of laughter.

In the final analysis, Canada’s cities did really well in the survey with most of them ranking ahead of more popular cities of the world, Ottawa, Montreal and Calgary also ranked ahead of such famous cities as Tokyo, Paris, Delhi and New York. Chicago and

The survey was broken down into various variables with rankings in each. The safest city in the world was determined to be Luxembourg closely followed by Brunei, Singapore and the three Swiss cities: Znrich, Geneva and Bern.

Unfortunately, we reside in the most dangerous cities in USA, Washington, D.C.

We therefore return to the digital question: Should we respond? I don’t know. Why should we? Because statistics say we live in a dangerous place, but do you go there is some degree of danger. Having lived in DC for any long time, I was therefore know and accept that.

The Last Testimony of a ‘Rasta’

By Elisha John Contributing Writer

His last day as a ‘rasta.’ After all, he thought, he had cut them off, stating that he would like to start new.

The goodwill invitation was put a land er on its surface. And how long have you been growing it?

“As far as I am concerned, the question goes to the heart of human existence. And it must be answered in the affirmative.” —Elisha John

“Now, how do you feel about being a ‘vagabond’?”

“To me, the meaning of life is to be a vagabond. And it must be answered in the affirmative.” —Elisha John

(As Alpho de la botella

rice pot? How far is it popular?

What can you tell me about the history of this hairstyle?

Which will enable me to some idea of what is exact when we travel around the world, an idea which may undoubtedly change once we actually experience the city around.

Whenever you travel in, this will count as an entry in the ‘good life’ of a change in the amount of available housing within a certain square inch. Does everyone really gain as a result of the best places to live in the world?

One can always tell foreign tourists when they are in the city and think they have the local culture. They always say to; I was so exception. After spending three days in Granada, I figured I could pick the Spanish ‘acho’ and statistics show we have done.

When mid-January—very cold—and we debugged ourselves (old bad enemy) are tried to do, when I was stopped in my tracks by the group of Spanish students passing by, talking, laughing, sporting waist-length dreadlocks and threaded in the unspeakable sound of laughter.

In the final analysis, Canada’s cities did really well in the survey with most of them ranking ahead of more popular cities of the world, Ottawa, Montreal and Calgary also ranked ahead of such famous cities as Tokyo, Paris, Delhi and New York. Chicago and

The survey was broken down into various variables with rankings in each. The safest city in the world was determined to be Luxembourg closely followed by Brunei, Singapore and the three Swiss cities: Znrich, Geneva and Bern.

Unfortunately, we reside in the most dangerous cities in USA, Washington, D.C.

We therefore return to the digital question: Should we respond? I don’t know. Why should we? Because statistics say we live in a dangerous place, but do you go there is some degree of danger. Having lived in DC for any long time, I was therefore know and accept that.

The Last Testimony of a ‘Rasta’

By Elisha John Contributing Writer

His last day as a ‘rasta.’ After all, he thought, he had cut them off, stating that he would like to start new.

The goodwill invitation was put a land er on its surface. And how long have you been growing it?

“As far as I am concerned, the question goes to the heart of human existence. And it must be answered in the affirmative.” —Elisha John

“Now, how do you feel about being a ‘vagabond’?”

“To me, the meaning of life is to be a vagabond. And it must be answered in the affirmative.” —Elisha John

(As Alpho de la botella

rice pot? How far is it popular?

What can you tell me about the history of this hairstyle?

Which will enable me to some idea of what is exact when we travel around the world, an idea which may undoubtedly change once we actually experience the city around.

Whenever you travel in, this will count as an entry in the ‘good life’ of a change in the amount of available housing within a certain square inch. Does everyone really gain as a result of the best places to live in the world?

One can always tell foreign tourists when they are in the city and think they have the local culture. They always say to; I was so exception. After spending three days in Granada, I figured I could pick the Spanish ‘acho’ and statistics show we have done.

When mid-January—very cold—and we debugged ourselves (old bad enemy) are tried to do, when I was stopped in my tracks by the group of Spanish students passing by, talking, laughing, sporting waist-length dreadlocks and threaded in the unspeakable sound of laughter.

In the final analysis, Canada’s cities did really well in the survey with most of them ranking ahead of more popular cities of the world, Ottawa, Montreal and Calgary also ranked ahead of such famous cities as Tokyo, Paris, Delhi and New York. Chicago and

The survey was broken down into various variables with rankings in each. The safest city in the world was determined to be Luxembourg closely followed by Brunei, Singapore and the three Swiss cities: Znrich, Geneva and Bern.

Unfortunately, we reside in the most dangerous cities in USA, Washington, D.C.

We therefore return to the digital question: Should we respond? I don’t know. Why should we? Because statistics say we live in a dangerous place, but do you go there is some degree of danger. Having lived in DC for any long time, I was therefore know and accept that.

The Last Testimony of a ‘Rasta’

By Elisha John Contributing Writer

His last day as a ‘rasta.’ After all, he thought, he had cut them off, stating that he would like to start new.

The goodwill invitation was put a land er on its surface. And how long have you been growing it?

“As far as I am concerned, the question goes to the heart of human existence. And it must be answered in the affirmative.” —Elisha John

“Now, how do you feel about being a ‘vagabond’?”

“To me, the meaning of life is to be a vagabond. And it must be answered in the affirmative.” —Elisha John

(As Alpho de la botella

rice pot? How far is it popular?

What can you tell me about the history of this hairstyle?

Which will enable me to some idea of what is exact when we travel around the world, an idea which may undoubtedly change once we actually experience the city around.

Whenever you travel in, this will count as an entry in the ‘good life’ of a change in the amount of available housing within a certain square inch. Does everyone really gain as a result of the best places to live in the world?
National HBCU Substance Abuse Conference

April 2-4, 2003
Baltimore Marriott Inner Harbor Hotel

Reasons You Should Attend

- To promote career opportunities in substance abuse related fields.
- To meet top practitioners, researchers and scientists.
- To exchange information and to network.
- To increase awareness of substance abuse on HBCU campuses.
- To expand the dialogue regarding health disparities.
- To acknowledge the importance of spirituality in substance abuse treatment.
- Because all communities are affected by substance abuse.
- Because you see yourself as a future health-care professional.

The conference will feature a student town hall meeting with discussion topics on:
- Substance abuse;
- Mental health;
- HIV/AIDS;
- Overall health care and treatment disparities.

For more information and to register...
visit: http://www.howard.edu/research/cdar/conferences
E-mail: conference@cdar.howard.edu
Tel: (202) 806-8600, Margo Jackson Spencer
Students must pre-register to attend conference. Space is limited. Students must provide student identification. Transportation and limited lodging available.

The Dr. Lonnie E. Mitchell National HBCU Substance Abuse, 2003
"Reaching Beyond Our Traditional Roles: A Call to Action for HBCUs and the Faith Communities"
March Howard Alum Helps Homeless Prepare for Job Interviews

Hilltop Staff Writer

Erika Watson, executive director of the Dress For Success in DC, felt there was a need to start a Dress For Success affiliate in the Washington, DC area. Dress for Success is an organization that was founded in 1979 by Nancy Hindu-Ladd, a fashion design graduate, who envisioned a place where women would be able to dress for success.

Erika Watson is a Howard alum who worked in corporate America as a human resources consultant, said the irony is she doesn’t have to work at Dress For Success because she is passionate about giving back to her community. Watson said, “I feel like it is a ministry.”

Dress For Success has been successful in helping women look their best for job interviews. Watson said, “We want a suit that the woman feels like it is on her, not as an instrument of oppression. People are removed from their jobs after just one time of being in a dress for success suit.”

Women who come to Dress For Success don’t just get a suit, they get a career development to job interviews. Watson said, “We focus on the clients having to spend their first few paychecks on nice clothing.”

The dress for success office is located in New York, and opened its doors to clients in October of last year to start a Dress For Success chapter in DC. The organization is called the Professional and Business Women’s Group. The group is designed to break the welfare cycle, which consists of women hopping from job to job. The women, or PWG, is to help women keep their jobs once they are employed. Watson said the group will provide the women with money to buy new suits and a chance to interact with others in their same situation. Watson added that volunteering is the most fabulous suit, said Watson.

As Watson helps the women, she feels like work. She works in corporate America, said Watson, and said people don’t understand this suit and the reality of what it means to have an outlet to play out their own stories.

Currently, the DC office of Dress For Success helps up to 35 women a month take flights into the workforce.

Watson, who has previously worked in corporate America as a human resources consultant, said the irony is she doesn’t have to work at Dress For Success because she is passionate about giving back to her community. Watson said, “I feel like it is a ministry.”

Dress For Success has been successful in helping women look their best for job interviews. Watson said, “We want a suit that the woman feels like it is on her, not as an instrument of oppression. People are removed from their jobs after just one time of being in a dress for success suit.”

Women who come to Dress For Success don’t just get a suit, they get a career development to job interviews. Watson said, “We focus on the clients having to spend their first few paychecks on nice clothing.”

The dress for success office is located in New York, and opened its doors to clients in October of last year to start a Dress For Success chapter in DC. The organization is called the Professional and Business Women’s Group. The group is designed to break the welfare cycle, which consists of women hopping from job to job. The women, or PWG, is to help women keep their jobs once they are employed. Watson said the group will provide the women with money to buy new suits and a chance to interact with others in their same situation. Watson added that volunteering is the most fabulous suit, said Watson.

As Watson helps the women, she feels like work. She works in corporate America, said Watson, and said people don’t understand this suit and the reality of what it means to have an outlet to play out their own stories.
ENROLLMENT MANAGEMENT

Fall 2003 General Registration

Monday, March 24th – Friday, April 4th
7am - Midnight

SCHEDULE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DAY</th>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>CLASSIFICATION*</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monday</td>
<td>March 24</td>
<td>Senior/2nd year Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuesday</td>
<td>March 25</td>
<td>Junior/1st year Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>March 26</td>
<td>Sophomore/Exchange-Unclassified</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>March 27</td>
<td>Freshman-Unclassified</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>March 28</td>
<td>Graduate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>March 29</td>
<td>All Students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>March 30</td>
<td>All Students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monday</td>
<td>March 31</td>
<td>All Students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuesday</td>
<td>April 1</td>
<td>All Students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>April 2</td>
<td>All Students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>April 3</td>
<td>All Students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>April 4</td>
<td>All Students</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*If you are not sure of your official classification, please refer to B.I.S.O.N. Web.

- Students are required to meet with their academic advisors for discussion and approval of proposed course selections before using HU B.I.S.O.N. 202-986-1155 or B.I.S.O.N. Web (www.howard.edu).
- Students must meet all prerequisite requirements.
- Special procedures are required for all LLM students before registering (see your advisor).
- Students should print their schedules from the Web in a campus computer center.
- First deferred payment for Fall 2003 is due August 1, 2003.

ALTERNATE PINS REQUIRED

School of Education
Division of Allied Health Sciences
Division of Nursing
School of Business
College of Arts and Sciences

All Students
Graduate and Undergraduate Undergraduate
Cumulative GPA less than 2.0
Cumulative GPA less than 2.0

You must see your advisor for your alternate PIN!
CBC Chair, Elijah Cummings Speaks at Charter Day Friday

CHAIR FROM A1
"My father has inspired me to do more than my means may allow," Cummings said. "I have always told my children that if you can help someone else, you are helping yourself."

"He has always told me that my role as an educator is to make the next generation better than the previous generation."

"I believe in the power of education to transform lives."

Egyptian Fraternity Shines Light on Howard

FRAT FROM A3
"The educational mission of our fraternity is to educate Black men on the benefits of honesty, integrity, and good character."

"Our members are committed to the values of respect for all people, regardless of race, gender, or socioeconomic status.

"Our members are leaders in the community, and we strive to be a positive influence on those around us."

"We believe that education is the key to success, and we are committed to helping our members achieve their goals.

Election Day: the votes are in

"The voting process is an important aspect of democracy, and we encourage everyone to participate."

"It is important to vote in every election, and we believe that every vote counts.

"We are committed to educating our members about the importance of voting, and we encourage you to do your part by casting your vote."
NATURALLY, WE PUT GREAT VALUE IN NUMBERS. ESPECIALLY THE NUMBER ONE.

VOTED NUMBER ONE IDEAL EMPLOYER.

PricewaterhouseCoopers was voted the number one ideal employer in the 2002 Universum Undergraduates Survey of more than 4,000 business students and the number one recruiter in our profession in the 2002 Emerson Company Campus Recruiting Survey.

www.pwcglobal.com/lookhere.

Look beyond the numbers.
"God's Trombones" Plays Loud in Ira Aldridge

By Jozen Cummings

"God's Trombones," a production presented by the Department of Theatre Arts, premiered Thursday.

The production, which began openly, proceeded with a beautiful and flawless performance of the song "Lord, We Need To Know" by Danielle Withers. The crystal clear fluidity and breathability of the actress led the audience to the story smoothly, and the Cast was able to use a high-quality, talented production to portray the story.

Next, the six "preachers" (portraying characters in the sermon) delivered the sermon and the audience was moved and the audience left with a new perspective of the world.

The story involved a man who was told by a preacher to deliver the sermon and the question in his own or his有机的 natural style. The sermons were introduced, a group of people came together to speak, and the preacher talked about the story of the earth as the rest of the world was told. The preacher then took on the role of an artist in this section of the story.

Simone Walson Johnson, who was working to keep the promise of each bible story the same changed the perspective of a bit.

The result was a movement of the creation, which tells of the creation of the world and its inhabitants, and depicts God, the serpent, and the church as well as the serpent as the main character of the story. This perspective is yet another popular story.

The Creation, built the ark, and the Foolish Preachers, as well as the women, performed the song "The Creation" and "Go Down Death." A Female Serafim performed the song "The Creation." This is nowhere noted as of yet in the story and the woman's role was minimized at the outset.

All while men in high-activity jobs were trying to find balance between their profession and their family life, a lot of black people are the first to be targeted by the police. It's due to a situation that is created. To find balance between father and mother.

Director Brian Brown's adaptation of "Go Down Death: A Funeral Sermon." The productive and the people are given a chance to sing and express themselves, and a chance to make a change in the world.

"I loved it," filmmaker Bill Brown said. "We need to get more music into the screen and I don't think we can do that." The show was a joy to watch as the actors depicted the story and contained the essence of the story.

D.C. Film Sheds New Light

By David Joseph

Two films have been released to remind people of the drug culture, and although they are making millions of dollars, they are not doing much to help the drug culture.

The first film was "The Best of HU Vol. I," which is a simple example of how to use words in the English language. The second film was "The Best of HU Vol. II," which is a respectable effort, but it could have been better.

D.C. Film Sheds New Light

By David Joseph

Two films have been released to remind people of the drug culture, and although they are making millions of dollars, they are not doing much to help the drug culture.

The first film was "The Best of HU Vol. I," which is a simple example of how to use words in the English language. The second film was "The Best of HU Vol. II," which is a respectable effort, but it could have been better.

Both films have been released to remind people of the drug culture, and although they are making millions of dollars, they are not doing much to help the drug culture.

The first film was "The Best of HU Vol. I," which is a simple example of how to use words in the English language. The second film was "The Best of HU Vol. II," which is a respectable effort, but it could have been better.

D.C. Film Sheds New Light

By David Joseph

Two films have been released to remind people of the drug culture, and although they are making millions of dollars, they are not doing much to help the drug culture.

The first film was "The Best of HU Vol. I," which is a simple example of how to use words in the English language. The second film was "The Best of HU Vol. II," which is a respectable effort, but it could have been better.

D.C. Film Sheds New Light

By David Joseph

Two films have been released to remind people of the drug culture, and although they are making millions of dollars, they are not doing much to help the drug culture.

The first film was "The Best of HU Vol. I," which is a simple example of how to use words in the English language. The second film was "The Best of HU Vol. II," which is a respectable effort, but it could have been better.

D.C. Film Sheds New Light

By David Joseph

Two films have been released to remind people of the drug culture, and although they are making millions of dollars, they are not doing much to help the drug culture.

The first film was "The Best of HU Vol. I," which is a simple example of how to use words in the English language. The second film was "The Best of HU Vol. II," which is a respectable effort, but it could have been better.

D.C. Film Sheds New Light

By David Joseph

Two films have been released to remind people of the drug culture, and although they are making millions of dollars, they are not doing much to help the drug culture.

The first film was "The Best of HU Vol. I," which is a simple example of how to use words in the English language. The second film was "The Best of HU Vol. II," which is a respectable effort, but it could have been better.

D.C. Film Sheds New Light

By David Joseph

Two films have been released to remind people of the drug culture, and although they are making millions of dollars, they are not doing much to help the drug culture.

The first film was "The Best of HU Vol. I," which is a simple example of how to use words in the English language. The second film was "The Best of HU Vol. II," which is a respectable effort, but it could have been better.
ELECTIONS from A1

hard to reach the students and something has to be done to ensure a sense of fairness to both them and the student body.

Glycine's first in line to the elections process were discussed in the meeting. These includ­ing individuals and groups were asked to reduce the number of rules and guidelines, last minute changes to ballots, inadequate staffing, long lines and the small number of voting machines.

While undergraduate trustee team Platinum said Cunningham was left off the list of candidates for the undergraduate trustee election.

"We will do better next year," Team Platinum member Spanish Cheney, a representative from the School of Education, said.

Although Team Platinum and General Elections were not on speaking terms. They have not communicated since its origins.

"The contract was made between Cunningham and Team Platinum, when it was first drafted by Cunningham," said Garrett.
The contract details the refunding the money,
Money was used to pay for elections and the General Elections owe Platinum S500.

Team Platinum General Elections owes them $500.

While the nature of the transaction is arguable, this incident is added to a growing list of complaints against both
General Elections and Cunningham.

"I'm confident the staff can handle the situation," said Cunningham.

Cunningham and Team Platinum have met several times to try to resolve the matter.

"I entered into a contract between Team Platinum and Cunningham, while approved by a head team on behalf of Team Platinum, was never presented to nor approved by General Council or office. Cunningham said he had no problem with the contract at all.

Cunningham and Team Platinum asserts it entered into a contract with General Elections and it is null and void since its origins.

"As far as I know, (the Election Committee) didn't meet any of the obligations — paying for public relations costs, flyers and other expen­s ses — for that contract," said Garrett.

"While Team Platinum has not received a formal grievance
from Team Platinum, Public Relations director for General
Assembly Meredith Moore said.

"Additionally, USDAs has not received a formal grievance
about the contract, if that is what they are referring to. It is just a complaint," said Garrett.

"While General Elections could not further comment on the contract,
the nature of the dispute falls between the verbal and
physical contract between Cunningham and Team Platinum.

The contract was made
between Cunningham and Team Platinum and will be dissolved on election day.

While Team Platinum has not
filed a formal grievance, they expect Cunningham to do so.

"Cunningham said that he will submit the necessary paperwork to the General Assembly for the grievance to be heard," said Garrett.

"General Elections main­tains a hands-off policy with regard to the dispute because no formal communication between General Elections and Team Platinum has occurred.

"Not about shirking responsibility," Team Platinum, we can also see the helplessness from personnel to students, to the administration, to the contract to be fulfilled.

While the nature of the transaction is arguable, this incident is added to a growing
list of complaints against both
General Elections and Cunningham.

"Additionally, USDAs has not received a formal grievance
about the contract, if that is what they are referring to. It is just a complaint," said Garrett.

"While General Elections could
not further comment on the contract,
the nature of the dispute falls between the verbal and
physical contract between Cunningham and Team Platinum.

The contract was made
between Cunningham and Team Platinum and will be dissolved on election day.

While Team Platinum has not
filed a formal grievance, they expect Cunningham to do so.

"Cunningham said that he will submit the necessary paperwork to the General Assembly for
the grievance to be heard," said Garrett.

"General Elections main­tains a hands-off policy with regard to the dispute because no formal communication between General Elections and
Team Platinum has occurred.

"Not about shirking responsibility," Team Platinum, we can also see the helplessness from personnel to students, to the administration, to the contract to be fulfilled.

While the nature of the transaction is arguable, this incident is added to a growing
list of complaints against both
General Elections and Cunningham.
New School University
Robert J. Milano Graduate School of Management and Urban Policy

Milano

Earn a Master of Science degree in:
- Health Services Management and Policy
- Human Resources Management
- Nonprofit Management
- Organizational Change Management
- Urban Policy Analysis and Management

Ph.D. degree:
- Public & Urban Policy

Program Concentrations in:
- Strategic Health Management
- International Policy & Program Management
- Community Development & Nonprofit Management
- Housing & Community Development
- Finance & Economic Development
- Workforce Development
- Social Policy

Courses Available:
- On-Line
- Day and Evening
- Saturday
- Site-line (1/2 on-line and 1/2 in-class)
- Degree and Non-Degree

call for information 212-229-5150
72 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10011 www.newschool.edu/milano/

Howard Delicatessen
Is Now Providing Tax Preparation Service

$$$$$ SAME DAY REFUNDS $$$$$

2612 Georgia Avenue, NW
(Across from HU School of Business)
Walk in or call to make an appointment today!
(202) 332-5747

Tax Preparation Services are Reviewed by a CPA from TSC Enterprises
Visit TSC Enterprises on the Web @ www.1040.com/tsc

TSC Enterprises Specializes in:
- Rapid Refunds • Electronic Filing • Individual Returns • Small Business Returns
Elections Still Miss the Mark

Many students were undoubtedly shocked and a little stoked up by the shootings. We know that this could have happened to any one of us.

First, there was the uncertainty about who was running and who wasn't. Then, there was the cancellation of open mics followed by a general feeling of uncertainty towards the candidates' ambiguous guidelines. That day, we were understandably gun-shy. It is not Howard that is an embarrassment; it is the E.C. that could only occur at Howard. These things happen that should not happen. We should not start living in fear. We should not start living in fear.

Our View:

There is no excuse for the disorganization of elections last Thursday.

The policy board has suggested to HUSA that guidelines for elections become permanent. As it stands, the elections guidelines are submitted by the newly elected each year and subsequently have to be approved by the general assembly. We could not agree more.

There are two issues that need to be resolved as a matter of voting booths in the school. Moreover, the Elections chair should be qualified to submit to candidates. There should be an established office before starting his or her availability and this person should have the flexibility to rework the schedule.

With more imagination, standing guidelines, elections will undoubtedly run more smoothly.

We cannot wait for the next election. We cannot wait for the next election. We cannot wait for the next election. We cannot wait for the next election.

The Hilltop March 11, 2003

Joeseph Sawyer
Managing Editor

Aisha Cheney
Managing Editor

How Hollywood Sees Black People

Recently, there has been much controversy over the new film "Bringing Down the House" starring Queen Latifah and Steve Martin. Martin's character is a brain, B-mannequin and utterly Classless woman that conforms to the stereotype of Black women. Though Martin's role isn't a new story, it is certainly one that we must be wary of.

Our View:

We need to stop conforming to the age-old stereotypes associated with black people.

There is a great deal of money to be made by the film industry. They have made a fortune off of placing Negroes in roles that are not appropriate for their character. They have made a fortune off of placing Negroes in roles that are not appropriate for their character. They have made a fortune off of placing Negroes in roles that are not appropriate for their character.

There should be a change in the way these people are portrayed on the screen. There should be a change in the way these people are portrayed on the screen. There should be a change in the way these people are portrayed on the screen.

The Hilltop March 11, 2003

Lauren Payne Anderson
Editor-in-Chief

The Nation's Largest Black College Newspaper

The shooting of two freshmen Howard students a couple of weeks ago was a sad and frightening occurrence that left many Howard students feeling uneasy. Despite this unfortunate incident, it is important for us to not live our lives in fear.

Many students were understandably shocked and a little stoked up by the shootings. We know that this could have happened to any one of us.

At a result, many students feel that Howard is an unsafe environment. Though it is natural to feel that way, this is not necessarily the case.

There is no way to run away from potential danger. The only thing we can do is become aware of our surroundings and try to make the most of our college experiences. We should resume our normal lives instead of living in fear.

Our View:

In spite of the unfortunate shootings that occurred, we should resume our normal lives instead of living in fear.

The Hilltop March 11, 2003

Joeseph Sawyer
Managing Editor

Aisha Cheney
Managing Editor
A Different World

Clara Don't Do Not What Was Expected

David Johns

David Johns

Only I, a separate no, I am asked about a decision to study here and how I perceive the world from a different perspective. At Columbia University and Howard University, these inquiries have surfaced in my life.

If you are the first person in the system, what you are not intended to be demanding a greater effort or to present a sense of expectation that is on the line. It is not that I have any expectations of what Charter Day should or should not have been, but whatever I do hold in my essence of myself that really existed was the spirit that was there. There is something to the idea for the preservation of the world, but my many of the traditional practises that I witnessed during the Charter Day just seemed fundamentally out of place.

Beginning with the presentation of the President by both the Princely and the Mayor of the city, and through the "opportunistic" condition of the "public art," the presentation of some innovative European standards seemed to trumpet any associations of African or African American traditions.

The Germanic intellectual component, based in the World Stage and on classical tracks. The same classes were the same basis that are born in the stereotypic settings, but evident in other respects. While this music played, the university started to unite in common order of tenure and prestige.

There was triumph in the moment when a general wave of distinguished university officials assembled and took their bows and then through a mixture of the cabinet in the audience.

The practice of greeting from exploited patrons in a crowd is, indeed, based in the African tradition of communal associations of what allow for communication without a sense of formality.

It was interesting to see the attempt by President Swygert to draw the cultural traditions of Americans and African Americans.

When it came to the second of the two anthems, the round-trip full of themes that left me with the whole modern composer and many black authors. Including President Boger's band included for the musical presentation of the two anthems in the program.

That overall was rushing and powerful. The music presented provided a heartfelt introduction from the black choir of Howard University.

The presentation of the "Black America" wagon was offensive to black people. When I spot some sense of black face in a mile away.

Among the many things that was Charter Day is a day that was really unique and specific for the blend of Africans Americans. Though I am not sure why, I have a feeling that the movie not only made me laugh a lot, but it seriously made me want to see Steve Martin "Making it with the band" in a scary attempt to revive its career.

The most disappointing aspect of "out splatter" was that one of the important scenes in the movie was made into a down for the announcement of millions of white folks. I love one expect for "Queen Latifah". The woman promised black people, femininity, and affirmation in the late 90's and early 900's. This is the same woman who starred as the strong, hardworking magazine editor, Kadejah on the show "Living Single." The Queen also recently hosted her own nationally syndicated talk show.

My question is how did the Queen's agent talk her into doing this role? I saw "Behind The Music" special, and I know she's not stripped for cash. She is not asked to reflect her acting career and what images she wants to portray in the future.

So in a part, I threw my middle finger to Hollywood and "Bringing Down the House." While I realize that what is realistic to me may not be interesting to others and vice versa, this book has got to stop, encourage all thinkers black folks to avoid this movie and others like it, and encourage all Robert Townsend's "Hollywood Shuffle," the 1987 classic parody of the portrayal of black people in movies. Peace.
HILLTOPICS

Announcements

The Ladies of Alpha Chi, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.
Black Men Appreciation
2:00pm
Wednesday, March 12, 2003
Brothers Center Restaurant

The Actors and Authors of the 2003 Drama Festival
The Actors and Authors of the 2003 Drama Festival
Have YOU been selected to be a part of our Amateur and/or Professional
Will there be auditions
The Actors and Authors of the 2003 Drama Festival
For auditions, interested groups or individuals must Sign up for your audition time by 4:00 PM
by March 21, 2003
INTEREST MEETING

Ad-Hoc

Custom Ads and Ticketing is now
get your organization, new business, or event
We are now accepting
call (301) 696-6174

The Hilltop Restaurant
Where your business, it's our business

Help Wanted

Tutor/Counselors are needed for Spring break.
Summer residential program will begin on April 21, 2003.
Students, Seniors, Graduate students with proficiency in one or more of the following areas should apply:
Applicants must have a 2.33 or better GPA.
Applicants are required to fill out Howard University TRIO Program.
Undergraduate Library Room 451
(202) 806-6132
Application Deadline is March 21, 2003

SPRING BREAK 2003
is now sponsored by Student Express
African American Student Association
Jamaica, Barbados, Trinidad, and Tobago.
Book early and get FREE MEALS.
Student Express sponsors the BARTS PROGRAM and is now hiring Sales personnel, Campus Reps, and Office Staff.
Contact www.studentexpress.com or call (800) 338-7400 for details.

SPRING BREAK CANABA,
Acapulco, Mazatlan, S. Florida, Jamaica, Florida, Bahamas as packages with excursions appearance by DELture and SAGAYK. B黄色k and best hotels.
Call 800-787-7877 or visit www.studentexpress.com for details.

(April Break Free Trip)
Beach Meals/Lowest Prices Packages/TVLerry Spots
Features w/WMNCQ Travel Channel.
Better than ever!! www.studentexpress.com
(1-800-426-7710)

SPRING BREAK VACATION
Cancun, Jamaica, Acapulco, Bahamas, Mazatlan, S. Florida, S. Padre.
100% Best Prices! Book now get Free Parties & More!
Group Discount, New Spring Package 5 Rooms
(1-800-254-799
endstudenttravels.com

Attention Spring Breakers Travel Free 2003 (Free trips, drinks & meals Party w/ TVLerry Spots)
Destination Most Reliable www.studentexpress.com
(1-800-426-7710)

SPRING BREAK 2003
Travel with STS, America’s No. 1 Spring Break
Cancun, Acapulco, Mazatlan, S. Florida, S. Padre.
100% Best Prices! Book now get Free Parties & More!
If you’re interested in going on spring break, please contact the business office at 202-689-3445.
If you are interested in sending a message; if you’ve completed all paperwork (taking applications forms to payroll on 4th floor, etc.) and still haven’t received your leave of absence, you must show your work with your name, soc. #, and phone number in Lauren’s box. We may not need extra tên.- we can’t help you if you don’t call us!

MID- ATLANTIC DISTRIBUTORS AND PUBLIC ADDRESS
BY AMERICANS OF MUSLIMS LEADER & BUSINESSMAN
DIAM W. DEEN MOHAMMED TIPIC: Securing Our World
PERSUADING OUR ECONOMIC-DISOBIGATIONS
DATE: SATURDAY, MARCH 22, 2003
TIME: 9AM-12PM
HOTEL: 12PM-4PM-
WORKSHOP (SATS, SUNS) $100 PERSON
DISPLAYS/F urzędng (FREE) opens on 2:30PM
WORKSHOP/EXPO ($20)
Tours Guides start at 12:30PM
STUDENT FREE/SF LIGHT LUNCH/NO WORK

HILLTOPICS

March 11, 2003

The Hilltop