

The Academy Herald

Volume 2 | Issue 4

Article 3

1-1914

The Academy Cabinet

Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/academy_herald

Recommended Citation

(1914) "The Academy Cabinet," The Academy Herald: Vol. 2: Iss. 4, Article 3.
Available at: https://dh.howard.edu/academy_herald/vol2/iss4/3

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Academy Herald by an authorized editor of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact digitalservices@howard.edu.

This may be the reason for the unfriendly relation, but has any nation the right to demand recognition, when power has been usurped by those who had no right to it?

At the price of chains and slavery, at the price of blood and treasure, Huerta has taken away the liberty of those who were looking forward to the prosperity of the Mexican nation; and who were bent upon establishing peace at home as well as abroad.

Under such conditions what nation will sympathize with such a barbarous tyrant? In an age when men have begun to recognize the divine doctrine of the brotherhood of all peoples, no humane and enlightened people can sympathize with such a government.

The broadest minds of America will praise President Wilson rather than censure him for his policy in regard to Mexico.

The Academy Cabinet

In order (1) that the Dean of the Academy may be brought into close and sympathetic touch with all student activities of the Academy, (2) that all duly authorized student organizations of the Academy may receive every proper encouragement, recognition, and, withal, may have judicious guidance, and (3) that the representatives of all such organizations, from time to time, may meet in conference with the Dean, it is therefore ordered:

I. That the Academy Cabinet be and is hereby ordained and established.

II. That the personnel of the Cabinet shall be:

(a) The President of each of the four Academy Classes. (b) The President of the Eureka Society. (c) The President of the Phyllis Wheatley Society. (d) The Editor-in-Chief of the Academy Herald, Business Manager of the Herald. (e) The Captain of the Football Team. (f) The ranking Academy wearer of the University "H."

Signed: CHAS. S. SYPHAX,
Vice Dean of the Academy.

A temperance lecturer was enthusiastically denouncing the use of all intoxicants.

"I wish all the beer, all the wine, all the whiskey in the world was at the bottom of the ocean," he said.

Hastily Pat rose to his feet.

"Sure and so do I, sorr," he shouted. "I wish every bit of it was at the bottom of the sea."

As they were leaving the hall the lecturer encountered Pat.

"I certainly am proud of you," he said. "It was a brave thing for you to rise and say what you did. Are you a teetotaler?"

"No, indeed, sorr," answered Pat, "I'm a diver."

Selected,