Camille Lucie Nickerson Papers
Collection 161-1 to 161-19

Prepared by
Robin Van Fleet
August 1993

Scope Note

The papers of Camille Lucie Nickerson (1888-1982), musician, composer and administrator, reflect her personal life, performing and composing career, as well as her role as an educator at Howard University. These papers date from circa 1927, when Ms. Nickerson was teaching at Howard University and while she was performing nationally and internationally - through the 1970's. They were acquired by Moorland-Spingarn from Music Department faculty member, R. Louise Burge, in 1983. There are approximately 10 linear feet of materials.

Correspondence, programs and photographs of Ms. Nickerson's performances of creole music as the "Louisiana Lady" are included in these papers, as well as programs of others who have performed Ms. Nickerson's arrangements. Music compositions, her thesis and other writings on creole songs by Ms. Nickerson are also included in published and manuscript form. Although the papers document little of Ms. Nickerson's tenure at Howard University; there are many photographs of the Howard University Junior Preparatory Music Department. Diaries from 1937-1974 document Ms. Nickerson's daily life and activities. The later ones are quite detailed, including telephone calls, visitors, correspondence, and activities. Memberships which Ms. Nickerson held included the National Association of Negro Musicians; this and her role as founder and member of the B-Sharp Music Club, are documented in this collection as well.
