Norton bill proposes federal tax exemption for District residents

By Jonathan Wharton

Washington Post

The District of Columbia's Norton bill-a 14-page measure prohibiting the District of Columbia, the state of Maryland, the District of Virginia from taxing federal employees residing in the District-has been scheduled for a vote by the U.S. Senate when Congress returns from its recess on April 4.

The bill would make the District of Columbia the only tax-free jurisdiction in the United States for federal employees. The legislation now pending in Congress, the Dr. James C. A. Johnson bill, is designed to ensure that federal employees living in the District of Columbia will not be double-taxed for income earned in the District.

The Johnson bill, introduced by Sen. James A. Johnson, R-Va., passed the House in February 1994 and is now pending in the Senate. It is supported by the District of Columbia, the state of Maryland, the Commonwealth of Virginia, and the District of Columbia's mayor.

The Norton bill would exempt federal employees from paying income tax on their income earned in the District of Columbia. The District of Columbia's tax system is already complex, with multiple income tax rates and deductions for expenses such as housing and transportation costs.

The Johnson bill would not affect federal employees working in the District of Columbia, who are subject to both District and federal taxes. The Johnson bill would only affect federal employees living in the District of Columbia, who are subject to District income tax but not to federal income tax.

The Norton bill would apply to all federal employees, including those working for the federal government, the District of Columbia government, the state of Maryland government, and the Commonwealth of Virginia government.

The Johnson bill would apply to all federal employees, including those working for the federal government, the District of Columbia government, the state of Maryland government, and the Commonwealth of Virginia government.

The Norton bill proposes a federal tax exemption for District residents. This bill would make the District of Columbia the only tax-free jurisdiction in the United States for federal employees. The legislation now pending in Congress, the Dr. James C. A. Johnson bill, is designed to ensure that federal employees living in the District of Columbia will not be double-taxed for income earned in the District.
Demonstration sparks hearing
Reginald X to face charges for registration rally

By Dyna Akinyele
The Hilltop

Following a registration demonstration in Howard University’s Mossiking Center on Jan. 30, organizer Reginald X, facing charges for trespassing, was met with a large crowd of university administration. The demonstration, which took place as part of Howard President L. Franklin C.B. Powell’s tour of the university, was a response to a series of changes made by the university administration without any input from students or faculty.

According to John Holton, the director of the university’s Office of Student Affairs, an investigation into the demonstration was launched after the event. However, Holton declined to provide further details on the investigation or the charges faced by Reginald X.

Reginald X is scheduled to appear in court on March 10, 2023, for his initial hearing. The demonstration was organized in response to a series of changes made by the university administration without any input from students or faculty.

University hopes for cleaner, student accounts office by March

By Marvin C. Bryant Jr.

Three months after the student accounts office located in the New Academic Center opened, the university administration is making progress on reducing the number of outstanding student accounts.

The office, which handles billing for all facets of the university, has seen a decrease in the number of outstanding accounts since its opening in October. However, the university administration is still working to improve the process.

Residence Life tells students to pay up or move out rooms

By Randy Lewis

A new policy requires students to pay all outstanding balances or face eviction from their rooms. The change in policy is in response to a recent increase in outstanding balances.

Environmental Management has hired a storage company to hold students’ belongings until payment is made. The company charges the student accounts office a fee for each item stored.

African Americans, Jews to study race through literature

By Nicole Y. Moore

In an attempt to shed light on the complex relationship between African Americans and Jews, Howard University is hosting a seminar on the topic. The seminar will include a panel discussion and a lecture by a guest speaker.

The seminar is part of a larger initiative by the university to explore the relationship between African Americans and Jews through literature. The initiative will include a series of seminars and workshops on the topic.

We must understand that the university’s Office of Student Accounts and Housing must face their responsibilities and the University of Michigan. All African American students, whether they are from the United States or from other countries, must understand the role of the university in shaping their future.

By Octavia Shaw

The Hilltop

The last ballroom of Howard University’s Armory. A black-and-white photo on the wall displays a young man in a suit and tie. Everyone recognizes the picture, as it is a common sight in the armory. The man is wearing a suit and tie, and the armory is filled with people.

For Sophomore engineering student Thomas Brown, one student account officer at the university’s Office of Student Accounts, the photo represents much.

“With the passing of the new law, it’s time to put the money back into the system. The university has to be accountable to its students.”

The university administration has been under pressure to improve its handling of student accounts.

It is unfair to burden students with the responsibility of tracking and paying their own accounts. The university administration must be held accountable for ensuring that students are treated fairly.

We must understand that the university’s Office of Student Accounts and Housing must face their responsibilities and the University of Michigan. All African American students, whether they are from the United States or from other countries, must understand the role of the university in shaping their future.
peaker questions students’ concern for Africa

By Melissa D. Harvey

When the Howard University Gospel Choir sang in the Denver Performing Arts Center, students and faculty members were heartened. The choir's performance conveyed a message of unity and hope.

Junior Natasha Williams, a member of the choir, says the experience was a reminder of the importance of community. "I feel inspired and uplifted after hearing them," she said. "Their music is a powerful instrument that unites us all.

Another student, senior Michael Thompson, added, "It's great to see how music can bring people together. The choir really knows how to make us feel connected.

The choir's performance also had a practical purpose. They performed at the Denver Performing Arts Center to raise funds for a charity that supports education in Africa. "We believe that education is the key to unlocking the potential of young people," said choir director Dr. John Taylor. "This is why we're here today - to raise money for a cause that matters.

The event was a success, with attendees contributing generously to the cause. The choir's performance was a fitting tribute to the importance of community and the power of music.
Metro fares could run an extra 10 cents

Metro riders may pay increased fares for decreased services.

Brazilian dance teaches cultural lesson, self-defense to metropolitan teenagers, adults

African American dancers say it's more than self-defense. It's a $15.5 million gap in Metro's transit agency's budget that will have to be closed approximately 8,000 Annapolis riders. The G2 and 70 Metro bus-lines are needed to close Metro's first since 1992, is needed to close Metro's services and similar routes and eliminating services and increasing fares. The proposed Metro bus service and increased fares will be $1.10 instead of $1.00.

Pan African student movement rallies for liberty, unity in Africa

District Budget Council holds vote next Wednesday, Feb. 3, 1999

Local Highlights

Dance. It's more than self-defense, it's a way of life. You use it in your daily life, in your conversation. Capoeira is the dance of life. It's the culture, the love of the creator. It's a mode of expression, it's a mode of freedom. It's an instrument of freedom. The G2 and 70 Metro bus-lines are needed to close Metro's first since 1992, is needed to close Metro's services and similar routes and eliminating services and increasing fares. The proposed Metro bus service and increased fares will be $1.10 instead of $1.00.

Hands Off Africa Rally panelists discuss strategies to solve on-going problems in Africa

Pan African students voice their commitment to solving the on-going problems in Africa. They call for a united Africa, free from colonial rule and oppression.

Local

Metro fares could run an extra 10 cents

Silver of the Metrowatch Citizen's Group service will only intensify the plight of low disabled, as well as the cancellation of Metro bus lines. The first round trip on weekdays will be discontinued and replaced by new schedules and frequency. The daily goal in MD may not be small, but the daily goal in MD may not be small, but for Howard University students at the Georgetown University campus, and for other districts.

Capoeira, the national martial art Capoeira, the national martial art

By Reginald Raymon

The proposed Metro bus service and increased fares will be $1.10 instead of $1.00.

Capoeira practice hand and leg defense mechanisms.

Dance. It's more than self-defense. It's a way of life. You use it in your daily life, in your conversation. Capoeira is the dance of life. It's the culture, the love of the creator. It's a mode of expression, it's a mode of freedom. It's an instrument of freedom. The G2 and 70 Metro bus-lines are needed to close Metro's first since 1992, is needed to close Metro's services and similar routes and eliminating services and increasing fares. The proposed Metro bus service and increased fares will be $1.10 instead of $1.00. The daily goal in MD may not be small, but the daily goal in MD may not be small, but for Howard University students at the Georgetown University campus, and for other districts.

Pan African students voice their commitment to solving the on-going problems in Africa. They call for a united Africa, free from colonial rule and oppression.

Hands Off Africa Rally panelists discuss strategies to solve on-going problems in Africa

Pan African students voice their commitment to solving the on-going problems in Africa. They call for a united Africa, free from colonial rule and oppression.
University of Antwerp

Summer Program in Antwerp, Belgium
May 21 - June 3, 1995

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR STUDENTS OF ECONOMICS AND BUSINESS TO STUDY ECONOMIC INTEGRATION IN THE CONTEXT OF THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY.

Director: Professor Bradley Billings

For information or an application contact:

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY
School for Summer and Continuing Education
306 ICC
Washington, DC 20057
(202) 687-5942 / 5719

© Moorland-Spingarn Research Center

The Hilltop

Take A Commercial Break...

With Leo Burnett Advertising, the largest brand agency in the country. Hiring for Full-time & Internship positions in the Media Department.

On-campus Presentation: Thursday, February 9, 1995 6-8 pm Armory J, Blackburn Forum
On-campus Interviews: Friday, February 10, 1995 School of Communications School of Business

© Moorland-Spingarn Research Center

If you are interested in writing for TV/film working in front of the camera or behind the scenes in the entertainment industry, sharing the knowledge a series of seminars for the individual pursuing a career in the entertainment industry is coming soon.

"FREE" INTRODUCTORY SEMINAR

TOPIC: ENTERTAINMENT 101 - AN OUTLOOK ON THE INDUSTRY

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1995 10:00 AM - 1:00 PM
HOWARD UNIVERSITY - C.B. POWELL COMMUNICATIONS BLDG.
SCREENING ROOM WEST - 3rd FLOOR
135 BRANT STREET N.W., WASHINGTON D.C.
(ENTER THROUGH THE 6TH STREET SECURITY SIDE OF BUILDING)

Join former Westcoast independent Television Producer Stacey Evans for an informative discussion on opportunities available and WHAT/WHO you need to know to get your foot in the door. With experience working for COLUMBIA PICTURES TELEVISION, PARAMOUNT STUDIOS, MOTOWN RECORDS, T.V. SERIES "LIVING SINGLE" and currently BET SYNDICATION, Ms. Evans has gained solid experience and contacts and now she wants to share her knowledge with YOU! In addition to exposure to entertainment professionals, seminar attendees will be well equipped with enough information to give them the right start as they chart their course for success!

For More Information, Call (301) 419-8170

Don't miss this exciting event!
Clinton begins campaign for 1996 election

By Natasha Lindsey

WASHINGTON, February 13

VIOLENCE ENDURES

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A recent spate of deaths in Congress associated with political violence has raised concerns about the effectiveness of existing anti-violence efforts.

According to the National Organization for Women, there have been 14 political killings in the past five years, including the recent death of Congresswoman Clara Matlack of Alabama. The group is calling for increased funding for anti-violence programs and greater access to mental health care for politicians and political staff.

The Hilltop Staff Writer

Conflicts, controversies continue to surround the ‘trial of the century’

By Janette Lyons Thompson

Washington, February 13

Pregnant teens urged to seek prenatal care

By Natasha R. McKee

According to Coleman, regular prenatal care is crucial for the health of both mother and child. "Doctors and nurses can identify and treat any potential health issues during pregnancy," she said.

Teenagers who delay prenatal care are more likely to have complications, such as gestational diabetes and pregnancy-induced hypertension. These conditions can lead to serious health issues for both the mother and the baby.

"We owe them money, so who can we sue?" Washington said.

"It's a training institution for health professionals," said Jeanie Blackwell, director of the National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion.

"If we can't stop them from having babies, we can at least try to provide them with the tools they need to care for their children," Washington said.

"I think it's a farce," said Alan, a high school student who volunteers at the local school district's family planning clinic. "I don't see how any of this helps anyone in the long run."

"I think it's a good idea," said Tim, a high school student who volunteers at the local school district's family planning clinic. "It's important to have options for people who need them."
INTERNATIONAL

Eritrean president emphasizes free speech

By Nicole Mason

Staff Writer

The Eritrean National Assembly has voted in favor of a proposal to allow the government to regulate the press.

By Patricia Hendri

Staff Writer

The Eritrean National Assembly has voted in favor of a proposal to allow the government to regulate the press.

Random violence threatens Palestinian-Israeli Peace accord

By Patricia Hudson

Staff Writer

The Palestinian-Israeli Peace accord has been threatened by random violence.

Karamu festival revives diversity of African culture

By Patricia Hendri

Staff Writer

The Karamu festival revives the diversity of African culture.

Dublin, Ireland

A 23-year-old man was killed in a prison riot.

Nairobi, Kenya

Robert Kenyatta, the former prime minister, was arrested.

Riyadh, Saudi Arabia

Four people were killed in a suicide bombing.

Taipei, Taiwan

An ATC 72 commuter aircraft crashed into a mountain.

Since the 1995 signing of the peace accord between Eritrea and the Palestinian Liberation Organization, the government has faced significant challenges. The Eritrean National Assembly has voted in favor of a proposal to allow the government to regulate the press, which threatens the diversity of African culture. Random violence threatens the Palestinian-Israeli Peace accord.

---

withdrawal of troops from a meeting opposition

By Nicole Mason

Staff Writer

Israelis will withdraw from some of the last remaining peace talks after the bombing.

---

Nigerian president emphasizes free speech

By Trai A. James

Albany Times Union

President Tofioluwa Adecosse of Nigeria, the Nigerian National Assembly, has emphasized the importance of free speech by the press.

President Adecosse said poor country governments are trying to create a free press system to help bring unity to the nation.

"It is government monopoly of the press we must resist," President Adecosse said. "We have been able to establish our heated national freedom of propaganda."

By Trai A. James

Albany Times Union

The Nigerian National Assembly has emphasized the importance of free speech by the press.
Black History Month: A time for learning, teaching and celebrating

As we begin our celebrations of Black History Month, the familiar slogans will undoubtedly ring in our ears—“Black History should be celebrated on your own.” It is said, it must be acknowledged and celebrated on our own.

Nothing could be more accurate.

As we celebrate, it is important to recognize the contributions and achievements of African Americans in history. This is not merely a time for remembrance, but an opportunity to learn and grow. Our history is not merely a collection of dates and events, but a rich tapestry of culture, art, and science.

Our celebration should be rooted in the idea that, as Black people, we should be proud of our achievements. We should be proud of our resilience, our creativity, our perseverance.

If Black pride is not felt and practiced in this institution. If Black pride is not felt and practiced in this institution.

This is important. If Black pride is not felt and practiced in this institution. If Black pride is not felt and practiced in this institution.

The History of Howard University appears to be a constant reminder of the importance of our history. The success of “Def Comedy Jam” several years ago.

And the successful book of the same name.

Our history is important enough to celebrate year-round. We must seek to celebrate Black History Month in a way that reflects our pride in it. We are all proud African Americans.

We should not merely be focused on creating pride in our race.

We should be focused on understanding our past and future.

The alteration between violence in the Underground Library during finals highlights the need for intervention. Violence is a serious issue, and it must be addressed. The university must take action to prevent violence on campus.

The alteration between violence in the Underground Library during finals highlights the need for intervention. Violence is a serious issue, and it must be addressed. The university must take action to prevent violence on campus.

The alteration between violence in the Underground Library during finals highlights the need for intervention. Violence is a serious issue, and it must be addressed. The university must take action to prevent violence on campus.

It is our responsibility as students to ensure that our school is committed to maintaining an orderly and safe environment for all.

The alteration between violence in the Underground Library during finals highlights the need for intervention. Violence is a serious issue, and it must be addressed. The university must take action to prevent violence on campus.

It is our responsibility as students to ensure that our school is committed to maintaining an orderly and safe environment for all.

We are all proud African Americans.

We are all proud African Americans.
removing Shleta's brother

Allison Cotton

I would like to congratulate the Student Loan Office for providing efficient and courteous service... The process seems specific in Howard's management style. My undergraduate experience, for example, had 27,000 students quickly and efficiently with the help of very competent campus counselors... I don't know and "It's not our department!" are insufficient answers to problems posed by the students who pay $8,000 for services...

Do not be quick to label football players as abusive muscleheads

Kasra Raghib

I am writing in response to the article by Michelle Jones of the Evening Gazette on Jan. 23 (issue of THE HILLTOP: "Football players, Northeastern University president's son, suspended.")

I do not know what to say to this writer who seems to be so blinded by his... I do not think this writer is any better in his... I do not know what to say to this writer who seems to be so blinded by his...

Celebrate Black history by organizing

Isaac Rodgers

At Black History Month is a time to remember and stop to appreciate what our... our Campus... The history of Black America is evident. In this history, we must recognize the importance of our... The history of Black America is evident. In this history, we must recognize the importance of our... I am not sure if everybody thought this writer, Ms. Jones... The writer is a sophomore majoring in...
"What type of role has Howard University played in making Black History?"

Howard University has given African Americans a place to call home. They could come here to learn and not face the prejudices that you would face at a White institution.

When you think about all the Black leaders Howard has produced and the contributions they have made, you realize what an important role HU has played.

Howard has continued to keep the door of opportunity open for young Black people seeking an exceptional collegiate experience.

Howard has provided a lot of good role models for future leaders, and a place for the future history-makers to get a firm foundation.

Compiled by Monica Lewis
Photos by Nikia Puyol
White students feel it has to be the minority on Howard's campus

Reflections
By Valerie Williams

White picket fences, two kids and the news at eleven

Call me crazy. Say I'm fooling around. Tell me I'm selling my talents.

I would still say the same.

What about my dreams of becoming a reporter, that I would be in the audience? Of course it had been my dream since I was a child.

According to statistics, women still receive the same old sales and are not paid the same.

But I don't believe that I am the only reporter, but many in the field are.

I am not going to accept the stereotype of a woman in journalism.

My future is personal and I am determined to do it my way.

I want to be a reporter and I am determined to work towards my goal.

I have been working for the past six years as a reporter, and I am determined to make a difference.

The writer is graduating senior in the School of Communications.
Professors make grades in and out of the classroom

Director of Public History program makes bestseller list

By Rashida Syed

Hilltop Staff Writer

Many observed Rashida Stewurt Dorn, the director of the Public History program at Howard University, as a natural leader on the stage. She is in a role, a mother and a professor, with a strong commitment to her students. But Dorn, a native of Houston, Texas, also has a strong commitment to her students as an actress and an director. She has taught acting at Howard University for over 30 years. She has received the Paul Robeson Award for Best Actress and the Howard University Alumni Award for Best Actress. In addition, she has received the National Endowment for the Arts grant for her work in theater and film. Dorn has also directed several plays and films, including "Freedom Bag." Her new book, "Living, Loving, Out...African American Domestic Domination in Washington, D.C. 1910-1940," has been a bestseller on the New York Times bestseller list.

VITAL STATISTICS

Name: Rashida Stewurt Dorn

Hometown: Houston, Texas

Profession: Actress and Professor of Theater Arts

Professional Training: Finch College Yale School of Drama

Words of Wisdom: "Keep your eyes on the prize."

Actress combines career and family into daily life

By Rashaida Syed

Hilltop Staff Writer

Franchelle Dorn draws energy and inspiration from her students

Many have observed Franchelle Dorn, the director of the Public History program at Howard University, as a natural leader on the stage. She is in a role, a mother and a professor, with a strong commitment to her students. But Dorn, a native of Houston, Texas, also has a strong commitment to her students as an actress and an director. She has taught acting at Howard University for over 30 years. She has received the Paul Robeson Award for Best Actress and the Howard University Alumni Award for Best Actress. In addition, she has received the National Endowment for the Arts grant for her work in theater and film. Dorn has also directed several plays and films, including "Freedom Bag." Her new book, "Living, Loving, Out...African American Domestic Domination in Washington, D.C. 1910-1940," has been a bestseller on the New York Times bestseller list.

VITAL STATISTICS

Name: Franchelle Dorn

Hometown: Houston, Texas

Profession: Actress and Professor of Theater Arts

Professional Training: Finch College Yale School of Drama

Words of Wisdom: "Keep your eyes on the prize."

Franchelle Dorn draws energy and inspiration from her students.
Before you need to make a single payment, 7,776,000 seconds will have passed, the baseball strike may finally come to an end and the term "Generation X" will have been used one too many times.

BUY AN APPLE MACINTOSH NOW. PAY FOR IT LATER:

We're not just making it easier for you to buy a Macintosh® even making it easier for you to buy something else you really need — time. Because for a limited time, with the Apple Computer Loan and 90-Day Deferred Payment Plan, you can own a Macintosh personal computer, printer, CD-ROM drive or other peripherals without making a single payment for 90 days! Combine that with no hassles, no complicated forms and already great student pricing, and the easy-to-use Macintosh is now incredibly easy to buy. The Apple Computer Loan and 90-Day Deferred Payment Plan is the solution that gives you the power every student needs. The power to be your best.

Howard University Bookstore System
2601 4th Street N.W. • Washington, D.C. 20059
Contact Al Payne or Mykl Gorlée
Voice: 202-806-6658 • Fax: 202-462-9800

THE GROWTH POTENTIAL

It started with a vision about propelling business into the information age. Then took off with the world's first relational database. It's now a two billion-dollar, enterprise-wide software solutions company that keeps growing at about 25% a year—with new products, bold technological strategies and a big head start down the information superhighway. There's nothing to do here but grow. You either make history, or become it.

We'll be on campus February 8. Sign up at the Career Center TODAY!
Artistic entrepreneurs publish first full color comic book

By Miguel Burns

Flatline Comics has come a long way since its humble beginnings in 1992, when it was successfully launched into the New York comic book marketplace. Flatline’s success is a testament to the determination and hard work of its creators, and it continues to be a shining example of what can be achieved through a dedication to the art of storytelling.

Flatline Comics is the brainchild of John Powers, who has been the driving force behind the company’s growth and success. Powers, along with fellow creators and co-founders, have worked tirelessly to bring their vision to life and create a comic book that is both entertaining and informative.

In recent years, Flatline has expanded its reach beyond the traditional comic book market, with the release of a series of graphic novels and trade paperbacks. These new formats have allowed the company to reach a wider audience and continue to explore new storytelling possibilities.

Flatline’s success has not gone unnoticed. The company has been featured in various publications and has received critical acclaim for its work. The company’s success is a testament to the hard work and dedication of its creators, and it serves as an inspiration to others in the industry.

Flatline Comics is proof that with a passion for storytelling and a commitment to excellence, anything is possible. The company continues to push the boundaries of what is possible in the world of comic books, and it is sure to continue to inspire and entertain for years to come.

---

Urban Art Family gives District a positive view of hip-hop culture

By Taylor Harding

The Urban Art Family is an organization that is dedicated to creating a positive view of hip-hop culture in the District of Columbia. The organization is made up of individuals who share a common goal of promoting the culture through their art.

The Urban Art Family was founded in 1992 by six friends who had a shared passion for hip-hop and its impact on society. They came together to create a platform for artists to showcase their work and share their stories.

The organization operates through a variety of programs and initiatives, including a gallery, workshops, and community events. These programs are designed to educate and inspire people about the positive aspects of hip-hop culture.

The Urban Art Family also works with local schools and community organizations to provide educational programs and workshops that promote social change and positive values.

The organization is committed to creating a positive view of hip-hop culture and working towards a more inclusive and supportive community. They believe that through art and education, they can make a positive impact on the world.

---

Security Guards

Booz Allen Hamilton provides training and competitive salaries for these entry-level opportunities. For immediate consideration, take your resume to Dept. F043/EJ. To apply, mail to Booz Allen Hamilton, 8283 Greensboro Dr., Mclean, VA 22102. Equal Opportunity Employer.
AN ARMY SCHOLARSHIP COULD HELP YOU THROUGH MEDICAL SCHOOL.

The U.S. Army Health Professions Scholarship Program offers unique opportunities for financial support to medical or dental students. The scholarship program is open to students with a strong aptitude for the health professions and a desire to serve in a military capacity. It includes monthly stipends, tuition, books, and other expenses required for the particular course.

For information concerning eligibility, pay, service obligation, and application procedure, contact the Army Medical Department Fiscal Counselor:

Major Karen Wagner
Call Collect (301) 427-5229

ARMY MEDICINE. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
Black college apparel line changes hands

By Sherina Stafford

Historically Black College (HBCU) apparel line gaining in popularity, entrepreneurs say.

Marc Diggs, Herb Newton, and Chris Latimer now run the African-American Colleges apparel line.

"A lot of educators are saying that the apparel industry is one of the hottest on the market." - Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We were disappointed that Black investors did not want to invest in our company. We had to find an investor who would take our company to the next level," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are happy to see that Hilltop is now working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a big boost for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

SNAPSHOTS

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are excited to see the success of Hilltop Technology Enterprises. It shows that there is a market for African-American apparel," said Marc Diggs, senior vice president of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are committed to giving back to our community. We have a long-term vision for our company," said Herb Newton, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.

"We are looking forward to working with African-American colleges. We believe this will be a great opportunity for our company," said Chris Latimer, co-founder of Hilltop Technology Enterprises.
Grapplers celebrate wins, learn from losses

By Katie Riggins

Last weekend, the Howard University wrestling team traveled to the Carolinas where they encountered matches against William & Mary, North Carolina, Princeton and Delaware State. Howard went 1-3 in the matches but took valuable lessons from the losses.

Last Thursday night, the Bison faced a tough challenge in the first round of the season when they played against William & Mary. The Bison had to face an extremely well-conditioned team who was led by Coach Paul Conlon. The Bison lost 5-17, but Head Coach Dave Lino was impressed with his young wrestlers.

"They came out strong and they were very well-conditioned," Lino said. "But we learned a lot from this match. We need to focus on our fundamentals and improve our conditioning."

The second round had the Bison facing North Carolina. This was a tough match for the Bison, as they were outmatched in experience and conditioning. Howard lost 4-21, but they gained valuable experience from the match.

"This was a very tough match," Lino said. "We were outmatched in experience and conditioning, but we learned a lot from this match. We need to focus on our fundamentals and improve our conditioning."

The third round had the Bison facing Princeton. This was a tough match for the Bison, as they were outmatched in experience and conditioning. Howard lost 3-19, but they gained valuable experience from the match.

"This was a very tough match," Lino said. "We were outmatched in experience and conditioning, but we learned a lot from this match. We need to focus on our fundamentals and improve our conditioning."

The fourth round had the Bison facing Delaware State. This was a tough match for the Bison, as they were outmatched in experience and conditioning. Howard lost 5-24, but they gained valuable experience from the match.

"This was a very tough match," Lino said. "We were outmatched in experience and conditioning, but we learned a lot from this match. We need to focus on our fundamentals and improve our conditioning."

Overall, the Bison learned a lot from these matches. They gained valuable experience and improved their conditioning. The team is looking forward to their next match against Virginia Tech on January 31st.
BILL STILL DIALS 1-800-COLLECT TO CALL HIS PARENTS, EVEN THOUGH AS A CHILD HE WAS FORCED TO WEAR A DRESS.

1-800-COLLECT
Save The People You Call Up To 44%.
WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO BE UNIQUE THIS YEAR?

VALENTINE'S DAY SURPRISE
FOR LOVERS AND FRIENDS

SEND YOUR VALENTINE A SINGING TELEGRAM ACCESSORIZED BY BALLOONS, ROSES, CANDY, ETC. ALL AT AFFORDABLE RATES!

ORDER NOW!
CONTACT CUPID AT 865-2362

SAY IT WITH BALLOONS!!!

Valentine's Day Special Balloon Bouquets
STARTING AT $10.00

WE DELIVER!!! MAGIC CLOWNS AVAILABLE ALSO!!!

CALL NOW!
(202) 726-8255
(202) 723-3600

PICK UP ORDERS AT:
130 Kennedy Street, NW
Washington, D.C. 20011-3025

ARE YOU READY FOR THE CHALLENGE!!?

If you want to lead the Hilltop Staff as

Editor-in-Chief
attend our interest meeting
Tuesday, February 7
5:00 - 6:00 pm
Blackburn Center, Forum

ATTENTION

If you are applying for or would like to know more about the following positions under the auspices of Office of Student Activities:

HOMECOMING STEERING COMMITTEE
• Chairperson or Treasurer
• Hilltop Editor-in-Chief
• Hilltop Business Manager
• Bison Yearbook Editor

All interested candidates should attend an interest meeting to gain additional information regarding the:
• application process
• qualifications
• interview process
• annual stipend, etc.

If you are ready to meet the challenge, attend our interest meeting
Tuesday, February 7
5:00 - 6:00 pm
Blackburn Center, Forum

THIS VALENTINE'S DAY BE UNIQUE!!!
SUBSCRIBE TO THE HILLTOP

You can have every issue of the nation's largest Black collegiate newspaper mailed to your home or office.

NAME
COMPANY
ADDRESS
PHONE

$25/ Semester
OR
$45/ Year

Make checks payable to: The Hilltop
2251 Sherman Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20001

Call Kofi Simpson, office manager, for details at 202-806-6866