JESSE EDWARD MOORLAND PAPERS
Collection 126-1 to 126-84

Prepared by:
Wilda D. Logan
December 1982

Scope Note

Dr. Jesse Edward Moorland (1863-1940), YMCA executive, member of the Howard University Board of Trustees (1907-1940), and donor of his personal library to Howard University in 1914 to establish the Moorland Foundation, donated his personal papers in 1940.

The papers span 40 linear feet and reflect his affiliation with Howard University, the Young, Men's Christian Association and the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History. A large group of Dr. Moorland's family papers, organizational materials and personal papers are also included.

Dr. Moorland's family papers, dated from the 1790s to the 1930s, span several generations and branches of his ancestry. The most important materials are notes, notebooks, and genealogical trees which assist in identifying particular family members and their relationship to Dr. Moorland. The family papers also include biographical data, correspondence, legal documents, manuscripts, notebooks and receipts which highlight the life of a free Black family in Ohio.

The organizational materials reflect Dr. Moorland's tenure or interest in various civic, religious, professional and educational organizations. Of special note is correspondence on the Association for the Study of Negro (Afro-American) Life and History between Dr. Moorland, Dr. Carter G. Woodson and other ASNLH board members.

Dr. Moorland's personal papers include large correspondence and speech series, autobiographical and biographical data, clippings, financial records, scrapbooks, photographs, testimonial records and materials which relate to his personal hobbies, especially book collecting. Dr. Moorland's love for book collecting is evident in the booklists, correspondence with publishers and his notes on books purchased. This material documents the development of his collection on Afro-Americans. Due to the influence of Dr. Kelly Miller, who pursued a dream of establishing a national "Negro Americana Library and Museum" at Howard University, Dr. Moorland donated his personal library to Howard in 1914. This collection served as the nucleus of a comprehensive Negro Americana collection called the Moorland Foundation. In 1973, the collection was reorganized as the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center.

Correspondence between Dr. Moorland, Dr. Kelly Miller, Emmett Scott, and other Howard University Board of Trustee members reveal the struggle of the national library development. Related correspondence, reports and additional acquisition lists disclose the growth of the Moorland Foundation up to the 1930s. Dr. Moorland served as a member of the Howard University Board of Trustees for over 30 years.

Due to his long tenure on the Board, Dr. Moorland reviewed and received materials which affected all levels of Howard University activity. Prominent correspondents throughout the Howard University material include: Albert Cassell, J. Stanley Durkee, William Leo Hansberry, Mordecai W. Johnson, Alain Locke, Kelly Miller, Booker T. Washington, and Charles Wesley. The voluminous Young Men's Christian Association files reflect Dr. Moorland's tenure with the YMCA (1898-1923). The materials span from the 1880s to the 1930s, a period of radical growth and development in the Association.

Important YMCA materials include a large group on the Colored Men's Department, including, the development of colored associations in particular cities.

Other important Colored Men's Department (CMD) records include the William A. Hunton and the Max Yergan materials. Of special note are a group of materials on the history of the Colored Men's Department, researched and written by Dr. Moorland in 1919. Information on the national building campaign orchestrated by Dr. Moorland is also reflected in the CMD records. Various YMCA departmental records, reports, minutes, published and printed materials, financial records, correspondence, statistics, manuscripts, photographs, scrapbooks, notebooks and clipping are weaved throughout this series.
