Reared against the eastern sky
Proudly there on hilltop high,
Far above the lake so blue
Stands old Howard firm and true.

There she stands for truth and right,
Sending forth her rays of light,
Clad in robes of majesty
O Howard we sing of thee.

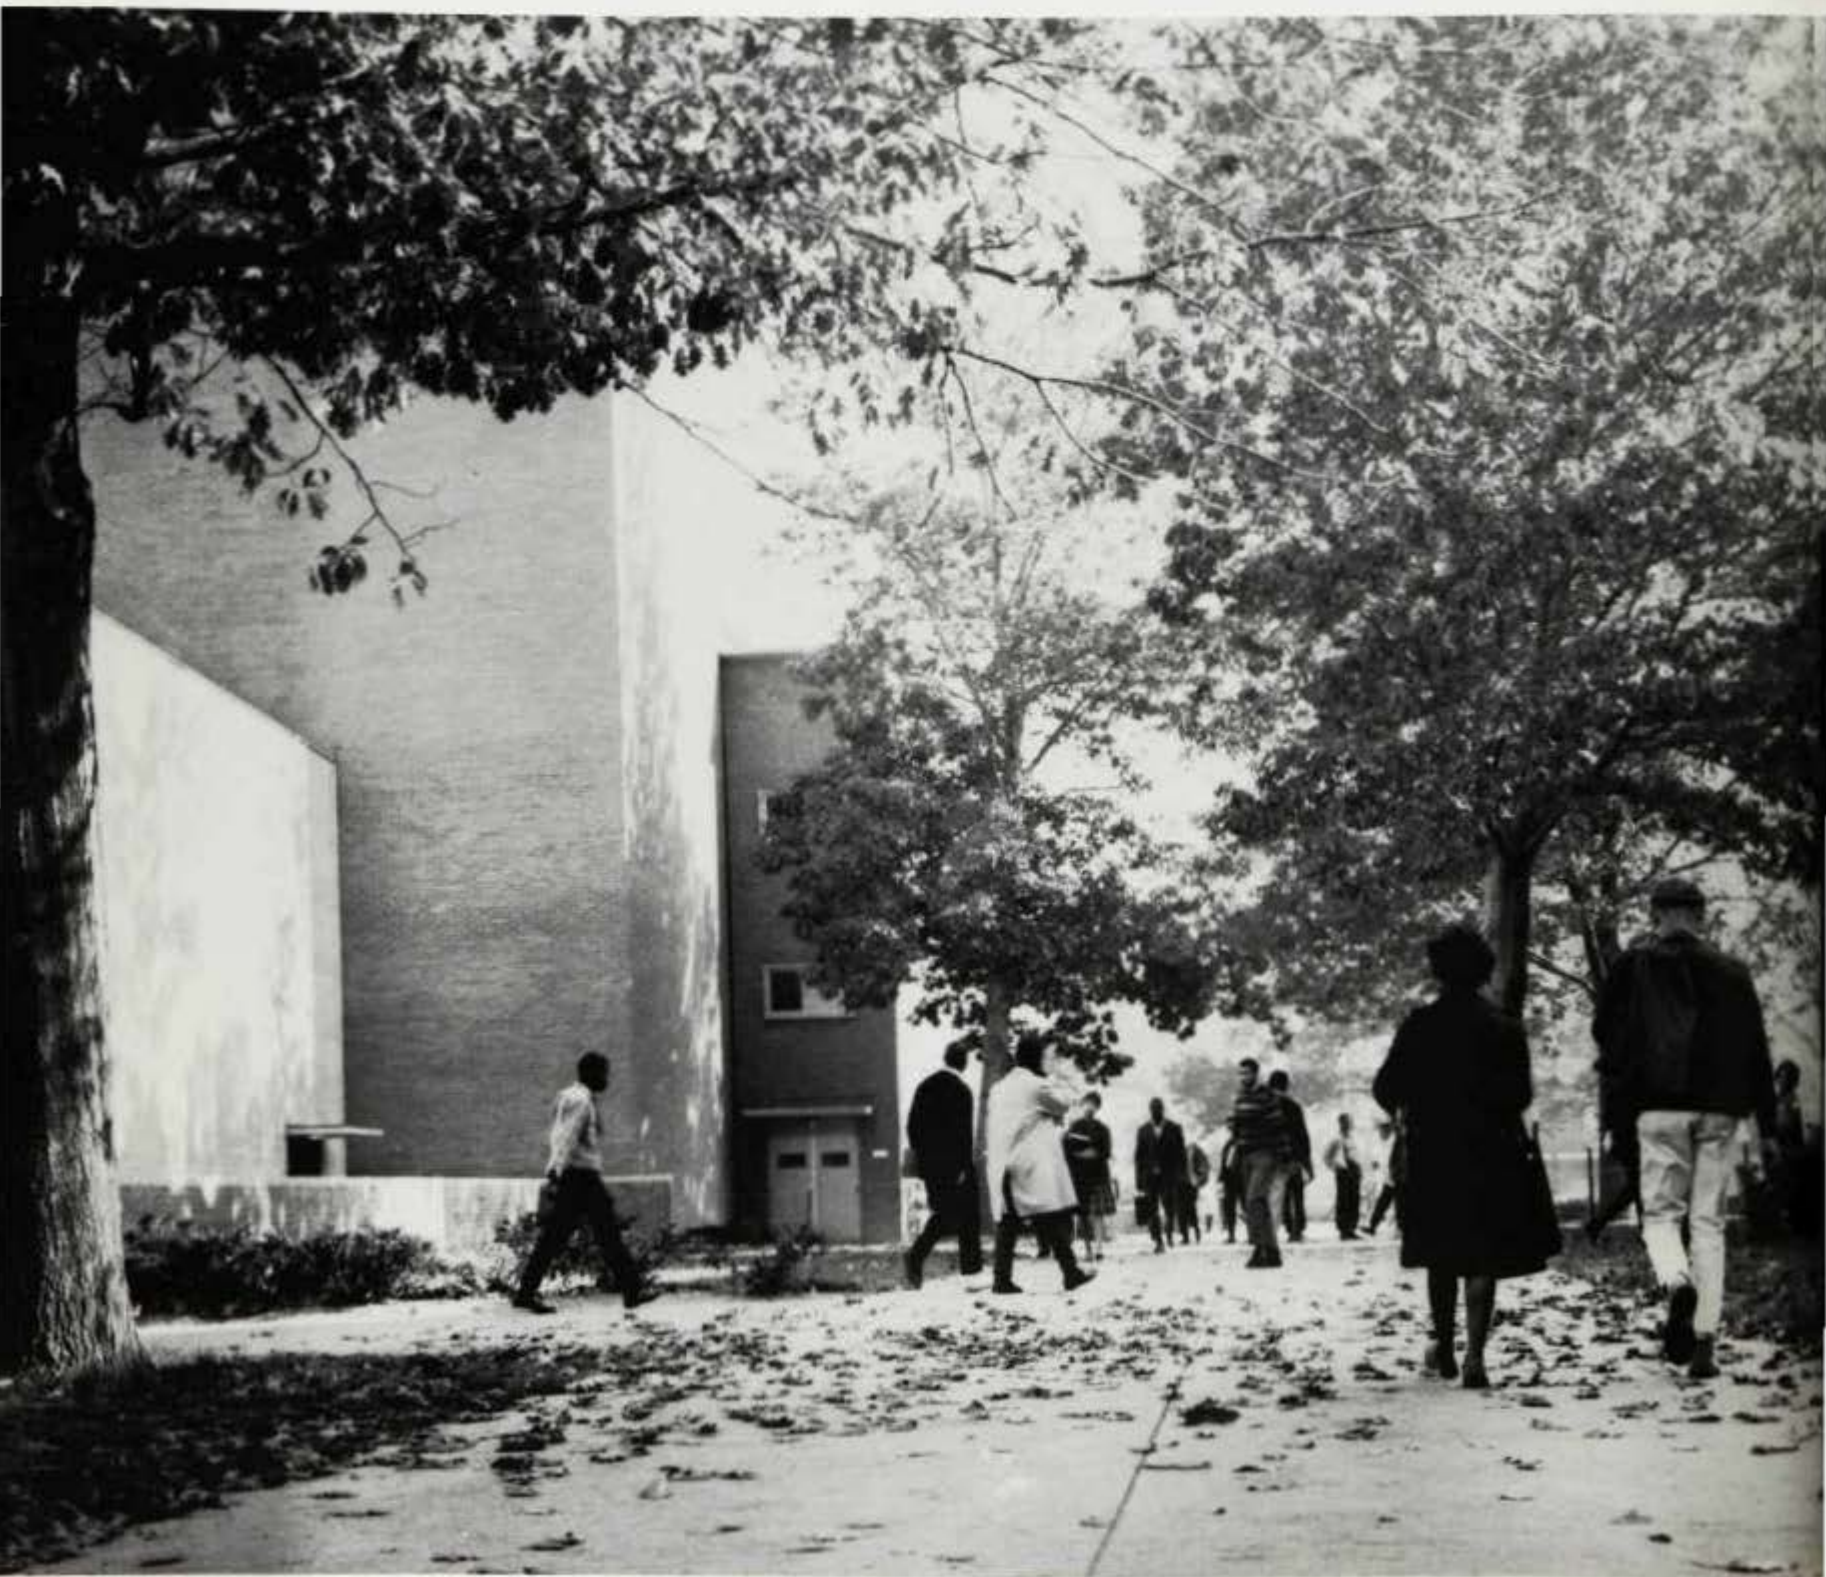

Be thou still our guide and stay
Leading us from day to day;
Make us true and leal and strong,
Ever bold to battle wrong.

When from thee we've gone away,
May we strive for thee each day.
As we sail life's rugged sea
O Howard we'll sing of thee.

ACADEMICS

College of Fine Arts

Warner Lawson
Dean of the College of Fine Arts

Organized in 1914 as the Conservatory of Music, the College of Fine Arts, which now embraces the School of Music and the Departments of Art and Drama, offers the following degrees: Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Music Education, Bachelor of Fine Arts in art or drama, Master's of Art, Master's of Music. The aims and purpose of the college are to impart to the students a knowledge of the ideas and institutions of the world of which he is a part, and to arouse within him an awareness of his social responsibilities as an artist; to encourage and promote the highest creativity in art, music and drama; to train the student in the historical theoretical and performing aspects of music, art, and drama; to demonstrate the unity of the arts and their value in inter-cultural communication; and to provide opportunities for community participation in Fine Arts.

The college cooperates with the Graduate School in providing instruction for candidates for the Master of Arts and Master of Fine Arts degrees.

Howard University's School of Law has one of the most outstanding programs of constitutional law in the country. This program has grown with the demand for legal aid in all areas of human rights. Its instructors, both past and present, have become renowned for their vast contributions in this field.

Students planning to practice law benefited this year from a new program offered by the School. A grant by the Ford Foundation has enabled many students to pursue their studies as well as aid the School in obtaining well qualified instructors.

This year, the School was privileged to publish The Barrister, a monthly newspaper containing pertinent information about the School and its activities.

One practical aspect of the School of Law is the Legal Aid Office which offers professional aid to those who otherwise would not have it.

School of Nursing

Freedmen's Hospital of Nursing was established in 1894 and has since that time exerted a prominent role of leadership in the community by providing a program for the education of professional nurses. It is a fully accredited professional school which offers a three year program under the direction of its own faculty, and in cooperation with Howard University and other affiliating hospitals.

Plans are being made for this school to become a college of Howard University which will administer a degree granting program.

School of Engineering and Architecture

I congratulate the 1965 graduating class of the School of Engineering and Architecture. You are to be commended on your excellent performance while enrolled in the stimulating and challenging programs of the school.

These programs have been designed with two purposes in mind. First, to give the scientific and professional foundation necessary for a graduate to cope with the new problems with which he will be faced on the ever-widening technological horizon. Second, with increased curricula requirements in the areas of the humanities and the social sciences you now are prepared to play a more significant role in the difficult sphere of human relations.

The education of the engineer and the architect is unique in its analytical emphasis. The ability to see the whole problem and to approach its solution in a logical and methodical way required the training and experiences with which you have been imbued during your stay at Howard University.

I have every confidence in your growth and your eventual distinction as responsible citizens in the world community. Those who have gone before you have demonstrated the qualities of which I speak. I see no reason why you should not continue the fine record of accomplishment established by the graduates of the School of Engineering and Architecture.

As a teacher, I cannot refrain from offering a last bit of advice: respect yourself, hold your head high and fear no man. Good luck and best wishes for your future careers.

"It is man's nature . . . to hope; to look beyond this vale of tears, to contemplate and to foresee a great tomorrow, to aspire, to anticipate, to have great expectations" (from an address by Dr. Hill, delivered October 3, 1964).

Thank you, Dr. Hill, for inspiring us to have great expectations.

The Senior Class

Dean Samuel L. Gandy, School of Religion

There is a quiet assurance in coming home again after so many commencements have passed, and after so many varied experiences have transpired. To come home again to a community of learning is to oneself in the continuing quest of the generations who in pursuit of excellence have discovered new inventions, endowed the mind with insights, broadened the cultural life, sharpened the social perspectives and enriched the human spirit.

To come home again is to pray always that one is found worthy in his time and generation.

—Samual Lucius Gandy

The Student Assembly is an instrument through which the voice of the students may be heard. The aims of the assembly are to develop the student life, academic programs, and the relations of students to one another and to the faculty. The student body can direct its power and affairs in a straight course of smooth operation for the good of the individual student for the School of Religion and for the University.

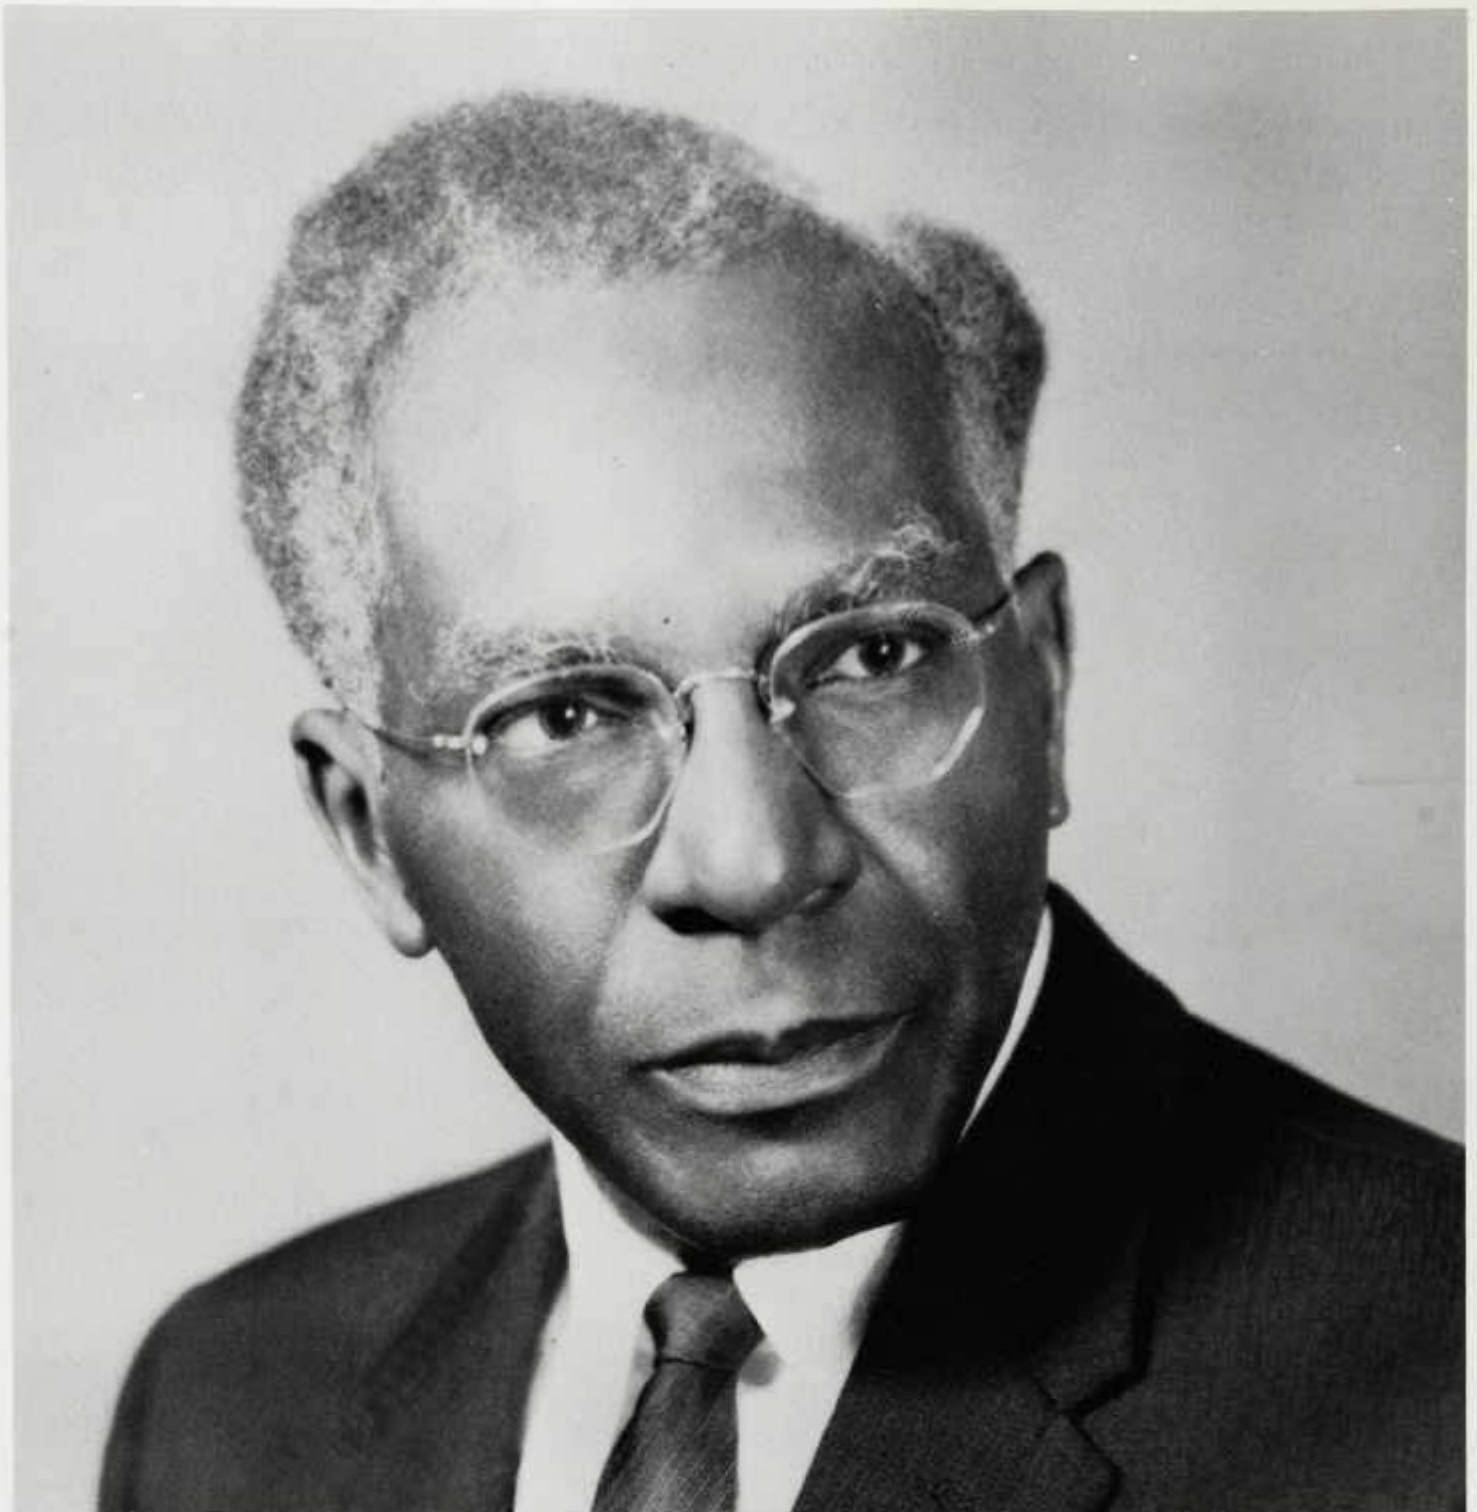

The School of Religion Library is a place for deep thought.

Robert S. Jason
Dean, College of Medicine

College of Medicine

The primary aim of the College is to prepare students for the general practice of medicine. We recognize that medicine, as a science and as an art, must rest upon a broad preliminary education and a thorough training in the sciences fundamental to medicine.

The first two years contain some clinical instruction, but are devoted mainly to lectures, demonstrations, conferences, and laboratory work. During the second two years the student works with patients in the wards and outpatient clinics of the Freedmen's, District of Columbia General, St. Elizabeth's, and Mt. Alto V.A. Hospitals.

The organization of the School of Medicine was authorized in 1867. The Department was composed of medical and pharmaceutical colleges and a general hospital. The Faculty opened the Department on November 8, 1868, eight students attending the first sessions in a frame building. In 1892, the College of Medicine became a charter member of the Association of American Medical Colleges, and extended its curriculum to four years in 1893. The College is now approved by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

The Freedmen's Hospital, owned and maintained by the United States Government and controlled administratively by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is on University grounds between the main site of the University and the buildings of the School of Medicine.

College of Pharmacy

The College of Pharmacy this year graduates the first class completing the five year program. There have been many changes in the curriculum, which will result in a better prepared member of the health team. As a result of the addition of one year, the pharmacist of tomorrow will be a more versatile individual, more competent as a consultant to the lay public as well as to the physician, and a better professional as well as a better citizen.

Pharmacy has become a profession with as much emphasis on the theoretical aspect as on the practical. Gone is the tedious compounding of pills and tablets and in its place the role of the consultant in all matters concerning drugs and drug uses. Thus, the pharmacist is taught today to learn and inform tomorrow.

of Social Work

The School of Social Work provides a two year professional program at the graduate level. Social Work training at Howard University began September, 1935, with a program of professional courses in the Department of Sociology. In 1941, the School of Social Work became a division of the Graduate School and became an autonomous unit within the University in 1945.

This year the student enrollment was the largest in the school's history.

The location of Howard University has made it possible for the School of Social Work to utilize the vast resources of the Federal Government. Visits have been made to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare as well as to Congressional Hearings. Students receive lectures from psychiatrists, psychologists, and top governmental officials as well as from thirty-one full and part-time faculty members. Full use is made of the School's own reading room at Founders Library.

Social Work is work with people—individually, in groups, in organizations. Students are given the opportunity to put classroom theory into practice by working at social agencies within the community. Placements are made in such agencies as courts, hospitals, child guidance clinics, correctional institutions, schools, private and public health and welfare agencies, settlement houses, and agencies providing recreational facilities.

STUDENT LIFE

To Be a Freshman . . .

Beanies on heads, papers in hands; inundated with welcoming speeches, ill treated by medical examiners, suffering in endless lines, they were, nevertheless, anxious to go to class. Eagerly they sought out their advisors, raced from building to building, scurried around campus and worried about checks from home.

They were enthused, confused, unknowing, free, expectant and green!

Some found themselves buried in the formidable and profound "Valley." Some gathered to discuss exams under the "clock" in Douglass Hall. Still others met under Founders tower and marched off to such intellectually stimulating places as the Kenyon, Kampus Korner or the Punch Out.

They studied astutely, they partied assiduously, and immersed themselves in student government. Some fell in love; some cried in despair; some were happy and some were sad.

The blockboys and anatomy; the Administration and sociology; campus guards and psychology; crowded dorms and economics; ROTC and government; inadequate parking facilities and philosophy, are only a few of the things that plagued the new freshman.

They accepted nothing; doubted everyone; and knew everything.

Yet they came . . . they were absorbed into . . . they lost to . . . will gain from . . . and will grow with the Howard Community.

“On Broadway”

The enthusiasm of the throng, the rousing duel on the gridiron, the sight of seldom seen classmates, the encouraging smile of an inspiring teacher, the creative artistry of the colorful floats, the rhythmic cadence of high stepping bands, the ever changing campus skyline, the familiar strains of the Alma Mater, perhaps a stolen glance of a former campus sweetheart; all of this to gladden the heart and warm the spirit, all of this is Homecoming.

The Election

The Coronation "My Fair Lady"

The crowd waited in anticipation. Who will reign as the 1964 Homecoming Queen? Some had campaigned vigorously for Marian Wright. Some had proclaimed Francis Douglass. While others had shouted the name of Jackie Waters. Now was the hour of reckoning. As always, Dean Blackburn, with some joking hesitation made the announcement. "By your vote and enthusiasm the Homecoming Queen for 1964 is Miss Jackie Waters." And with this, the Homecoming activities were formally opened.

They waited, and then

Miss Jackie Waters was proclaimed the Queen.

Cultural Series

Turnau Opera Players

The Turnau Opera Players of New York opened the 1964-65 Howard University Cultural Series Monday, October 5, at 8:30 p.m. The performance initiated a program of six cultural presentations to be offered by the University during the current school year.

The Turnau Opera Players appeared in last year's performing "The Barber of Seville." This year's presentation was "La Boheme."

The opera company was organized nine years when its founder, the late Professor Josef Turnau, realized that well-performed opera was fast becoming an enjoyable part of American life. Since 1955, the Players have staged over 450 performances of some 40 operas including the premieres of five contemporary works.

"La Boheme" by Giacomo Puccini is an opera which depicts a group of artists in Paris. The main characters, Rodolfo and Mimi, meet and then progress from their timid encounter to a deep commitment of eternal love. The tragic story of the lovers is woven into a background of poverty which is a part of their Bohemian life.

The story touches all of the characters as they progress from a life of frivolity to a realization that life is fragile and then come to recognize the power of sympathy and love.

Little Orchestra Society

The Little Orchestra Society of New York was featured in the second program of Howard University's 1964-65 Cultural Series.

The program included "Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 in G Major" by J. S. Bach; "Octet in E-Flat for Winds, Op. 103," by Beethoven; "Concerto in G Major for Piano and Orchestra," by Ravel; "Siegfried Idyll for 16 Players," by Wagner; and "Concerto No. 7 in F Major for Two Pianos and Orchestra, K 242," by Mozart. Mr. Scherman and Eileen Flissler appeared as piano soloists.

The Little Orchestra Society has traveled widely in the United States during the past 17 years, providing entertainment to music lovers from coast to coast. During this period the Society has been under the direction of Thomas Scherman.

Two years ago the Little Orchestra Society gave its first series of four operas-in-concert form at Lincoln Center's Philharmonic Hall in New York. Since that time the response to the Society's new styles of musical presentation has been tremendous, and given rise to several other concert opera groups.

Mr. Scherman said that his greatest difficulty was in convincing the public that opera in concert form is not a second-hand substitute for the "real thing." He contends that concert opera is a legitimate type of cultural presentation.

Chilean National Ballet

The Chilean National Ballet, a Company of 55 dancers from Santiago, Chile, presented the third program of Howard University's Cultural Series.

The Ballet is one of the first major performing arts attractions from South America to appear in this country. Under the direction of Ernst Uthoff, the Company has grown from its inception as the Ballet of the University of Chile into one of Latin America's proudest cultural advancements. The dance company has a repertory of some 30 ballets, many choreographed by Mr. Uthoff himself.

"Calaucañ," an epic poem on the rebirth of the lost culture of the Andean Indians, and "The Green Table," a dance-drama picture of war in eight scenes, are included in the North American repertory. The other dances are "Miracle on Main Street," a 19th Century Santiago street scene; "Alotria," a comic dance of two unemployed clowns; and "the Prodigal Son," a story based on the Biblical legend.

The young girl, exhausted by the chaos of war, dances willingly into the arms of death.

Cultural Series

Choreographer Uthoff uses the comic and mimic talents of his dancers in this work, the story of the unemployed clowns who arrive at the circus and find it closed for the day. They fall asleep and their dream is peopled with the characters of the big top.

Kaleidoscope

"Kaleidoscope," a program which featured an evening of song, was presented as the fourth program of the Howard University Cultural Series.

"Kaleidoscope" was performed by four singers who presented a unique program of song and familiar music. The group includes Elizabeth Brown, mezzo soprano; Irving Barnes, baritone; Martha Flowers, soprano; and Garrett Morris, tenor.

In White America

The two-act documentary traces the progress of the Negro from slavery to the present through speeches and other recollections presented exactly as they were originally spoken or written. It draws from a varied source of documents dating from 1782 to 1962. Three American presidents, all of whom are portrayed as avoiders of the race relations question are presented.

Thomas Jefferson detests human slavery, but tries to comfort himself with the idea that the Negro is inferior; Andrew Johnson dismisses the appeal of a Negro leader for the right to vote; and Woodrow Wilson is indignant at a man who dares to criticize bureaucratic segregation in Washington.

"In White America" was written by Martin Duberman, an assistant professor of history at Princeton University. Mr. Duberman got the idea for the play while teaching a course on the Civil War. Noting that students knew very little about the role of the Negro in American history, he decided to do something about it. After doing enough research to fill 1,000 typewritten pages, he decided to put his material into dramatic form because he felt the spoken word had a greater power of communication than the written form.

The play has won wide acclaim from drama critics across the nation. Typical of comments is that of the New York Telegraph: "'In White America' is an important contribution to our times and the tensions of our times."

Thelonius Monk

Thelonius Monk, the "mad genius" of modern jazz, appeared in the fifth program of the Howard University Cultural Series.

Monk has been playing jazz music since he was 14, and professionally since the mid-40's. His style hasn't changed much, but in recent years the public has come to accept both his style and his mood. Sometimes regarded as a recluse, the apostle of modern jazz likes to be different, ignoring the fads that spell success for other musicians.

Even today, Monk and his piano music are open diverse views, but most fans who have seen him perform and heard one of his many recordings agree that he "has arrived at the summit of serious recognition."

Alpha Kappa Alpha

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority was founded in 1908 at Howard University. Since that time, the organization has come to be an inspiration and challenge to young women of highest scholastic, ethical, and moral standards, as they work for the betterment of all mankind by fostering love for humanity. There exists in the heart of each sister in Alpha Chapter a pride not only in belonging to the vast sisterhood, but in being here in the chapter where the dream first materialized. This year, as always, we have attempted to keep that dream bright. The determination of the members to move forward into a new era of greater service and a broader scope of activities can be realized as we sing our national song: "So together anew we will pledge our faith and united we will forge ahead greater laurels to win greater tasks to begin . . ."

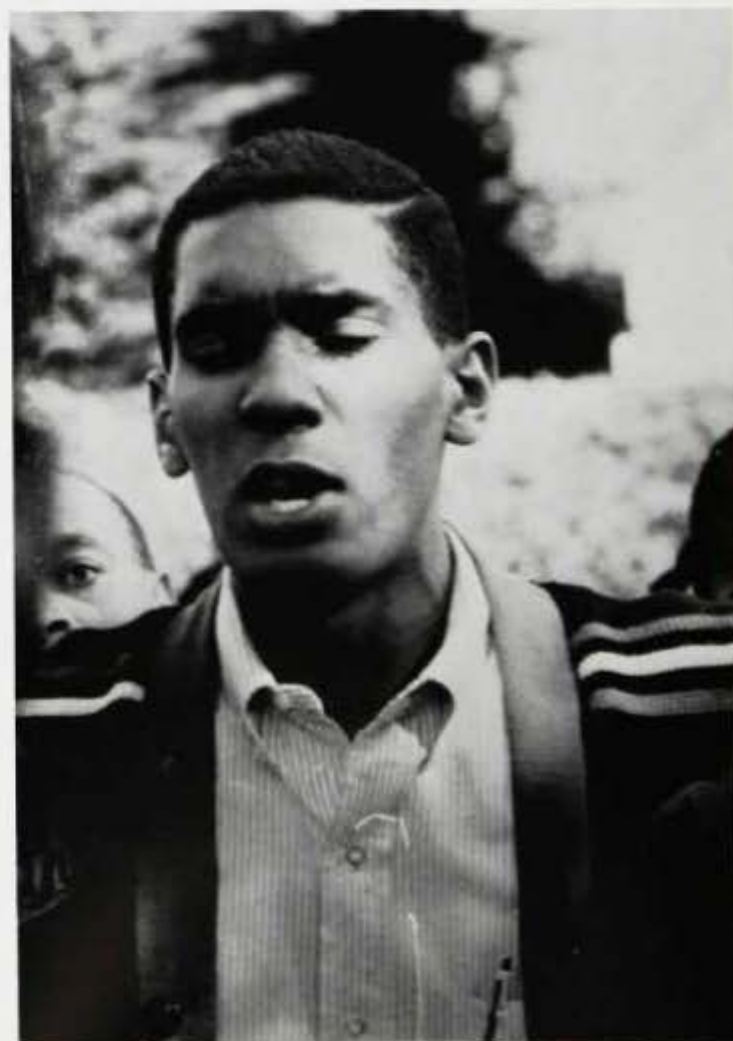

Alpha Phi Alpha

At the turn of the century, seven young men at Cornell University organized Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. Thus, on December 4, 1906, the concept of Negro Brotherhood was given material expression for the first time.

Beta Chapter was founded at Howard University on December 20, 1907, the first fraternity on Howard's campus. This position of pre-eminence has been maintained by Beta Chapter throughout the years in keeping with our motto: "First of all, servants of all, we shall transcend all."

Leadership is our duty—an assumption of intrinsic responsibility by the men of Alpha in all spheres of activity. In human rights, Dr. Martin Luther King; in civil rights, Attorney Thurgood Marshall; in representative government, Attorney General Edward Brooke of Massachusetts; in the United States Congress, Representative Adam Clayton Powell; in the creative arts, Duke Ellington; in education, Professor John Hope Franklin; in the world of olympic competition, Jesse Owens.

In the acts and deeds of these men, the assumption of the role of leader is vividly evident.

Delta Sigma Theta

Since the founding of Delta Sigma Theta at Howard University in 1913, Delta women have continued to maintain the standards and achieve their goals—the development of the ideals of fine womanhood; culture, scholarship, personality, leadership and integrity. Deltas are found in positions of influence and leadership in every facet of campus activity. This year our service program included sewing and filling Christmas stockings for patients at Freedmen's Hospital, sponsoring a Christmas party with the Omegas at St. Elizabeth Mental Hospital; establishing a tutorial program at Mott Elementary School, awarding a $250.00 scholarship and participation in a CORE voter registration drive. Social activities included a successful drive to make Soror Jackie Waters the 1964 Homecoming Queen, the Kiddie Ball, and the Crystal Ball.

Kappa Alpha Psi

With the ultimate goal, achievement, as its purpose Kappa Alpha Psi was founded at Indiana University in 1911. Since that time, the fraternity has grown to include chapters at colleges and universities throughout the United States as well as alumni chapters in a great number of cities. The members in this fraternity are joined together, seeking this goal. Thousands of men both in this country and abroad have pledged themselves to this bond, and also to aid their fellow man.

In 1920, Xi Chapter was founded at Howard University. In addition to advancing the basic aims and principles of the fraternity, Xi Chapter has sought to contribute to the social, cultural, and educational program at Howard. Its members are all stalwart "Howard Men" who seek to promote the aims of the University at every opportunity.

Some of the activities of Xi Chapter are the annual Flunkers Fling, Achievement Program and the Guide Right program.

Winners of the Homecoming Variety Show.

Omega Psi Phi

The Greek letters—Omega Psi Phi—symbolize our motto: "Friendship is essential to the soul." Believing that men of like attainments and of similar ideals of fellowship and manhood should bind themselves together in order to approach these ideals; Brothers Oscar J. Cooper, Frank Coleman and Edgar A. Love under the guidance of the late Brother Ernest E. Just, gave birth to our fraternity. On November 17, 1911, in what is now Thriekield Hall at Howard University, the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity was founded. Since this date, the fraternity has increased in size to over 200 chapters within the United States and abroad. The men of Alpha Chapter are ever striving to maintain and increase the high standards of excellence, ideals, and the prestige of our beloved organization, the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Incorporated.

Zeta Phi Beta

Forty-five years ago with the encouragement of Charles R. Taylor and Langston Taylor, members of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was organized on the campus of Howard University.

The activities of Alpha Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority have been wide and varied during the stormy months of 1965. Sorors participated actively in DAP, carloads to Mississippi, the voter drive, the annual Leadership Conference at the Myer Elementary School, the observance of Finer Womanhood Week (via cultural program), Red Cross drive, volunteer work at D.C. General and Freedmen's Hospitals, and will give its annual scholarship to an outstanding freshman girl.

Alpha Chapter plans to continue to uphold the ideals of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority. But, we will not be alone in our efforts. For, Zetas everywhere will strive toward these common goals, the perfection of finer womanhood, sisterly love, and service.

Scenic Airlie Farms, Virginia, was the setting for the '64-'65 Howard University Student Leadership Conference. A new experience for Howardites, the conference made it possible for the students to discuss campus issues, to reevaluate their roles as student leaders, and to get better acquainted with their administrators.

The notion that administrators are the perennial enemies of the students was dispelled as both students and administrators acquiesced on the necessity of mutual cooperation as a means of making our alma mater a more interesting and efficient institution.

After two days, we left Airlie with the knowledge that something had been accomplished, that somehow we had reached an agreement with the administrators, somehow we knew that changes would be made at Howard this year and we were proud that we had had a hand in it all.

ATHLETICS

The '64 football performance was indeed atypical. Instead of the usual frustration, disgust, and half-hearted dedication, it was a year of fun, accomplishment, zeal and full devotion. The locker room no longer scented of the losing atmosphere, but that of victory and joy. The frustrations few and the esteem of winning abundant. The Bisons, inspired by an inner compulsion for victory, swept through the opposition for eight wins. The only blemishes were two losses to Drexel Tech, 19-18, and perennially tough Morgan State College, 15-8. It is indeed ironic that in previous years the Bisons were hard pressed to score eight points and this year only eight points separated them from an undefeated season.

Though the season was a winning one, few people realize the troubles coach Tillman Sease and the team surmounted. Even less realized that the players who led the team were the same players who took their lumps in humiliating defeats a couple of years ago.

Quarterback Stan Allen, a masterful field general, Harold Dobbins, Bob Willis, and Stephen MacGruder once lay in the woes of defeat; now they rejoiced in the glory of victory. Center Paul Thompson, Staley Jackson, Sid Hall, and Paul Whitt also felt the excruciating sting of defeat; but this year the wound healed, and they too experienced the esteem and joy of winning.

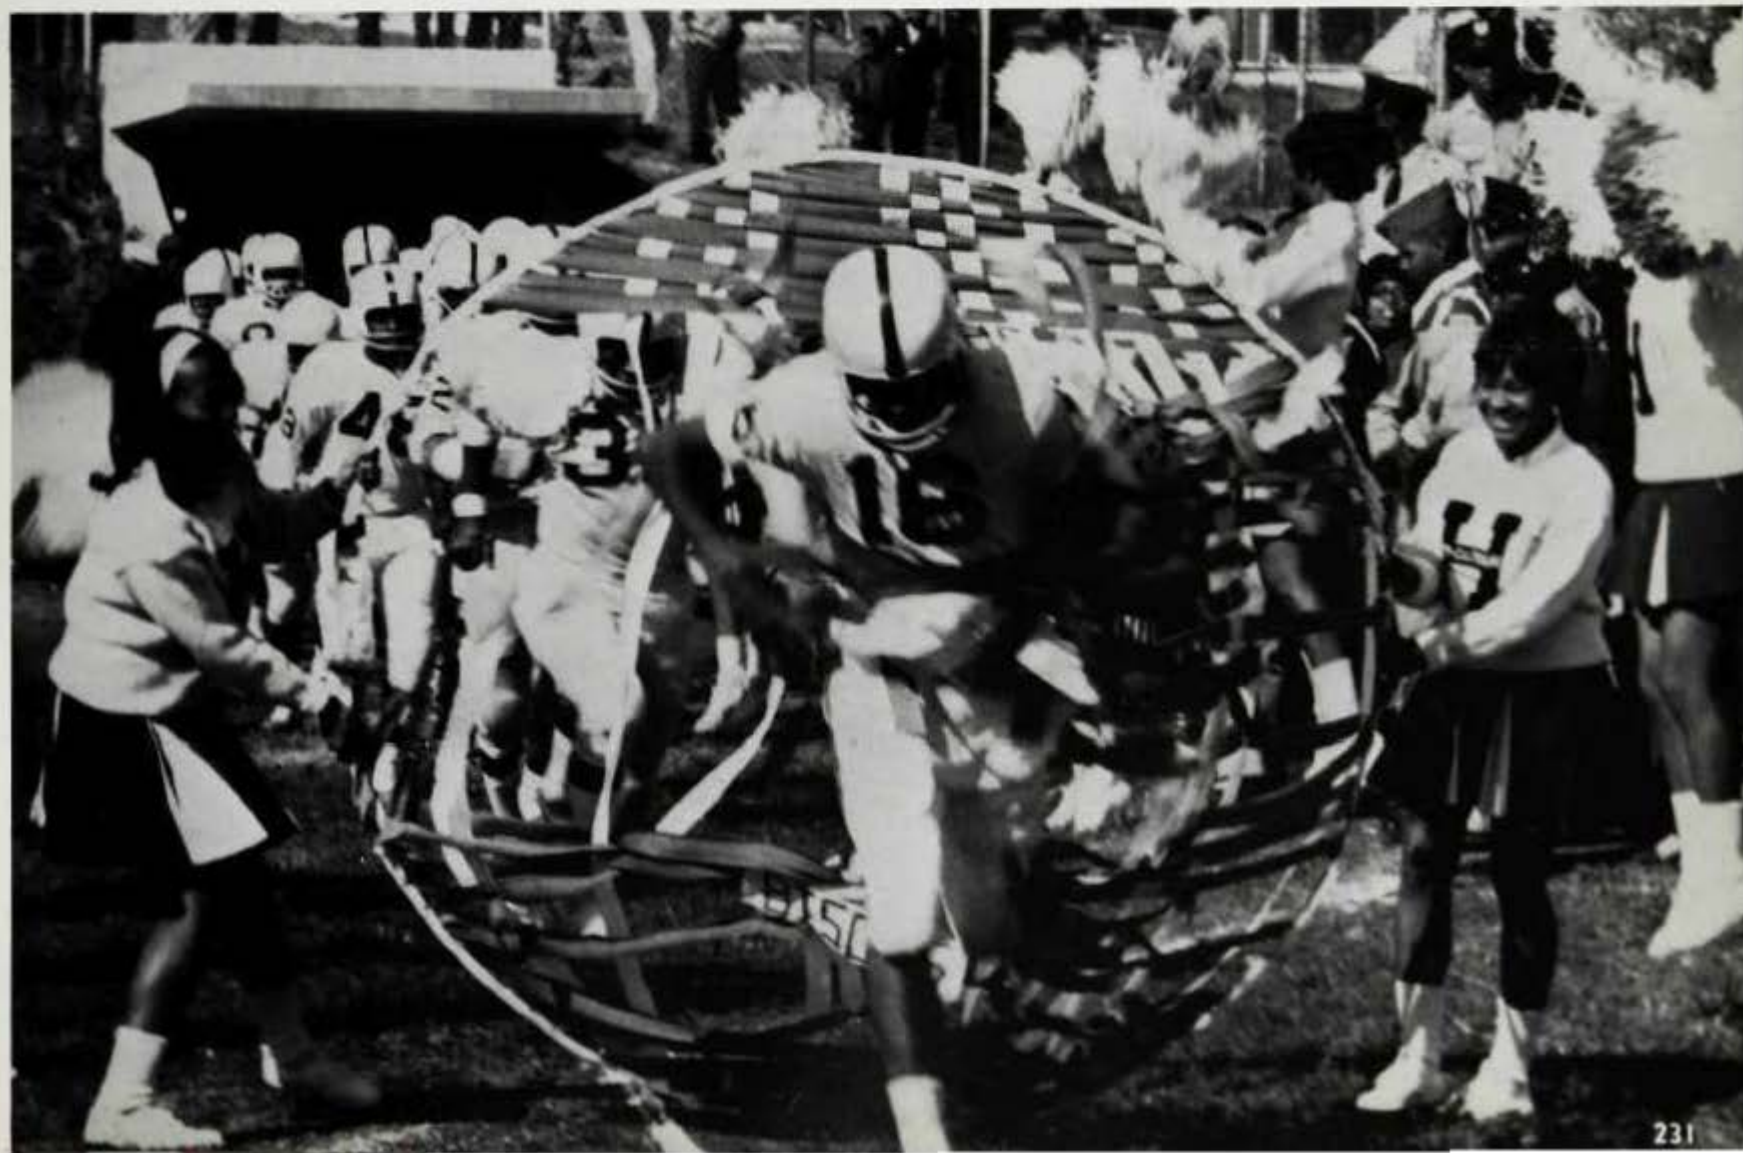

Coach Sease received a scare early in the campaign, in fact in the very first game. Halfback and former captain of the team Ceroy Robinson and end Marion Jenkins sustained leg and ankle injuries, respectively. However, the coach found able replacements in frosh halfback Preston Blackwell and Kenny Price, a beauty of a runner when he slithers and cuts past his would-be tacklers. Tough, rugged and aggressive linebacker Rick Oliver, among the best in the area, gave Sease another heartburn when he broke his ankle against Drexel, disabling him for the remainder of the year.

But if these incidents forced upon him moments of anguish, the play of freshmen Harold Orr, Walter White, Pete Whisonant, Henry Edwards, and Blackwell provided the balancing emotion of joy to coach Sease.

Veterans on the team cannot be excluded. Defensive center John Taylor, ends Dwight Pettit and Bob Mance, who kept the opposition deep in their own territory with his booming spirals, halfback Madison Richardson, fullback Wayne Davis and Clyde Mason all contributed mightily to the team effort. Indeed the future for the next three years looms bright.

Football

Howard University passed the 100 mark this year for varsity competition since 1947 when the sport was renewed. In seventeen years, Howard has won 104 games, lost 27 and tied 11.

This year our soccer team lost three important games which kept us from qualifying for the Championship play-off. As in years past, our efforts to schedule Navy and Maryland and the two perennial top teams in the South failed. This makes it difficult for us to get a qualifying berth in the play-offs since only two teams are picked from the South. The coach will try to get the procedure changed so that "At-large" teams will be selected for Championship play. As it stands three teams are selected from New England, New York, the Mid-West and New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware; with two selected from the South and Far West.

This year's team did not have the scoring punch as teams of previous years. Nixon Asomani led the scoring with six goals; the rest of the scoring was done by ten other men on the team. We had to continually shift our lineup to try and get the best working combination.

The highlight of the season was the opening game with Akron University in Akron, Ohio. Our team played a great game before about 23,000 and came away with a 4 to 2 victory. We look forward to a better year next season as the Freshman squad was very good. Two of the Varsity players will graduate: Walter Davis and Donald Russell.

We would like to commend Carlton Briggs for being selected right fullback for the All-American team.

Soccer

After a dismal start, the Bison five began to slowly progress as a team in mid-season with a 105-92 victory over Lincoln University. From that point the team won seven of its last eleven games. During the hot streak, the team lost a heartbreaker to Catholic University in overtime, 70-73, and dropped a 97-98 thriller to Delaware State.

Personnel-wise, Captain Aaron Shingler did a tremendous job offensively averaging 19.7 points per game. He also averaged 15 rebounds per game and improved markedly defensively. Aubrey Allen, playing the opposite forward, performed well offensively. His patented left-hand jump shots swished the nets for better than 16 points per game. Six foot nine center Bill Lawson showed marked improvement after mid-season as did guard Ed Richardson. The sparkplug of the team was guard Richie Clay. With his ball-handling skills, he may well convince Howard fans that Richie Clay, not Cassius, is the greatest.

This season's record is the best of any Bison quintet in the past five years. All except Lawson are scheduled to return next year.

The Howard University Swimming Team continued to excel in the CIAA this year by winning its fourth consecutive championship. This feat was accomplished through the fine performances of veteran swimmers Aaron Richardson, who captured the two hundred and five hundred yard freestyle, Sam East, who outdistanced his opponents in the fifty yard freestyle, Edward Johnson, who captured the two hundred yard individual medley, and Lafayette Jackson, who once again controlled the one and three meter diving event.

"Prospects for next season seem bright," conceded coach Pendleton. "Hard work and personal sacrifice will make the difference in a winning or losing squad."

The Wrestling Team placed third in the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association for the second consecutive year. Starting the season with a squad of beginning wrestlers, Coach Benjamin felt very pleased with their accomplishments. Howard had two wrestlers to achieve championships in their respective classes. John Pinderhuges, a freshman, finished the season with an 8-0 record taking the championship in the 115 lb. class. Lester Johnson, a sophomore, managed an 8-1 record thus taking the championship in the 123 lb. class.

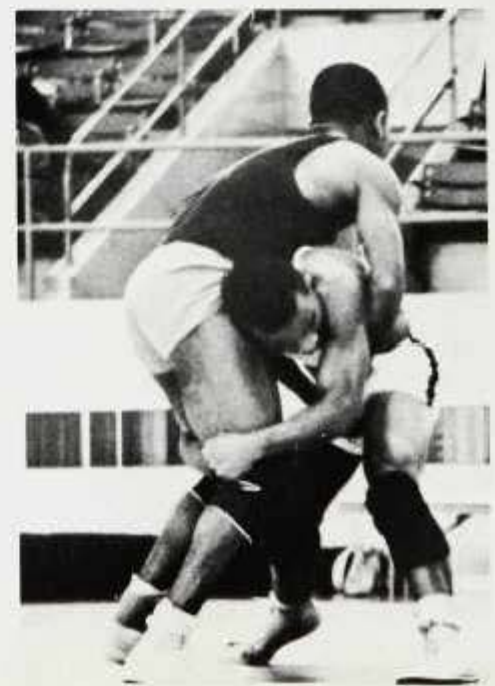

Losing only one player from the squad for next year, Coach Benjamin foresees a highly prospective season barring any hardships or mishaps.

The 1965 Bison will always be grateful to Earl Williams, the Bison photographer, for the fine job he did.

Editor's Page

My tenure as Editor-in-Chief of the 1964-65 Bison was a challenging and rewarding experience. To picture the life of the entire Howard community at work and at play was not an easy task. There were many students who unselfishly relinquished their time in planning, organizing, and producing this yearbook. To you, Janet Wright, who encouraged and advised the staff in hours of great distress, I am eternally grateful. To Ralph Durham, who assumed the position of managing editor and business manager, working devotedly day and night, I thank you.

A book is not complete without expressive imagination. Mere words of appreciation could not express my gratitude to you, Paul Smith, who offered your layout talents to the Bison.

To Connie Henderson, who assumed the position of assistant editor late in the year, I thank you for writing many lines of copy and typing many of the pages.

To Earl Williams and Andrew Ennis for such sensitivity and expression exemplified in their excellent photography, I am grateful.

And to Karen House, who unselfishly typed many pages of copy for this year's Bison, I express my appreciation.

The purpose of a yearbook is to summarize a year's activities in pictures and words. I hope that the student body will accept our attempts to make this book a truly memorable one.
