ISABELE TALIAFERRO SPILLER

Collection 93-1 to 93-7

Prepared by Denise Harbin
June 1980

Revised by Greta S. Wilson
January 1981

Scope Note

The Isabele Taliaferro Spiller collection consists of a combination of manuscript material of Isabele Spiller, Director of the Spiller School of Music, New York City, and her husband, William N. Spiller, founder of the school.

The collection contains biographical material on the Taliaferro and Spiller families, correspondence, photographs, organizational material, and a large volume of material relating to the Spiller School of Music and the Musical Spillers.

The Musical Spillers were a unique musical group organized by William N. and Isabele T. Spiller in 1906 in Chicago, Illinois. The group performed all over the United States, Europe, South America and Africa. There are broadsides, playbills, programs, clippings, and photographs publicizing the exciting musical career of these famous black musicians during the years 1906-1940. There are also a number of individual profiles of members of the group.

Mrs. Spiller provides her own personal notes and reminiscences to many of the materials, particularly the photographs, giving an added dimension to this collection. Her holographic notes are either attached on important to or written directly on the materials, and they focus Federal Music periods in her life such as her involvements with the
