Tomorrow, the Bison football team will take on the Winston-Salem State University Rams. The team is looking to improve their 1-3 record.

"The key to winning is to number one: play well on special teams," said Carey Bailey, head football coach. "We have to make sure we're executing and doing the little things to win."

The Rams' current record is 0-4. Kermit Blount is the head coach and will be looking to lead his team to victory for the first time this season. He is entering his 16th season as head coach of the Rams.

"They have a solid quarterback; they're a solid team," Bailey said. "This series between us has been a defensively controlled game every time we've played, so it's essential we execute in order to come out on top."

On offense, Nicholas Cooper will lead Winston Salem. He has two touchdowns and 166 yards rushing this year. On defense, they will be led by Marcus Coates who has 20 tackles this season. Last week, the Rams lost to South Carolina State 43-17.

White's comments were made after receiving a call from Georgia Governor Sonny Perdue. White admitted that he became frustrated with the distribution of FEMA aid. He said it was only after visiting distribution sites and seeing no aid to be distributed to thousands of people who had been waiting in line that his temper began to flair.

FEMA is prepared to provide as much aid as possible. White's request for more aid was denied. He said that some temporary aid would be issued.

Now, three years later, Hurricane has wreaked havoc on the Gulf Coast.
Hurricane Ike hit Galveston, Texas on
Oct. 12, 2008. President Bush declared

After Ike, Texans would be won-

Texas residents were given the OK to arn to their homes for a brief "look kup prompted officials to call off the

Dear Howard University

Why did you come here? What was your reason? Was it your mother, your father or the weather in each of the seasons? Was it D.C.? The fashion, the stories that Howard University was the best? Or did you get a scholarship for getting the highest scores on the test? And of all HBCUs, why did you think Howard University was the best place for you? Whether it was the books, graduation or your uncle, for the past year, Howard has been your focal. For some of us, it is the last time around, so in May we all plan to hold that paper crown. A diploma.

But Howard University is a place that will remain stationed in our hearts. For it has made a special impact in our culture from the start. A place for social activism, Black Panthers and people striving to make a change, some graduates going on to make their mark in the Hall of Fame.

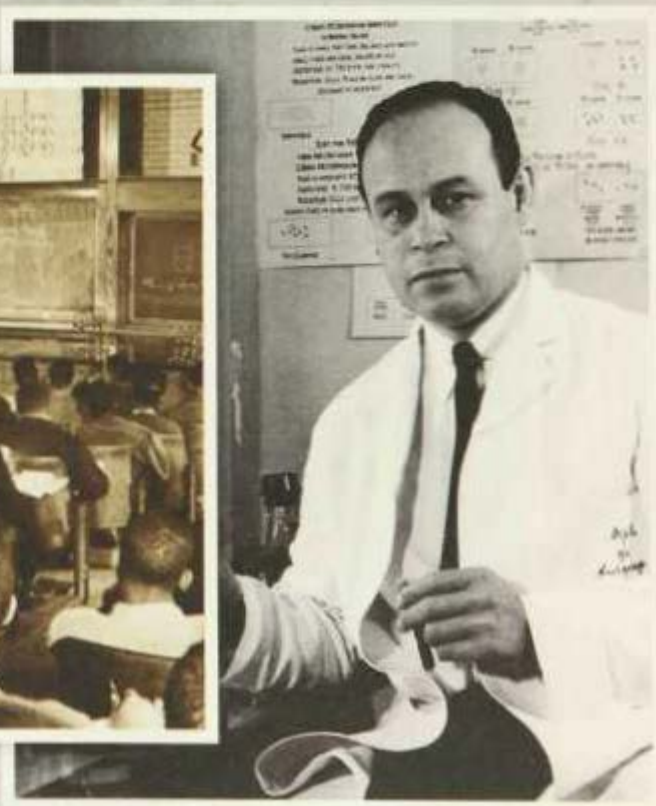

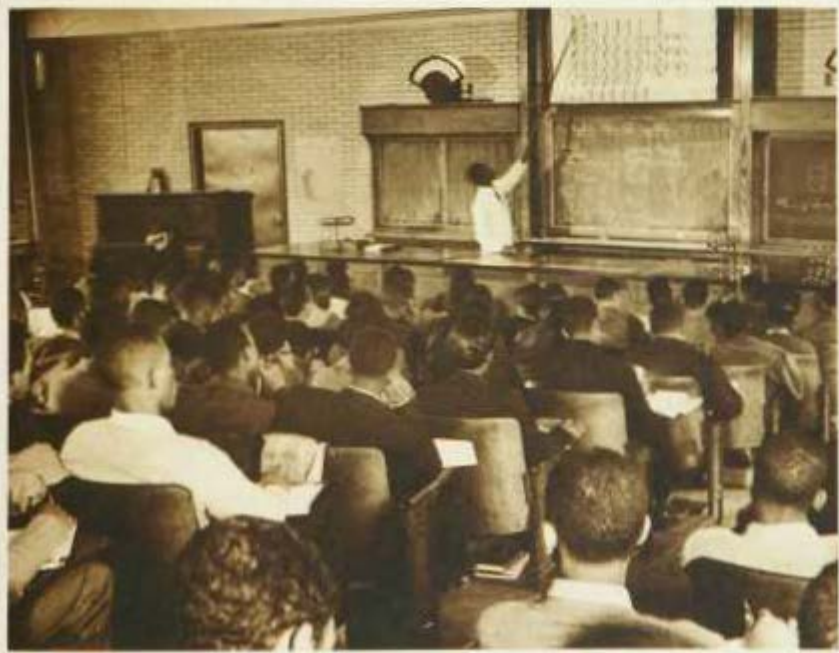

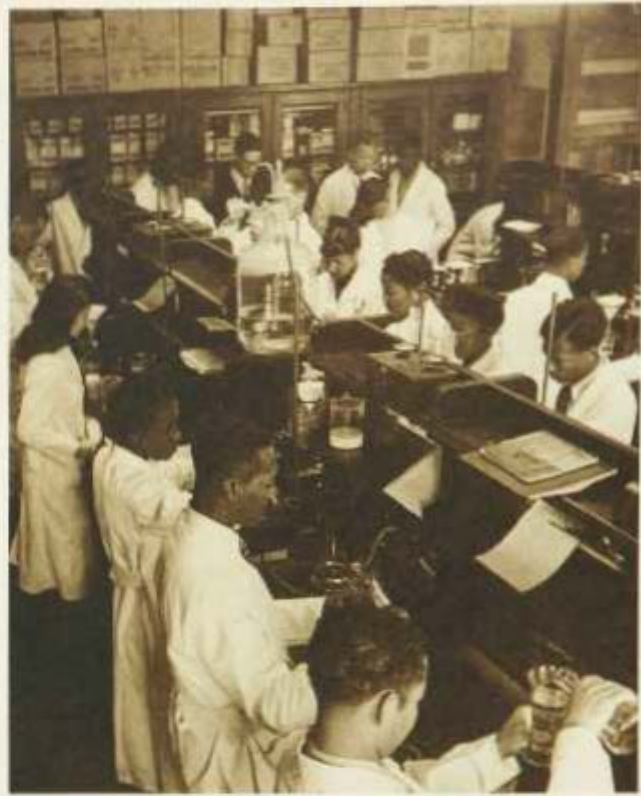

Our ancestors were not afraid to jump and they never ran, when things got tough, they fought to get out of the quicksand. When we were children, running about the streets, we used to play innocent games of hide and seek. But now is the time to mature and decide, whether you are the chaser or the one that hides. Will you go through the extremes, to make a reality of all your dreams? Or will you be the one to regret not taking those necessary steps?

Without an awareness of history, you can't understand your past, and so moving into the future can be a complicated task, but you have to be prepared to take risks and fast! If its one thing Howard teaches you is to be a go-getter and never accept the word no. Always being prepared to go toe-to-toe!

As we prepare for class, exquisite in dress, unique, looking rad, we are the leaders, we set the trends and we never follow the fads. And when the weather changes and school is about to let out, you can be sure to believe that Howard students are out and about; talking before going to class, as finals near and we pray, "And this too shall pass." But there are many things that we will miss, if ever we shall leave Howard, we seal our envelopes with a kiss. Howard University we love you!

Forever deriving and changing with time, this here Howard will always be yours and mine. It is the students that make this school great and our success that deems its fate. Although many obstacles may get in your way, you have to be a Bison and exceed the day. A lot of firsts but never last, for this opportunity, we all should thank our past.

From Old to New: Campus Renovations

BY KENYA JAMES

Office Assistant

At the beginning and end of every school year, students witness quick patch ups to the appearance to Howard University, and wonder when permanent changes will be made. This year marks a new beginning in terms of renovations that will upgrade Howard University.

For many years, Howard students have complained about that standard of certain places on campus such as the cafeteria, Undergraduate Student Library, the Game room, and many more. Students have seen nice donations such as the Tulin Fountain in front of the Blackburn University Center deteriorate, in great dismay. Under the new administration of President Sidney Ribeau, many of the changes that Howard University Students have been waiting are coming to fruition.

Over the summer, there was much speculation about a re-modeled cafeteria being built in the Blackburn University Center, especially after a trying school year with rodent infestation and food that wasn't as appealing. That speculation soon turned into fact when the Cafeteria opened up, there was no longer any broken chairs, and broken drink machines. The disdain for the cafeteria was replaced with a renewed sense of appreciation. Along with the physical changes to the cafeteria, students have commented that the food and service has also improved. Another new addition to the cafeteria is its wireless capabilities.

Fall 2008 marked the beginning of many adjustments and changes to the Blackburn University Center. The Tulin Fountain is being remodeled, the gaming center is being renovated, and the Punchout even takes credit cards now.

Ismael Ahmad '10

Over the summer, the Blackburn Restaurant also underwent some renovations.

Throughout campus, students have struggled with the way Howard University embraces modern technology. Howard University, began to listen to the voices of its students, and placed desktop Apple Computers throughout the campus. The Undergraduate Student Library also had a technology face lift with the recent upgrade in the computers that students are allowed to use.

Even though many students think these changes are well overdue, it is also up to us as students to help maintain and not take advantage of these new renovations.

On the Grind: Student Entrepreneurs

BY ASHLEY WRIGHT

Copy Editor

As the economy declines and graduating seniors near their final days at Howard, much talk about new businesses arise. Students are swimming to the shallow end of the pool in attempt to establish financially stable lives post graduation. While many of these students have become entrepreneurs to secure jobs and finances, others simply, "Don't want to work under anyone." The popular book, "Rich Dad, Poor Dad" seems to provide guidance to many of these business savvy individuals. One student in particular, a graduating senior, Christopher Bowser has a strong interest in entrepreneurship and a fond disdain of working under anyone. Gaining experience by working at Morgan Stanley Investment bank and a private Equity Real Estate Company called, RLJ Development, Bowser plans to acquire, develop and manage, residential, retail, and commercial Real Estate.

"As an employee at RLJ Development, I gained a valuable experience in the Real Estate Industry and an understanding of the necessary resources needed to capitalize on opportunity. Real Estate investment to me is like an investing vehicle to create wealth for not only myself but for company stakeholders," Bowser states. While Bowser, has a strong interest in Real Estate, he is currently operating a wholesale, distributing consumer products to select target market. Chris envisions entrepreneurship as a medium to not only wealth creation, but freedom to think, and capitalize on society's interest in an ever-changing environment.

Other students have begun to indulge in business schemes in hopes of achieving success as well. Graduating seniors, Jerod Harris, Jason Mutua and Damola Ademiluyi visited Euphoria an Ethiopian Restaurant located on 1914 9th Street,

Christopher Bowser, 2009

Washington, D.C. 20001. With efforts to possibly own and operate Euphoria, the three friends revamped the marketing scheme and turned Euphoria into a relaxed environment for grown and sexy professional graduate students located in the D.C. Metropolitan Area. The now, newly renovated, two-story restaurant and bar is one of the most popular happy hour chilling spots in the area.

With the success of these student-run businesses, Howard students feel that they have managed to stay above water to become financially stable. Students by day and entrepreneurs by night, these Howard students were able to take a dream and turn it into a reality.

Making the Grade: On-Campus Jobs

BY ASHLEY WRIGHT

Copy Editor

You see signs for it everywhere in the "A" building. You go to the bookstore, the Blackburn Student Center and see students behind the desk assisting you. You go to the Commuter Computer Lab and students are answering your questions. Then you think to yourself, "How in the world did they get this job? How do you get work-study?"

Oftentimes students are very interested in work-study. What? Who wouldn't?! While some people are working off-campus at local restaurants and retail stores, other students are staying right on campus earning about $12-$20 being a work-study. Can you say bananas baby? Geeze, we all wanna see the profits of that money. Books, hello! Gas in your car, needs that with the decline in the economy! Food in your bare refrigerator! Aren't you a hungry college student, broke with no money?!

But where and how? How does one find out about these jobs, these opportunities? Many students are unaware that being eligible for work-study begins with filling out the FAFSA. Although, the FAFSA is not usually due for continuing students until June 30th before the new school starts, students who would like to be considered for work

Michael Cadenhead, 2009; Nicholas Owen, 2009; Patrick Scott, 2009

-study should complete and submit the FAFSA in February.

Yet and still, one's Estimated Family Contribution (EIC) is a major factor in being eligible for work-study, but it doesn't hurt to try to at least be considered. I mean seriously, who wouldn't want to earn $15.75 sitting behind a desk checking Howard Id's for 25 hours a week all the while completing homework assignments. Shoot, I wouldn't mind, not all.

From the Bottom to the Top: Freshman Transition

BY BRITNEY BREWINGTON

Assistant Copy Editor

"Now don't forget to call everyday, and to set your alarm every night for class..."

These words can only be said best by the mother leaving her son or daughter at college for the first time. Freshman move in day is one of joy, excitement and sadness for the parents as well as the new Bison. For some it's their first time away from home and for others it's a breath of fresh air to now "officially," be out on their own.

However, after Freshman week its quickly learned that being a Freshman is not all about enjoying the Campus Pal events, nightly parties and late nights in the hall meeting new friends. Instead real life responsibility is revealed with managing heavy course loads, joining new organizations and for some maintaining jobs. No more having a mom to wake you up in the morning for school or for someone to tell you to do your homework, instead its quickly realized, in the words of the famous pampers slogan, "Mommy Wow, I'm a Big Kid Now!"

Embracing all the Mecca has to offer is something on the top of a Freshman's to do list. Homecoming at Howard, Spring Black Arts Festival, Resfest activities and the random events and people that pop up on campus are some of the most important social activities. The café is always popping during freshman year with the occasional pop ups of a DJ, plethora of food options and whatever random events that occur. However, at the end of the day students learn to buckle down and produce those A grades that their parents sent them to Howard for.

Freshman learn that after that first year, it's all down here from there. The time begins to fly by and students look forward toward the glorious day in May. Kanye West said it best when he said "Mama I Made It," while these freshman hope to echo these words walking across the stage diploma in hand.

Genesis: Dawn of a Golden Legacy

Ashley Wright

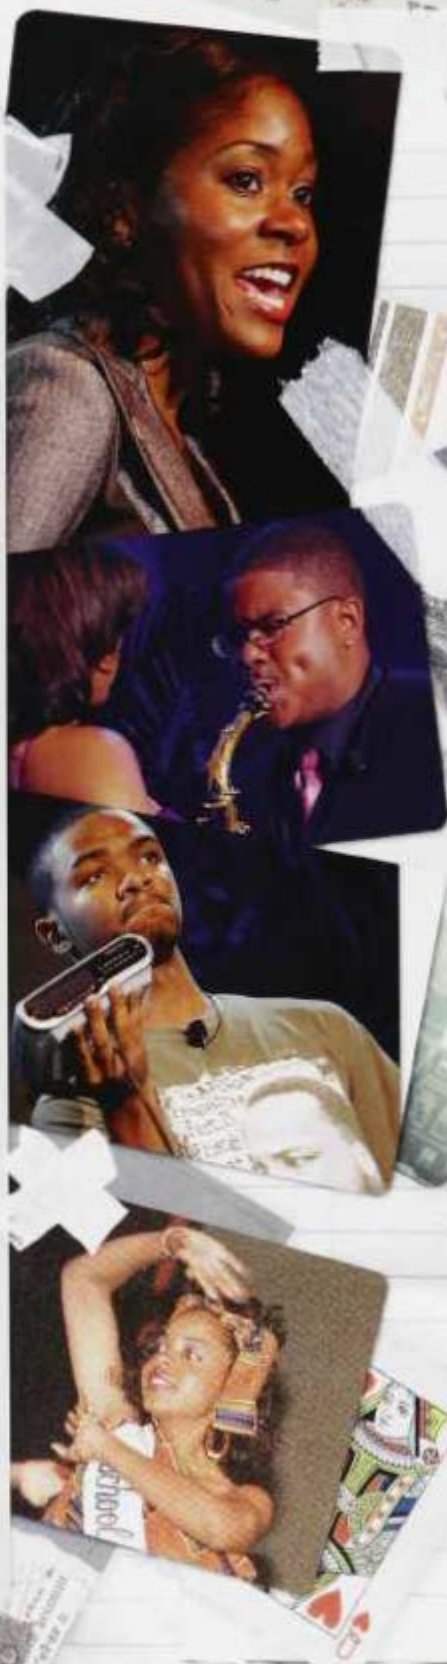

"You can text your vote in for each contestant?" gasped the audience in awe. "Whoa, Oh my God, now that's cool!" This year's Mr. and Miss Howard University Pageant, "Genesis: Dawn of a Golden Legacy," proved to have a new purpose.

Amber Efe, voted one of Ebony Magazine's "30 Young Leaders Under 30" in 2008 and Chay Lee, a writer and up-and-coming comedian, hosted the pageant and were more than interested to find out the results as to who would be the next Mr. and Miss Howard University.

One of the many new implementations to the pageant was the Platform Discussion, which contestants were given the opportunity to explain their platforms in questions. Being introduced to the judges and texting their votes in audiences awaited the decision of Mr. and Miss Howard University.

Of the twelve contestants for the Mr. and Miss Howard University Photogenic Award was Kendall Isadore and Melech Thomas.

At the conclusion of the Homecoming Pageant, guests were invited to attend, what was another new addition to the pageant, the Coronation Reception in the Blackburn Center Ballroom.

Return to Eden: Celebrating a Second Chance

Britney Brewington

Standing outside of Cramton Auditorium, one might have thought Lil Wayne or even T.I. were performing from the amount of noise coming from the stage. But instead Howard students were on the edge of their seats awaiting the start of the gospel concert, "Celebrating a 2nd Chance." Host Marcus Wiley, of Praise 104 Yolanda Adams Morning Show, riled up the crowd with his comical stories. Hailing from a family of preachers Wiley joked with students about one of his conversations with God. "God called me to be a preacher, but then called me back to say he made a mistake," said Wiley.

The first act God's Image, GI, received much crowd participation with their song "Temptation," and even brought the females in the house to tears, with one of the singers surprise proposal to his longtime girlfriend. The widely respected Howard Gospel Concert once again put on a good performance, reminding students to "expect nothing less than a yes." Pleased with their performance, senior Takedrian Morgan enjoyed performing at the show. "I think that our director has always led to teach us music that would really minister to us, which in return allows us to minister to the audience," said Morgan.

After being blessed with two acts the crowd was thirsty for more and that next act proved to be all they expected. One of Gospel's most known hip artists; Tye Tribbett & G.A. headlined the concert causing the crowd to immediately come to their feet. With their unique sense of style, his constant grins and high-energy dances, its no wonder their latest album is titled "Standout." Because they have managed to standout amongst many gospel artists with there new age, sound, and style. In between songs Tribbett was moved to minister to students in the midst of the many pertinent issues affecting college students. Encouraging students during this rough economy, Tribbett stated, "They can talk about a recession all they want, but I'm hidden. Poverty does not know my address."

A fly on the wall would have been moved by the energy inside Cramton as students sang along with Tribbett & G.A., singing word for word as they moved through their song line up. So wrapped up in the spirit, it was hard for Tribbett to leave the stage and he opted to sing one more song after closing the show. "This one's for you D.C., I made this song for you," Tribbett proclaimed before singing hit gospel song "Victory."

Many in attendance left the show satisfied and feeling like they could take on anything coming their way. They were able to get lost in the ministry of the HU Gospel Choir, God's Image and Tye Tribbett & G.A. In the words of Tribbett, "the enemy has boundaries, he cannot get you. So get lost." And on October 12th at 7pm those in attendance, Got lost.

Forbidden: The Sweetest Temptation

Ashley Wright

"Ms. Dominique. I'll say it one more time, Ms. Dominique." She came onto the stage of this year's Comedy Show entitled, "Forbidden: The Sweetest Temptation," making everyone in the audience rollover with laughter before welcoming the acts of the night's show.

After a joke about being on a date with someone who immediately appears on "America's Most Wanted," while being in his or her presence, she welcomed the next act, Rallo.

Rallo walked onto the stage telling jokes about the declination of the Dow Jones Stock Market and how his money was still on the rise. Another act, Corey Hogar, entered the stage declaring the audience to "Raise your hands if you ever slept with a fat chick and regular people legs?" And after the audience looked at him in puzzlement he responded, "Ain't nothing wrong with the Tasmanian Devil." The audience went up in an uproar.

Soon, Def Comedy Jam: One Mic Stand, Tony Roberts entered the stage and the audience welcomed later Diamond William as well. Who continuously encouraged the audience, "Life is too short, get your laugh on. Laugh tonight and be serious tomorrow." The audience had no choice but to listen to his advice because the acts of the Comedy Show were extremely hilarious!

So what are you going to wear? And what are you going to do? I know where I am going but I don't know about you. See there is this place called HU where the students look good and they dress fly too. What about Thursday, October 16th, where the seats will be filled and the Cramton Stage lights will gleam? Or how about this year's fashion show will be the best you'd ever seen....

"Cirque De La Vie" was the name of the theme, and a gigantic backdrop adorned every fashion show scene. With pictures and performances resembling those acts in a circus, they were sure to excite and invite us in....

Into their circus of wild and crazy high fashion at its best, with clothing provided by none-the-less as Betsy Johnson, Barney's Co-op, The Remix, Crescendo, and Stussy just to name a few, the fashion show was sure to be of some influence to you!

Special guests such as, Bianca Golden, Camille McDonald, and Isis all from America's Next Top Model walked down the runway with more celebrities to follow. Lance Gross from Tyler Perry's House of Payne and David Oliver former Bronze winner of the Olympics 2008 and Howard alum strutted their stuff down the runway graciously.

At some point, a model walked down the runway wearing a long dress touching to the ground and a rattlesnake upon her arm. Apparently unmoved by the snake's presence, she kissed it in charm, just before exiting to the background.

"In all the four year's that I have been to the Homecoming Fashion Show, this year was the best," said senior Christina Coleman. Many students believed that this year's fashion show was beautifully unbelievable.

Laron Howard, the 2008 Homecoming Fashion Show Coordinator accomplished his goal of making sure the Homecoming Fashion Show was an event to remember for forever and a day.

The Evolution

Britany Elise Rickett

Bad weather usually plagues the students of Yardfest who come to the Main Quadrangle aka The Yard in their freshest outfits to be entertained for free by the likes of upcoming R&B and Hip-hop artists. Except this year was different. Students and visitors were able to witness "Evolution." To understand the metamorphosis of Yardfest, first one must look to where it came from.

In the beginning, there was an empty yard, the giant screen in front of Locke Hall, white tents, and an empty stage. Fliers dominated every hallway, stairwell, and dorm just to give students a glimpse of what was in store for them. Rumors drove around campus faster than the shuttles about which celebrities and special guests might just drop in to show a little love to Howard University. Not only did Yardfest evolve, it also fused two very important entities in American culture, music and politics. Evolution: Yardfest 2008 was politically driven in the sense that we are in the wake of a historical Presidential Election and students were urged to vote.

Just because Yardfest is evolving doesn't mean that tradition changed. Once you got past Cramton or the Library you could smell the aromas of the vendors- sausages, fried fish, french fries, and any other fried delicacy you could imagine. Lines covered the yard as people waiting for a taste of Yardfest. Other vendors were selling different trinkets but the item of choice this year was, Obama paraphernalia.

Hosted by Vibe, Yardfest attendees were given sweet melodies and hard beats while artists such as Keri Hilson, Ryan Leslie, Tabi Bonney, Wale, The Retro Kidz, Yugn Steff, Maino, Marky, and Slim from 112 graced the stage. Another facet of this year's Yardfest was the South Pole Fashion Show. Students were able to model South Pole's latest season during set breaks.

Howard Alumnus and Radio Personality from Washington D.C.'s own 93.9 WKYS, your Royal Hyperness Angie Ange, hosted this year's Yardfest while DJ Quicksilva was on the 1's and 2's. Most students were pleased with the show and being exposed to new artists. The weather was on clear, the ladies were looking fly, the fellas had the ill swag, and the show was on point. Yardfest 2008 will not only be remembered as one that featured rising stars, but also helped students become more aware of the impending Presidential Elections. Ryan Leslie ended Yardfest with his newest song, Addicted to You. He should have said Addicted to HU because no one does Homecoming like Howard.

Eden's Crush

Britany Elise Rickett

On Friday, October 17, 2008, Cramton Auditorium evoked the soulful ease of Eden. Red rose petals graced the aisle and flickering candles lined the stage. Suddenly, the lights dimmed. The stage was illuminated with a backdrop of color. You could feel the anticipation in the air, as rich vocals eased through the speakers evoking the audience.

Philadelphia native, Chaz Lamar Shepherd, set the tone of the night, opening with "Chemical Reaction" and "By My Side." Both are singles from his album, which is anticipated to release near Valentine's Day; an appropriate time to complement his smooth sound and sensual lyrics. With an authentic swag, he lit the stage and got the audience on their feet wanting more. He graciously expressed his appreciation for having the chance to perform at Howard University; honestly, the pleasure was all ours.

The night was merely beginning as musical transitions took place in preparation for the next performer, or I should better yet say, performers. The four lovely ladies of the new group "RichGirl" took the stage with confidence and style. The members include Audra, Brave, Lyndriette, and Seven, and trust me when I say that they delivered. With seemingly effortless soprano vocals, these young women made their presence known. With songs like "Same Thing," they reached out to the females in the audience with their description of the constant cycle of meeting the wrong kind of man in the club, just to go through the "same thing" the next night. We all know how that goes.

And finally... The moment we'd all been waiting for, Raheem DeVaughn appeared, completely igniting the auditorium with his irresistible stage presence. His performance was enriched with emotion and soul, keeping everyone captivated. To the surprise of fans, he jumped from the stage into the aisles, where he sang immersed in the masses.

Surprising, to both the crowd and the bride-to-be, the concert led to a wedding proposal. With her favorite song "Mo Better" playing in the background, Raheem DeVaughn got down on one knee definitely outdoing himself.

Everyone's musical appetite was satiated and topped off with a huge promotion to vote for Obama in the upcoming election.

5K Bison Stampede

Have You "Herd"?

Michele Akinsanya

When the thought of Howard University's Homecoming crosses one's mind, often past Yardfest performances, hilarious Comedy Show tales, highlights of the Greek Step Show, and the memorable parties that follow all come into view.

This year, for the first time in Howard's history a 5K Run Bison Stampede was added to the roster. This inaugural race, paved the track to promote physical health and wellness within the community. With participants' ages ranging from as young as 17 to as old as 70, this truly was an event for all to enjoy.

Participants trained bright and early to make their way to the starting line to begin the energetic kickoff to the Homecoming Parade. Christopher Bryant, a sophomore management major and participant of the 5K Run recalls, "It was so cold that morning. We started with warm-ups and I noticed the majority of runners were alumni."

The participants ran the two lap race around campus with many cheering supporters and booths promoting healthy lifestyles and discounted fitness programs along the way. "I love how Howard is trying to get our community to become better off, not only in academics, but in health too. Not only do we have fun but we are healthy. It shows that we are well rounded," Bryant commented.

The 5k Run raised funds to support existing research in areas such as health promotion, human performance, and leisure studies, and also contributed to the General Scholarship Fund for Howard University Students. As the first of many annual races to come, the 5k Run provided a great boost of spirits for the events to follow.

Steve Harvey Morning Show

Jokes, Laughter & Shocking Appearance

Rhea Shannon

After having much success as an actor, who ever thought that Terrance Howard would be a singer? Yeah, well, I don't think anyone knew. He actually decided to bring his new single, "Love Makes You Beautiful" to the live airing Steve Harvey Morning Show.

Bright and early, 6:00 a.m. sharp on Friday, October 17, 2008, Cramton Auditorium filled with various students and fans that traveled to Howard just to see the live airing of The Steve Harvey Morning Show.

One of the new additions to the 2008 Homecoming roster, The Steve Harvey Morning Show had many special guests and appearances. Accompanying Steve Harvey on the show was Shirley Strawberry, Nephew Tommy, and Carla Ferrell. Howard's very own "Showtime" band with the sensational Ooh La La's and Flag Girls, welcoming the cast as they came on stage. The show was packed to capacity involving complete interaction between the audience and the cast, which made the setting more intimate. Fortunately, people were able to interview the cast during the breaks in the show. All the while, Steve Harvey continuously made jokes giving the audience no choice but to laugh at every word coming out of his mouth. In addition to the many jokes that were made, Harvey and Nephew Tommy would debate back and forth about their respected memberships in the Greek Fraternities of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. and Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc.

Very similar to any radio show, were special appearances and people dropping in. President Ribeu appeared on the show and announced his excitement as this year's Homecoming was his first Howard Homecoming. Bringing about great energy and promising that the HU band would play their absolute best for Homecoming. John Newson, the band director, also appeared on the show. After performing his single, Terrance and Steve began to reminisce his role alongside Morris Chestnut in "The Best Man." Suddenly, the crowd began to cheer and applaud and moments later, Morris Chestnut graced and shocked the audience with his presence, promoting a charity event that he happened to be in town for. By the end of the show every person in the building had a camera full of pictures and had laughs for hours. This was a great addition to the Homecoming schedule and a crowd pleaser.

Celebrity Basketball Game

Be History or Make History

Britney Brewington

Many turned out for the 1st ever Celebrity Basketball game, to benefit HIV/AIDS. WKYS blared "Marco Polo, Jeezy's 'Put On' and many other hits as students danced in the aisle ways of the bleachers in Burr Gymnasium. Students quickly packed the gym to see what celebrities would be playing in the basketball game. Even though many expected to see more "A" list stars, students seemed pleased with the talent on the court. DC's Mumbo Sauce, Julio McCallum who plays "Diamond" on the Wire and Darius McCray who played "Eddie Winslow" on Family Matters were on hand for the 1st time event. Students also recognized the host of the crowd. "It felt like I was at Rucker Park. Then I closed my eyes and realized I was at Burr. The ANDI players were really good out there, just like T.V.," said senior Brittany Lewis. With MC's Jabari Johnson and Leonard Muhammad, you never know what to expect. The organized chaos taking place inside Burr set the stage for an interesting night. It wouldn't be a Howard function if dormitories weren't called out, with ladies repping the quad or if people weren't doing the Chicken Noodle Soup or Dutty wine dances during the breaks. Fonzworth Bentley made an appearance and the dress a serious subject that will be affecting us on November 5th, a major Presidential Election, and the possibility of having the first ever African American President. Barack Obama Representing All-Hiphop com. Fonzworth made sure to stress to students, "don't be on the wrong side of history". The treat of having the first ever African American President, Barack Obama Representing All-Hiphop. The game. The flexibility in street-ball games also allowed for MC's like Lenny to change his clothes and make some key steals in the game. Like any street-ball game, the competition became intense in the 4th quarter when team Legacy and team History wanted to each be declared the winner. In the end Legacy prevailed and Howard fans were shown a great time.

On a brisk October morning, students and community members alike gathered along Georgia Avenue in pure anticipation for the parade. Brandon T. Jackson, of "Tropic Thunder," helped host on the mic, providing necessary comic relief while booming drums could be heard and the dancers and accompanying bands made their way. School organizations were included having the chance to promote themselves; some went as far as giving handouts to the crowd.

The 20 varying marching bands raised spirits, with music, smiles, and moves to get the crowd ready for the well awaited Homecoming Football Game against Morgan State. Performing in cold air and blowing winds, they delivered without a sign of discomfort or fatigue.

Terrence Howard made yet another appearance during the parade, in addition to Lance Gross, of "House of Payne," and Olympic bronze medal hurdler David Oliver. This year's Homecoming King Melech Thomas, and Queen Kendall Isadore were featured, smiling and waving in their crowns. And you should already know that everyone was riding in style.

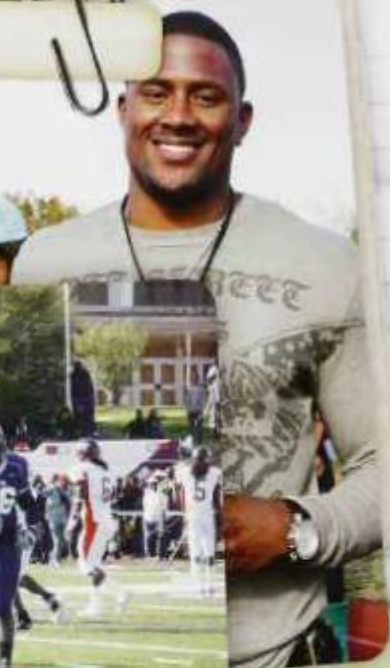

This parade included all, with students from the freshmen, sophomore, senior and junior classes to alumni, visitors and people from the D.C. community. Everyone united the old with the new, no matter where you were from or who you came with, people lined the streets for the festivities of the Homecoming Parade.

They Came & They Went

Every football season, there's one thing HU football players can count on, a packed stadium for Homecoming. Students, alumni and administration packed Greene Stadium on this warm fall day. With the stadium packed to capacity many latecomers had to watch the game from the gate. Playing to win, the Howard Bison attacked the field on every play looking as if they could pull it off. Led by Arlandus Hood and Karlos Whitaker the Bison gave it they're all against a tough Morgan Bears football team.

It wasn't hard to get caught up in the parade of celebrities on the track. From America's favorite child off of the Cosby's Keisha Knight-Pulliam, comedian Brandon T. Jackson and Homecoming Grand Marshall Terrence Howard a range of celebrities were in attendance. Alumni AJ who was on 106th and Park, David Oliver, Olympic medalist, and Lance Gross of Tyler Perry's House of Payne came back to visit their alma mater. "I haven't been back in 2 years. I feel old and all the students look young. But it really feels good to be home," said Gross who attended HU from 2000-2004.

The crowd thoroughly enjoyed the halftime show as the Bears performed to popular hits like "Gucci Bandana." HU Marching Band played something for the alumni, with "You Got Me Going in Circles," and rap hits, "No One on the Corner" and T.I.'s "Live your Life." But nothing topped Terrence Howard performing a song with the band catching the crowd off guard.

After trailing the first half of the game, the Bison came surging out the locker room to lead in the 3rd quarter, scoring 2 touchdowns in less than two minutes. Not lightening up the Bison defense played tough and kicker Wolfe kicked a 21-yard field goal to send the game into overtime. Both teams vying for a win played intense and sent the game to a second overtime, unfortunately the Bears had the edge and won 31-30. However, the Bison felt they really won that day with the surprise appearance from P.Diddy.

A previous student of Howard University the now music mogul, fashion guru and loving father, made an appearance that shocked the crowd. Opting to sit in the stands with the fans, Diddy appeared interested in the game, while being surrounded by bodyguards. New President Sidney Ribeau, came over to greet Diddy and even decided to watch some of the game with him, before Diddy's exit. Camera's flashed, many pulled out cell phones to report the sighting and others just tried to get close to the entertainer.

Even though the Bison couldn't pull off the win, it was still a great day that brought together many people. Like Brandon T. Jackson stated, "it's a great eye opener to see everyone out here today. We're fooled by media that African Americans cannot do positive things, but being here at Howard is like proving them all wrong."

Expectations were high, considering the stunt filled excitement of the 2007 homecoming step show. Hosting the show was Michigan native Brandon T. Jackson from the blockbuster hit "Tropic Thunder", and Spelman College graduate Keisha Knight Pulliam from the hit comedy sitcom "House of Payne", best known for her childhood acting career as "Rudy" on the "Cosby Show".

The show began at 7pm sharp, already a major improvement from previous years. The first team to the stage was Alpha Phi Omega Steppers for Christ, giving the show a nice change of pace, appreciated by religious members of the audience. Next to the stage were the 2008 Res-Fest Step Show Champions: The QUAD. They reminded us who the real champions were and left an encouraging silent moment of hope, their finale, a picture of the 2008 Democratic Senator, Barack Obama.

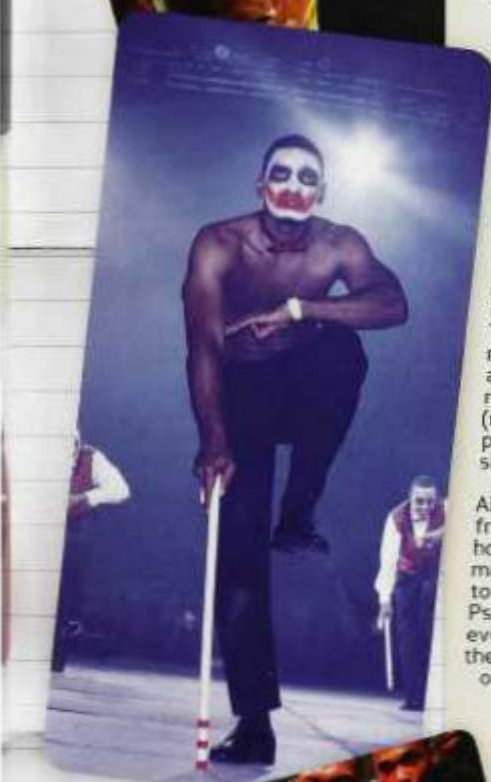

The Ladies of Alpha Chapter, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. were up next and displayed a humorous video before taking the stage. They left the message that they should not be overlooked on campus due to their high grades and new membership in 2008. Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. was the first male step team within the divine nine to take the stage. The Bruh's used the character "the joker" from the summer box-office hit "The Dark Night". With their collar shirts, purple vest and signature gold boots they delivered precise combinations and even had batman join them at the end!

Iota Phi Theta's Alpha Chapter from Morgan State were in attendance, delivering a great performance. The Ladies from Alpha Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. were the next ladies to perform for the evening. Adorned with battle gear they gave the audience an entertaining performance, complete with technical dance moves and a flashback of their stunts from the previous year. The Bloody Beta Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. was the most entertaining. The reigning champions entered the stage from all directions of the large arena in long brown, hooded cloaks, then revealed neatly creased marine uniforms (rifles included). Their performance was unique and precise as they pretended to be marines who couldn't seem to stop being snakes despite their efforts.

Alpha Chapter, Phi Beta Sigma adapted the theme from the movie "300", they were masked, and hooded, during the early part of their performance, later stripping down and getting down to business. The Pretty boys from Kappa Alpha Psi, Xi Chapter ended the festivities for the evening. They provided a video, also choosing the joker as their inspiration to poke fun at the other Fraternities on campus.

The Ladies from Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. were not a part of the show this year, and the anticipated, highly entertaining rivalry between them and the Ladies from Delta Sigma Theta was a void within the show.

After this years seemingly relaxed show following the high energy show of 2007, we can be sure to expect a dynamite show next year, and hopefully all will be in attendance.

PERMANENT JEWELRY TATTOOS

Howard University is known for being the meeting place for the upper echelon of Young Black America. What sets a Howard Bison apart from students, who attend any other university, is their swag, their fashion, and the ability to set the bar in a variety of arenas. Walking across the yard, you see students who wear everything from True Religion jeans, to Gucci purses, to Prada Sneakers, and even Billion Boys Club T-Shirts, but this year the new thing to wear is a tattoo.

“...[my] lower back is one of the only areas that I could get a tattoo, with hopes of still remaining modest and not reducing the chances of obtaining a job.”

Tattoo's once a taboo thing to do, has evolved into a culture that embodies not only getting a happy 18th birthday gift, but into symbols that have a deeper meaning. Students have taken the simplest ideas and transformed them into works of art that adorn their bodies. Some students wear bible scriptures, some adinkra symbols, others wear portraits that pay homage to love ones. But these tattoos are no longer, meaningless statements that people will soon regret; they are artwork filled with bits and pieces of personality.

One of the key problems students face when getting tattoos, is placement. Where should I get my tattoo? Popular places such as the lower back, shoulders, and along the waist line have now become associated with certain stigmas. For some,

PERCEPTIONS

a lower back tattoo is now affectionately called a tramp stamp. One Bison, who has a lower back tattoo, rejects the idea of calling her tattoo a tramp stamp. She states, that her lower back is one of the only areas that she could get her tattoo, with hopes of still remaining modest and not reducing the chances of obtaining a job. A graduating senior, who already has a job in governmental affairs is forced to wear long sleeve shirts when he goes to work, because his tattoos are on his forearms.

"it was permanent jewelry, and sometimes when I go out it is the perfect accessory for my outfit."

Even with the new culture of tattoo's descending upon Howard, people still object to those who have decided to mark their bodies. Some cite religious reasons, some are afraid of the condemning looks they will receive from their parents, but why not express yourself! A tattoo is a reflection of an idea that hold's true for you, the person. After all, you are the one who has to pay for the pain you will inflict on yourself, and the one who has to live permanently with the tattoo.

And . . . something to think about . . . When asked about why she got a tattoo of a rose and stem on her foot, a Bison responded "it was permanent jewelry, and sometimes when I go out it is the perfect accessory for my outfit."

Dear CRUSH,

Einstein stated best, "The most beautiful experience that we can have is the mysterious - the fundamental emotion which stands at the cradle of true art and true science." I say all that to say that you are the most individualistic and strong-minded person that I have come across thus far. No one has your swag, no one has your intellect; you stand in a class all alone. You are TRULY like Common so uncommonly, found in a place like this and your presence, just you walking past me, gives me bliss. You are the most beautiful experience that one could view from afar, while you are walking across the yard, while you are chewing your food, while you are reading articles on the computer. You're like an algebraic equation that mysteriously invades my mind to the point that I cannot ignore the urge to solve you.

I know I don't KNOW you. I mean I do know you. We know each other; we have known each other since freshman year. We both run in the same crowd, we both know the same people. I was actually acquainted with... Yeah, well that doesn't really matter, neither here nor there, not important because the fact of the matter is I want to get to know you.

I am not talking about sex and I am not talking about smoking marijuana, though I wouldn’t mind neither but I think I am far outta this world and I would argue that you were too so I just was wondering if you wanted to be high like the stars, I could take you outta this universe...

hanging out in front of Fine Arts and in the Punchout have replaced other Howard traditions.

TRADITIONS THEN & NOW

Back in the olden days, before students were given full responsibility in college, before women were given equal rights as men, and things were simply different from how they are today, there was this concept called "dormitory mothers." Now these "dormitory mothers" were usually upper classmen females who enforced the dormitory curfew during night hours, monitored visitation from the opposite sex and were in charge of the students operation in the dormitory headquarters. These women reinsured parents that students were focusing on their schoolwork and lived up to their purpose in attending Howard University.

While today's Howard lacks "dormitory mothers," there is still representation of positive role models such as student assistants and residential assistants. These students are not given as much responsibility as the traditional "dormitory mother" but they patrol the dormitory hallways to make sure noise is kept at a respectable level, monitor visitation between students and enforce building rules to provide an adequate, comfortable and safe environment for all students.

As the "dormitory mother" would decline the act of sitting on the "Booty Wall," and the student assistant would concur, new rules have passed whereas students are no longer allowed to sit on the "Booty Wall," period. As new rules break student traditions such as a campus curfew stemming from late night robberies on the yard, no loitering in front of the towers to find out what's popping for tonight or the ability to throw dorm parties or parties on campus in its entirety, Howard students seem to find ways of getting together and having fun.

Whether its outside of Blackburn chilling thirty minutes into the start of one's class or sitting in the Punch Out for hours conversing over this weekend's past events or meeting at The Diner in Adam's Morgan for a brownie and some ice cream or talking in the lounge of the Ilab, students find time to kick it with or without the curfew rules and the campus enforcement. Old traditions just replace new ones.

08' ELECTIONS OBAMA VS. MCCAIN

"I rock with Obama, but I ain't no politician," said Jay Z in his new hit "Jockin' Jay Z." Hip Hop Legend Jay Z isn't the only person rocking with Barack Obama, but instead a large portion of the country is in support of the young senator from Chicago.

On Thursday, August 28, 2008 Barack Obama became the FIRST African American to accept the Democratic Presidential Nomination, on the 45th anniversary of Martin Luther King's "I Have a Dream" speech.

Not following the norm for the first time in history a woman candidate was a real contender in the Democratic Presidential race. New York Senator Hillary Clinton gave it all she had in a heated race with Obama. Now in support of the Obama campaign, she too wants a "Change we Can Believe In."

This historic 2008 election season has seen many "FIRSTS," and milestones that will be forever noted in history. For some it has been an interesting roller coaster that at times has you feeling like your listening to a daily gossip show hosted by Wendy Williams. "The Life and Times of Politicians: Secrets Revealed," has become more and more interesting the closer we get to the big day in November.

ms

Jesse Jackson first ran for the presidency in 1984.

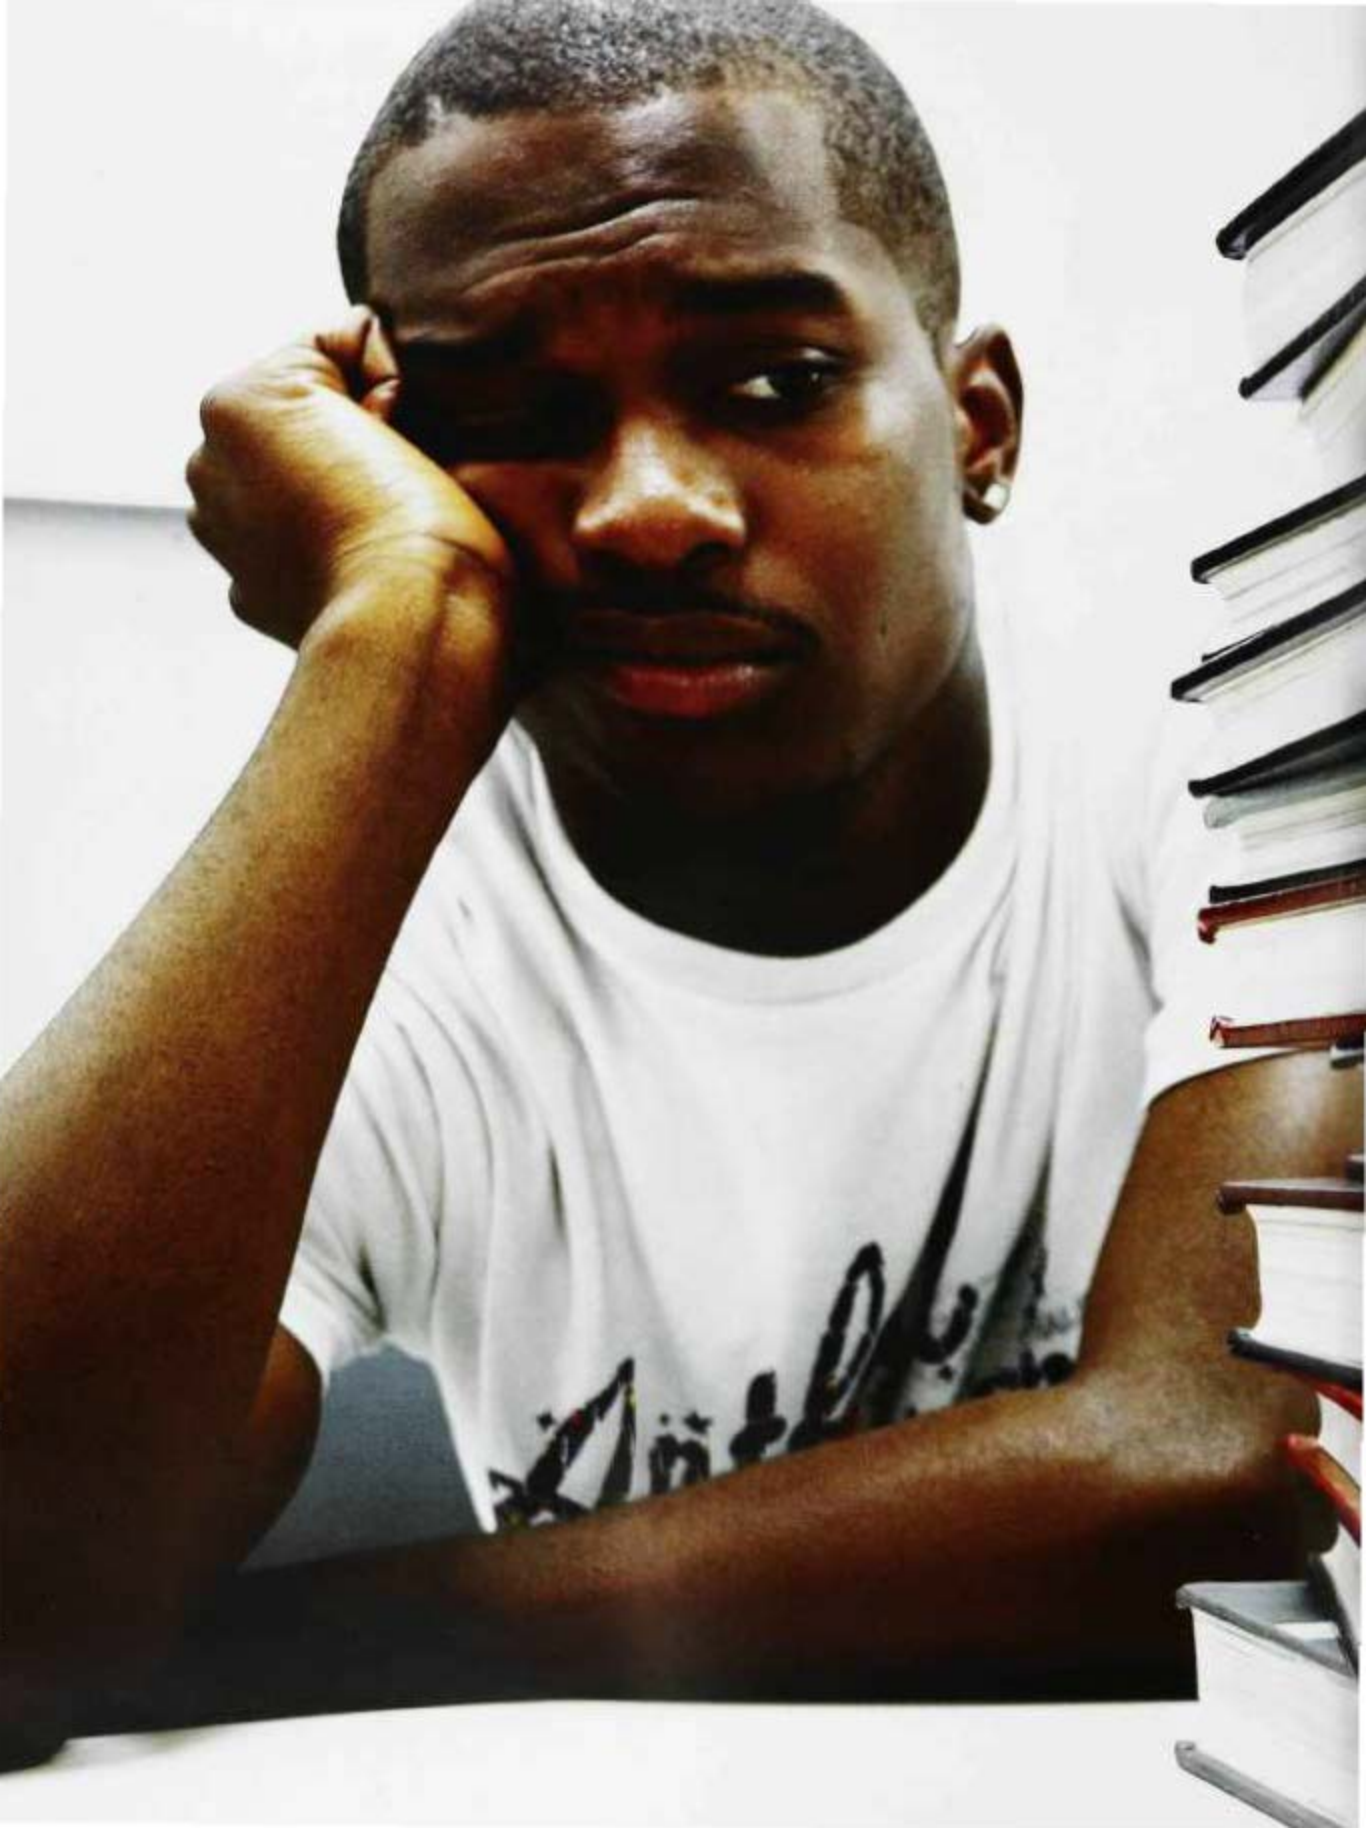

In 1974, Shirley Chisholm became the first black person to run for the presidency.

One of the most talked about guests recently has been Sarah Palin, the first ever woman Republican Vice Presidential candidate. New to the scene this Alaska Governor has been in the news for various reasons. Having a child recently born with down syndrome and a 17 year old daughter who is pregnant are just a couple of the things being mentioned. While we sit on the edge wondering...What's Next?

“I rock with Obama, but I ain't no politician.”

So stay tuned, this show can only get more interesting as we inch closer to November. At the end of the day, our country is what's at stake and pertinent issues are really what matter. Now all we do is hold on to our seats to see whether history is made with the first ever African American President or if Republican candidate John McCain becomes President.

The Life of a Dental Student

Attending school at Howard University allows you to meet students from all over the country and world. Whether its California, Texas, Illinois or even New York for four years Howard and Washington, D.C. serves as our home away from home. Instead of traveling several hours to keep up with routine doctor check ups many students do not realize that Howard offers free services to its students.

Located at 600 W Street, NW sits the Howard School of Dentistry, home to students studying various dental practices and offering free services.

Some might call it Howard's best kept secret, while others are apprehensive about using their services. Senior public relations major, Brittney Lewis is kind of reluctant about using their services, after recently learning about the school and the services they offer. "If it was an absolute emergency, I would attend the Dental School, but I do not live far so if it's a routine check up I would go home to my regular dentist.

Dr. Percy A. Fitzgerald, 1954

"It's not that I don't trust the school of dentistry it's just that I am comfortable with my dentist," said Lewis.

Howard students have the opportunity to get free cleaning services by the residents at the school of Dentistry. Instead of searching out a dentist, it's possible to just walk across the Allied Health Library courtyard and be seen by dental students that are some of the best in their field.

Not only are they on hand to help students, but the Department of Pediatric Dentistry also is one hand to help the underserved community of Washington, D.C. Dr. Leslie M. Lawrence heads the program with 12 residents who are already dentists just at Howard receiving further education.

So the next time you have a toothache need a routine check up don't hesitate to make an appointment with the Dental School, it'll save you a plane ticket or even gas money.

Money Stacks in Backpacks

The Textbook Crisis

Many believe that after spending _____ on tuition you're out the woods and the rest of your education for the year is FREE. Until you get to the counter of the Howard University Bookstore and the cashier says "that'll be $600 ma'am." You really want to say, "Ma'am you just O'Ded," a popular saying at Howard University. But instead you stubbornly hand over your credit card and pay for the books.

This scenario is one that happens repeatedly at the Howard University Bookstore, students walking in eager to get their books and leaving upset at all the money they just spent. Nevertheless the work still has to be completed, which has left some Howard students to find other alternatives. Shana Green, a senior anthropology major, rarely buys books out the bookstore and chooses a common alternative, Amazon.com. With other responsibilities such as paying rent and a car note, Shana refuses to pay the high prices at the bookstore and searches for discounted books on Amazon.

"With the huge difference in price, I'd rather wait the 3-5 days to get the books to save 30 even 40 dollars. It also makes it easier if you know the books ahead of time you can order them before you get to school, to save some time," said Green.

Fliers posted around campus advertising discounted books are another popular way students obtain books. Students set out at the beginning of school to become their own bookstores and make others aware of the books they are selling. Douglas, Locke, The School of C and others are havens for these popular fliers; it's hard to turn a corner without seeing the advertisements.

Book buy backs serve as a quick means to get cash for some students while others don't even feel it's worth the trouble. "You can spend $110 on a book easily and the bookstore will only give you 40 or 50 dollars for it, when you know it's worth more. I can see why some students become entrepreneurs and sell their own, especially when they can make more of a profit," said junior Legal Communications major Jessica Hurtt-Dunkley.

Whether students agree with the prices or not the general consensus is to either pay the outrageous prices in the Bookstore or find other means to get the work done. Amazon.com and student made fliers are here to stay, it's only a matter of time before students think of other ways to save money on books.

Classroom Boom...

New Courses

Howard University has established itself as an institution of learning bent on creating and maintaining tradition. Its courses have centered on creating the perfect student, who will be able to coexist in Black America and the Global Society.

For many years, Howard University was a Historically Black University without any courses, majors, or even a minor that reflected the study of African Americans. It wasn't until the students of Howard University, demanded an Afro-American Studies department, complete with courses that discussed African American culture in depth, that Howard began to evolve its traditional look at courses.

Another tradition at Howard University is the mandatory physical education courses that students have to take. A lot of us at one point and time have thought what does taking a badminton class for one credit have to do with gaining a degree? But we sign up, override and take a variety of physical education courses, so we can graduate. The College of Arts and Sciences requires that its students take a mandatory swimming course in order to graduate.

Students enjoy the new Pilates course

Many students dreadfully take the course, but this year Howard University is trying to offer other courses for students to take to meet the physical education requirements of their majors.

Fall 2008 ushered in courses such as Pilates and Yoga. Many students where excited to finally have exercise courses that were actually creative. Paris, a student in the class, says she "loves the class and that it's an excellent addition". She also says that the Professor Donna Lynn "teaches the class at a good pace and infuses her native Baltimore Club music to energize the students."

Nothing, but praise has come from both the Pilates and Yoga Courses. One student says her initial impression of the Yoga class, was that it was an opportunity to receive an easy A. After being in the class, she appreciates the teachers diligence in getting all the students involved to learn and sincerely enjoys the class. She also commented that, she is elated by the new and more modern forms of exercise courses Howard is offering.

Aside from the new physical education courses, Supply Chain Management is a new major and a new addition to the School of Business. Even though, Howard University has been and continues to be a strong proponent of Tradition, it is now thinking of new ways to help their students, and the university as a whole, evolve.

Course Overrides

"Hello, how may I help you?" asked the African-American woman wearing a tan suit, and Chanel frames behind the Dell computer in the Blackburn Reading Lounge. You know the crazy week when the entire "A" building is moved into Blackburn to accommodate the incoming students.

"Yes, I would like to get dining dollars," replied you in your latest fashions, designer jeans, Louis Vuitton bag and Versace sunglasses.

"How much?" the woman asks.

"Oh $300 please," you respond. She takes your card and begins to swipe only she stops right before she slides that card in the far right-hand corner and goes, "I'm sorry, you're not validated."

You stammer in your stance. You don't want to move. You try to whisper to her, "Why am I not validated?" She directs you to Student Accounts which in turn advises you to Financial Aid but when you get there it is the same story, Student Accounts.

Sure you have a loan, it was approved and applied to your account; your mother signed the promissory note however it has not been dispersed.

2008 Miami Classic

by Britney Brewington

Sobe Live, Wet Willies and the beach were definitely some of the main attractions Howard students planned to see during their trip to Miami. But the main mission was to defeat the Savannah State Tigers in the 1st year of the Miami Classic. The gloomy day did not stop Howard students from piling into the New World charter bus to watch their Bison football team run on the field.

"I hope we win." "Please the score's going to be 72-29 Savannah State we're talking bout the Bison and the Get Up...Get Up Cheer," are just some of the conversations that took place as the fans entered the Traz Powell Stadium. However, after the 1st drive the Bison proved that the fan's 21-hour trip to Miami was well worth the trip, as Karlos Whitaker scored the 1st touchdown.

For many football players playing in Miami was like getting a little taste of home. Many fans were walking advertisements for many players, as their families were present to serve as their personal cheering section. The players even appreciated all of the fan support as captain Arlandus Hood urged the crowd to get into the game during the 2nd quarter. Brandon Drayton, had a memorable night as his family was present to see him make great plays in the game and even jump into the crowd for an added touch of excitement.

Whether the Bison football game was the main attraction for some, or 3rd on the list for others, many were pleased with the overall outcome. Bison 49, Savannah State 21...Mission Accomplished!

Bison Cheerleaders

by Britney Brewington

"Get up, Get Up," is one of the many cheers you can hear coming from the football stands as the Bison Cheerleaders rile up the crowd. Fans take to their lead every game to cheer their team to victory. Whether it's the basketball or football teams you can spot these ladies on the sideline chanting their many spirited cheers.

Split into two different teams, the Blue Squad cheers during the football season and the White Squad cheers during both the men and women's basketball season. Often thought of by some students as not a sport, the Bison Cheerleaders would beg to differ. Early morning practices, in which the girls lift weights, run and produce stunts, followed by class is just part of their day. They still have to balance homework and extracurricular activities. Most days they even have an evening practice.

The hard work pays off as the Bison Cheerleaders put there all into the sport no matter what the circumstance, win or lose. Giving there all is something their accustomed to, as many come from cheerleading backgrounds. Following a long legacy of cheerleading at Howard University the Cheerleaders just hope to keep exuberating their high levels of spirit to ignite the crowd and players as best they know how.

Lady Bison Bowling

by Britney Brewington

While most students are thrilled with the opening of the renovated bowling alley, the Lady Bison Bowling Team is even more motivated to make their mark in the MEAC conference. After a rocky season last year, the lady Bison are just trying to get reacquainted with a winning season. Bowling, a favorite pastime for most students, has grown increasingly popular after the recent renovation. Flashing lights and glow in the light bowling balls have been added to the place the ladies call home, but to them it's the same old practice facility. Hard at work in the basement of Blackburn, the bowling team is often thought of as Howard's forgotten athletic team. However, their poise, form and determination they feel will lead them down the road of success.

Led by third-year coach Ron Davis, the team is inspired by the same motto as they were the year before, teamwork. Wins over Coppin State, Hampton and Morgan have allowed the ladies to have a presence in the 2007-2008 season. After losing bowler Quinn Thomaston, the lady Bison are relying on new talent to help them along the way. Newcomers, Trishana Thomas and Taneeka Hanna have been making an impact with the team and have added remarkable numbers that have contributed to wins. With an overall record of 43-62 and a conference record of 11-16 in the MEAC, the possibilities are endless.

Lady Bison Volleyball

by Britney Brewington

Determined to produce a winning 2008 season, the Lady Bison Volleyball team has been successful in their efforts so far. Tied for first in their conference, the ladies just hope to keep up the stamina and momentum throughout the course of the season. Led by head coach Orlando Larracuente, the ladies plan to achieve their goal with hardwork and an extensive training schedule. Winning streaks seem to be the theme of their 2008 season in which they produced six straight wins, to be tied for first in their conference with a 4-0 record. Winning, doesn't come easy in which the ladies play hard fought matches against other teams in the area. After defeating Loyola (Md.) in a non-conference match up that featured 24 lead changes and 39 ties, they realized it will take much work to remain on top.

Standout senior, Janel James continues to bring leadership to the team, putting up numbers like 17 digs. However, all players put up great numbers, leaving teams confused as to what player to watch. Having their best season since 2001, the team finished the season 7-3 in the conference earning them a number two seed at the MEAC Championship at Hampton University. Eager to make an impact Coach Larracuente feels the number two seed is a great position. "Getting the number two seed puts us in great position to navigate ourselves through the bracket," said Larracuente. With their first match against Bethune Cookman, the ladies feel confident in their team. Leading the conference in blocks and digs per set, Larracuente feels this a great time for volleyball at Howard. "I feel good about this young team and the future of the program," Larracuente said. "It's been seven years since the program finished this high in conference."

The 2008-2009 Lady Bison Basketball team entered this school year fully energized and ready to put all of their hard summer's training to show. Every year these women enter Burr Gymnasium with heart, love, and enthusiasm for the game they hold so dear to their hearts. This year however had a special addition to the Lady Bison family; new head coach Niki Reid Geckeler. She came to HU this year after 10 years at Georgetown University, where she served as an assistant coach. Coach Reid Geckeler has expressed her excitement and her plans for the Lady Bison and their future. Though the Lady Bison fell short in their season opener against Navy, they came out strong and put up a good fight. Fans can indeed see a difference in the new team and their new coach.

The Lady Bison roster welcomed four freshmen and ten returning players; the team's main focus this year was defense, rebounding and teamwork. They have accomplished these in more ways than one in both their game wins and losses, they are a new set of players and the program has gotten stronger with each day. Among the returning players are senior Tama-ya Daniels and sophomore Zykia Brown. Daniels is returning after averaging 11.6 points per game and shooting 60% from the field last year. Brown, who had a strong freshman year returned to make an even bigger impact. The brand new coaching of Coach Reid Geckeler and her assistant coaches, Jimmy Howard and Julie Flanders, as well as the Lady Bison players have proven this year that they are here to make a stand and a change for their program and Howard athletics.

Men's Basketball

by Britney Brewington

Starting off the season in a unique way, the Men's Basketball team ventured to the Bahamas to take on two of the Bahamas National teams. Starting off on a good foot, the Bison went 1-1 against two tough teams. Feeling like they had solved their point guard problem, the Bison were able to get solid play from freshman point guards Calvin Thompson and Chris McHenry. Leading the team with ease, Thompson and McHenry demonstrated why Head Coach Gil Jackson trusts them to run the offense. Not regarded as a vacation the Bison used the games in the Bahamas to get focused for the upcoming season. Coach Jackson felt the games were a great learning experience for his team. "We got a chance to get some early practices in and then these games gave us a chance to evaluate our people early in the process," said Jackson.

Excited for the season, the team hosted Fright Night for the Howard students and surrounding community. A free event, it allowed fans to become acquainted with the Bison players as well as what to expect for the upcoming season. Contests, prizes and performances were also featured as the team built excitement for their season opener. The men opened the season against PAC-10 member Oregon State on Friday, November 14th at Burr Gymnasium. Rumored that President Elect Barack Obama would be in attendance, the gymnasium was packed with those anticipating the game and the arrival of newly named President Obama. Even though he didn't show, the Bison still were able to pull off a win against Oregon 47-45.

Coach Jackson instills in his team that they should play hard for 40 minutes, and in their season opener, that's what they accomplished. Understanding that there is still work to do, the Bison gear up now to make a great showing at the Big Apple Classic. December 6th, many Howard basketball fans will flood Madison Square Garden to witness the Bison take on rival Hampton University. As the men prepare for the much anticipated game, they will not lose focus of the ultimate goal, a winning 2006-2009 season.

Lady Bison Soccer

by Danielle LeePow

The Lady Bison soccer team, despite not having a coach, has an extraordinary determination and a passion to strive for greatness. The team this year was amply led by seniors, Natalie Williston, Jessamyn Perkins, Meghann Nick, and Elizabeth McDaniel. The team proved that they could prevail no matter what trials and tribulations they faced.

The Lady Bison soccer team kicked off their 2008-2009 season with a 1-0 overtime triumph over Virginia Military Institute, following a pre-season 9-0 win over Columbia Union. The season opens provided hope that the team's 3-16 record of last season was well behind them. They progressed into the regular season with confidence and a commitment to success. However, the second game brought a hard felt defeat by Radford University. The defeat began a devastating nine game losing streak for the Lady Bison soccer team. The team never let the losing streak break their drive to win. On October 1, 2008 the Lady Bison ended their losing streak by trouncing Delaware State scoreless in a 5-0 Conference victory. This blowout was made possible with two goals from Bison senior Natalie Williston and with Megan Nick, Rachael Lee and Aliyah Glenn each scoring one goal each. The team went on to receive two more conference wins defeating South Carolina State 2-1 and defeating New Jersey Science and Technology University in double overtime for the 1-0 victory.

The Lady Bison soccer team ended the season losing 0-3 to Longwood University in the Semifinals of the United Soccer Conference Tournament on November 1st, 2008.

Despite many trials and tribulations the Lady Bison soccer team continues to strive for greatness and is eager to embrace greater triumphs next season, ending their season with a 4-11 record and a 3-2 Conference record.

Coming off of a tough season, the Men's Soccer Team hopes to produce better numbers next year. Finishing 1-16-2 this past season, the men are looking to train intensely in the off-season. Rotimi Iziduh, a leader of the team and junior, contributed 4 goals this year. He was also named to the Atlantic Soccer Conference, ASC, and 1st Team.

Not just athletes the Bison excel academically as well with four of their players being named to the 2008 ASC All-Academic Team. This honor requires you to maintain a cumulative GPA of at least 3.2, have 50% participation on the field and be a sophomore in good standing. William Hubbard who has a 4.0 GPA as a sophomore led the Men's Soccer Team.

Participating in Senior Day was memorable for seniors, Ian Clarke, Anderson Haynes, Adisa Bekoe, Robert Wesley and Guilherme Fonseca as they wrapped up their soccer careers at Howard University. Despite the loss to Longwood the Bison put up a good fight and had numerous shots at goal. Ending the season at the ASC Tournament the Bison suffered a 3-1 loss to NJIT, but left the tournament optimistic about next season.

Led by seniors Nzingah and Aminah Murphy and Miguel Orellanna the Bison are confident in their swimming abilities. Recently named the Coastal Collegiate Swimming Association Men's Swimmer of the Week, after Orellanna had two first place finishes at the Towson meet.

After the women finished 6th and the men placed 8th at the CCSA Championships last season they just hope to build momentum to surpass last year's success. They feel that the first step in attaining this goal will be from the direction of new coach VanLieShout. After spending four years as the Head Swim Coach and Aquatic Director at Catholic University, VanLieShout brings leadership and an extensive swimming background to the Howard Swim team.

Off to a rocky start, the women and men's teams hope to use the Christmas break to perfect their skills in order to take charge like they hoped at the next meet in Greensboro, N.C. on January 17th.

Not often talked about, the HU Women's Lacrosse Team is one of the most dedicated group of females at Howard University. Even though their season does not kick off until the spring semester, they devote hours of training in the fall semester to get physically and mentally prepared for the spring. With practices from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. every morning, and strength and conditioning every Tuesday, these women are awake earlier than most of us and they still go to class.

A close-knit team, the girls hang out off the field as well, participating in movie and game nights and other team outings. The HU Women's Lacrosse Team is not only involved in Lacrosse but community service as well. In fact, they hosted a lacrosse clinic with Catholic University last season, for young girls and their mothers. The program did not stop there; they also allowed the young girls to shadow them on the field.

Only in its 6th season at Howard University, the Lacrosse Team continues to make their mark at the Mecca and enhance the popularity of their sport. With a limited amount of players, the girls run tirelessly up and down the field notable to sub in players. Despite the many obstacles, the team competed with the best last season and finished with a record of 2-11. Hoping to do much better this season the girls are gearing up to improve their overall record while enjoying the sport they love.

A group of loyal and dedicated players, the Howard University Men and Women's tennis teams spend much of their time away from academics perfecting their game. In his 24th year for the men and 23rd year for the women, Coach Larry Strickland is very much dedicated to producing a winning team. Coach Strickland stresses that besides tennis, his players are representatives for Howard University athletics and are all about giving back to the community in which they go to school. They recently helped out at the Banneker Recreation Center Halloween Party in October, impacting the lives of the neighborhood children.

Competing in the spring, the women's team was hard at work in the fall, getting physically and mentally prepared to take control of the MEAC conference. The women welcomed two newcomers and who demonstrated great skill during pre-season, showing their overall potential.

During the fall 2008 schedule the men's tennis team had an amazing performance at the Georgetown Classic, taking the tournament by storm. Christopher Brown had a great game and made it to the quarterfinals, but fell just short after losing in the second round. The men's team welcomed four newcomers and each have made their positive mark on the team, which is a great asset to the program. The players donated candy and participated in the center's haunted house. Both teams have had a tremendous year on and off the court. Most importantly they have strengthened their relationships with their teammates and coach but also with the Howard University Community.

With a great supporting cast the track team receives 110% from each runner. Making a good run in the MEAC, the ladies fared well against their competition. Led by Ashley Hodges, the Bison opened up their season at Bucknell University, producing a pair of top 3 finishes in the 60m hurdles.

Freshman runner, Hodges was able to make her mark on the team in her first year. She was also able to finish 3rd overall against her competition. Aware that they had a young team this year, Hodges was still proud of their overall season. "We had a pretty young team this year, but I think next year we'll be in a good position to win the MEAC championships because all the young ladies on the team will have matured some as runners by then, and we'll have another year of training under our belt," said Sanders.

Led by 6 year Head Coach Michael Merrit, the track team credits his direction for the success they have been able to have this year. Having faith in his team Coach Merrit feels that they have the ability to compete against teams of all levels. As a close-knit team, they usually build excitement after a pep talk from Coach Merrit, followed by a team cheer. "I think we feel that if we train hard and stay focused during our races, then we'll be in a good position to perform well," said Hodges. Even though they are a young team, they show much progress and have the potential to grow.

Determined to keep beating all odds, the HU Softball Team or "the Colonials," as they are often called keep producing winning seasons. Taking the whole conference in the 2006-2007 season, the Colonials were crowned MEAC Champs, and advanced to its first ever NCAA tournament for the 1st time in Howard's history. That same season they also set a team and school record with 35 wins in one season. Last year placing 3rd overall, didn't go as planned and now the Colonials are back to reclaim their title.

Off to a great start the ladies played phenomenally against Hampton and with just 9 players showed yet again why Howard is better than Hampton. The 12-2 win was an uplifting one that showed that they are more than ready to wear the crown of Champions. Under the direction of Head Coach, Tonja Braxton, the players fed off of her motivation to become better softball players.

The Colonials recently hosted their 1st Alumni Game at Banneker Stadium, during Homecoming week. A day of fun, the players were able to reflect on those players that came before them and look forward to making their mark in the game. Thankful to hear praise from Dale McNeal, a four-year ace and all MEAC performer, the girls were thankful for her words of encouragement and attendance at the game. Taking their time with each game, the Colonials just hope to make history yet again.

Rivalry in Resfest

by Kenya James

Offering each residence hall the opportunity to rep their housing, ResFest, allows students to participate in a variety of talent competitions. Presented by the Howard University of Residence Life, ResFest brings together students to have playful rivalry and school spirit. During ResFest, you will see students wearing colors to represent their respective dorms. Purple for the Bethune Annex, Yellow for its archrival, The Quad, Blue for The Towers, Red for Meridian, Green for Drew Hall, Slowe Hall with its affinity for orange, and home to the athletes, Cook Hall.

Featuring a variety of academic, sport, and talent competitions, ResFest is taken extremely serious amongst the dormitories. It fosters a deep sense of community amongst all dormitories, and unity within the dormitories. Some residents decide to participate in the sports activities, such as flag football, swimming, dodge ball and a basketball competition, while others prefer to present their oratory skills in the Debate Competition. And for those who chose to participate in neither, can partake in their dorms step team, dance team, or play a variety of games at game night.

Much has been said in reference to who should have truly won the step show competition, some would argue Carver Hall, but the ladies of the Tubman Quadrangle received first place. The ladies of the Mary McLeod Bethune Annex won the Dance Competition. However despite the controversy, The Towers was the overall winner of ResFest 2008.

“[Resfest] fosters a deep sense of community amongst all dormitories, and unity within the dormitories.”

Who Will Win?

by Kenya James

Every year around March, Howard University students see a different side of their classmates as the yard becomes a campaign haven. University-wide elections are held for vacant positions within the Howard University Student Association, the student councils for the various college and schools, and lastly the position of Undergraduate and Graduate Trustee have to be elected.

There were a number of slates, that all had their eyes on being the President and Vice President of HUSA. Christopher Caldwell and Kimberly Jones with the Frontline Campaign, Abimbola "Abby" George and Tiffany Bright with The Breakthrough, Darrion Woods and Stefan Thompson with The New Deal, Nicholas Owens and Kellen Moore with a campaign of Takin' it Back. The ferocity for the Undergraduate Trustee position was felt throughout the campus with seven candidates running. Victoria Kirby, Joy Lindsay, Evie Hightower, Sade Dike, Edward Williams, Leea Allen, and Ty Axson all ran for the position for Undergraduate Trustee, but Victoria Kirby proved victorious.

This year marked a new feel in the electoral atmosphere at Howard. Candidates set new precedents by having stylish and thought-provoking t-shirts, fliers, and promotional items. A tense atmosphere was often evoked at the debates, where Candidates had the opportunity to voice their opinions as responses to questions posed by the Electoral Commission. Candidates and their teams worked extremely hard to garner the votes of the student body. There were runoffs between the Takin' it Back campaign and the Breakthrough campaign, in which Nicholas Owens and Kellen Moore were elected President and Vice-President. In the arena of Undergraduate Trustee, Sade Dike and Victoria Kirby were matched for a runoff, ultimately, Victoria Kirby won.

"Candidates set new precedents by having stylish and thought-provoking t-shirts, fliers, and promotional items."

In Living Color

by Ashley Wright

With every leaf in fall, comes a snowflake in winter, and once the shadow of the groundhog is witnessed then the sun peaks from the clouds for spring. And when the sun peaks, the students leap, in excitement, for the Greeks are coming through with new lines for the public's final view. The long silence is finally broken with chants, songs, dances and steps, filling the Yard as crowds gather, cameras flash, no one would dare ignore this show, no one will pass. It's too much to ignore, not enough to handle and no one wants to miss out.

Dressed in desert fatigues and black boots were the six new members of Alpha Chapter, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. They marched along Georgia Avenue bearing handcrafted shields representing their fraternity colors of royal purple and old gold. After migrating to the main yard and continuing their "Long Walk" to the Valley, they ended around their historic monument reading their Fraternity's motto, "Friendship is essential to the soul."

On April 11, 2008, the eight Brothers of Alpha Chapter, Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. could be viewed from various points on the HU Campus. They stood motionless and silent as if they were statues at a museum adorned in all black, except their royal blue combat boots and pure white and blue face paint. Beginning their probate show alone and ultimately ending locked up together, the Brothers of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. showed their brotherly love for one another.

Titled, "Fifteen Minutetz of Fame," were the fifteen new members of Alpha Chapter, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. Dressed in black pants, royal blue shirts and wearing pure white pearls, the Zetas treaded across the yard to the front of the Fine Arts building singing their traditional sorority songs along the way. Eventually standing in front of their Zeta Phi Beta tree at the end of their probate, the new members wore beautiful smiling faces.

"Friendship is essential to the soul."

Commencement 2008

Students prepared to say goodbye to their favorite professors, familiar halls frequented throughout their Howard reign, and the many friends they made while at the Mecca. These are just some of the many things that one begins to think about in April when their final days to graduation are near. Reality sets in that the place called "home" for 4 years will soon become another chapter in your life that will soon come to an end. No longer being referred to as a Howard University student, one rightfully gains the right to be called a Howard University Alumni.

Saturday, May 10, 2008 was the day Howard moved students from the classroom to the real world. Despite the rain, Commencement 2008 took place inside of Burr Gymnasium in front of the student's many family and friends. Adorned in blue cap and gowns eager students entered the gym to hear Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of American Express, Kenneth I. Chenault deliver the commencement address.

Nicole Mahdi, a 2008 graduate, comments about last year's commencement speaker, "I don't remember much of it, so my view on that is not the best. It feels GREAT to be finished with undergrad. Graduation from Howard and the start of medical school starts a new chapter in my life, which I am so excited about. Now I am finally on my final stretch of my journey in making my dream of becoming a physician come true. And to that, I have to give huge credit to the great education and connections I was able to obtain as a student @ HU."

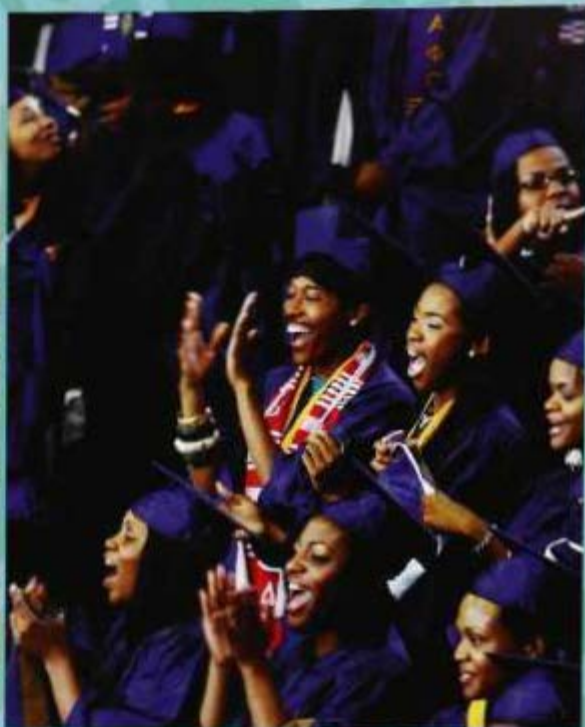

Though most Howard graduates were more than ready to leave Howard to begin their careers, many of these recent alumni began to miss Howard the moment they held their diplomas in their hands. There is a unique breed of individuals, culture, sense of family and pride that can only be found at the Mecca. People feel honored to have attended Howard University.

"...I have to give huge credit to the great education and connections I was able to obtain as a student @ HU."

Bison Ball 2008

by Ashley Wright

Glamour, glitz and gold were all present at the 2008 Bison Ball Awards Ceremony. The atmosphere was so glamorous that students and faculty felt like they were at an actual award ceremony, the Grammys maybe. The $35 ticket price didn't stop anxious students and faculty from selling out this year's venue, the Ronald Reagan Center.

Sponsored by UGSA and HUSA, who raised $50,000 from sponsors and earned $40,000 from ticket sales, the $80,000 Bison Ball Awards Ceremony was all paid for. Amongst the first award given was the Alpha Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. winning the Sorority of the Year Award, members stood sophisticatedly and clapped to be recognized.

Basically leaping out of their seats and running to the stage in glee, were the members of Alpha Chapter, Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. winning the Fraternity of the Year Award. They were the happiest organization to receive any award for the entire night. "I think that the Sigmas deserved to win the Fraternity of the Year Award, they work really hard and have a great representation on campus," said senior Jeneria Tapp. Another award recipient, The National Council of Negro Women (NCNW) received the Organization of the Year Award with extreme excitement; they embraced each other smiling and joking in complete surprise of their victory.

Other awards from Bison Ball included, Service Organization of the Year: Circle K, Bison of the Year: Uzoma Nwagba, Bisonette of the Year: Nadia Pinto, and Administrator of the Year: Roberta McLeod. Of course, the ceremony would not be complete without a tribute to H. Patrick Swygert, honoring his final reign as the Howard University president. Anxiously awaiting the end of the awards people jumped from their seats and ran to the dance floor as the sound of musical beats filled the atmosphere. The Ques of course cleared the area hopping and jumping in the air.

"I think that the Sigmas deserved to win the Fraternity of the Year Award, they work really hard..."

Howard University EARLY LEARNING PROGRAM

President Sidney Ribeau visits the Howard University School of Education Early Learning Program.

The Howard University School of Education Early Learning Program (ELP), a campus-based early childhood facility licensed in the District of Columbia, was established to provide a sound educational environment for young children. ELP is accredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) and is a member of the National Coalition for Campus Children's Centers (NCCCC). This unit consists of the Adele B. McQueen Preschool, the Howard University Kindergarten, and the Howard University Summer Day Camp. Each classroom reflects a community of learners bringing together children of various ages, interests, and abilities. The curriculum evolves from the contributions of children, parents and teachers in an atmosphere of exchange and interaction. Rich classroom experiences and regularly scheduled field trips are designed to promote positive growth and development, and to enhance learning. Cooperative projects are encouraged to build self confidence, foster cooperation, and support learning that occurs when children are working in teams or in groups.

ELP is conveniently located on Howard University's main campus.

NSAA African Dance and Drum Ensemble

NSAA is a Ghanaian Adinkra symbol that means "to extol excellence and discourage satisfaction with the second rate." Literally speaking, it is said, "nea onnim nsaa oto n'ago" which can be translated as "he who does not know the authentic Nsaa buys the fakes." We strive to uphold the meanings of Nsaa in all that we do. The mission of Nsaa Dance Ensemble is to educate ourselves first and thereafter the student body of Howard University about the culture and history of Africa and the African Diaspora through song, dance and music. In the Spring of 1993, Nsaa Dance Ensemble began as the vision of four Howard University students: Mylah Garlington, Lesina Martin Mesi Walton and the late KiShawnda McRoyal. The organization received its official recognition from Howard University on November 13, 2000.

The Knights Fraternity, Inc.

The Knights Fraternity Inc. was founded on the pillars of prosperity and integrity. We believe that the very nature of a life well spent has much to do with what we achieve, but more to do with what resources we release to our fellow citizens as a testament to our roles as leaders—a new-fangled and novel approach that strikes a fine balance between opulence and obligation that all moral men strive to achieve. In our quest to conquer the fallibility of our own human nature and to achieve in all human endeavor, our Mission has been to focus on education, the continuous quest for knowledge, to reach for integrity in all aspects of life, leadership, and community service and impact, whilst holding the utmost respect for human dignity. We wish to create a socio-economic platform and think-tank of brilliant and patriotic individuals, who will contemplate and execute visionary ideas to further improve leadership and economic prosperity in Africa and the global community.

PHI BETA SIGMA FRATERNITY, INC.

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. was founded at Howard University on January 9, 1914. The most Honorable Founders A Langston Taylor, Leonard F. Morse, and Charles I. Brown, wanted to organize a fraternity that would truly exemplify the ideals of brotherhood, scholarship, and service. They wanted their fraternity to exist as part of a greater brotherhood which would be devoted to the "inclusive we" rather than the "exclusive we." This deep conviction is mirrored in the fraternity's motto, "Culture For Service and Service for Humanity."

ZETA PHI BETA SORORITY, INC.

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. was founded on January 16th, 1920 at Howard University by 5 Illustrious Pearls. Arizona Cleavers Stemons saw the need for something new and different; standing on the ideals of scholarship, service, sisterly love, and the ideal of finer womanhood the sorority was born. Along with Stemons, Myrtle Tyler Faithful, Viola Tyler Goings, Fannie Pettie Watts and Pearl Anna Neal became the five pearls, and with 88 years of service the legacy of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. continues to thrive.

PRESIDENT

Howard University's 16th President, Dr. Sidney A. Ribeau

When Dr. Sidney A. Ribeau accepted the presidency of Bowling Green State University in 1995, he envisioned creating a premier learning community whose graduates are uniquely equipped to meet the world's challenges. In the decade since, Bowling Green's ninth president has led the University to adopt a values-centered mission—something rare at a public university—and provided an academic environment that develops culturally literate, technologically sophisticated, productive citizens prepared to lead and to inspire.

During his presidency a number of innovative, signature programs have been created, such as the newly implemented Scholarship of Engagement Initiative that encourages collaborative faculty involvement with private and public groups to identify and resolve relevant issues through scholarship. The President's Leadership Academy, begun in 1997, and BGeXperience: Vision and Values, started in 2003, are two others. The President's Leadership Academy enables select students from diverse ethnic and economic backgrounds to enhance their leadership skills through mentoring and co-curricular programs during their academic careers. BGeXperience integrates values education, critical thinking, character development and civic involvement while helping students make the transition from high school to a university campus.

Dr. Ribeau has upgraded the University's communications and computing technology and encouraged collaboration with other institutions to increase operational and cost efficiencies. He has championed collaborative research and instructional programs as well. One example is the nationally recognized Center for Photochemical Sciences, which received a $2 million Wright Capital Project grant in 2003 from the state to create a laboratory that will work collaboratively with business, industry and nonprofit organizations to bring innovations in the photochemical sciences to the marketplace. Another is Partnerships for Community Action, a small grant program that underwrites programs initiated by faculty, student and community groups who come together to achieve a common educational goal or provide a special service to those in need.

In 2003, Dr. Ribeau was recognized by the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, which presented him with its President's Award for his "courage and leadership in guiding the Bowling Green State University campus community to develop a community focused on student learning and designed to educate the whole student by taking students' personal and intellectual growth into consideration."

Alumni and friends of the University also are supportive of Dr. Ribeau's vision for BGSU. Contributions to the University have grown steadily during 1976 as a professor of communication studies at California State University, Los Angeles. Eight years later, after being honored as an outstanding teacher and student adviser, he became chair of the university's Pan African Studies Department. He held that position until 1987, when he was named dean of undergraduate studies at California State University, San Bernardino. Three years later, he became dean of the College of Liberal Arts at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo campus. In 1992 he was named vice president for academic affairs at Cal Poly Pomona, a position he held until coming to Bowling Green.

his presidency. Over $74 million already had been donated to Building Dreams: The Centennial Campaign for Bowling Green State University when the fund-raising drive was publicly launched in April (2005). The national campaign's goal is to raise $120 million in private support for scholarships, endowed chairs, capital improvements and academic program enhancements.

Dr. Ribeau serves on Ohio's Higher Education Funding Commission, is a member of the Board of Directors for the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), and chair of the Inter-University Council of Presidents for 2005-06. A member of the Bowling Green and Toledo Chambers of Commerce, he also serves on the boards of United Way, the Greater Toledo Urban League, the Toledo Symphony Orchestra, the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association-College Retirement Equities Fund (TIAA-CREF), the Regional Growth Partnership, the Andersons Inc. in Maumee, Convergys Corp., and Worthington Industries.

Raised in Detroit, President Ribeau received his bachelor's degree from Wayne State University in 1971. He earned master's and doctoral degrees in interpersonal communication from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign, in 1973 and 1979, respectively.

A CONVERSATION WITH... PRESIDENT SIDNEY RIBEAU

Ribeau speaks to the Howard community

Bison Yearbook: Students have often described you as the "Barack Obama" of Howard University, after noticing many changes around campus. How do you feel about being compared to Obama?

Sidney Ribeau: It's an honor to be compared to the President of the United States, but there are some differences, he's thinner, younger and can run faster and further probably, but I really like his orientation to bring everybody into the discussion about what's important in America. That's what we should be doing on campus bringing students, faculty, staff and alumni together to talk about the University to help build our future. I also like his candor and I hope I'm seen in that way. In that I'm able and willing to talk to students and to the university committee about important issues. So it's a real honor and I hope that here at Howard we can really achieve a lot of things that are consistent with the hope that he has for America.

BY: Is there something that most students would be shocked to know about their President (likes or dislikes)?

SR: I really enjoy all of the outside activities that we have on campus for students like dance, theatre, and athletics I really like seeing students apply what they've learned in the classroom, on the theatre stage, concert hall or on the basketball court. I think it's a very important part of all that we do. The Mr. & Miss. Howard pageant is a great opportunity that allows students to learn how to develop a campaign and how to develop a platform. So I believe that every experience on campus in the Resident Halls, in the classrooms and even outside of the classroom is very, very important. Like what you're doing for the yearbook is a good example of how to put together a high quality publication to really capture the essence of the school year and this experience will really serve you well and all those other activities will serve the students well as they leave Howard University.

BY: What's been your most memorable moment so far at Howard University?

SR: Probably, Homecoming 2008 because it was so exciting to see the students, alumni and all of our visitors really come to the campus with all their energy and to celebrate the tradition of Howard University.

BY: Do you feel like there are many differences in being a President at an HBCU versus any other college or university?

SR: For me personally, being a President at any University is a real honor to be selected to serve, but there's more of a sense of purpose and mission I find being here at Howard that I did find at any other University where I have worked. It's really a mission deeply rooted in the experiences that African Americans have achieved at Howard University. That mission drives you to want to do more like taking a 14 hour day and making it an 18 hour day.

BY: Many students have stated that you are more personable and that they actually see you walking around campus more than previous Presidents. How important do you feel it is to build a relationship with the student body?

SR: I think its very important to be out talking to the students, faculty and the staff listening to them. I think my wife and I see our role here to be a part of the community and to contribute to it in ways that are helpful and useful and that's very important to me. I try to make sure that a couple of times a week, I walk around the yard or get over to Blackburn. Or even last semester I walked through the Arts and Sciences building and a faculty member invited me to sit in on the class, so I think that's real important and I enjoy it I don't feel like it's an obligation, it's actually some of the better parts of my day.

BY: How did it feel to be named the 16th President of the historic Howard University?

SR: I felt really honored and thought that it would be a great opportunity to work with the students and the faculty on some issues that are not only important to prepare students to graduate from Howard University, but to prepare the next generation of leadership. Also to really allow us to be on the national stage, I think that it's refreshing that the world symposium that we're having around the inauguration is bringing together scholars from all over the country and is getting media exposure all over the country. Even though its produced by Spike Lee and supported by Pepsi its really a partnership with Howard University, so we're right there in the forefront talking about very important issues during this inaugural time. So I think that's one of the benefits of being at Howard that you don't have at another institution that you really are on a national stage in a very positive way.

BY: It's often said that students at Howard University are not in touch with the surrounding community, how do you plan to bridge the gap?

SR: Well I think there are things going on in different departments in schools, like the School of Social Work and even students in Arts and Sciences participating in Alternative Spring Break. This year they're going to be out in the DC community as well as going to New Orleans, Chicago and Detroit. So I feel that there are things like that, that have been done that are going to be expanded to the greater Washington, DC area. There are a number of things in the School of Social Work and in Arts and Sciences where students are working with faculty members on projects in the community and there's a pretty extensive list, so I feel we need to just do more of these things and we need to highlight them and make it easier and more effortless for students to get involved in those type of activities.

BY: What changes can the students expect under your new administration?

SR: Well I think Students First is one series of things that have come to me from the students as being their highest priority to improve services offered on campus. Services from financial aid, registration, advising, all the support services, facilities like classrooms and Resident Halls and all those things students have expressed as being very important and at the top of their list. That's why we launched the Students First Campaign and a lot of these issues will be addressed and we have some excellent staff members and faculty members to help us carefully assess what needs to be done and how to address it in a timely fashion.

BY: What vision do you have for students entering Howard University and matriculating into the "real world"?

SR: I think it's our opportunity and obligation to prepare students to not only be confident in their majors or disciplines like sociology, business, journalism or whatever it might be, but we need to make sure they have skills. In addition to that I'd like to know and it goes along with the tradition of Howard the legacy of leadership, the leadership for the global economy. For example they won't just be engineers, but they'll be the lead engineer on a project and that they won't just be attorneys, but partners shaping the direction of law firms. I think if we do our jobs well in and out of the classroom and in student organizations we will achieve these goals. Like the other evening I was visiting with the Marching Band in their preparation for their participation in the Inaugural Parade. We need to encourage students to take advantage of these situations and to not only have a good time but to learn how to lead. I think if we do that students will depart from Howard really making a difference in the world.

Kelley Williams

Kelley O. Williams is a gifted student, a dedicated community servant, a spirited entrepreneur, and among countless other things, a young woman who embodies commendable character, infallible integrity, and a strong, yet humble spirit. Some of the accomplishments Kelley are most proud of include her membership in Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, her elected role as Executive Vice President of the American Marketing Association, and becoming a Student Ambassador. Not to mention, she served as a Howard University cheerleader for football and basketball seasons. Kelley is enrolled in the Howard University School of Business Executive Leadership Honors Program, and takes pride in serving her adopted community of Washington by remaining involved in programs similar to those which were instrumental to her development, such as coaching middle and high school cheerleading squads, and tutoring and mentoring high school students.

2008 WHO'S WHO

India S. Clark is a native of Saint Louis, Missouri born to the parentage of Ms. Gayle Clark and Mr. Virgil Alexander through whom she has learned the limitless opportunities and challenges life can bring. India is a junior and is pursuing a degree in business administration with a concentration in accounting. She has evolved into a leader at Howard, where she actively serves on campus in many capacities. Her journey began with her participation in Ladies of the Quad Social Club, where she soon developed life-long relationships with freshmen and upper-classmen women. She is a member of the National Association of Black Accountants, and has served as Student Advocacy Commissioner for the School of Business Student Council. Her most noteworthy accomplishment is her role as a Management Team Leader, where she worked directly with first year business students to help them achieve academic excellence, and personal and professional growth- both individually and as a team during her sophomore year. She has continued her legacy for serving others as the lead female peer educator on campus, where she provides information to the campus, particularly freshmen women, on HIV/Aids prevention and other sexually related diseases. She successfully maintains a 3.7 grade point average in the Executive Leadership Honors Program as the Assistant Business Manager of the Hilltop Newspaper. India takes small credit for her many accomplishments as she realizes that she is fortunate and blessed to beat the odds of upbringing. Howard University, with a doubt, has shaped India to be a scholar and servant.

RaKenya Downs

Hailing from the small city of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, RaKenya Downs embodies excellence and success both with her activities on campus and off. Kenya, as she is more commonly known, balances a 3.5GPA as a senior speech communications major and reporting for the investigative unit of ABC News. Her academic achievements have earned her membership into the National Society of Collegiate Scholars and the Golden Key International Honour Society. She has thoroughly immersed herself in the Howard Experience during her four years including writing for the Hilltop, serving as resident assistant in the Harriett Tubman Quadrangle and being a member of the International Pals, Haitian Student's Association, Caribbean Students Association and African Students Association. But the success in which Kenya takes the most pride in is her passion in journalism. Although her career began long before Howard, Kenya can credit internships during her tenure with NBC, MSNBC, and ABC as helping to gain the experience needed to currently report for the Emmy-Award winning investigative unit of ABC News. For the future, Kenya is following her dream of being a talk show host as she attends Columbia University's graduate school of journalism while continuing her work with ABC in New York City.

Courtney is a senior Broadcast Journalism major and Afro-American Studies minor from the city of Southfield, MI. Since her arrival at Howard University, she has been very involved on campus. # BARACK OBAMA

FIRST AFRICAN AMERICAN
PRESIDENT
OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

BARACK OBAMA'S BIOGRAPHY

Born to a father from Kenya and mother from Kansas, the story of Barack Hussein Obama came to symbolize what many Americans believe makes the United States the greatest country on Earth: Obama's remarkable journey began at his birth on August 4, 1961 in Honolulu, Hawaii. After a short stint in Indonesia with his mother and Indonesian stepfather, Obama relocated back to Hawaii where his maternal grandparents raised him; his background came to represent the melting pot of cultures that is synonymous with American culture. While attending the Punahou School, where Obama was one of three black students, he struggled with his multiracial heritage and became keenly aware of race relations in America.

Upon graduation in 1979, Obama attended Occidental College for two years before transferring to Columbia University, where he would earn his bachelor's degree in Political Science. After graduation in 1983, Obama soon went to work for the Business International Corporation. However, Obama desired to embrace, and fight for the African-American community, and by 1985, he had moved on to Chicago's south side where he became a community organizer for low-income residents in public housing developments. During his years in the community, he worked closely with church-based non-profit groups to support housing and support for the working poor families of the city.

In the years to follow, Obama's ambitions had taken him out of Chicago, and on to Harvard Law School, he became the first black president of the Harvard Law Review in 1990. Obama's success at Harvard garnered a book-publishing contract, a faculty position at the University of Chicago Law School, and an opportunity to practice Civil Rights Law at a prestigious law firm in Chicago. Despite the opportunities to teach law full-time, or represent high-profile clients, Obama chose to continue his work for African-American communities in Chicago. While working part-time at the University of Chicago, Obama organized voter registration drives during Bill Clinton's 1992 presidential campaign.

Having already achieved moderate success as both a community organizer and Civil Rights lawyer, Obama began his career in politics in 1997, when he took office in the Illinois State Senate as a representative of Illinois' 13th district. During his tenure, Obama pushed for tax credits for the low-income workers, welfare reform, and increased subsidies for childcare. By 2003, after two re-elections, Obama became chairman of the Illinois Senate's Health and Human Services Committee, where he championed legislation to monitor racial profiling and a mandate for videotaping of all homicide interrogations. Having already gained local notoriety in Chicago, Obama emerged on the national stage when he sought office to the United States Senate in 2004. Beating his closest opponent by 29 percentage points in the senate primary thrust Obama into the spotlight as the Democratic Party's shining star, and earned him the honor of delivering the keynote address at the 2004 Democratic National Convention. After serving two years as a Senator, Obama announced his candidacy for president on the steps of the Old State Capitol building in Springfield, Illinois.

Obama battled his same party opponent, Hillary Clinton, in a bitter primary race, but in August of 2008, prevailed with the Democratic nomination. He then went on to combat Republican John McCain on major issues such as the economy, the war and healthcare.

On November 4, 2008, after a rigorous twenty-one month campaign, series of debates, and messages of hope and change, Barack Obama made history by becoming the first African-American elected to the Presidency of the United States of America.

HOWARD UNIVERSITY: YES WE CAN THE CHANGE WE BELIEVED IN

by Cheyenne Cochrane

“Yes we can!” These were the three words that were introduced to the world under Barack Obama’s “Change” campaign for the Presidency of the United States of America. Throughout the campaign season, Howard students made it their duty to pay close attention and stay informed of the issues at hand and encourage the surrounding community to do so as well. One any given day, your typical Howard Student could be spotted wearing various “Obama” paraphenelia with the words “HOPE”, “CHANGE” or even “Barack is my Homeboy” written across the front. It was clear that the results of the 2008 Presidential Election was present on everyone’s minds, and the majority of the campus was hoping for change. Obama’s deliverance of a speech right here at the Mecca during Opening Convocation on September 28, 2007, further fueled the fire that his supporters had already ignited. On November 4, 2008, the night that changed American History, a majority of the Howard Community was at the Presidential Election viewing party in the Blackburn Ballroom. The ballroom crowd was filled to the brim with people, students, faculty, staff, campaign volunteers and others, all who came out to witness a historical moment. Although the election process is over, this is still only the beginning. We, the students of Howard University have not given up our hope, or stopped believing in the CHANGE that Presesident Barack Obama will continue to bring.

Barack Obama officially announces his candidacy on the steps of the Old State Capitol in Springfield, Illinois, where President Lincoln once declared, "a house divided against itself cannot stand".

Barack Obama unexpectedly wins the Democratic Iowa Caucuses.

January 3, 2007

February 10, 2007

Barack Obama addressed the Howard University community with a memorable speech for Opening Convocation in Crampton Auditorium.

Barack Obama's pastor of 20 years, Rev. Jeremiah Wright at Trinity United Church of Christ in Chicago made some controversial videos talking about the September 11 attacks, saying "God damn America". These videos spread rapidly throughout the Internet, the news, and became the main topic in many conversations.

September 28, 2007

March 13, 2008

2007

March 29, 2007

Jesse Jackson endorses Obama.

February 2008

The Obama campaign reports raising $55 million in February and sets a new record for political fundraising in a single month. His success is widely credited to small donations gathered on the Internet.

December 8, 2007

Oprah Winfrey joins Barack Obama on the campaign trail for a series of rallies starting in Des Moines, Iowa.

OBAMA'S ROAD TO SUCCESS

- The historical timeline of Barack Obama's road to the Presidency -

In Denver, Colorado Barack Obama made history as the Democratic Party officially accepting the nomination before a record-setting crowd of over 80,000 people, this making him the first black American to lead a major political party ticket.

August 28, 2008

The second presidential debate that took place in Nashville, Tennessee was a town hall debate, moderated by Tom Brokaw of NBC.

October 7, 2008

Barack Obama defeats Senator John McCain to win the U.S. Presidential Election with over 66 million votes and a powerful 365 electoral votes, and becomes the first African-American President of the United States!

November 4, 2008

Barack Obama has clinched the Democratic nomination and claimed the status as the nominee in St. Paul, Minnesota. Clinton concedes defeat and urges supporters to back Obama!

June 3, 2008

September 26, 2008

The first presidential debate that took place at the University of Mississippi; the focal point was the foreign policy and national security issues.

October 15, 2008

The final presidential debate that took place at the Hofstra University in New York. "I think when you spread the wealth around, it's good for everybody."

August 23, 2008

Obama names Senator Joe Biden, former opponent in the race for the presidential nomination, as his vice-presidential candidate.

PRESIDENT ELECT BARACK OBAMA'S

ELECTION NIGHT SPEECH

ON NOVEMBER 4, 2008 IN GRANT PARK, IL

"If there is anyone out there who still doubts that America is a place where all things are possible; who still wonders if the dream of our founders is alive in our time; who still questions the power of our democracy, tonight is your answer. It's the answer told by lines that stretched around schools and churches in numbers this nation has never seen; by people who waited three hours and four hours, many for the very first time in their lives, because they believed that this time must be different; that their voice could be that difference. It's the answer spoken by young and old, rich and poor, Democrat and Republican, black, white, Latino, Asian, Native American, gay, straight, disabled and not disabled - Americans who sent a message to the world that we have never been a collection of Red States and Blue States: we are, and always will be, the United States of America. It's the answer that led those who have been told for so long by so many to be cynical, and fearful, and doubtful of what we can achieve to put their hands on the arc of history and bend it once more toward the hope of a better day. It's been a long time coming, but tonight, because of what we did on this day, in this election, at this defining moment, change has come to America."

Students chant and celebrates the historic victory with Mr. Howard Melech Thomas.

Always Remember

When God made you He did so with a purpose and a plan. He saw all your days before you lived one of them and placed over you the covering of His protective love. He has allowed nothing to come into your life that has not been screened through that love. His hand remained upon you this very day. Today you are in the exact place He wants you to be. And tomorrow He will be with you, as He has always been.

Congratulations,

Love, Mum

REWARD YOURSELF

by joining the medical center in Southern Maryland that is built on a tradition of caring.

In our view, doing what's right by people has never gone out of style. Since our founding in 1977, we have become Southern Maryland's most comprehensive acute care facility. Here, hearts and hands work seamlessly together to combine the best of what is caring and compassionate, with what is innovative and state-of-the-art. Come experience the difference for yourself.

We have a variety of RN, Allied Health, and Support Staff openings throughout the year. We are currently looking to hire qualified Case Managers, Occupational Therapist, Physical Therapist, and Speech Therapist.

Additionally, we offer excellent training and mentoring programs.

YEARBOOK 2008

GOODBYES

SABRINA · BRITNEY · LAWRENCE · IMONI · KIMERY · ASHLEY

ARI OKONOFUA

One of the hardest parts of putting together the yearbook are the "goodbyes"... bittersweet but here goes... JESSIE- So who would have THUNK "Ari & Jessie" would be running the yearbook? LOL. I remember when we first realized last year that yearbook would be in our hands and we were just like "ok the book is going to be hott" and "the office is going to be HELLA fun." We lived up to both. Despite our drama and arguments from then until now we managed to become even closer (didn't think that was possible either) lol and a hott aSSS book. You're the LC to (me) Heidi, the Thelma to me (Louise), the Pinky to ME (the brain), the TOMMY to me (Cole lol) and the Jessi to me...ARIL. Cant wait to OD in our new crib next year => IMONI- awww my assistant! I love love love you! You are a sweetheart and a wonderful individual. Thank you for the thousands of text to the staff...I know they are tired of hearing from you lol jk. I couldn't have passed the torch down to anyone better. FRICKY FRONT- My ride or die. I love thee! What the hell am I gonna do without you around?! Harass you everyday as I do now! Thanks for being my front, my best friend, my annoying aSS alter ego and all that good stuff. New chapter lady... and I cant wait. BRIT BRIT- Girlfriends! Down since pre-o my ni _____. I honestly think we have been thru it from Red lobsters to American to me, you, Cicily and ASH HYPE up in Frazier, dinner in the cal and the annex, chatta in the annex with you being my neighbor and all, our od experience when you and Ashley came to New York and my G STATUS-ness LOL. You be having DELEWARE and swear that IIIIIIIII want to be from Philly...800 -you are very wrong because you know im from the waviest of all cities all day all crazy ...718 q-u...LOL you see you got me going. Britt I am going to miss you but its nothing because I know we will be down AFTER howard and you will be at my wedding. BRIT W- BMW... aww man how effing cool are you?! LOL thanks for being my mini-applecare when I have semi destroyed my apple products. Everyone laughed but you never turned your back...you just gave your advice. Your photos are bomb, YOU are bomb and I know you gonna hold it down next year for Photo! RODNEYPOOH- I humbly bow my head. You DID YOUR THING, whether it was on my time or yours lol. Rodneypooh you are a greatttttttt dude and I am going to miss you. You are so, so, soooooo talented and I know you will be something great. Continue to do the whole entrepreneurial thing and never lose sight of your friends better yet your newfound FAMILY of yearbook. SABRINA- Get it layout! Down for two years Sabrina... I hope you don't forget me because I damn sure wont forget you. I'm gonna need a place to crash when im down in Miami...speaking of Miami...im so sorry for the water and toilet paper incident due to the FAKE party you Chad, Josh and Koshonna out together lol. Love ya, KIMERY- Kimery I am so glad we cracked your shell lol. You're a wonderful individual and extremely talented with photography. You were a great person to work with and I know you will do big things. Love ya! MR. REED- oh lordy where do I begin?! Mr. Reed you have been such an influential factor in my life. I want to thank you for BELIEVING in me (despite the little jokes you all have) lol and always instilling in me the word TRUST. You were a great advisor and I know you will continue to be. Now, now I know you will miss me stopping by to harass you everyday, me and Jessi's 40 arguments a week, my demands for the office/staff and my usual debates but don't worry I will still be around to bother you! lol. By the way...didn't I "pull off a good book?" =). STEPHEN- The party animal and PIMP of the office...I for sureeeeeee am going to miss you. I'll still be in the DC area so you know we will be chilling. Good luck with everything and hold it down next year on staff! KENYA THE BABY OF THE OFFICE- Aww your MYYY little baby... Kenya you social butterfly you better hold it down as I know you will. Mommy will miss you! You got two more years...please live it up and embrace the rest of your Howard experience; DON'T RUSH IT because in the end you'll not really want to leave ="( COOKS- Damnnn kidd... 9th grade to college graduates. BEST FRIEND... I will miss you but you ALREADY know. We definitely live down the block from each other and whether I stay in DC or not you know we will stay chillin together. I want to thank you for always being there whether I called you to complain about school, work, my hair, my love life...WHATEVER and you have always been there. Let's look at this as a new chapter in our life...titled the "real world" and its about to be REAL WAVY owww!

CHANTAL- who would have thought the girl from freshman composition would become my best friend (aww)...omg if anyone knows me inside out its YOU! I love you trick and don't forget it. SEDULOUS- I CAN SEE YOUR HAIR. We have been through it ALL ya'll and it only made us stronger. You guys have been my support system since day 1 and I love you all for that. From all- nighters to drama to grief you ladies have stood firm. I am blessed to have 34 remarkable women to call sisters. Even more blessed to say I have 34 women who will ALWAYS be there. For the 03-09 "in-chapters"...we did it ya'll. It was a long, long year but we pulled through despite graduation, personal lives and everything else in between. I want to thank ya'll for being so understanding and knowing that yearbook was a big part of my life and never trippin! LOL. Stay beautiful, stay true, stay SEDULOUS. RESURGENT-FOREVER thankful for the gift. I love my momma!!! NEDS- I love you all. You were CHOSEN for a PURPOSE. Please do it big and never sell yourself short. Hold ALPHA Chapter down. Mwahhhhh babies!!! UGLY- I never met anyone like you...I can't even tell if that's a good or bad thing. Mwah! MOM, SAMARRA, BRYDNY, OBI- MY LIFE LINE...my family...you all mean the world to me. Love you! Shoutouts to layout for the long long weekends and nights... Cheltz, keem...the semi office rats...pari...BECKS lol...brit lewis aka trifle-lina...brit c...photo secretaries...volunteers and all those who made DEJA VU possible...So long sweet Howard...so long!

JESSICA MCCULLOUGH

Ari: I'm glad this is finally over... any longer and you would be dead. Love you.

Imoni: I really enjoyed working with you. You're going to be awesome next year. Congratulations!!!! on everything thus far and Good Luck on everything in the future. I'm officially on Team Imoni lol

Lar-Rence: You were a nightmare to work with... I never got a break from you class then office, class then office AND let's not forget you slept on my couch for 60 days! Ugh GOODBYE!

Kenya: Baby Staffer! You were such an excellent office assistant... your energy is awesome in the office... you remind me of the kind of fun I used to have 2 years ago. Enjoy the rest of your time here at HU. You're already on the right track.

Pop Pop: We butt heads every now and then but I think it's fun. You're OD talented... I don't have to wish you any luck because you're already doing it and you're only going to get bigger and better.

Sa Bri-Bri: I feel like just writing the same thing I write for you last year... and I'm going to: "SaBriBri: Ur one of the hardest workers I know. And U always manage to balance everything and remain hilarious @ the same time". Yeah, all that lol.

Ashley: You're incredibly talented. Good luck in the future... I know you will do well, you're a confident and beautiful woman.

Grandma Brewington: Granny Brew don't take no stuff lol... I had fun working with you this year ... you provided me with plenty of laughs. You're gonna be the bomb in life because you never take no for an answer. Good Luck—Sincerely, Apple Care lol

Kimery: It took a little while for us to crack your shell but what we did get to see was cool. Your pics are the bomb. P.S. I noticed how your psych skills kicked in as you observed the craziness of our office.

S.M.W.: Hey Weirdo...I'm convinced you're a chemistry major just so you can become a mad scientist and steals drugs and other elements of the periodic table for your own personal satisfaction. Lol Sike... you're the Shizz have fun next year!

Stephen: Get a job! You're not even on staff! Lol sike Stephen. You're work sucks and maybe your passion shouldn't be your profession. SIKKKKEEE!

I'm glad I got all of you monkeys off my back. Next job you get learn to fill out your tax forms! Sike, I had a fun year with you all! Peaaaaace.

Being on the Bison Yearbook Staff this year has been one of the most memorable experiences of my senior year. Working in the office is never a dull moment, from the many people that walk through the door, the random conversations that take place daily, I wouldn't trade it for the world! ARI, Ms. Editor in Chief, "one of my Girlfriends," awww, we have soooo many memories, where do I start? Frazier Days? From our frequent visits to Red Lobster, me acting like your mom on the weekends and laying in the middle of the intersection on our way to American you're a funny girl and we have so many memories. JESSI, I feel like we have been closer since working on Yearbook and I was able to get to know you better. APPLE SUPPORT! And I just want you to know I sleep better at knowing that even though my team didn't win the Superbowl neither did yall! Oh where did yall quarter-back go to school again, ok that is all, I rest my case! ASHLEY, there's not even enough space for me to tell you how much I appreciate you. Down since 8th grade...and I wouldn't change it for the world. You definitely keep me grounded when I'm O'Ding and we all know that happens often. Like you always say, "we came here together and we're leaving together," HELLO! You're the realest! IMONI, I'm so glad I got to meet you this year. I wish I would have known you sooner, cause your one of the nicest people I've met at Howard. You are truly a genuine person and I will never forget our constant food runs! Depends Anyone! KIMERY, my fellow EAGLES fan I'm so glad you were always there to help me defend our team. Your very quiet but when you do talk you always had great ideas for the book. And every time I see a box of chicken I think of you! BRITNEY, I could write a book about you, but I'm not. You are SOOO funny and there is never a dull moment with you. From you eating 8 pieces of cornbread and you blaming me for your asthma attack the next day, you are one crazy girl!! KENYA, The Celebrity of the staff. I'm convinced there isn't a person on Howard's campus that you don't know. Whatever, we needed you always had a connect. Thanks for the many tutorials on the Mac, I really appreciate it, this time next year I'll be a pro. LAWRENCE, Diddy and Mr. I'm from the Hood! I am really going to miss you cause you were always in the office and we had so many conversations. Gucci but can you eat? You know you secretly wanted to be from Delaware. SABRINA, you always put me up on the latest songs and tried to enlighten me on the obvious, LOL I am grateful. Can we go back to your mom's house? The food was the bomb.com, thanks for being our unofficial tour guide. RODNEY, Boy your crazy, I'm glad I met you this year, you're a really talented individual and I know the layouts are going to look sooo good. STEPHEN, Aren't I glad you joined the staff? Even though you and I never agreed on sports, I always enjoyed our debates, even though I always ended up right. You are very talented in what you do. TO MY "FRENS," everybody can't be a F-R-E-N-D! I am going to miss yall soooo much, words can't even express. Maninn, girl shu-up, what are you talking about girl! If all else fails at least "We Doing It for the Community!" TO MY PARENTS, I love you both so much thank you for always reminding me that even though I'm looking at the obstacles before me, I will not allow what I see to hinder what I believe, I'm Going to Praise Him in Advance!

Britney Brewington

Gosh, never thought I'd say this but I might actually miss Howard?

As I'm sitting here in the yearbook office trying to focus just to write these goodbyes, I am almost about to cry. And then Lawrence grabs my food (thinking I wasn't looking and Britton snatches the chicken out of his hands yelling, "No Lawrence! You're going to die." at the exact same moment that Daniels approaches saying, "I was using that computer" and I am thinking to myself, "But, wait, you don't work here."

But these are the random moments that I will miss when I graduate from Howard. Walking into yearbook, looking distraught, scrambling to a computer to check my email and being distracted by all the office rats who DON'T work in the yearbook office but you would think they did because they are in here all the time.

I am really happy that I had the opportunity to share this experience with you. Some of you whom I just meant this year like Stephen, I will so miss how we goofed off in the office analyzing Kanye West and me randomly dancing to Britney Spears Circus, which might I add is still one of my favorite songs. Cooks, how you steal my freakin' food and yeah, I guess I will admit that I am probably the only person that sneaks you the good snacks LOL.

Imoni, where the freak were you? Never in the office but you always got your job done and when you did come around you were the sweetest person ever! Sabrina, you always saved me when I definitely had no idea how to edit the pros on the proof CD and when we went to Miami, OH BOY!, best times ever!

Rodney, for my entrance song whenever I came into the office, you embarrassed me but you are a really cool person and when they call you grandpa, you really are a GRANDPA.

BRITNEY!!!! Awww... You are like my favorite person in the office, you bring life to the atmosphere and all you have to do is show up giggling and grabbing food with your "water bottle" and we are all dying with laughter (you so know what I am talking about). Kimery, I'll never forget that day you stole that whole corner of mac and cheese and Jessi was so angry with you! Jessi, you are always so calm, cool and collected, nothing ever seems to bother you. Kenya, absolutely fabulous, always there to help me and Dillo when we couldn't complete all the stories.

Britney!!!! We go all the way back to high school days and now we'll be graduating together in May, now what do we say, "We came here together and we're leaving together." Being my best friend and my roommate, girl I love you!

ARI FREAKING OKONONO. Now, now my dear, ride or die. I am your front, and you always got my back and whenever things get tough, we rock it out together, you and Brito are my shoulders to lean on and my ears to talk to. Down since Pre-O, Real recognize real, forget all the fake stuff... love you girl!

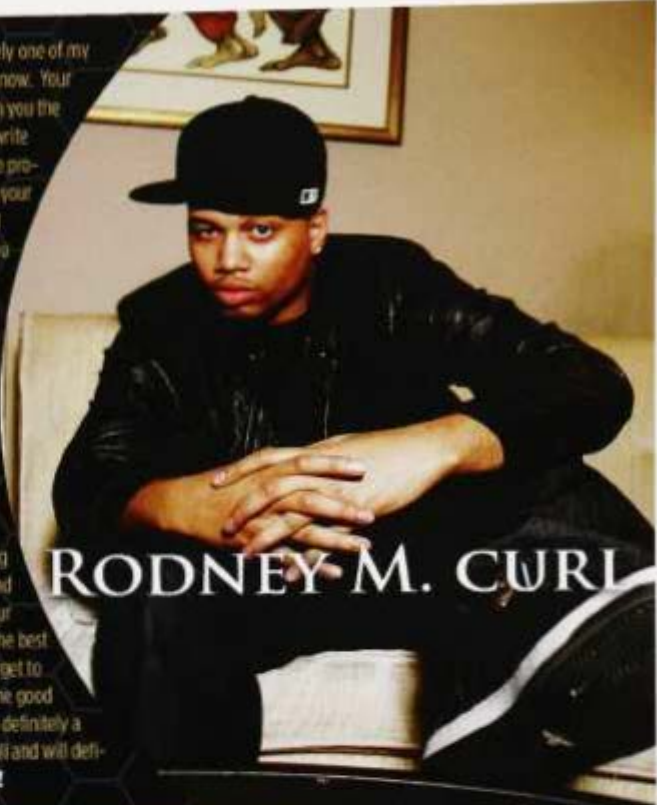

For Howard, sometimes I hated you, other times I didn't like you, but more honestly I will always love you, for you gave me an opportunity to know myself and build upon myself, I have meant some of my closest friend here and experienced some of the best times in my life on these stomping grounds. Once again I love you, forever and a day and if ever I was asked how much? I would say for infinity much! It goes on and on forever, through the thick and through the end. One day, I'll be back... Till then... I

Sabrina we had some great times during the production of this book you are definitely one of my homies, and will never be forgotten. Stephen definitely one of the creative people I know. Your ideas, flavor, and concepts are definitely great man. Keep doing what you doing and I wish you the best in your future endeavors! Ashley and Britney both of you guys always write amazing stories and you both made sure to make sure DELWARE was recognized during the production of this book. I love you both and wish you guys the best! Kimery keep doing your thing brother and running track. When your in the Olympics running for the Gold Medal I'll definitely be watching. Brittney you have introduced me to some good times and you never have a dull moment. Every time I'm around you theirs never a dull moment. Stay wonderful and I wish you the best in your future. Kenya I just wanted to say thanks for always sending me LDOO Who's Who's bios and keeping me updated with what was going on in the office. Cooks you always stay on top of things and definitely always kept the office clean. You were always a person that had a laugh in stored for a good time, especially when "Reed's Hello" video was on facebook lol. Jessi we had some good times and bad starting with St. Louis all the way down to the finished product. I really hope you love this book as much as you loved the previous one and I wish you the best in whatever you do. Ari I really hope that us as a staff created your vision to the fullest and you get mad props for this book. I wish you the best in you future endeavors and hope we will keep in touch because Rodney Poch will definitely need you to be coming to my wedding in the future to shed a tear. Imoni your definitely one of my homies and will always be special to me. I will never forget the times where you only took 3 bits of your food and sent 500 text messages about meetings scheduled by Ari. I definitely wish you the best and hope you do take on the responsibility of Editor and Chief for Volume 87. Also dont forget to SQUEEZE!!!! Cheyenne without you my life is not complete! Reed we had some good times this year brother with Homecoming and the Yearbook and I'll never forget you, Your definitely a great advisor whether good news or bad news. To the rest of my good friends I love you all and will definitely miss Howard University after graduation May 9th..... SIKEEEEEEEEE!!!!!!

RODNEY M. CURL

Who told you?! I didn't have the slightest idea last year that you were even paying attention to what Lisandra was doing, lol. You clearly knew exactly what was going on, and made a point to execute that knowledge with diligence to create a wonderful book. Congratulations! Steph Wow, we've been at this for two years...and I think you should go for number three, lol. What would yearbook do without you? You kept the balance this year with Ari, making for a perfect team. Good luck next year! Oh yea, STOP DO'ing JUST CAUSE YOU'RE 21 NOW!!! Brittney Girl, if you don't accomplish everything you want out of life, then there's something wrong with life, not you. You are silent, yet deadly. You go in for the kill, and I am saying "congratulations" in advance, because whatever happens, you're #1 in my book. Brittney I loooove you! Your fashion sense, passion for life, keen insight and writing style are all to be admired. You added a different flair to this book, which I'm sure all will appreciate. Brittney Grandma! You are too funny with your old lady antics. You surprised me though, with your extreme love for the Eagles, but I wish you the best in all your future endeavors. Brittney You're have such a quiet soul, and you only speak when necessary, which I wish of more people. You always seemed to ask me these questions that were right on target, and then I realized that you're an observer, just like myself. It's a good skill to have, keep using it to your advantage. Brittney I think we have more in common then we had time to explore. We both have the soul of artists, and enjoy living the free life. One thing I don't understand is you maintaining that GPA in Chemistry while still participating in certain (clears throat) extracurricular activities that we both love. We have to keep in touch...no one loves those activities more than you and I. Brittney I don't think we had the opportunity to get to know each other this year, but I know that you're a hard worker, and will continue to succeed in life. Keep up the great work, and everything you desire will be yours. Brittney Kid! You are the wildest, most ridiculous person I know, but you always bring a smile to the office with your crazy "Diddy" attitude. I KNOW I will see you at the top, no doubt, and then, we can OFFICIALLY Swing Our Rags! Brittney I am really glad that I was able to meet you this year. You are such a driven and talented individual, and I wish the best for you in the future. Keep up the great work and I know you'll go very far in this industry. Keep pimpin' HJ out of their money too...they deserve it, lol. Brittney That's an official St. Louis nickname that everyone "jacked" from us, lol. We started yearbook off with that trip, and it's been a crazy ride since! Thanks for all your help this year with teaching me the tricks of the trade. I've learned so much from you, and I know we'll meet again one day at the top of this industry. You are so talented and completely dedicated to your craft, and I wish you the best. PS. Keep making Marissa happy...a love like that DOES NOT come often...

Sabrina Little

Dearest yearbook staff: Even though I'm super excited that the book is about to be done and all our hard work will finally come into fruition, it saddens me that our time together is ending as well. When I first joined the yearbook staff, I was scared that I wouldn't fit in, which was clearly not the case because you'll be all just as crazy as I am.

Ari you were an awesome EIC, always coming up with great ideas (lol). Next year it won't be the same in the office without your moon boots and broken apple products. Seriously though thanks for everything. You are someone I looked up to and had numerous good times with. I'll miss you! Jessi you are hilarious. My favorite was that time we were going to the Apple Store and you made Ari think she was changing the song on your iPhone. Rodney better known as Pop Pop! I'm gonna miss you man. I feel like I corrupted you, but hey we all need a few vices in our lives. I know whatever you do after graduation is gonna be great cause you've got such incredible talent it's ridiculous. Don't forget about us when you make it big! Sabrina I'm so glad you suggested I apply. Thanks for having faith in me to do a good job. You're definitely someone I look up to and I'm so grateful for everything you've taught me in improving my photography. Stephen, my self appointed yearbook boo! I was a little skeptical of you at first but I'm glad you joined the team. You're hella talented man and on a random note, I ate all your cornbread at the eskimo chic party. Kimery it's been great working with you. I wish we could've gotten to know each other better but good luck with everything after graduation! Ashley you are like the most inspirational person I've ever met. You're an amazing writer and I love your hair! Whenever I listen to BDBs I'll think of you. Britney my grass. Even though you never stop me from overeating you I still got mad love for you. I'll miss laughing with you. Go Eagles! Cooks you are the epitome of Diddy. I always admired how no nonsense you were and how you were always hilarious whether you knew it or not. Kenya even though you are the youngest on staff I always appreciated how maternal and wise you were. Hopefully we'll be on staff together again next year. My dear Imoni. Remember on the bus going to Miami when I look up that whole row and you and Kenya were so mad? Hahaha. Good job with the food choices. Seriously though you're such a sweetheart and I'm glad we'll be working together again next year. Mr. Reed what were you calling about that time we wouldn't pick up the phone? Anyway shout out to my Mom and Dad, my grandparents, Johnson, the Sensational Six, and the rest of my loves.

Ari: Boss Lady, I would just like to thank you for giving me this opportunity to present a more well balance presentation of Howard University. I know I have not been the best worker at times, but it had nothing to do with you because when it comes to an E.I.C; there is no one better.

Brittany Williams: Thank You for picking up the slack when I was slowing down the process of the book. You really have what it takes to be a great photo editor.

Ashley Wright: Every time I see you, you're always talking. It's not a bad thing though because you exude the articulateness and confidence that a strong black woman needs to have. I wish you the best in your future endeavors.

Sabrina Little: Art and soul; these two words describe you well. Everything that comes from you is so diverse, vibrant, and soulful; but it's not just your art that you use to express yourself. Your words are just as powerful because with your use of diction and syntax you create a rhetoric that allow people to feel the passion of what you're trying to express.

Imoni Hampton: You are by far one of the friendliest people I have met here at Howard. Every time I see you, you greet me with a smile and a "Hello Kimery", but what makes it more touching is that it feels genuine. Keep doing what you do.

Rodney Curl: You have skills brotha! I feel like throughout the process of the yearbook, you and I adopted the same mentality of producing our work in our "labs" as opposed to within the yearbook office. Clearly that mentality has helped us along the way in producing images and lay-outs respectively, in order to present to the Howard community something that is both hot and fresh.

Jessica McCullough: If Ari is ice, you would be fire! That is because you have that direct temperament that is needed for folks to stay focused.

Britney Brewington: When there is something that you like, you are completely passionate to that cause and that is what I admire.

Kenya James: The youngest of the staff, though one would not think that. You conduct yourself in a very professional and eloquent matter that will definitely assist you as you matriculate through Howard. Good luck with all that you do.

Lawrence Robinson: Every time you're in the office you carry that NY swag that is often imitated but never duplicated. You're a cool dude man.

Stephen: I'm feeling your hustle brotha, keep that s**t up.

Ari - wowww who would ever taught you could have done such a great job. Im so proud of you bestfriend. And you know we held it down in dc kid these motherfuckers couldn't fuck with queens if they wanted too. Its not really a goodbye because we will definitely be friends forever kid. And thanks for letting me live in your house for a few weeks. I love that couchhhhhhh. And yes its raining outside and im still fresh to death.

Jessi - Tommy..... did you really even work at all in the yearbook. I swear you had the easiest job ever know to man but got paid rell well. Jess you are my dawg kid n i love you like a fat kid loves cake. We had so many times good and bad times together but i always seem to let you back into my life. Jess yu always be my assistant so please get use to it.

Imoni - I must say you are such a sweetheart. I really admired how much of a good person you are. And even though you annoyed me with them damn text messages I still luv ya kid. I know you are going to do an excellent job with the book next year. If you need any help keeping next year staff under control please let me know cause i will put them fuckers in check.

Ashley - you are one crazy ass person but a good person at heart. Ashley please stay true to thy self. Cause your crazy ass is who you are and im going to miss your delware hood ass. And stop working forty jobs cause you will look fifty when you really thirty. And you remember that long ass drive to get them flyers. I hope ari gave you the gas money for that 2 hour trip.

Britney - Finally got you to do some office hours. But we have definatelt got to know each other more this year and I really like that. And cause of you we got that extra money from employment cause you tore that office up. You always get shit done ... thas what im talking about I knew you had a crush onme but had to let you down easy. But you handle it well cause what ..... your from DELWARE/Philly

Britney Williams - You're the coolest chemistry major person I know. How did you get high and drink and still manage to get everything done. It amazes me every time I think about it. I hope you keep the good work up and I shall be hitting one with you before graduation.

KIMBERLY - Man you got some talent. I hope you do well in life cause I know you will son. Keep your head up son. And talk a little more too.

Rodney - This Niggaaaaaa here . Its been a journey with you son. We had to call you 20 times for you to pick up your phone. I must say thou you are really talented light skin kid from jersey. You did a good job on layout son. I hope your ill design career works out for you. If not come work for diddy. Ill find you something.

Sabrina - You need to learn how to not piss me off. I swear I was two seconds from smacking the shit out of you but you know I kind of got a soft spot you. Im going to kind of miss you kid. I know when you get to New York you betta hit me up so we can get it popping.

Kanya - Superstar ..... you are one girl I know who knows everybody on campus better yet in the world. You remember you said Dr. Carr is your godfather. Like come on you really don't know everyone. But I know you are going to be somebody in life. So please keep up the good work. And I will say in contact with your ass cause you will have some connects for me in life. And next year please come to the office more

As the baby of the Bison Yearbook staff, this year, I would like to thank the staff for embracing me. I would like to thank Chad Williams Bey and Bianca Holman for introducing me to the idea of working with the yearbook. Being on the staff has caused me to mature and to grow as well. To the EIC, thanks for being like a mother to me, Ari, your craziness is unforgettable and your passion for yearbook is undeniable. Jessi, what can I say, you are a unique and unwavering person. Imoni, this year you have helped me out in so many ways, and I for that I am truly appreciative. Lawrence . . . Diddy . . . Pops, as I like to refer to you as because you are always telling me what to do or someone else. Ashley, I love the way you dress and the manner in which you carry yourself. I appreciate your love for fashion and Vogue Magazine. Britney, your love for sports and your quest to reconnect to modern technology can only be explained by you! Rodney, you are just one cool person to know. Sabrina, as you embark on the end of your Howard experience, I wish you the best of luck. Stephen, finally welcome to the world of iphones, even though you act if you have had an iphone your whole life. Lastly, to all the seniors on staff, I love you all and do your thing upon graduating from Howard!

Kenya James

Thank you again to the staff/crew. They will not be forgotten. Blessed be the original architect.
See YOU!!! I am going to miss you so much. You are such a wonderful individual on the job. I have had a wonderful time working with you all. I am proud of the book that I am glad had the opportunity to get to know you all. Remember them all. God bless them.

E-I-C!!!! I wish you so much for everything you have been through. I have had so much fun this year and I am grateful for the experience with you. You were always so fun to get to know. My heart goes out to you. I have learned so much from you and I will you all the best in the future. Thank you for always being there and supporting me. You have been a great friend and I will be proud of you. Thank you for allowing me to share in your experience.

JESSI- All you are one of the coolest people I know. I'm so glad you took time to get to know each other. Thank you for always being yourself and being willing to help. I am going to miss our conversations about all of our team with Christ and how to do it. You were always looking out for me. Thank you.

ASHLEY- Will never forget the day you tried to kill me with apples (it that was so funny, but the statistics was great. I really enjoyed you really personality and you're unique sense of style. Thank for always being so taken and willing to answer all of my questions.

BRITTNEY B.- BRUT! In they killer Britney... I am really going to miss you. I wish you happy to have worked with you this year. Thank you for always being there for me. You have truly been a friend in more ways than one. Thank for always being you and not changing to get the job done.

BRITTNEY W.- you are absolutely crazy and I love it! You always make me laugh especially when you're always saying about that for the next meeting lol. Thank for always responding to my text messages.

KIMERY- You have a special strength about you, you are always trying to do on the line. I will never forget the time you did on the team - I love you. Thank you for always being there for me.

RODNEY- The day I found out what you're going to do without me... I was so sad. I will never forget the time you did on the team - I love you. Thank you for always being there for me. I will never forget the time you did on the team - I love you. Thank you for always being there for me.

SABRINA-Sabri! Brit!!!! I'm going to miss you. Thank you for always being there for me. I will never forget the time you did on the team - I love you. Thank you for always being there for me.

STEPHEN- Thank you for always being there for me. I will never forget the time you did on the team - I love you. Thank you for always being there for me.

LAWRENCE- Thank you for always being there for me. I will never forget the time you did on the team - I love you. Thank you for always being there for me.

KENYA- Thank you for always being there for me. I will never forget the time you did on the team - I love you. Thank you for always being there for me.

The Bison Yearbook staff 2006/09 I just want to thank each of you for all of your hard work and sacrifice. It was great working all of you. Now, I want to speak about each staff member separately. Ari, you were a joy and you really surprise me on how you step up to the plate and took the ram by the horn. Ari you remind me of Hannibal the great African King who rode into battle on elephants that defeated the Roman army I wish you so much success in your life. Jessie, you were the rock and backbone that any organization would benefit for your calming nature. Stay sweet and wonderful disposition. Imoni, a beautiful young lady who will one day be a great leader, I expect great things from you. Keep the faith and it will take you far. Sabrina, you are the clutch player that any team would cherish. Keep your desire and drive. It will take you far. Rodney, you are every sense of the perfection, you are a BAD man when comes to graphic design, go out there and make your money. Ashley, one of my students from Delaware with a poetic soul. Always keep the Song of Solomon in your heart. Britney Brewington, a quiet but effective young lady in all of her endeavors. Kimery you are a hell of a photographer, it was some rough road but you preserved, always look to the starry deck in the heaven above for your strength. Kenya, you are a rising star always remember to stay to your beliefs and you will never go wrong. Lawrence you are one cool dude, lazy as hell, but effective when we really need you. Stephen you are the other person that I have fired numerous of time and you were volunteering. You have a great talent, just never overwhelm yourself, that you cannot focus on mastering your art. Brittany, you are major rock star, I like the way you make things happen, never change. I wish all of you the best, much love! One! K-reed

Hey there fellow umm staff members I'm so glad you all came to your senses and contacted me about working on layout. Ari I must apologize for not knowing who the heck you were when you walked up to me in Miami but you really should blame Rodney for not introducing us! Rodney I feel like your the only person on this campus who understands my struggle lol and unfortunately that means I could never lie to you about anything being done. Brittany ill never forget what you pulled of your purse in the first meeting what a great way to welcome me to the staff! Sabrina im sure you have heard this before but you don't hold anything back and while I may not like it all the time its good to know ill always get an honest answer.

Ashley...what can I say...what cant I say...lol...you are a very interesting individual and you definitely add a different dynamic to yearbook staff. Lawrence you are the first truly New York person I have met and people from the Bronx or whatever are crazy. Miss Brewington all I have to say is 32-25 Cardinals!!!! Kenya although I enjoyed our little will they wont they relationship throughout the year but im sorry it would never work lol. Imani your two million text messages a week from HUSA and Yearbook were almost to much but we definitely held it down on both fronts!!! And last but not least Kimery I have much respect for your tom hanks cast away beard you have going on only a G could pull that off I was always afraid you were gonna get some food or somthin caught in it and not know...that would've been weird...am I supposed to write something about Mr. Reed? Cause all he did was yell at me and talk about how he didn't trust me lol but its all good im sure we will get to know each other very well when we work together on later projects...*cough* Homecoming *cough*...
