1-21-2005

The Hilltop 1-21-2005

Hilltop Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010

Recommended Citation
https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010/208

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Hilltop Digital Archive at Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Hilltop: 2000 - 2010 by an authorized administrator of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact lopez.matthews@howard.edu.
WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER

WEATHER
A Moment in Howard's History: Protests During '60s

BY TOOMT N. HALL
Contributing Writer

The protests and demonstrations of the late 1960s that occurred on Howard University's campus captured the social and political unrest of that time. Howard students would hold sit-ins, arrange political and economic protests to get their voices heard.

Throughout the decade, the university saw a dramatic shift in student life as the Vietnam War and the civil rights movement became more prominent.

In the spring of 1975, the campus was the site of a protest by the All American College Roundtable, which occupied the administration building in an attempt to bring attention to student demands.

The students of the 60s were grappling with issues thrust upon them within their society. Some were very familiar with the protest movement started by the students of the late 60s.

The protests of the late 60s were not without controversy, but they were a necessary step in the evolution of the university.

As the sun rose on some seniors, they were becoming apprehensive about life after Howard, while others felt ready to enter the real world.

Senioritis Catching Up With Some Students

BY COURTNEY MAYPE
Contributing Writer

Senioritis is a common condition among students in their last year of undergraduate study. It can include the unease of leaving an intimate, understanding and nurturing community, and the realization that college is a reality that just isn’t in the near-distance.

Graduating seniors, like those at Howard, often feel a sense of relief knowing that their college career is coming to an end. However, some students may feel a sense of sadness or anxiety when they think about the transition to life after college.
WHY PAY RENT WHEN YOU CAN OWN YOUR OWN HOME?

Attend this seminar and learn
- the role that credit plays in building wealth
- steps to buying a home
- benefits for first-time homebuyers

Eligible students will receive a $1,000 grant towards down payment and closing costs!

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS IT!

Register online NOW at www.cbcfinc.org

Congressional Black Caucus Foundation, Inc. (CBCF) Student Homeownership Opportunity Program
web: www.cbcfinc.org • Email: sgriffin@cbcfinc.org

January 25, 2005
School of Business Auditorium
7:00 pm

Sponsored by The Division of Student Affairs
&
The Howard University Student Association
Advancing HIV Prevention at Howard University

BY SHEALEM THOMPSON  Contributing Writer

The Student Health Center was awarded the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s Development grant for more than $200,000 to implement a Student Health HIV testing program on campus.

"The ultimate objective of this program is to identify new infections and get them into comprehensive health care and prevention counseling as well as provide them with medical help," said associate Director of the Student Health Center Dr. Lynette Mundey.

Before actual testing begins, the Student Health Center will host student focus groups where students will provide their input into the testing program. Mundey said, "We are still in the planning stage of creating the test program." Mundey stressed that the focus groups are very necessary since they will allow us to know how to market this project giving us ideas such as where and how we should set up the testing area around campus," Project Manager Ada Babinet said. Babinet is also hoping that the visible testing center will help students feel more comfortable to talk about the disease and thereby encourage them to get tested. "We hope to dispel the stigma attached to AIDS so that everyone can understand that they are all at risk and it is very important that this message gets out and that the people understand the urgency of getting tested," Babinet said.

While many student groups are aware of HIV/AIDS, some believe it would be beneficial to the campus as a whole. "Other student health groups may be a good idea since you are provided more options," said Alicia Cooper, a freshman international business major. "This disease is terrible and we should do everything to ensure that it is prevented and controlled.

Other studies find that making testing more accessible is an important step in declining "haves." "Making that type of resource available to people who want to do it and I think that they would get a great response since the Health Center is in an inconvenient location," said man Jason fresh Yearwood.

In addition to the student focus groups, the Student Health Center is also planning events to make the topic of sexual health as prominent on campus as possible, such as a forum on Valentine’s Day called Sex Matters where students can openly discuss relationship and sexual issues. Health Center administration want to ensure that students are knowledgeable about this deadly disease.

Dr. Mundey thinks that although the Health Center is working to educate students, there still needs to be more testing. "I think it is very important that the leadership at Howard get involved because it is the sororities, fraternities and athletics teams that we need to get them to follow." Mundey said.

The focus groups are tentatively set to begin the week of Feb. 17 and encourage ideas for testing locations in time to begin testing on National Black HIV/AIDS Awareness and Information Day Feb. 17. The Student Health Center is hoping to make good use of testing 2,500 students by the end of the school year.

FRESHERN SPEAK:
What did you do for your first Howard snow experience?

"I loved the snow. It kind of sparkled. But I didn't play in it. I just watched it fall from my bedroom window." -Xavier Jones, biology

"I was in class the entire time it was snowing. By the time I got out, it had stopped, so I was a little disappointed. I did save me from a Spanish quiz though." -Ashley Treut, chemistry

"I was iced in class the entire time it was snowing. By the time I got out, it had stopped, so I was a little disappointed. I did save me from a Spanish quiz though." -Ashley Treut, chemistry

"The snow was so fun. My friend and I liked the way it felt under our feet, so we walked on the fresh snow." -Jazmine Reed, nursing

"Oh, I was sick when it snowed, so I didn't want to go outside. Plus, I grew up around snow, so it wasn't new to me like everybody else." -Wynell Wilson, jazz studies

"I was sick when it snowed, so I wasn't tempted to go outside. Plus, I grew up around snow, so it wasn't new to me like everybody else." -Wynell Wilson, jazz studies

"I hate snow. It's wet and cold." -Deirdre Waters, biology

"I hate snow. It's wet and cold." -Deirdre Waters, biology

"Well, I'm used to the snow, but being here gave me the chance to rediscover my inner-child because I got to play in the snow with people who had never seen it before." -Brittany Williams, theater arts

"My floor and I went out at almost midnight to have a snow fight in the Quad's courtyard. Then we joined some people in the valley for a boys vs. girls snowball fight. It was really fun." -Cynthia Gardner, nursing

"I was sick when it snowed, so I wasn't tempted to go outside. Plus, I grew up around snow, so it wasn't new to me like everybody else." -Deirdre Waters, biology

"I was sick when it snowed, so I didn't want to go outside. Plus, I grew up around snow, so it wasn't new to me like everybody else." -Deirdre Waters, biology

"First, I called my mom and told her I was walking in the snow, so I bought a step in all the fresh spots. I wanted the snow to just fall in my hair so I could shake it out, but I didn't want my hair to freeze." -Jackie Bunnel, nursing

Word Cypher Creates Big Crowd

Ornai Davenport does what he does best, freezing, at the SUNTRIBE Showcase Tuesday in Bleckorn. The rapping word cypher was the no other; it included artists such as Q Booqie, Messiah, J Black, Shaq-C, and many others.

Bison Briefs

This Week’s Chapel Speaker: Sermon Towner. Rev. Dr. Cynthia H. White, from Georgia’s Roy of Hope Christian Church, will be delivering the service for chapel Sunday. The Rev. began 27 years ago with four people meeting for Bible Study. It has grown to a congregation of about 350 members. Rev. White originally from Roanoke, Va. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Hollins College in Virginia. She then received a Masters of Divinity degree from Duke University, and a Doctorate of Ministry from United Theological Seminary. She also holds three honorary Doctorate degrees.

90 Years old and still serving.

The Mountaime Spraggins Research Center is celebrating its 90th anniversary this year. It is found in Founders Library and holds numerous bound volumes, journals, manuscripts, maps, and a variety of music and photography. Treasured items such as the 1867 Howard Board of Trustees minutes and a letter by Langston Hughes can be found in this historical building. MSRC is a research center that holds much information for African-Americans.

Be One Of The Lucky 1550.

Acceptance of students’ advanced placement of English-language for the Fall 2005 semester will begin Monday, Jan. 24, 2005. Only the first 1550 people accepted will be guaranteed housing for next semester. After that, placement will be accepted, but the students will then be put on a waiting list. The placement packet should be sent to the City College Admissions Building beginning at 8 a.m.
PLEASE BE ADVISED THAT STUDENTS SEEKING HOUSING FOR FALL 2005 A $200 ADVANCED RENT PAYMENT IS DUE PRIOR TO PARTICIPATING IN THE ONLINE HOUSING SELECTION. CHECK YOUR MAILBOX ON JANUARY 18, 2005 FOR RSVP INFORMATION PACKETS.

YOUR PAYMENT MUST BE RECEIVED BEFORE YOU CAN PARTICIPATE IN THE RSVP.

THE CASHIER WILL BEGIN ACCEPTING PAYMENTS JANUARY 24, 2005.

Students who do not have housing assignments prior to the end of this academic year should seek off campus housing.

Students may inquire regarding availability for fall campus housing after the first week of classes August 2005.

$200 ADVANCED RENT PAYMENT Begins January 24, 2005
World Urged to cancel Africa’s Debt

BY KEVIN HARRIS

Gordon Brown, the treasury chief for Great Britain, says wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

In a move to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders, Brown proposed last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Gordon Brown, the Treasury Chief for Great Britain, says wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown said the move was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown’s call for the wealthy nations to pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown said the move was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown’s call for the wealthy nations to pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown said the move was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown’s call for the wealthy nations to pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown said the move was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown’s call for the wealthy nations to pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown said the move was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown’s call for the wealthy nations to pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.

Brown announced last week that wealthy nations should pay more attention to Africa and other poor countries.

Brown said the move was to show his country’s commitment to the “G8” and other leaders.
FDA Reconsidering the Ruling of Plan B Without a Prescriptionscandal

BY SHANNON RUSSELL

The government is con sidering reversing a 1999 regulatory decision made by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), which makes abortion pills available only after a doctor's prescription. The impeding federal initiative could save the FDA millions in terms of drug testing and review. The decision would reverse a previous decision that required women to get a prescription to buy abortion pills. Women from New York to Florida protested the halted rollout of Plan B, which contains a non-steroidal hormone to prevent a pregnancy from occurring.

The final decision will be made by Steven Galson, the new FDA commissioner, who is on his second day in the post. The ruling is expected to be announced within the next month.

Supreme Court Justice Rehnquist Called to Resign

BY DANIELLE HADAWAY

We have all heard of the saying “spare the rod and spoil the child.” Well, this old adage has been reappropriated by some par ents to mean “spare the homosexual and spoil the child” as many parents say, using this very legalistic phrase to describe their children and family.

Some parents have come forward to warn parents about the dangers of exposing a child to the same sex or to gay individuals. The parents believe that exposure may cause a child’s behavior or sexual orientation to change. This belief is the source of the parental resistance against gay adoption. The parents believe that exposure to gay individuals is the source of the development of a gay or bisexual orientation.

Supporters of gay adoption and those who believe that children are not negatively impacted by the presence of gay individuals call this a form of prejudice. The controversy continues as the debate over gay adoption will likely continue to rage. The debate is likely to continue until a decision is made by the Supreme Court, which will likely rule in favor of gay adoption.

We have all heard of the saying “spare the rod and spoil the child.” Well, this old adage has been reappropriated by some parents as “spare the homosexual and spoil the child” as many parents say, using this very legalistic phrase to describe their children and family.

Some parents have come forward to warn parents about the dangers of exposing a child to the same sex or to gay individuals. The parents believe that exposure may cause a child’s behavior or sexual orientation to change. This belief is the source of the parental resistance against gay adoption. The parents believe that exposure to gay individuals is the source of the development of a gay or bisexual orientation.

Supporters of gay adoption and those who believe that children are not negatively impacted by the presence of gay individuals call this a form of prejudice. The controversy continues as the debate over gay adoption will likely continue to rage. The debate is likely to continue until a decision is made by the Supreme Court, which will likely rule in favor of gay adoption.
monday.
tuesday.
wednesday.
thursday.
friday.

The Hilltop
Goes Daily.

February 28th, 2005
Students Express Their Concerns

SWERTZ, from Campus A1 expressed concerns about the lack of economics on campus. Dental students were concerned with the lack of class for third and fourth year students, and students were frustrated by the lack of new library. Health students were concerned with the lack of health science library due to construction. Swertz promised to look into all those concerns and hope to rectify the situation but students need better accommodations.

President Bush signed a new bill authorizing $80 billion for peacekeeping. "We are your peers, we came like a single hand over a dising major William White, our nation when freedom came allowed by the traditional inaugur-immaculate type [of] process to Vizion Offers Dance Workshops

Vizion, from Campus A2
Some students have been asking why there are not more service projects on campus. The Vizion Performance Group organized a basketball game with some Howard students to raise money for the campus. The game was successful and the students were happy with the result.

Students Remain Skeptical

TERM, from Campus A1
more black people are finding it harder to purchase the things they used to think of as "need." Johnson said, "Consumers are really going to pay attention to the whole idea of what makes sense to them and the Bush administration is looking at the administration. The Bush increased the funding for historically black colleges and universities by 30 percent, and he has spent more money on the war than the last three years that former presidents did in eight years. More than 80,000 low-income students lost Pell grant eligibility, and many Howard students will not be able to continue their financial aid. According to the College Board, 70 percent of the students have increased 35 percent since Bush took office. Additionally, by the end of 2014, more than 250,000 African-Americans in the rural urban school districts continued to experience the effects of the Great Depression in 1985 and the crisis, which damaged more than 60 percent to the elderly for aぶりに吃驚することです。
THE VELVET ROPE
A NOVEL

BRENDA L. THOMAS
signs/discusses
"THE VELVET ROPE"
January 27, 2004, 12:30 - 2:00 p.m.

Life is a party...

When Tiffany Johnson, a street-smart publicist at Platinum Images, decides to launch Teaz Entertainment and open a club, she's setting out to be the Queen of Philly nightlife. Keeping it in the family, she partners up 'with her fiancé', Malik, and her sister, Kamille, and counts on her friend DJ Essence to bring the noise. Investors seem to be lining up and the buzz is gettin' loud...

Be careful who you invite.

Author, Brenda Thomas:
Ms. Thomas is a Philadelphia based marketing professional and sought after commentator on what really goes on behind the scenes in the world of basketball. With titles, Tennessee and Philadelphia to her credit, Ms. Thomas' previous experience includes work as personal assistant to NBA All-Star Stephen X. Marbury and marketing for the basketball Permex & Sportswear company AND 1.

The industries newest stars have arrived!

INDEPENDENT
AUTHOR'S SERIES
JANUARY 27, 2005 4:30 - 6:30 P.M.

Howard University Bookstore
225 Georgia Avenue, Washington, D.C., 20059

202.288.2460
shop.lhbookstore.com
Four Big Teams, One Big Weekend
CHAMPIONSHIP SUNDAY

The Steelers got all they could handle from the New York Giants in the Divisional round last Sunday. With two chances to win in regulation, place kicker Doug Brien failed to make a game-winning field goal from 47 yards with 1:38 remaining and from 43 yards at the end of regulation.

Now, Pittsburgh faces its old nemesis, the New England Patriots. A team they faced in the same position four years ago in the AFC title game and lost to three years ago. The win over the Steelers propelled the Patriots to their first Super Bowl victory.

However, in their first match-up of the season on Halloween, the Steelers defeated the Patriots 34-20, ending the Patriots season breaking 23-game winning streak. A major reason for the victory by the Steelers was their ability to run the football and the Pittsburgh players inability to stop the clock.

The Steelers rushed for 207 yards on 4 tries, while the Pats, who were without running back Corey Dillon, because of a thigh injury, gained five yards on six carries.

Since that loss, the Pats won seven of their last eight games to close the season, finishing 12-2 and earning a first-round bye. Despite losing without Law and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, the Patriots came back with care of business last week against the Indianapolis Colts, defending their 28-3 at home. They held the high scoring offense of the Colts to a field goal and held quarterback Peyton Manning without a touch down pass.

For Howard Ballard, the Steelers have an excellent chance to dethrone the defending Super Bowl champion Patriots if Ben Roethlisberger can become back to a year performance last fall.

"The Steelers have a few more weapons than the Patriots, but we have a lot of talent on both sides of the ball. They need to handle against the New York Jets in their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerback Tyrone Poole, and their other starting cornerb"
B2 SPORTS
THE HILLTOP
JANUARY 21, 2005

Lady Bison Set to Face 2-10 Lady Spartans
BY COURTNEY EILAND

The Lady Bison, now in its conference play and 6-9 overall, are looking to bounce back after their last loss in the MEAC against the North Carolina A&T University Lady Aggies. On Monday evening, the Lady
Bison were defeated 82-74 by the Tar-Heel Aggies. The team entered the matchup ranked 74 in sales.

The Lady Spartans have struggled this season, finishing in the back half of the MEAC. In their last game, they lost to Howard University 88-76. Schwartz, director of marketing for the Lady Spartans, said, “It’s one of the best selling jerseys in the height of the rape scandal.”

The Lady Spartans are led by 5-foot-6-inch guard Tisha Johnson, who averages 13.5 points per game, along with 3.9 assists and 3.3 steals. She also added five assists and five points including three-pointers making her a serious threat beyond the arc.

In addition to their defensive package, the Lady Spartans are ranked 74 in sales.
That was Then...

- monday.
tuesday.
-wednesday.
-thursday.
friday.

Beginning 2.28.05...

monday.
tuesday.
wednesday.
thursday.
friday.

The Hilltop Goes Daily.
BY BRITTANY JOHNSON

Hilltop Staff Writer

As the midseason of TV programming begins, many must-see TV shows will return to viewers' screens. Some shows have become regular favorites, and others are fairly new. All shows have their own unique qualities that distinguish them from one another. In addition, reality TV shows are becoming more popular among all demographics, each seeking unique must-see TV. The show's ratings bring them hour-long dramas such as Missy Elliott’s “Road to Fans,” Sports Illustrated Swimsuit Model Competition,” “Bat Outta,” and “Growing Up Gotti.”

BY CHARLES WASHINGTON

As the midseason of TV programming begins, many must-see TV shows will return to viewers' screens. Some shows have become regular favorites, and others are fairly new. All shows have their own unique qualities that distinguish them from one another. In addition, reality TV shows are becoming more popular among all demographics, each seeking unique must-see TV. The show's ratings bring them hour-long dramas such as Missy Elliott’s “Road to Fans,” Sports Illustrated Swimsuit Model Competition,” “Bat Outta,” and “Growing Up Gotti.”

CREDIT: Don't Charge It to The Game

With this increase in the loan market and a decrease in the buying power of the FDL Grant, the last thing students need are more bills. Unfortunately, many students fall into the trap of excessive credit card spending and carry an average of five credit cards, and total $8,000 in summer debt.

Credt companies knowingly target college students because they are old enough to work but too young to be able to make prudent financial decisions. Many students prefer debit cards to credit cards, because they allow you to spend within your means, provide records of purchases and are more secure than cash, which can be easily stolen.

Debit cards are a safer alternative," said Liddie. "They spend the credit, but you don't have to worry about not being able to pay off the bill if you go on a spending spree.

Many students prefer debit cards to credit cards, because they allow you to spend within your means, provide records of purchases and are more secure than cash, which can be easily stolen.

Credt companies knowingly target college students because they are old enough to work but too young to be able to make prudent financial decisions. Many students prefer debit cards to credit cards, because they allow you to spend within your means, provide records of purchases and are more secure than cash, which can be easily stolen.

Debit cards are a safer alternative," said Liddie. "They spend the credit, but you don't have to worry about not being able to pay off the bill if you go on a spending spree.

Many students prefer debit cards to credit cards, because they allow you to spend within your means, provide records of purchases and are more secure than cash, which can be easily stolen.

Credt companies knowingly target college students because they are old enough to work but too young to be able to make prudent financial decisions. Many students prefer debit cards to credit cards, because they allow you to spend within your means, provide records of purchases and are more secure than cash, which can be easily stolen.

Debit cards are a safer alternative," said Liddie. "They spend the credit, but you don't have to worry about not being able to pay off the bill if you go on a spending spree.

Many students prefer debit cards to credit cards, because they allow you to spend within your means, provide records of purchases and are more secure than cash, which can be easily stolen.
Health Briefs

FIA Deliberates Over the Counter Morning After Pill

Debate rages as the Food and Drug Administration decides whether or not to institute the sale of emergency contraception. Plan B, known as the morning-after pill, Women’s advocacy groups say should be able to purchase the pill over the counter without prescription, anytime, especially over the weekend when a prescription may be difficult to obtain.

Although the pill is not very effective, the idea is that it helps. Plan B, when taken within 72 hours, can reduce the risk of pregnancy by 89%. The high dose of hormones in Plan B prevents fertilized eggs from being implanted into the uterus. If an egg is already implanted it has no effect, but enhances the chance of pregnancy.

New Software Assists Doctors in Determining Illnesses

New VisualDX Software contains over a million pictures of various symptoms, used to assist doctors in patient diagnosis. As a replacement to old physical catalogs with similar pictures and descriptive descriptions, the VisualDX system narrows down the possibilities.The visual diagnostic system gives physicians a visual image of how an illness can present and allows physicians to compare and contrast images to avoid multiple misdiagnoses. The computer’s standardized process can speed up the research process and can result in earlier and more effective treatment within 72 hours.

To Much Water a Bad Thing?

The world moves fast and it would probably pass by the drop of water before you

New Food for Thought: Eating Healthy

The government issued new dietary guidelines earlier this month, advising more Americans to slash the number of calories to prevent obesity. Secretary of Health and Human Services Kathleen Sebelius said that popularity shows an increasing need for consistent and coherent information to help Americans to eat better and watch their weight. "We need is significant investment in programs and changes in policy that help Americans to eat better and watch their weight," Sebelius said.

The guidelines offer American selection goals for controlling weight, salt and fat, and for the first time, health emphasis on exercise. The government is hoping the new guidelines will help to reduce muscle spasms, causes swelling in the brain, and is critical to patients with brain injuries. The human body knows when it is thirsty, and only then are fluids given. For exercise, researchers are reexamining the role of low and sugar in the brain, especially in the light of athletes, as drinking tea produces changes similar to abnormally low levels of exercise (for four or more hours) and is rest in numerous marathon runners. The guidelines also put a strong emphasis on exercise. The report suggests eating five to six servings of fruits and vegetables daily. Also mentioned in the guidelines was the warning against eating too much sugar. "Eating too much sugar is a serious cause of obesity and other things like that, in children particularly, is a big problem," Sebelius said.

Recipe of The Week

Chicken & Apple Stir-Fry

4 dried mushrooms (such as shitake or wood ear mushrooms)
1/2 cup cold water
1 tablespoon frozen orange, apple, or pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon ground red pepper
1/4 cup sliced or slivered almonds
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
2 medium green, red, orange, and/or yellow bell peppers, cut into strips
2 medium apples, thinly sliced
Hot cooked long grain or brown rice

1. In a small bowl cover mushrooms with warm water. Let soak for 30 minutes. Rinse and squeeze the mushrooms to drain thoroughly.

3. For sauce, in a small bowl cover mushrooms with warm water. Let soak for 30 minutes. Rinse and squeeze the mushrooms to drain thoroughly.

4. Preheat a wok or large skillet over medium-high heat. Add almonds; stir-fry for 2 to 3 minutes or until golden. Remove almonds from wok. Let cool slightly.

5. Add chicken to wok; stir-fry for 6 to 8 minutes or until tender and no longer pink. Push chicken to one side of wok.

6. Add peppers and onions to wok. Stir-fry for 2 to 3 minutes or until tender and no longer pink. Push peppers to one side of wok.

7. Stir in toasted almonds. Serve immediately with hot cooked rice.

Makes 4 servings.

Recipe of The Week

Chicken & Apple Stir-Fry

4 dried mushrooms (such as shitake or wood ear mushrooms)
1/2 cup cold water
1 tablespoon frozen orange, apple, or pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon ground red pepper
1/4 cup sliced or slivered almonds
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
2 medium green, red, orange, and/or yellow bell peppers, cut into strips
2 medium apples, thinly sliced
Hot cooked long grain or brown rice

1. In a small bowl cover mushrooms with warm water. Let soak for 30 minutes. Rinse and squeeze the mushrooms to drain thoroughly.

3. For sauce, in a small bowl cover mushrooms with warm water. Let soak for 30 minutes. Rinse and squeeze the mushrooms to drain thoroughly.

4. Preheat a wok or large skillet over medium-high heat. Add almonds; stir-fry for 2 to 3 minutes or until golden. Remove almonds from wok. Let cool slightly.

5. Add chicken to wok; stir-fry for 6 to 8 minutes or until tender and no longer pink. Push chicken to one side of wok.

6. Add peppers and onions to wok. Stir-fry for 2 to 3 minutes or until tender and no longer pink. Push peppers to one side of wok.

7. Stir in toasted almonds. Serve immediately with hot cooked rice.

Makes 4 servings.

Dried mushrooms (such as shitake or wood ear mushrooms)
1/2 cup cold water
1 tablespoon frozen orange, apple, or pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon ground red pepper
1/4 cup sliced or slivered almonds
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
2 medium green, red, orange, and/or yellow bell peppers, cut into strips
2 medium apples, thinly sliced
Hot cooked long grain or brown rice
"EVEN MY GRANDMA READS THE HILLTOP..."
Want to write for the HILLTOP?

Come grab a story at the budget meeting on Tuesday @ 7:00 PM

The Graduate and Undergraduate Trustees Present...

"TRUSTEE RECEPTION"

Friday, January 21, 2005

Gallery Lounge

2-4pm

Come out and meet the Board of Trustees
We Keep Losing Our Black Media to Mainstream

Our View:
Black CEOs must maintain ownership so our media can help our community.

We're not saying BET is horrible, but we wonder how different it could have been if Bob Johnson wasn't a white, middle-class billionaire. We have felt disappointed with the programming, and we are skeptical about the company's role within the industry. It seems like they are more interested in making money than creating content that represents our culture.

As a result, we believe it's crucial for Black CEOs to maintain ownership of our media outlets. Without this control, we risk losing our voice and our ability to shape the conversation around issues that matter to our community. Let's stand up for our media, support those who own it, and fight for a future where Black perspectives are valued and celebrated.

The Search for WMDs Ends

Our View:
To this intense search all along, wasn't even addressed in an article in The Hilltop. We have to take a look back to the mix-up on faulty intelligence and judgment of a father who lost his child. If he could just be man enough to apologize. The damage is done.

We're not saying BET is horrible, but we wonder how different it could have been if Bob Johnson wasn't a white, middle-class billionaire.

Remember the days where you and your life. We just feel we owe the future. We just feel we owe the future. We just feel we owe the future. We just feel we owe the future.
Using Homeland Security Funds for Inauguration is No Reason for Alarm

VINCENT SHERRY

Using Homeland Security funds for inaugural safety is valid. The money could only have been expended for national security purposes anyway. Incurring presidential and national security at a public event that is one of national significance, especially since Washington's (especially Robert Kennedy's) public safety and security budget already takes into account regional sensitivity spawned by its relations to the federal government. This proximity also provides sufficient reason to believe that should an unlikely security conflict occur, Washington would be able to respond.

Additionally, since the funding was provided for inaugurations, The Hill would need to demonstrate Washington’s harm by alleging inaccuracy relative to the rest of the nation directly as a result of it. There is a reason why D.C. is better funded than Philadelphia or Mississippi.

Moreover, most of the D.C. students think no security funds were not appropriated. The money could not have been expended for inauguration because its security funds were not exactly raised solely through their own taxes. Homeland Security funds should not be judged by the nation's total budget of the national welfare, despite where they are ultimately raised. Additionally, the national assertion is further flawed because Washington is the president's formal home, replete with democratic emblems. No location would be as appropriate.

But, more importantly, this argument is misguided that because D.C. appropriations would be used indirectly to alter (or demonstrate) the nation’s security, we are kinder spirits, but we must consider all presidents equal concerning issues like inaugurations.

'PIECES OF YOU'

Words of the week:

By Bryan I. White

January 21, 2005

When I graduated from high school, I manage about four or five good hours of rest per night. The dorms are full of people on all different schedules, but no one wants to wake up at 6 a.m. or 10 a.m. on Sunday because someone else thought it would be funny to bang on people’s doors and throw water on them. That’s not only rude, it’s just plain immature.

Also, I notice that Howard girls are known for their attitudes, but that doesn’t mean they can’t say a simple “Thank You” when the occasion calls for it. Like last week, when I was walking into Douglass Hall, a nice brother held the door for me and four other girls. I was the only one who said thank you! Come on people, it’s called common courtesy.

Additionally, I believe that Black people are known for their attitudes, but that doesn’t mean they can’t say a simple “Thank You” when the occasion calls for it.

Check the Attitudes Howard

TARA KESSE

I bet if you look around, you’ll see hundreds of examples like the one I just mentioned. It’s really getting to be a problem.

How did we get to a point where people cut in front of each other and don’t excuse themselves or just leave messes for other people to clean up? One person smells us better than that. I’m not saying people should be completely self-sacrificing in an attempt to put others above themselves. I’m just saying that it would be better for everyone if people thought a little more about others on this campus.

I’ve Found Joy in Your Article

SHERILY THOMAS

I thoroughly enjoyed the letter written by Rahman L. Irvin, “I’ve Found The Joy Of Life.” My hope is that his fellow class­ tmates take the time to really ingest what it is he is saying.

This time in their lives is unique and to be enjoyed. After graduating college five years ago, I now realize that although I put all the parties and click it to us.

The Hilltop wants to read what you have to say. Submit your 500 word perspective at www.thehilltoponline.com.

Want to contribute a poem to the “Pieces Of You” Section of Friday’s paper? Don’t be shy! Send your poems to maiyanorton@yahoo.com

PERSPECTIVES 89
All Hilltops are due, paid in full, the Tuesday and Friday before publication date.

Announcements by campus organizations for meetings, seminars or nonprofit are charged $5 for the first 20 words and $1 for every additional five words.

Individuals advertising for the purpose of announcing a service, buying or selling, are charged at local companies with a rate of $10 for first 20 words and $2 for every 5 words thereafter.

campus organizations for meetings, seminars or nonprofit are charged $5 for the first 20 words and $1 for every additional five words.

Individuals advertising for the purpose of announcing a service, buying or selling, are charged at local companies with a rate of $10 for first 20 words and $2 for every 5 words thereafter.

Announcements

Campus Events:

Delta Gamma Photo Society

The Official Kick off Party of College Fridays

@ CLUB 1919

1919 9th St, NW (behind 1919)

Friday 21st Jan, 2005

Doors open @ 10pm

16 to enter 21 to drink

Ladies free 6-11 pm

Discount with college ID

featuring DJ Club

Spinning Hip Hop, RnB, Reggae, Soca, Dirty South

Student Basketball Tickets for January 22nd and 24th (Hampton) games distributed today in lower Blackburn level from 10am to 6pm.

ATTENTION:

It's once again time for the Student Ambassador Interest Meeting

Wednesday, January 26th at 5:30 pm

Blackburn Center

Room 148-150

Words from the EIC....

This week was very exciting. All of our new staff is ship­ping up and working very hard. We all need to take some old fire off and Robinson to keep away the cold. I am not trying to get sick.

Shout Outs

Patrick-Very, VERY good pictures this week. Don’t worry we will get your name right.

Christine, Lauren and Kelly-Way to step up campus! I am really impressed.

Alpha-The engineers are much faster now. Past, where Y’All used to be smell of school more often, excellent issues.

Elena-Get better soon.

Kevin-You are my pride and joy. Thank you for coming through in some tight crunches. I really appreciate it.

Hilltop Daily-2-28-05

Jason Winans

Earl Thomas

FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 2005

10th-2-28-05

DAR - CONSTITUTION HALL

18th St, NW. Washington, D.C.

93.9

Reston Limousine

Urban Groove

BAD BOY ENTERTAINMENT

FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 2005

8 pm

THE HILLTOP

JANUARY 21, 2005

YAA’S African Hair Braiding

Specializing in:

Individual Braids, Kinky Twist Yarn Braids, Human Hair & More.

907 Euclid St., NW Washington, DC 20001 202-387-4810

Tosin’s Ice-skating mixer!

"THE ICE MIXER AT THE GARDEN!

National Sculpture Garden

7th & Constitution Ave./Arlington Metro Station

Sat, Jan 22nd

6pm-9pm

RSVP 518-232-2309

Happy Belated Birthday Yvonne C.

The party was off the chart!

How does it feel to be 21?

-Chris W.