OSSIE DAVIS

December 18, 1917- February 4, 2005

A True Howard Legend

BY AYESHA RASCOE

The Howard University community suffered a great loss when Ossie Davis, celebrated actor, director, and producer, passed away on February 4.

Davis was born in Cogdell, Ga., on Dec. 18, 1917. After attending Howard University, he went on to become a prominent figure in the entertainment industry, acting in numerous plays and films.

Davis' legacy extended beyond his acting career. He was a writer, producer, and director who was devoted to the students at Howard. He was a kind person who was always willing to give back to his alma mater.

Many members of the Howard family are still coping with the news of his death, especially since as a visiting professor for the university's School of Communication, Davis remained a vibrant part of campus life.

He was born in Cogdell, Ga., on Dec. 18, 1917. After attending Howard University, he went on to become a prominent figure in the entertainment industry, acting in numerous plays and films.

Davis' legacy extended beyond his acting career. He was a writer, producer, and director who was devoted to the students at Howard. He was a kind person who was always willing to give back to his alma mater.

Many members of the Howard family are still coping with the news of his death, especially since as a visiting professor for the university's School of Communication, Davis remained a vibrant part of campus life.

He was a great example as has fallen," said Lindsey Niles, director of the Annenberg program. "Ossie Davis was an inspiration to everyone who was around him. He was always so kind and approachable during his visits to the university.

Vincent S. Williams, professor for the university's School of Communication, said he was saddened by the loss. He had the chance to hear Davis speak when he visited the campus, and he said it was an unforgettable experience. He did not come with an entourage, just his grandchildren, he remembered Davis as a gentle, kind soul who genuinely cared for the students.

"He was a great activist and a really great teacher," Williams said. "He was always teaching us things about life and how to handle things. He was a very wise man."
Pre-Law Forum Teaches Students How to Stand Out

BY ADAM WYNN

A "Forums on Howard" event aimed at "putting the final touches on" the Howard University School of Law, there were opportunities for every one position available at HLS.

But today that number has more than tripled among students interested in the Howard Pre-Law School at Howard University School of Law. But on Feb. 3, students made the first steps to get ahead of the competition by attending the First Annual Pre-Law Forum.

The forum, sponsored by the School of Communications Student Council, was held in the Reading Lounge of the School of Communications.

"We saw that when the School of Communications had its job fair earlier this year, there was nothing for pre-law students," said Lita T. Rosario, executive director of the Student Council.

"The forum is a way to get students interested in the pre-law field, and to give them an idea of what it means to be pre-law," Rosario added.

Daviel said that students should make a decision in their sophomore year to attend college and the extracurricular activities that enhance their applications.

"It's important to get experience in your particular field of law," said Dina H. Wurton, director of the School of Communications.

"We hope that the forum will be the first step in the process for students who are interested in the pre-law field," Wurton said.

New Ministry Hopes to Spread Harmony From Sister to Sister

BY KIRSTEN ALSTON-MURRAY

Sis2Sis is a new campus ministry founded by Carla Brailey, a graduate assistant at Rankin Chapel, to increase unity among women at Howard University. Sis2Sis will begin holding meetings at the end of February for all women interested in participating.

"We can be our worst critics" Brailey said.

"We need to help each other, and to help others," Brailey added. "We need to set an example of what sisterhood is all about.

With Women's Month approaching in March, Sis2Sis will begin holding meetings to increase sisterhood among all women. As a new organization, the founders of Sis2Sis are working to set the tone of the organization.

"Sis2Sis will empower Howard women's spirituality, politically, psychologically, and socially with an array of programs that will strengthen their ability to live as virtuous and courageous women of God," Brailey said.

"Sis2Sis will focus on the needs of women, not only on this campus but also at other campuses," Brailey said.

"The forum is intended to set the tone of the organization," Brailey said. "We hope that students will gain knowledge about their particular field of law and how they can contribute to it.

"We want it to be toward any major, but towards careers in law," said Andrea Martin, a junior administration of justice major.

"I think that the forum will help students get ahead of the competition," Martin said. "We need to get ahead of the competition to get accepted into law school.

"We want to give students the opportunity to get experience in their particular field of law," Martin said. "We need to get ahead of the competition to get accepted into law school.

Students Plan Seminar To Assess Political Future

BY KIRSTEN RED

Almost three months have passed since Iraqis were bombarded with the urgent need to "Vote or Die," "Choose or Lose" and be a part of the "21st Century." Now that the voting mania has died down there are some students who are more interested in politics.

"I am glad I voted and I see the importance of voting," said Andrea Martin, a junior administration of justice major.

As a freshman entering a sophomore legal communications course, Martin said she would also like to serve as an internships," said Matthew L. Johnson, director of National High School Forensics Academy.

"We saw that when the School of Communications had its job fair earlier this year, there was nothing for pre-law students." Dina H. Wurton, director of the School of Communications, added.

"I am happy to help students with their careers in law as they become certified," Wurton said.

"We also wanted to make sure that students know about the particular field of law, as well as the different majors," Wurton added.

"I am excited to be part of the Howard Pre-Law School," Martin said.

"I am excited to be part of the Howard Pre-Law School," Martin said. "I am excited to be part of the Howard Pre-Law School."
Ossie Davis Timeline

On December 18, 1917, Davis was born in Cogdell, Georgia, as Raiford Chatman Davis. It was his mother’s pronunciation of "R.C." that developed "Ossie." (thehistorymaker.com) Davis received acclaim after writing and starring in the Broadway production "Purlie Victorious." (thehistorymakers.com) In June of last year, the escalators at the Shaw/Howard Metro rail stop have been out of service for at least four years. (howard.edu) According to students, the escalators were shut off for repairs in July of last year. The Hilltop reported its much-needed modernization that we need to fix it. (thehilltop.com)

Ossie Davis had been modernized and had required the installation of a completely new unit. "As of now, it should be up and running," Steven Taubenkibel, public affairs specialist in the Office of Media Relations for WMATA, said. "The Hilltop in November. More of a Workout Than a Convenience

Escalators More of a Workout Than a Convenience

By Christina M. Wright

The escalators at the Shaw/Howard Metro rail stop have been out of service for at least four years. According to students, the escalators were shut off for repairs in July of last year. The Hilltop reported its much-needed modernization that we need to fix it.

Though the escalators at the Shaw-Howard Metro stop have undergone major renovations last year, many students say that they still remain unreliable and are often immobile.

Ossie Davis
Timeline

1925 - Received a National Youth Administration scholarship that allowed him to attend Howard University, a money-raising year after high school graduation. (thehistorymaker.com)

1935 - Became a writer and actor affiliated with the Rose McClendon Players in Harlem. (thehistorymaker.com)

1936 - Contributed to Ruby Dee, during his first Broadway production, "Jul." Through the following year, he worked on "Jul." (movies.yahoo.com)

1948 - Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis got married in New Jersey during a day’s break from "The Skin of the World." (movies.yahoo.com)

1950 - Made his film debut in "No Way Out," which also starred Sidney Poitier and Ruby Dee. (movies.yahoo.com)

1951 - Davis received acclaim after writing and starring in the Broadway production "Purlie Victorious." (thehilltop.com)

1955 - Delivered the eulogy at Malcolm X’s funeral after his assassination. (thehistorymaker.com)

1957 - Performed his first television production, "The Emperor Jones." (thehilltop.com)

1960 - Delivered the eulogy at Martin Luther King, Jr.’s funeral after his assassination. (thehilltop.com)

1970 - Directed "Cotton Comes to Harlem." (thehilltop.com)

1980 -Founded Emalyn II Productions Company Inc. with wife Ruby Dee. (thehilltop.com)

1981 - Catted Ossie and Ruby. (thehilltop.com)

1987 - Both Davis and Dee were inducted into the NAACP Image Awards Hall of Fame. (thehilltop.com)

1994 - Inducted into the Theatre Hall of Fame. (thehilltop.com)

1995 - Received the U.S. National Medal for the Arts from Bill Clinton. (movies.yahoo.com)

2001 - Received the Screen Actors’ Guild Lifetime Achievement Award. (thehilltop.com)

2004 - Received the Kennedy Center Honors, along with Ben Kingsley, Joan Sutherland, John Williams, Warren Beatty and Ruby Dee (thehilltop.com)

2005 - Died of lung cancer at age 88. (thehilltop.com)

Compiled by Christina M. Wright

Athena, Campus Editor
Students Learn How to Stand Out at Law Forum

FORUM, from Campus A3

"I want to prepare as many people as possible to stand out and pursue a career in law," said Don Kent Rice, a faculty speaker. "It opens up a lot of opportunities.

Law schools like Wake Forest University, Villanova, and many others were also in attendance to disseminate information about the programs and answer questions.

Bishop Fallah, assistant dean for admission at Villanova University School of Law, said that students looking for admission should take many steps and philosophy classes, work on their writing and verbal skills, and prepare for the LSAT.

"I heard a lot about things I didn't know about before," Fallah said. "I think it was really informative and helpful.

I learned a lot about things I didn't know about before. I think it was really informative and helpful.

In the future, I hope to do a lot more of the same thing."

"It's rare that you find people who are more involved in their faith than they are in their lives and their professions," said D..., a public relations major.

"It's rare that you find people who are more involved in their faith than they are in their lives and their professions."

Weems explained how you can find a certain amount of energy to get involved with a commitment.

"It's rare that you find people who are more involved in their faith than they are in their lives and their professions."

Weems, an expert on love and spirituality, said she was saddened by the fact that so many people, especially those involved in church, were not word words to describe the love in the Song of Solomon.

"A4 CAMPUS

Contributing Writer

BY LAUREN STEPHENS

Communications have a new show..."
Campus Mourns Loss of Icon

DAVIS, from Campus A

She included herself, mistakes control. love for a game of power and the older generation, in which congregation that she told her daughter that she doesn't know because she would only be using she contested her 12-year-old cell phone. Initially, Weems said it to check in with her boo."

'Davis' grandson, fondly remembered his grandfather.

CHAPEL, from Campus A

"Love Costs You Baby," Weems Tells Chapel Crowd

"First of all, he was brilliant, and I do not mean that in the liter­ ature or writing areas," Day said. He described David, thought­fulness and intelligence. She related stories about spending time with his grandparents in New York, and leaves behind probably the strongest bond by the open arms of his grandfather. "The thing that stands out most to me is that smile and that warmth," Day said.

"There was no one like him. It was impossible not to love him."

Day would like for his grand­ father's memory to live on.

"I want him to be remem­ bered as a hero and a leader," Day said. "He should be remem­ bered as a great, great figure in the city. Without a doubt, he will be okay, and he'll be okay in his faithful heart; he was just a great man."

Funeral services are sched­ uled for Saturday, Feb. 12 at noon at Riverdale Dr., Harlem, N.Y.

-Sister, from Campus A

Award Given to SOC Student

RUTLEDGE, from Campus A

"Detro it has so much potential. I'm excited about that. It's going to be different," said Rutledge. "It's going to be different, and it's going to be different."

"I think she is a phenom­ nal leader and the president of the group."

She eventually wants to go back to her hometown.

"I want to go back to my hometown."

-Rutledge said. "I want to build up downtown. The mayor (Kwame Kilpatrick) is doing a good job, but it could become the next New York."
Howard Professor Encourages Excellence in Public Relations

BY JABARI SMITH
Contributing Writer

On the journey to graduation, Howard students are often faced with a multitude of obstacles that can slow them down and ultimately prevent them from achieving their goals. However, for students and educators, the key to success lies in perseverance and hard work. In her role as the coordinator for public relations, Dr. Rochelle Ford has been instrumental in helping students and faculty over the years.

Dr. Ford began her career as a public relations major, eventually earning her master's degree from the John H. Johnson School of Communications at Howard University. Her dedication to public relations has been recognized by many, including her peers at Howard University and the National Association of Black Journalists.

Dr. Ford's pursuit of higher education led her to become a member of the board of directors of the National Association of Black Journalists, where she serves as the director of the Red Cross and Blood Bank and assistant director of the Blood Bank and assistant director of the National Blood Bank. She is also a member of the Howard University Board of Trustees, where she is responsible for maintaining the highest standards of excellence.

Dr. Ford's educational background and professional experience have prepared her to lead the Department of Public Relations with dedication and excellence. Under her leadership, the department has seen a significant increase in the number of public relations majors, and she continues to mentor and inspire students to excel in their studies.

Dr. Ford is a true example of a student who has succeeded in the public relations field. Her commitment to excellence and her dedication to helping others have made her a role model for students and educators alike.

Howard University is proud to have Dr. Rochelle Ford as a member of its faculty. Her contributions to the field of public relations and her dedication to helping others succeed are a testament to the institution's commitment to excellence in education.

HBCU BRIEFS

Southern's Richardson Becomes The Highest Paid HBCU Coach

Southern University Athletics announced that Head Football Coach Pete Richardson has recently agreed to a three-year contract extension that will make him the highest-paid coach in Division I-AA. The extension also makes Richardson the highest-paid coach among historically Black colleges and universities.

Richardson's contract pays him $1,500,000 per year with performance incentives of up to $400,000. The Southern University Board of Supervisors approved the contract on Jan. 20.

Richardson has numerous coachings and administrative achievements. However, he has not been a boring coach in his 27 years as a head coach, with a career record of 147-59-7. At Southern, he has captured four college national titles, five Southeastern Athletic Conference titles, and five Heritage Bowl championships in its 12 seasons at Southern.

Clark Atlanta Students Lead a Helping Hand to Troops in Iraq

A group of Clark Atlanta University engineering students are lending their support to the Troops in Iraq. The research team recently completed a project designed to construct lighter, more efficient planes that carry U.S. troops.

The students kept a low profile on the project as they diligently designed a lighter plane. The project was led by Operation Freedom Fund and contracted through the lead defense contractor, Lockheed Martin. The project ranges from space craft to missiles to fighter jets.

With the closing of the university's engineering department, it is now time to consider what's happening today and the same time there is still work to be done in the future.

Richardson's contract extension is part of his ongoing efforts to improve the Southern athletic program and continue to help students grow and learn.

Hampton University To Construct Cutting-Edge Biomedical Research Center

Hampton University plans to construct a 64,000 square foot Biomedical Research Center on the university's campus. The state-of-the-art facility will be an interdisciplinary center for biomedical researchers and will be funded by the National Science Foundation and a federal government agency. The research center will serve the Hampton community and the local region.

The Biomedical Research Center (BRC) will become the only institute to specialize in breast, prostate, and other cancer research in Virginia. Additionally, the BRC will house researchers in biochemistry and nursing, offering a genuine interdisciplinary center.

Sources: Blackcollegewire.org

Compiled by: Andrew Carter, Contributing Writer

Ralph Johnson Bunch (1904-1973)

BY ALICE WASHINGTON

The grandson of a slave, Ralph Johnson Bunch, played a significant role in the civil rights movement and eventually became the highest American diplomat in the United Nations (UN).

His father was a barber, and his grandfather, a barber before that. Bunch's mother was a schoolteacher, and his grandmother was a schoolteacher as well. Bunch grew up in the small town of Harlem, NY, where he attended public schools.

In 1928, Bunch attended Howard University College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, where he studied economics and statistics. He served as editor of the University's student newspaper, the Howard University News, and as president of the University's National Student Association. After graduating in 1932, Bunch continued his education at the University of Pennsylvania, where he earned a master's degree in economics in 1935.

Bunch's diplomatic career began with the United States Department of State, where he served as a public relations officer. In 1946, Bunch was appointed as the United States ambassador to the United Nations, becoming the first African American to hold such a position.

Dr. Charles Drew (1904-1950)

BY RACHEL HIGGINS

Dr. Charles Drew was a phenomenal physician and scientist who was known for his groundbreaking work in the field of blood transfusions.

Drew was born on June 29, 1904, in Washington, D.C. He attended Howard University High School and became a medical student at Howard University in 1925. He received a medical degree from Howard University in 1933.

In 1937, he was appointed head of the Department of Health and Education at Howard University, where he served until his death in 1950. Drew's work focused on the development of a method for storing blood plasma, which he called the "massive transfusion technique." This method allowed for the mass transfusion of blood to save lives during surgeries and accidents.

Drew's work was groundbreaking, and his achievements were recognized with the highest award given by the American Medical Association, the Distinguished Service Medal. He also received the National Medal of Honor for his contributions to medicine.

Drew's legacy lives on today, as his work continues to have a significant impact on the field of medicine. His contributions to the field of blood transfusions have saved countless lives, and his work continues to inspire new generations of physicians and researchers.

At Columbia University, Drew was instrumental in gathering and storing blood until it was needed for a transfusion. He was also a pioneer in the field of blood banking, which ensured that blood remained preserved and had a greater chance of survival.

On April 4, 1945, Drew passed away after he was admitted into a hospital for treatment of a stroke. His death was a tragic loss to medicine, and his legacy continues to inspire those who work in the field today.

Dr. Drew's work had a profound impact on medicine, and it is his legacy of service that continues to inspire future generations of physicians and researchers. His contributions to the field of medicine have been recognized with numerous awards and honors, and his legacy continues to inspire new generations of physicians and researchers.
Looking for a career that radiates success?
Then talk to someone who knows science.

If you want to shine in the world of science, it's essential you don't leave your career to chance. At ScienceCareers.org we know science. We are committed to helping you find the right job, and to delivering the advice you need. Our knowledge is firmly founded on the expertise of Science, the premier scientific journal, and the long experience of AAAS in advancing science around the world. So if you want a glowing career, trust the specialist in science. Visit ScienceCareers.org

ScienceCareers.org

We know science

1867-1934

Marie Curie
Institute Celebrates Black History

BY STACI ANSCYnder Contributing Writer

In honor of Black History Month, the Smithsonian Institute celebrated a series of events throughout February.

One of the events was the "Digging Deeper" program. This program highlighted the contributions of African-Americans and their impact on American history.

The Smithsonian also showcased their "African American History: A Legacy of Strength" exhibit, which featured artifacts and photographs that documented the rich African-American history in America.

"It's important to recognize and celebrate the achievements and contributions of African-Americans," said a Smithsonian employee. "This exhibit allows us to share their stories and inspire future generations to appreciate their legacy."
FEBRUARY 8, 2005 THE HILLTOP

FELLOW BISONS!!! Your alumni and CEO/Founder of COLEMAN SERVICES INC.
(301) 848-5240
colemanservicesinc@comcast.net
The LEADER is Business Support Services

Jeffrey L. Coleman
Class of 1996 – BSME – cum laude
WISHES YOU SUCCESS IN YOUR ENDEAVORS AS YOU FINISH THE ACADEMIC YEAR FOR 2004-2005.

TO HELP YOU STAY AHEAD FOR THIS SEMESTER AND BEYOND, CSI IS GIVING YOU 20% DISCOUNT ON THE COST FOR ALL OF YOUR SERVICE NEEDS.

- IT Maintenance/Installation/Repair - $40.00/hr (excluding hardware/software)
- Business Deliverables (MS Office) - $25.00 min. and up, depending on volume
- High Quality Resumes - $24.00/15 resumes
- High Quality Cover Letters - $16.00/cover letter
- Tutorials/Consultation/Seminars on Interviewing, Public Speaking and Presentation Styles - $32.00/hr/person

FOR YOUR DOOR-TO-DOOR Service/Consultation CALL TODAY!!!

HOWARD UNIVERSITY
General Elections Commission

APPLICATIONS TO RUN FOR OFFICE ARE DUE:

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 2005
9 AM – 5 PM
GENERAL ELECTIONS COMMISSION
OFFICE
BLACKBURN UNIVERSITY CENTER
SUITE 116

PLEASE REMEMBER TO BRING:
> Completed Candidate Application
> Candidate Petition Forms
> Code of Fair Campaign Practices
> Non-Refundable Deposit (HUSA and Trustee Candidates Only)

ALL GRADUATE SCHOOL APPLICATIONS (EXCLUDING TRUSTEE CANDIDATES) WILL BE DUE ON MONDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 2005.

For additional information, please contact:
General Elections Commission
(202) 806-4510 • howardvotes2005@yahoo.com
How

Do

You

Read It?

Monday.
Tuesday.
Wednesday.
Thursday.
Friday.

February 28, 2005
Eagles Bow to New England Dynasty

Eagles Land Just Short of Victory 24-21

BY ASHLEY ROSS

Super Bowl XXXIX was not without surprise as the New England Patriots (17-2) and Philadelphia Eagles (15-4) went head-to-head in a thriller. The Patriots ultimately emerged victorious, commemorating their fourth Super Bowl victory in five years.

The game was a battle of two of the NFL's top teams, with the Eagles looking to make history and the Patriots aiming to continue their dynasty. The match-up was highly anticipated, with both teams showcasing their star players.

Terrell Owens, and (WR) Greg Lewis passed to McNabb stepped up big for the Eagles completing 7/8 passes to Westbrook, (WR) Deion Branch (WR) catching four passes for 71 yards during the Patriots first drive. Branch told the Associated Press, "We did a good job adjusting during the game. It was physical and a lot of guys were bumped and bruised."

However, the Eagles defense was unable to contain the Patriots' offense, which resulted in a 22-yard field goal from Adam Vinatieri, making the score 3-0 Patriots early on the field.

The second half began with Super Bowl MVP Tom Brady passing 170 yards during the Patriots first drive. Brady told the Associated Press, "We did a good job adjusting during the game. It was physical and a lot of guys were bumped and bruised."

Westbrook made his presence known early on the field, rushing for 18 yards during this drive, (RB) Brian Westbrook made his presence known early on the field.

The Patriots continued their dominance, increasing their lead further with a 2-yard touchdown from (RB) Corey Dillon. The Eagles could not respond, as they failed to score during the remaining time of the game.

Despite the Eagles' valiant effort, the Patriots were able to secure their fourth Super Bowl victory in five years. The Eagles' season had been filled with promise, but ultimately they fell short of their goal.

The Story Behind the Lombardi Trophy

BY COURTNEY ELAND

Creating the Vince Lombardi Trophy takes six men, hours, days, and a kilometer of Tiffany & Co. filigree. The silver, the trophy illustrates football in a kicking position which stands 22 inches high and weighs in at seven pounds.

During the game, New England defensive coordinator Romeo Crennel had utilized his three-lineman, four-defender defense to intimidate McNabb in the pocket and force errors. Lead for 63 yards. Asst. Sports Editor

Throughout the game, New England defensive coordinator Romeo Crennel had utilized their three-lineman, four-defender defense to intimidate McNabb in the pocket and force errors. Lead for 63 yards.

As Belichick admitted to the press, "We thought it would be a passing game and we decided to play our best pass defense."

With 46 seconds left, the Eagles reclaimed possession of the ball, but their hurry up offense failed them when McNabb threw his third interception that would seal the game for the Patriots.

Post game McNabb told the Associated Press, "I'm going to continue to hold my head up high. We've had a special year. This was a year when no one expected us to do this." With the win, the Patriots not only secured a record-extending fifth consecutive postseason touchdown that resulted in a touchdown pass from (L B) Mike Vrabel to take this drive when Brady completed a two-yard touchdown pass to (L B) Mike Vrabel to take their first lead of the game only moments before the half.

The Hi:top of battle victorious. Th is year the New England Patriots were able to stand victorious going, we were going to stay with it." Despite the Patriots' defensive pressure and time running out in the third, McNabb managed to keep his composure on first and goal and threaded the needle between two Patriot defenders to complete a TD pass to Westbrook.

With over 100 yards in total offense, Westbrook would go onto finish with seven catches for 66 yards. At the close of the third quarter the score remained tied, 1-1, in the first Super Bowl history, with the Eagles showing no signs of backing down. The fourth quarter would decide it all.

At the conclusion, McNabb was named Super Bowl MVP. His performance was nothing short of remarkable as he completed 27 of 46 passes for 321 yards, eight touchdowns, and two interceptions. The Eagles had no answer for his skillful playmaking.

In the end, the Patriots emerged victorious, securing their fourth Super Bowl win. The Eagles may have fallen short, but their season was one to remember. As Belichick said, "In an interview with the Associated Press, Belichick added, 'We've never really self-proclaimed ourselves anything. If you guys say we're great, we'll accept the compliment.'"
The Clarett Redemption?

By Monique Woods

Enrique Osando was looking out the window. Ohio State running back Maurice Claret 2002. He was thinking about how far he had come since then.

In his 15 years of glory, Smith ran for 13,577 yards and 164 touchdowns, all NFL records. His success was not only evolving as a player, but as a person. Smith had overcome many challenges, from financial struggles to personal setbacks.

The former Duke University basketball player, who attended classes or not. Clarett was a good player with the seventh overall pick and then traded him to the

New Blood Brings Wins for Chicago Bulls

By Bradley Wete

The Chicago Bulls may have a chance to make the playoffs for the first time since Michael Jordan retired in 1998.

Thank you to our respondents for your continued support of the Chicago Bulls. We appreciate your feedback and encouragement.

The Bulls’ 82-game season will be an event to remember. The team will be playing against some of the best teams in the NBA, including the Lakers, Celtics, and Spurs. The Bulls are determined to make a strong showing in the playoffs.

The team is led by head coach Scott Skiles, who has guided the Bulls to a 24-21 record so far this season. Skiles is known for his emphasis on defense and hard work.

The Bulls’ players are excited for the challenge ahead. Guard Kirk Hinrich says, “We’re ready to play our best basketball and give our fans something to cheer about.”

The Chicago Bulls have spent $14.5 million on free agents this season. The team has added players like Joakim Noah, Luol Deng, and Kirk Hinrich. The Bulls are confident they can make a playoff run.

The Bulls’ season opener is against the New York Knicks on October 27. The team is ready to get off to a strong start and set the stage for a successful season.

Former Cowboy Emmitt Smith Retires and the World Cries

By Jonathan Davis

It had seemed right that former Dallas Cowboy running back Emmitt Smith announced his retirement at the Prime Time NFL on NBC national Super Bowl XXXI game.

With his wife, Pat, on one side and Cowboys owner Jerry Jones on the other, the 15-year veteran said he was ready to retire as a Dallas Cowboy.

Smith thanked his teammates, past and present, coaches and the ownership group.

Rookie Challenge.

The Chicago Bulls, who have been enjoying a remarkable season thanks to their...
Bison Men and Women Stick it to Delaware State

BY ED HILL

President: The Hilltop

Women

Dover, Del.-Terrance Walker scored the game-winning basket with 2.8 seconds remaining to give Delaware State a 49-47 come-from-behind win over Howard, University in a Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference tournament game at Memorial Gymnasium.

The win was the sixth straight for the Lady Hornets (5-14 overall, 2-8 in the MEAC) while the Lady Bison (10-9 overall, 5-5 in the MEAC) dropped their sixth straight and fourth in the last five outings.

Howard controlled the tempo through most of the second half and expanded its lead to 30-26, a little less than five minutes into the second half. Sophomore forward Mollie Peterson led the charge by scoring six of her game-high 17 points during the stretch. But Delaware State climbed in 12-7 back into the game by forcing 13 turnovers and 21 free throws.

The Lady Bison appeared to have control with 3:11 remaining when senior forward Andrea Jones, who both fouled out, had three more possessions, but failed to capitalize.

On the Lady Bison's next to the game and led 31-28 at the half.

Then DSU'sguards combined for 21 second-half points to keep the game close. But the Hornets held Howard scoreless for a seven-minute stretch and outhitted the...
Weird. Out. Chilling. Terrell Owens! Wasn’t he supposed to be offended by the reference to him as a "nipple," or was he too busy watching the game to notice? In any case, it’s good to see someone having fun and enjoying the moment. Football can be a great game when you let yourself get caught up in the excitement and energy. Go Buccaneers! Go Giants!
AIDS epidemic and designed to surprise. Efforts to confront the epidemic ed to reducing HIV/AIDS health caregivers, should come as no on fl.1otherhood," a new collection institutions and individuals in HIV/AIDS policy center dedicat- Americans make up only about aging and internship program 1999, is a comprehensive train- 950,000 cases and 43,1...,lAlDS were small enough to climb back into the persona and shielded from the realities of Black motherhood. Due, Edwidge Danticat, Maya Hilltop Staff Writer Doctors attribute girl's tendonitis to excessive story-telling. The second half has "Torch steles that belong to the Black community. "I think that we are severely Box and "Krush Groove." The movie, which was of hip-hop's most successful and is a perfect example of the movement's fusion of music and fashion. "Krush Groove is a must-see Groove." is definitely a must-see film. Despite its age, this film is very relatable in the sense that the underlying theme is to fight for our rights. It encourages viewers to make their deci- is a classic of Black history and is a It's a must-watch film for anyone interested in Black history and social issues.
Groups Sue Over KKK Auction

BY TANITA KING

In an auction yesterday, the Klan (KKK) Ron Johnson, the Klan's regional director, was quoted as saying that the auction of his personal history and that of his father, Dr. King's birthday would be delayed when the auction house declined to give their names including Johnson.

Outside the auction house, fans gathered, waving their flags and holding up Dr. King's children's names. One of the highest priced items was a robe, hoods and other articles of Dr. King's. The auction house delayed the auction because of the public interest in seeing the robes and hoods that were owned by Dr. King and his family.

The auction was not without controversy. Many Rastafarians who are fans of Dr. King felt as though a sale of his personal items was not appropriate. There have been reports that both organizations, the NAACP and ACLU, are justified in their demands to see such hatred perpetuated by the display of the memorabilia.

One of the bidders, 27-year-old teacher from Israel, Mor Rasta, a Rastafarian from Ethiopia, as it is respected as the birthplace of Rastafarianism, said, "It's about freedom of speech; it's about freedom of expression. I don't think the display of the memorabilia is about hatred. I think it's about freedom."

In conclusion, the Klan's auction of Dr. King's personal items is a controversial issue. Many people feel that it is disrespectful and inappropriate to sell items that are associated with Dr. King. The auction house's decision to proceed with the auction has raised concerns about the display of the memorabilia and its potential to perpetuate hatred. It remains to be seen how the auction will be received by the public and what the long-term implications of this event will be.
Zimbabwe Votes

ELECTIONS, from N & W 86

FEBRUARY 8, 2005

of landless Blacks—is aimed at correcting historical injustices," Mr. Mugabe pointed out in a "Final Call" interview with Askia Muhammad. "In Africa, they are more about empowering people first—then building a nation," said Nation Hall, a departmental chairman. "They feel that if the people are up, the nation will prosper; whereas, in America the morale of the people is always last." Hall agrees that "the ruin of a nation begins in the homes of its people," thus she says, "Mugabe's is just trying to prevent such a downfall." Mugabe, 78, has gained his credentials by being a viable force for Zimbabwe and is a proud member of Zimbabwe's African National Union-Patriotic Front (ZANU-PF).

Established in 1960, ZANU-PF is a party formed to mobilize the broad mass of people in Zimbabwe against subversion, racism, imperialism, and for the right for their national independence. "Mugabe Mugabe's old age, since believed that he is still the man for the job," Mr. Hall added. "You know why you find it hard the last connection between the struggle which the Africans fought to liberate themselves and the African way into the future, especially now as they are struggling for economic emancipation," said Jonathan Moyo, Mugabe's minister of information. Zimbabwe's political counselor, Walter C. Gunthorne, believes, "Tsvangirai has no chance in winning this election; Mugabe has such longevity because he has the admiration of the people." Only time, however, will reveal the end of this political brawl.

THE REVOLUTION WILL NOT BE TELEVISIONED, BUT IT WILL BE IN THE HILLTOP.

Come grab a story at the budget meeting on Tuesday @ 7:00 PM

02.28.05
Remembering Ossie Davis

Last Friday, the Howard University community was covered with a blanket of sadness after the passing of actor, civil rights activist and Howard alumnus Ossie Davis. At age 87, Davis lived a life that was devoted to the arts through Davis, who sometimes made appearances in the DC Metropolitan community.

Davis was a visiting professor in the Howard University School of Communications and the Department of Fine Arts, teaching and in front of the camera only. In the civil rights’ movement, Davis began his journey in the same place where we are beginning this fall. Howard University has produced some of the most talented and respected people of this individual has moved on. We can only hope that we are capable enough on his great legacy.

Our View:

We will remember Ossie Davis for his abundant contributions to the Howard University family and beyond.

Ossie Davis was a visiting professor in the Howard University School of Communications and the Department of Fine Arts. During a visit to Howard last spring, Davis spoke to students in both the School of Communications and the Department of Fine Arts about the plight of Black actors in the entertainment industry, and shared his learnings.

During a visit to Howard last spring, Davis spoke to students in both the School of Communications and the Department of Fine Arts about the plight of Black actors in the entertainment industry, and shared his learnings. Davis was a visiting professor in the Howard University School of Communications and the Department of Fine Arts, teaching and in front of the camera only. In the civil rights’ movement, Davis began his journey in the same place where we are beginning this fall. Howard University has produced some of the most talented and respected people.

As a testament to his efforts, Howard University has produced some of the most talented and respected people of this individual has moved on. We can only hope that we are capable enough on his great legacy.

Everyday People Overlooked While Celebrities Get Credit

On regular basis, many Howard students volunteer countless hours at local elementary schools in hopes of teaching and instilling a love of reading, life or maker other contributions in the DC Metropolitan community.

Despite the contributions from Howard students, volunteer efforts at local elementary schools are often unrecognized. Instead, celebrities who sometimes make their contributions public receive all the credit for work that teachers and volunteers do.

Our View:

Celebrities get credit for work that people in the community do daily.

A few years ago, the Super Bowl XXXVIII ended without any Super Bowl. Historically, during the Super Bowl, most coverage has been focused on the game itself, but the halftime show has been just as important. However, after last year’s “wardrobe malfunction,” this year’s performance was completely different. The show was less commercial and the commercials were here to entertain. We can only hope that we are capable enough for this new generation to appreciate it.

Our View:

Even though FOX did not want a repeat of last year’s Super Bowl, they should make sure it doesn’t happen again. It appears that celebrities have trouble getting along. In the commercial, Cedric the Entertainer’s image was completely destroyed, but we believe they were incomparable because they were portrayed as completely different people who donate their time and expertise for many reasons. We are in no way dismissing the fame and fortune that such a wise person could have had if they had been able to live their lives with the same energy and passion as Davis.

Further, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. However, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. We were more upset at the commercial that struck us as most entertaining or innovative.

FOX provides for the elderly

On a regular basis, many Howard students volunteer countless hours at local elementary schools in hopes of teaching and instilling a love of reading, life or maker other contributions in the DC Metropolitan community.

Despite the contributions from Howard students, volunteer efforts at local elementary schools are often unrecognized. Instead, celebrities who sometimes make their contributions public receive all the credit for work that teachers and volunteers do.

Our View:

Celebrities get credit for work that people in the community do daily.

A few years ago, the Super Bowl XXXVIII ended without any Super Bowl. Historically, during the Super Bowl, most coverage has been focused on the game itself, but the halftime show has been just as important. However, after last year’s “wardrobe malfunction,” this year’s performance was completely different. The show was less commercial and the commercials were here to entertain. We can only hope that we are capable enough for this new generation to appreciate it.

Our View:

Even though FOX did not want a repeat of last year’s Super Bowl, they should make sure it doesn’t happen again. It appears that celebrities have trouble getting along. In the commercial, Cedric the Entertainer’s image was completely destroyed, but we believe they were incomparable because they were portrayed as completely different people who donate their time and expertise for many reasons. We are in no way dismissing the fame and fortune that such a wise person could have had if they had been able to live their lives with the same energy and passion as Davis.

Further, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. However, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. We were more upset at the commercial that struck us as most entertaining or innovative.

FOX provides for the elderly

On a regular basis, many Howard students volunteer countless hours at local elementary schools in hopes of teaching and instilling a love of reading, life or maker other contributions in the DC Metropolitan community.

Despite the contributions from Howard students, volunteer efforts at local elementary schools are often unrecognized. Instead, celebrities who sometimes make their contributions public receive all the credit for work that teachers and volunteers do.

Our View:

Celebrities get credit for work that people in the community do daily.

A few years ago, the Super Bowl XXXVIII ended without any Super Bowl. Historically, during the Super Bowl, most coverage has been focused on the game itself, but the halftime show has been just as important. However, after last year’s “wardrobe malfunction,” this year’s performance was completely different. The show was less commercial and the commercials were here to entertain. We can only hope that we are capable enough for this new generation to appreciate it.

Our View:

Even though FOX did not want a repeat of last year’s Super Bowl, they should make sure it doesn’t happen again. It appears that celebrities have trouble getting along. In the commercial, Cedric the Entertainer’s image was completely destroyed, but we believe they were incomparable because they were portrayed as completely different people who donate their time and expertise for many reasons. We are in no way dismissing the fame and fortune that such a wise person could have had if they had been able to live their lives with the same energy and passion as Davis.

Further, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. However, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. We were more upset at the commercial that struck us as most entertaining or innovative.

FOX provides for the elderly

On a regular basis, many Howard students volunteer countless hours at local elementary schools in hopes of teaching and instilling a love of reading, life or maker other contributions in the DC Metropolitan community.

Despite the contributions from Howard students, volunteer efforts at local elementary schools are often unrecognized. Instead, celebrities who sometimes make their contributions public receive all the credit for work that teachers and volunteers do.

Our View:

Celebrities get credit for work that people in the community do daily.

A few years ago, the Super Bowl XXXVIII ended without any Super Bowl. Historically, during the Super Bowl, most coverage has been focused on the game itself, but the halftime show has been just as important. However, after last year’s “wardrobe malfunction,” this year’s performance was completely different. The show was less commercial and the commercials were here to entertain. We can only hope that we are capable enough for this new generation to appreciate it.

Our View:

Even though FOX did not want a repeat of last year’s Super Bowl, they should make sure it doesn’t happen again. It appears that celebrities have trouble getting along. In the commercial, Cedric the Entertainer’s image was completely destroyed, but we believe they were incomparable because they were portrayed as completely different people who donate their time and expertise for many reasons. We are in no way dismissing the fame and fortune that such a wise person could have had if they had been able to live their lives with the same energy and passion as Davis.

Further, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. However, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. We were more upset at the commercial that struck us as most entertaining or innovative.

FOX provides for the elderly

On a regular basis, many Howard students volunteer countless hours at local elementary schools in hopes of teaching and instilling a love of reading, life or maker other contributions in the DC Metropolitan community.

Despite the contributions from Howard students, volunteer efforts at local elementary schools are often unrecognized. Instead, celebrities who sometimes make their contributions public receive all the credit for work that teachers and volunteers do.

Our View:

Celebrities get credit for work that people in the community do daily.

A few years ago, the Super Bowl XXXVIII ended without any Super Bowl. Historically, during the Super Bowl, most coverage has been focused on the game itself, but the halftime show has been just as important. However, after last year’s “wardrobe malfunction,” this year’s performance was completely different. The show was less commercial and the commercials were here to entertain. We can only hope that we are capable enough for this new generation to appreciate it.

Our View:

Even though FOX did not want a repeat of last year’s Super Bowl, they should make sure it doesn’t happen again. It appears that celebrities have trouble getting along. In the commercial, Cedric the Entertainer’s image was completely destroyed, but we believe they were incomparable because they were portrayed as completely different people who donate their time and expertise for many reasons. We are in no way dismissing the fame and fortune that such a wise person could have had if they had been able to live their lives with the same energy and passion as Davis.

Further, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. However, we believe that this year’s Super Bowl was not as entertaining as we anticipated it would be. We were more upset at the commercial that struck us as most entertaining or innovative.
An Appeal to Freshmen Girls in The Quad

Jad Gilliam

Friday’s article “Freshmen females learn “rites of passage” had me a bit upset. Mainly because it seems as if some freshman girls think you can’t have a healthy, intimate but without being too far. I happen to know of several girls that I spoke of with the men I hear are young women complaining about “trifling urrrea.

I’ve held my tongue for the past few years about area men and how their hometown clothing doused with glitter (not just ordinary glitter) and often is worn without going too far. I happen to know of several girls that I spoke of with the men I hear are young women complaining about “trifling urrrea.

I usually write about the subject in a more of a friend than an enemy way. Well, that is to say that I upset to hear about girls fighting each other over men. This year in the Quad, I am thankful to have my freshmen year was the perfect time to get to know an area girl. As I write this, I am any chance that I will get to write to Kim, for being more of a friend than an RA. I miss all; it almost brings a tear to my eye to think about you all. To the girls fighting each other this year in the Quad, please get it together.

I will still friends with the girls on my floor fro freshmen year and I am thankful to hear that as Valentine’s Day nears, you might not like the outer appearance of others or you will get so tired of having to be the perfect woman that you will give up and never get to know an area girl.

Now don’t get me wrong, there have been many African Americans down the block of infidelity. The reports surrounding “pro-black” but the money they make goes into a white man’s pocket. We commit more to gentrification than any other ethnic group (even though we are the 3rd largest). We lead the world in the transmission of the HIV virus.

We commit more to gentrification than any other ethnic group (even though we are the 3rd largest). We lead the world in the transmission of the HIV virus.

We commit more to gentrification than any other ethnic group (even though we are the 3rd largest). We lead the world in the transmission of the HIV virus.
All HILLTOPS
Are due, paid in full, the Tuesday and Friday before publication date.

Announcements by campus organizations for meetings, seminars or nonprofit are charged $5 for the first 20 words and $1 for every additional five words.

Individuals advertising for the purpose of announcing a service, buying or selling are charged in local companies with a rate of $10 for first 20 words and $2 for every 5 words thereafter.

Volunteers needed to videotape and edit. Must be available 12-4 p.m. Monday, and Friday and flexible evening schedule. Email: neondaysprayher@yahoo.com

The Howard University Student Athlete Association is looking for a volunteer to assist with the event on February 11th. If you enjoy helping people then we are looking for YOU! If you are interested please email Tyrone Jones at tjones@howard.edu

Win a Date with the Ricotettes For $2.00! Blackburn Ground Floor Today and Wednesday

Get Well
Tracie
Blackburn Award
Georgia Club

Lucky for you, not everyone

Tippy-Top Award
Kleiner Great job with the PhiSig auction!!

Happy Birthday
Jo Vanni!!!
Thank you for all the love and support. Thanks from all of us for the countless into night, HHTH visits
and just for caring.
You are truly a blessing to all. Thank you for being you and never changing for any one.
Feb 9

Hilltop Scholarship!
If you will be a junior or senior during the school year 2005-2006, have at least a 3.0 cumulative GPA and have demonstrated community involvement, then you are eligible for the Alpha Kappa Alpha Nellie M. Quander Memorial Scholarship. Applications are available at the Founders Library, Office of Financial Aid, and the information desk in the Blackburn Center. The application deadline is February 25, 2005.

NCNW
Black History Program
Looking for talent Singers, Actors, Dancers, Poets, Etc. Email NCNW_Howard_Section@hotmail.com

Crazy In Love or Just Plain Crazy Come find out!! Discuss sex, relationships, love and what it all means

2-11-05
618
VALENTINES DAY SENTOUS GIFTS
TREAT YOURSELF TO A SINCERELY
MOISTURIZING IVORIAN COCOA
BUTTER SOAP WITH MILK CHOCOLATE
AND HAZELNUTS ONLY $3.00 EACH
CONTACT THE "HEA BUTTER BOY"
AT 202-461-1295 FOR MORE DETAILS

"SEXI!!"
Preacher Out Thursday, Feb. 10th
6:30PM

Valentine's Day
Raffle
Raffle for Valentine's Day
Basket valued at $100
includes a $50 Restaurant gift certificate.
Tickets $1, sold in Blackburn
this week or see any
Zeta member
Drawing will take place this
Friday at 2 p.m.
in Blackburn
Sponsored by Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Inc., Alpha Chapter

#1 Beauty Supply
3928 Georgia Ave NW
(202) 291-4980
As seen on BET and MTV

Located on GA Ave, just North of Missouri Ave, NW Next to McDonald's, Across the Street from Curtis Chevrolet Going North on Georgia Ave, towards Maryland