New Project Attempts To 'Save' University

By Jenny A. Housey

A lying AIDS virus wrapper inhabited Darnell Huggins's ear "It's not that I didn't want to be here," he said. "It's just that I didn't feel comfortable..."

In one incident, students staged a sit-in to protest the lack of resources available on campus for those affected by AIDS. The Project SAVE team is an organization responsible for raising awareness and providing resources to students on campus. The group aims to educate students about the prevention and treatment of AIDS, as well as providing support to those affected by the virus.

Former Lecturer Threatens To Sue Howard

Mohammed H. Bahreini, former lecturer for Intermediate Macro Economic Theory, is threatening to sue Howard University. He claims that Rashid W. Palmer, chairman of the Department of Economics, purposely denied the renewal of his contract for the 1997-98 school year. Bahreini argued that he is entitled to the tenure track position because he is qualified and is an American citizen, unlike Darsean, an African American.

Add, Drop Class $20 Fee Leaves Students To Pay Toll

Regina Sep. 2, students who wish to add or drop a class will be subject to a $20 fee for each transaction. For example, if a student adds and then drops a class, they will have to pay twice. The fee is intended to cover the administrative costs associated with these changes.

By Bobby White

"Hey, I'm here," he said. "They should see it as an advantage for students to vote for us." Howard and Hutto expressed their determination to get students out to vote for them and emphasized the importance of student involvement in the political process.

Students still lounge on the steps of the former college of Fine Arts. A new College of Arts and Sciences sign hangs on the block that produced many talented black performers, dancers, singers and actors. Fine Arts is now a division within the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dawson Ready To Set Vision Of IAC

Dawson, FROM A1

A graduate (magna cum laude) of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, Dawson earned a master’s degree in English and comparative literature at Columbia University, as well as a PhD in mass communication at the University of Iowa. He is a member of Lincoln Hall of Fame, and Lincoln awarded him the honorary Doctor of Laws degree in 1990.

He published several articles including his latest, “West African Diplomacy” in the Foreign Service Journal, January 1993. Referring to the Center’s role in assisting students to go to foreign countries, Dawson said that the Center was established to make it easier for students to apply for grants and scholarships. He said that he had seen more students being trained for careers in diplomacy, international development and international business.

Dawson also translated Graduate Student Orientation, which has not been done for several years. “All the undergraduate programs offer an orientation program, but the graduate program lacks administrative support,” Col­lymore said. “The necessity is to make a distinction between the two.”

GSA also sponsored a graduate level orientation program, offered by the Department of History, which the Graduate Student Assembly Office in the Blackburn Center.

District Residents Protest Home Rule Abolishment in N.C.

HOMEB, FROM A1

An act of violence that occurred in 1972 when D.C. residents declined in front of the home of representative John McMillan (D-D.C., who continuously voted against home rule.

Stein Feldman was out of town and could not be reached for comment, but he observed an event. “I am not sure what happened,” he said. “I am not sure what happened.”

The face of the event was the Tawacor Church in Clinton, N.C., accused of supporting the death of a black man, and the event was the memorial of a black man’s life.

Georgia Avenue Day Spreads Love, Laughter

By KEYA GRAVES
City Editor

Eddie Walker, 7, doesn’t know what all the fuss is about. The D.C. Dragon summer program he attended officially ends Tuesday, September 2.

“Let's try to extend their programs, but right now, we don't know the work and others who are frustrated,” said Craig Thompson, a member of the group.

Hughes is also hoping to gain public support for the group’s mission to extend their programs. "I don’t think he should be using the words goals and love, even though there are not as many as there were last year,” said Dr. Herson, a D.C. resident.

Hughes said the organization will continue to work with the city to extend their programs. "The blame for the mess lies with the city," Hughes said.

The group has about 120 members, including individuals in the group, and the city has about 150 members. "We are working on the city's public schools system, but the longer students stay in school, the greater the gap becomes between their test scores and the student population," said Jack Brown, a D.C. resident.

Many local recreation centers will close during the national 10,000 students walkout, said Hughes. "I don’t think it will be a problem," he said.

"Our role must include accountability and respect,” Hughes said. "People need to understand that the organization should be led by them, not the government."
Drug War: Changes in Crack, Cocaine Rulings

By Lolly Bowman

National Editor

After months of deliberation, new standards were set for the distribution or possession of at least 50 grams of crack cocaine. The commission's report was submitted to Congress on June 29, 1997. The new standards, which were recommended by the National Commission on Drug Abuse and Peer Counseling, have been set for crack cocaine and powder cocaine.

The previous law set a five-year minimum prison term for the distribution or possession of at least 50 grams of crack cocaine. The commission's report states that there were 100,000 to 150,000 serious Crack users 'walking off with a $100,000 fine without a conviction.'

The new standards, which were set for crack cocaine, were: One gram of crack cocaine is five times more potent than one gram of powder cocaine. A result, many Blacks are walking off with a $100,000 fine without a conviction.

The commission's report was sent to prison for 10 to 15 years. Small time crack dealers are being sent to prison for 10 to 15 years. Their White counterparts who are selling 10 times as much powder cocaine are walking off with a $100,000 fine without a conviction.

The new standards are: 1 gram of crack cocaine is five times more potent than 1 gram of powder cocaine. The commission's report was set for crack cocaine. The amount is derived from the more deadly clearance from the Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department.

Confusion Over the Right To Vote Leaves Man Shocked

1965 Voting Rights Act That Made Polling Requirements Illegal In 10 Years

By Donnae Gooden

Hilltop, August 29, 1997

When sophomore Yasmine Campbell heard that Blacks may soon be disenfranchised, she said, "That's ridiculous," she said. "They have the right to vote. Let's get it right."

The issue of voting has become a thorn in the side of many within the Black community. From the moment of the Voting Rights Act being passed in 1965, the issue has been a source of contention and confusion within the Black community.

The Act is up for renewal in 2007. A large misunderstanding is that the Act has been renewed every 10 years. In fact, it has only been renewed once.

The Act requires states to receive clearance from the Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department before making various changes that could affect voting rights.

African American voting rights were granted by the 15th Amendment. The right to vote is a fundamental right. The right to vote is a right that has been eroded and undermined.

The 15th Amendment was passed to guarantee the right to vote to all persons. It stated, "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

MY DEGREE GOT ME THE INTERVIEW. ARMY ROTC GOT ME THE JOB.

Things got pretty competitive for this job. I'm sure my college degree and good grades kept me in the running. But in the end it was the ROTC connection that got me in the door. When I went through Army ROTC I got through Army ROTC that won them over. Army ROTC taught me responsibility, self-discipline and leadership. These things are just not something you can learn from a textbook. I don't know where I'd be right now if I wasn't enrolled in Army ROTC, but I don't know for sure... I wouldn't be here.

Thousands Flee Caribbean Island Seeking Refuge On Nearby Islands

By Karen Thomas

World Editor

Recent eruptions of the Soufriere Hills volcano on Montserrat have caused thousands to evacuate their homes. The British territory is located in the northeast Caribbean Sea, north of Puerto Rico.

The volcano, which is one of the most active in the world, has been erupting since 1995. The latest eruption began on July 1997, and has caused widespread destruction.

According to theMontserrat Emergency Management Authority, more than 10,000 people have been evacuated from their homes. The British government has set up an emergency response plan, and has provided financial assistance to those affected.

The eruption has forced many to leave their homes, and seek refuge on nearby islands. The British government has offered financial assistance to those affected, and has worked with other countries in the region to provide relief.

The United Nations has also been providing assistance, and has set up an emergency response plan.

Despite the challenges, the response to the disaster has been hailed as effective. The British government has been praised for its quick response, and for working closely with other countries in the region.

The eruption has also raised concerns about coastal erosion and sea-level rise, which could have long-term impacts on the region.

In the 1960s, the Black community collectively emerged as a force to be reckoned with. The Civil Rights Movement was the culmination of the organized, nonviolent struggle against America's racial oppression. It was then that Black America began to emerge as a distinct group, separate from the larger society.

Before the Civil Rights Movement, class lines were once again dynamic, now arc filled with lethargic old-school leaders who were once dynamic. Now they forget how this changing America will affect the lives of Black people. Bet you didn't know that you had new parents. Bet you didn't know that you were just a child, but you're not anymore. You're a full-fledged adult now. You can make your own decisions now.

Aging is a fact of life. It happens to everyone, and as we grow older, we tend to become more conservative in our fashion choices. However, that doesn't mean we can't look great while doing so. This season, designers have created a variety of clothing options that cater to all ages.

One trend that has been gaining popularity is the preppy look. This style is characterized by classic pieces such as button-down shirts, cardigans, and loafers. These items are versatile and can be dressed up or down depending on the occasion. Another popular trend this season is the return of velvet. This luxurious fabric is perfect for adding a touch of elegance to any outfit. Whether you choose a velvet dress or a velvet jacket, you'll look stylish and sophisticated.

Men's fashion this season is all about comfort and style. Many designers have created clothing options that are both fashionable and comfortable. One popular trend is the oversized sweater. These sweaters are not only trendy but also provide extra warmth during the colder months. Another trend that has been gaining popularity is the use of bold colors. This season, designers have used a variety of bright colors to create eye-catching outfits. Whether you choose a red dress or a blue suit, you'll be sure to stand out in a crowd.

In conclusion, this season's fashion trends are all about comfort and style. Whether you choose a preppy look, a velvet dress, or an oversized sweater, you can be sure that you'll look great and feel comfortable. So why not try something new this season and see how you can incorporate these trends into your wardrobe?

The family's survival is assured through the support of their friends and neighbors. The novel is set during the Great Depression and follows the lives of thousands in the long run.

"Good Burger" is a film of high energy and style with an all-star cast. Featuring superstars such as "We Trying 10 Succeed," "We Made For Woman," and "Pain," McDowell and Tucker are a match made in heaven.
