2-18-2005

The Hilltop 2-18-2005

Hilltop Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010

Recommended Citation
https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010/217

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Hilltop Digital Archive at Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Hilltop: 2000 - 2010 by an authorized administrator of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact lopez.matthews@howard.edu.
Parsons Teams with School of Communications

Alumna Gives RTVF Students Encouragement

By Laura Stenzel

When Dackey Simmons Sterley was a student at Howard University in the early 1970s, she was inspired by broadcast journalism and worked two jobs to help pay for school.

In her junior year, she realized that she didn’t want to pursue a career in journalism and decided to follow her true dream of producing radio for TV stations.

It was then that she began to compile a list of contacts in the television and film industry, which she knew almost ten years later has turned in to two editions of an insider’s guide to the entertainment industry called: Entertainment Power Players, A Premier Television, Motion Picture and Music Industry Directory.

On Wednesday, Sterley shared her long road to success and tips on how to break into the entertainment industry with undergraduate and graduate students in the John H. Johnson School of Communications.

One of the points that Sterley impressed upon the students was to make a four part action plan and follow it to the letter.

She challenged the audience to make a plan including a list of ten people working in the industry that they admire, who they admire each person, contacts they have with those people, and alternative plans to make it in the industry if they can’t meet the people on their original list.

“Make it in the industry, you have to either know somebody or you need to be somebody. You don’t get to see Howard makes you somebody already,” Sterley said.

Throughout the seminar, Sterley highlighted important information from her book and gave her personal contact information for students to request.

See RTVF, News A5

Parsons Teams with School of Communications

By Christina M. Wright

CEO of Time Warner Richard Parsons introduced a new partnership between the John H. Johnson School of Communication and his company on Wednesday.

Three local vendors were shut down on Wednesday when it was discovered that the hot dogs that they served were sitting at the wrong temperatures. These vendors were fined.

Panel Debates Black Vote

By Melanie Holmes

President and CEO of the American Express Foundation, Gregory Moors, co-founder of the NAACP National Voter Fund and Alan L. Muller, executive director of the College Vote, compiled the panel and offered their perspectives on the power of the Black vote in the American political system and how their efforts are attempting to strengthen the power of the Black vote.

Sterley shared her knowledge of being a professional and working together to decide the outline of the class, student reactions to present positive to help students get into the industry.

“Being a professional from your school bureau in something you could never pay for,” said Krystin Ramlogan, a former member of the national radio, TV and film major. “The program seems to be a good opportunity for all students.”

Moderated by Daris Furyoski also answered questions about deciding if in the industry and Time Warner during the tap. He explained that his company monitors many different factors to ensure that the Black vote is what happened to the American political system and where the Black vote is concerned.

Due to the majority of Southern states that voted in favor of Bush in the 2004 election, Saines suggests that even though the time period has changed, much of the South has remained the same.

“The American African- American voters was a very sophisticated vote,” he said, “But I think it’s obvious that the Black vote is concerned and the very vote the way the Bushes have been very much present.”

However, Williams feels that the election of the Democratic Party is the main problems regarding the Black vote and the African American voters should continue clinging to the Democratic Party and the African American voters should continue to vote in the American rights could be an issue for the Black voters or even a critical issue for the Black voters or even a critical issue for the Black voters or even a critical issue for the Black voters.”

For the panelists, there were many different factors that must be considered when thinking about the power of the Black vote: what happens in the Black vote in the American political system and where the Black vote is concerned.

See VOTE, News A5
Conference Urges Women to Pursue Goals

BY CHRISTINA M. WRIGHT

The 13th Annual Women to Women Conference, sponsored by Alpha Chapter Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. aptly entitled “Sisters Let’s Talk: Actualizing Our Potential, Building Pathways to Possibility,” set to inspire many more than “interlocutors” different beliefs to achieve their dreams.

“I hope they are able to realize that no matter what their beginning or their middle, that their end is endless, and there are no boundaries to what they can do in life,” said Shawnneavon, local Fox News co-anchor. “Believe in those dreams that unite us here today.”

Recent changes at Loco Moe’s, previously known as Jasmine’s Pizza, has some Howard students curious over the menu selections.

Loco Moe’s Receives Mixed Reviews

BY SANAIA LUCER

With an “all you can eat” salad, pasta and pizza buffet and a check writing arm in construction, Loco Moe’s 24-hour barbecue-to-go and catering is making its desire to be the Howard University student’s eating establishment known.

However, the restaurant has made changes within the past three months, causing some students to abandon the restaurant entirely. Formerly called Jasmine’s Pizza, the eatery was placed under new management and closed for reconstruction last semester. It reopened as a soul food restaurant but recently

“I personally love the food,” said Shauntand, a junior at Howard who is working on her own issues related to sex. “I’ve seen people here and there, but I mean, I’ve seen people who have chosen to discuss the personal lives of women and the reasons they want to stay.”

“I will say that gender roles are transformative,” said Matthews, who is involved in multiple partners. “I don’t think women have sex for totally different reasons than men. We are looking for love, whereas men are looking for self-gratification. Senior psychology major Natalie Arndt said that gender roles are transformative.”

“More women are being sexually active and aggressive and having multiple partners,” said Matthews. “I don’t think we should be on a level standard. The topic isn’t shifting from the sexual aggressiveness of men and women because of the issues of infertility and illness.”

Once the discipline on infertility led theほうし and agricultural students to be on a level standard, the topic isn’t shifting from the sexual aggressiveness of men and women because of the issues of infertility and illness. The topic isn’t shifting from the sexual aggressiveness of men and women because of the issues of infertility and illness.

Other topics of discussion included sexual violence, which most students agreed that men and women are looking for self-gratification. Senior psychology major Natalie Arndt said that gender roles are transformative. Moreover, women are being sexually active and aggressive and having multiple partners.”

“I don’t think we should be on a level standard. The topic isn’t shifting from the sexual aggressiveness of men and women because of the issues of infertility and illness.”

Jean made it evident to those in attendance that she was on a mission to confront men whose sexual accusations were not taken seriously. Jean made it evident to those in attendance that she was on a mission to confront men whose sexual accusations were not taken seriously.

Three female students said they feel that they have been threatened, but they do not believe they will result in a court case. Other topics of discussion included sexual violence, which most students agreed that men and women are looking for self-gratification. Senior psychology major Natalie Arndt said that gender roles are transformative. Moreover, women are being sexually active and aggressive and having multiple partners.”

“I don’t think we should be on a level standard. The topic isn’t shifting from the sexual aggressiveness of men and women because of the issues of infertility and illness.”

Jean made it evident to those in attendance that she was on a mission to confront men whose sexual accusations were not taken seriously. Jean made it evident to those in attendance that she was on a mission to confront men whose sexual accusations were not taken seriously.

Three female students said they feel that they have been threatened, but they do not believe they will result in a court case. Other topics of discussion included sexual violence, which most students agreed that men and women are looking for self-gratification. Senior psychology major Natalie Arndt said that gender roles are transformative. Moreover, women are being sexually active and aggressive and having multiple partners.”

“I don’t think we should be on a level standard. The topic isn’t shifting from the sexual aggressiveness of men and women because of the issues of infertility and illness.”

Jean made it evident to those in attendance that she was on a mission to confront men whose sexual accusations were not taken seriously. Jean made it evident to those in attendance that she was on a mission to confront men whose sexual accusations were not taken seriously.

Three female students said they feel that they have been threatened, but they do not believe they will result in a court case. Other topics of discussion included sexual violence, which most students agreed that men and women are looking for self-gratification. Senior psychology major Natalie Arndt said that gender roles are transformative. Moreover, women are being sexually active and aggressive and having multiple partners.”

“I don’t think we should be on a level standard. The topic isn’t shifting from the sexual aggressiveness of men and women because of the issues of infertility and illness.”

Jean made it evident to those in attendance that she was on a mission to confront men whose sexual accusations were not taken seriously. Jean made it evident to those in attendance that she was on a mission to confront men whose sexual accusations were not taken seriously.

Three female students said they feel that they have been threatened, but they do not believe they will result in a court case. Other topics of discussion included sexual violence, which most students agreed that men and women are looking for self-gratification. Senior psychology major Natalie Arndt said that gender roles are transformative. Moreover, women are being sexually active and aggressive and having multiple partners.”
College Democrats Find Direction of Party

BY CHRISTINA M. WRIGHT

The Howard chapter of the College Democrats of America hosted the first in a series of seminars that will feature graduates of the political process and the Democratic Party.

Lobbyist Jarvis Stewart was the speaker for Thursday's event. During the event, he spoke at length of his journey to become the owner of his own lobbying firm.

"Mr. Stewart is Black, he is a young male, and he is a power figure in D.C.," said Jeremy Simmons, a senior communications major and program chairman.

"Mr. Stewart is Black, he is a persistent person will do what they said. He thought that was so brave," freshman dance major Bryant said.

"I just wanted the students to know that there are other things that can be done in the four years between elections."

With his college path pre-set, Stewart was a senior at Prairie View A&M University when he made the 24-hour trip to "Washington where he did not know anyone. Making friends with Ernie, a worker at the Exxon on Pennsylvania Ave, he slept in his fine car and wanted in on the dogwalk's bathroom.

"[Jarvis] thought that was so brave," freshman dance major and Democrat Usiel Benton said. "I got to show that a permanent person will do what they have to, to get where they want to be."

I ignored the intern program, Stewart approached the secretary at the DNC with a steady hand and friendly face.

---

President's Day Receives Minimal Recognition

BY KEIRSTEN ALSTON-MURRAY

With President's Day just a few days away, many students are making their plans for the three-day weekend. However, most are not anticipating how they will celebrate the national holiday, but rather holding forward in having a day to themselves.

President's Day was originally created in 1879 to observe George Washington's birthday. The holiday was mandated in 1976, the last year of his presidency. After the nomination of Abraham Lincoln in 1865, Congress decided to make Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday as well.

In 1971, former President Ronald Reagan designated the third Monday of every February to celebrate both the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln on the same day, as well as all past presidents, and is now soon done on President's Day.

Some Howard students are not interested in the holiday. "I don't do anything," Elizabeth Finley, a junior dance major said.

"I don't do anything," said Elizabeth Finley, a junior dance major. "I don't care if I don't celebrate it."

Others understand the importance of the day but do not support all of the presidents the holiday represents.

"I don't think that days like President's Day are equally important to any nation."

However, most students appreciate the holiday solely because it is one day off from school and it afforded the students the opportunity to go out of town, but I have to work."

---

Graduate School Events

Thursday, Feb. 14, 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Thursday, March 3, 2003 (all day)

Contact: kmcgraw@howard.edu

Thursday, Feb. 14, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.
Preparing Your Oral Defense and Other Facilitators: Chontrese Doswell, Akesha Blackburn Center Forum, Room 116, Digital Learning Laboratory. Call 806-6800/6156; egllake@howard.edu.

Thursday, April 11, 2003, beginning at 6:30 a.m.
Howard University Research Symposium and Honors Day: Blackburn Center. Cell 806-6000/516; egllake@howard.edu.

Please visit the Graduate School's website for further information concerning these events and announcements at www.gs.howard.edu.

---

Hofstra University School of Law

A ny law school can teach you to "think like a lawyer." But will you learn the skills you need to thrive in today's competitive and global legal marketplace? Hofstra University School of Law is nationally recognized for the talent of its faculty and its expertise in skills training and professional responsibility.

Among other programs and opportunities:

- Hofstra Law School is the Northeast Regional Center for the National Institute for Trial Advocacy, the leading provider of advanced training for litigators.
- We offer an extraordinary selection of simulation-based training externships and live client clinics.
- We have unique interdisciplinary programs bringing together medical, psychological and legal experts under the Center for Children, Families and the Law and our Child Advocacy Clinic.
- We are home to the Center for Legal Advocacy, the Institute for the Study of Legal Ethics, and the Institute for the Study of Legal Education and Professional Responsibility.
- We offer extraordinary experiences in international and comparative law through our summer programs in Nice, France, and Sydney, Australia, and our winter program on the Caribbean island of Curacao.

For more information call our Admissions Office at (516) 463-3916 or visit www.hofstra.edu/law
BY SHAYNA RUDIN

When you join Meridian Hill Hall you've almost always greeted by a very large and friendly man who seems to know you by sight. So it was no surprise when I met Kenyatta Hobson, a Towson, Ala., native and Howard University senior who currently serves as the director of Meridian Hill Hall.

Hobson shares a long history of involvement with Residence Life at Howard University. He currently serves as a member of the Residence Life staff in 1997 as a student and found his home at Meridian Hill Hall in 1998. Since his arrival, Meridian has seen new heights to greater heights.

"Kenyatta Hobson is getting better," Hobson said. "I wasn't sure how I'd do, but he surprised me." Hobson said. "The most fulfilling thing about my job is that I get to see the students that pass through into the community and get to know them.

This respect that Hobson has for students is a mutual feeling, as many students who know him have nothing but positive comments about him.

"Mr. Hobson is a hard-working, intelligent gentleman," said L. Washington, a senior broadcast journalism major. "He definitely sometime that I would keep in touch with after college. I feel good about going to be very influential in my life.

While Hobson enjoys his job at Howard, he does not plan to stay here forever. He said there are "no plans to go beyond his job here."

"I do see myself moving," he said. "Not only do I say that, but I'm ready to take everything I've learned and move to a new level. I believe that the future will move, going back to where he's going to do.

"I can actually see one of the students who is in charge of hiring me to be chief of staff.

Though most students look forward to their residence halls, such as Hobson within reach, many encourage their students to seize the job opportunities and have the advantage of making the most of their success in whatever they choose.

Senior marketing major, Randy Conyers, said, "Mr. Hobson has a great idea to get students involved, and I would see what great things he does for the salary of the.
Students Recruited at Job Fair

FAIR, from Campus A1

"The purpose is to bring federal and private industry to our campus to interview students for summer and coop experiences," Witherspoon said. "The majority of our students are interested in going into industry; this fair is meant to give them an opportunity to talk to companies.

Holmes, Dr. E. Tiny, Nikezy, the experiential pro-grame coordinator in the School of Engineering, said he has seen a significant drop among companies attending fairs in the past year and finds students have better options for securing a job or internship than attending career fairs.

"I have seen in the terms of career fairs that this isn't as many companies coming," Nikezy said. "But more companies are providing internships.

Nikezy is responsible for set-up students in co-op with businesses and companies. By equipping the students with their find their employers and talk to them about their needs and concerns as students.

"We want to make contact with businesses, so they can have a real conversation about what they are looking for in students," Nikezy said. "This year, we have increased the number of students attending co-op and internship programs.

Williams, Sharpton Discuss Black Voter Empowerment

VOTE, from Campus A1

Party has caused the Black socio to lose its power (in the Democrat) party," Williams said.

On the other hand, Millie depicted the hurt that's been inflicted on this group and its needs to be greater, especially since the tactical use of political positions that can change the landscape of politics.

"We want to be the voices of the community, and we want to make our voices heard," Millie said. "We're excited about the situation and how it's changing, but we definitely want more students to come out."

Williams, Sharpton Discuss Black Voter Empowerment

NEWS A5

Students Recruited at Job Fair

VENDOR, from Campus A1

"We're interested in the opportunities that are available on campus," Williams said. "We've had great feedback from businesses and companies about how much they appreciate the opportunities provided by this fair.

"It's nice to know that she radiates success?" said Sterling. "I thought the event went well, and the students were engaged.

"Many students and faculty found it exciting that the career fairs continued to network with each other and continue to work toward successful endeavors.

"She was pressing with us, but just like Howard's students, she didn't have everything all together. She had some kind of idea, yet she continued to press the point and the idea was hard to make without support.

"We're engaged in Sterling's story and been engrossed in Sterling's story and the advice she gave over and over," the seminar feeling encouraged and empowered about their future careers in the transportation industry.

"It's no surprise to know that she changed her major and now is a Howard student," Williams said. "I think it's exciting to have students who are coming out for internship opportunities, especially in the engineering field.

"The role of editors is going to be very different in the near future. He once was a professor of English, and now he's a professor of law."

"Looking for a career that radiates success? Then talk to someone who knows science."

Professionals Help Prepare Students for Life Careers

CEO, from Campus A1

"We've heard about the strength of communication. People, who serve as the chairman of advancement on the University's Board of Directors, said the most important job is to select what and parts which to publish. The role of editor is going to become more and more important, he said. "I think there is a lot of potential for all of the other industry professionals who work with students.

"Parents also shared their thoughts on the increasing presence of the Internet in today's society, saying the Internet will be "the most exciting," the CEO said.

"This year's career fair was a success," Witherspoon said. "We have more companies attending this year than in previous years.

"We went barbershop by Troy's perseverance and had no idea what people were doing here.

"I'm honored to have the opportunity to talk to them and to see someone who has made it, you find her in back of the room.

"So don't give up on what you are doing, she said.

"I'm so close to the on-the-go food vending business to provide a real conversation about their backgrounds for consideration,

"The situation from both points of view.

"Progress, was pleased with the day. Johnson waived this for the remainder of Wednesday, and, according to the chairman of advancement, it is not permanently shut down for the remainder of the week."

"The vending licenses. They're not logical.

"They can continue business as usual," he said.

"We're going to fight for our rights."

"My view."

"Howard-educated professionals. "[Students] definitely need to come with a professional appearance and their resume needs to be clean and polished. We need to know something about the company," she said.

"If you want to shine in the world of science, it's essential you don't forsake your career to skills. At ScienceCareers.org, we are science. We are committed to helping you find the right job, and to delivering the advice you need. Our knowledge is firmly based on the expertise of Science, the premier scientific journal, and the long experience of AAAS in advancing science around the world. So if you are a scientist or the specialist in science, visit ScienceCareers.org.
Black Women at Severe Risk for AIDS

BY SHEANA HENRY

A new study by the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) reports that Black women are 20 times more likely than White women to contract AIDS. The striking disparity is even more pronounced when the groups are broken down by the ages of 15 to 24 and 25 to 49: Black women under the age of 25 are 31.5 times more likely to contract AIDS than White women, while Black women between the ages of 25 and 49 are 25 times more likely to contract AIDS than White women.

According to the study, Black women are also at a higher risk for contracting HIV. The CDC report indicates that Black women are twice as likely as White women to contract HIV. This is due to the high prevalence of HIV in Black communities, which is also reflected in the rates of HIV among Black men.

The study also found that Black women are more likely to contract HIV through sexual contact with men who have had sex with men. One of the reasons for this is that Black men are more likely to have sex with other men, which increases their risk of contracting HIV. This also highlights the importance of promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women to reduce the spread of HIV.

Moreover, Black women are more likely to contract HIV through injection drug use, which is a common risk factor for HIV transmission. This underscores the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts.

In conclusion, the study highlights the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts. This includes promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women, as well as addressing the high prevalence of injection drug use in Black communities.

Nation & World Briefs

Kyoto Treaty Goes Into Effect

Seven years after its inception, the Kyoto global warming pact went into effect this week. The treaty requires countries to limit their greenhouse gas emissions and reduce their dependence on fossil fuels. The United States is one of the countries that has not ratified the treaty, and it remains unclear whether it will do so in the near future.

Greenpeace Endorses Private Accounts for Social Security

Greenpeace has endorsed private accounts for Social Security. The group argues that a restructured Social Security system would provide better retirement benefits and ensure the long-term solvency of the program.

Federal Reserve Chairman Greenspan says that a portfolio of stocks and bonds is the best way to diversify one's retirement savings. He also points out that only private accounts have the potential to provide the kind of returns necessary to fund Social Security in the long term.

British Officials Search for New Chlorine Princess's (Sta's) Death

Using the latest in high tech equipment, a team of British detectives searched the Paris train station where Princess Diana died. The team scanned the entire train station, took notes and photographs. The photographs and measurements will be used to create a 3-D computer model of the train station, which will be used to help identify the location of the body.

It doesn't take multiple sexual encounters. I don't know how many sexual partners. According to the study, Black women are at a higher risk for contracting HIV. The CDC report indicates that Black women are twice as likely as White women to contract HIV. This is due to the high prevalence of HIV in Black communities, which is also reflected in the rates of HIV among Black men.

The study also found that Black women are more likely to contract HIV through sexual contact with men who have had sex with men. One of the reasons for this is that Black men are more likely to have sex with other men, which increases their risk of contracting HIV. This also highlights the importance of promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women to reduce the spread of HIV.

Moreover, Black women are more likely to contract HIV through injection drug use, which is a common risk factor for HIV transmission. This underscores the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts.

In conclusion, the study highlights the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts. This includes promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women, as well as addressing the high prevalence of injection drug use in Black communities.

Nation & World Briefs

Kyoto Treaty Goes Into Effect

Seven years after its inception, the Kyoto global warming pact went into effect this week. The treaty requires countries to limit their greenhouse gas emissions and reduce their dependence on fossil fuels. The United States is one of the countries that has not ratified the treaty, and it remains unclear whether it will do so in the near future.

Greenpeace Endorses Private Accounts for Social Security

Greenpeace has endorsed private accounts for Social Security. The group argues that a restructured Social Security system would provide better retirement benefits and ensure the long-term solvency of the program.

Federal Reserve Chairman Greenspan says that a portfolio of stocks and bonds is the best way to diversify one's retirement savings. He also points out that only private accounts have the potential to provide the kind of returns necessary to fund Social Security in the long term.

British Officials Search for New Chlorine Princess's (Sta's) Death

Using the latest in high tech equipment, a team of British detectives searched the Paris train station where Princess Diana died. The team scanned the entire train station, took notes and photographs. The photographs and measurements will be used to create a 3-D computer model of the train station, which will be used to help identify the location of the body.

It doesn't take multiple sexual encounters. I don't know how many sexual partners. According to the study, Black women are at a higher risk for contracting HIV. The CDC report indicates that Black women are twice as likely as White women to contract HIV. This is due to the high prevalence of HIV in Black communities, which is also reflected in the rates of HIV among Black men.

The study also found that Black women are more likely to contract HIV through sexual contact with men who have had sex with men. One of the reasons for this is that Black men are more likely to have sex with other men, which increases their risk of contracting HIV. This also highlights the importance of promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women to reduce the spread of HIV.

Moreover, Black women are more likely to contract HIV through injection drug use, which is a common risk factor for HIV transmission. This underscores the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts.

In conclusion, the study highlights the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts. This includes promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women, as well as addressing the high prevalence of injection drug use in Black communities.

Nation & World Briefs

Kyoto Treaty Goes Into Effect

Seven years after its inception, the Kyoto global warming pact went into effect this week. The treaty requires countries to limit their greenhouse gas emissions and reduce their dependence on fossil fuels. The United States is one of the countries that has not ratified the treaty, and it remains unclear whether it will do so in the near future.

Greenpeace Endorses Private Accounts for Social Security

Greenpeace has endorsed private accounts for Social Security. The group argues that a restructured Social Security system would provide better retirement benefits and ensure the long-term solvency of the program.

Federal Reserve Chairman Greenspan says that a portfolio of stocks and bonds is the best way to diversify one's retirement savings. He also points out that only private accounts have the potential to provide the kind of returns necessary to fund Social Security in the long term.

British Officials Search for New Chlorine Princess's (Sta's) Death

Using the latest in high tech equipment, a team of British detectives searched the Paris train station where Princess Diana died. The team scanned the entire train station, took notes and photographs. The photographs and measurements will be used to create a 3-D computer model of the train station, which will be used to help identify the location of the body.

It doesn't take multiple sexual encounters. I don't know how many sexual partners. According to the study, Black women are at a higher risk for contracting HIV. The CDC report indicates that Black women are twice as likely as White women to contract HIV. This is due to the high prevalence of HIV in Black communities, which is also reflected in the rates of HIV among Black men.

The study also found that Black women are more likely to contract HIV through sexual contact with men who have had sex with men. One of the reasons for this is that Black men are more likely to have sex with other men, which increases their risk of contracting HIV. This also highlights the importance of promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women to reduce the spread of HIV.

Moreover, Black women are more likely to contract HIV through injection drug use, which is a common risk factor for HIV transmission. This underscores the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts.

In conclusion, the study highlights the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts. This includes promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women, as well as addressing the high prevalence of injection drug use in Black communities.

Nation & World Briefs

Kyoto Treaty Goes Into Effect

Seven years after its inception, the Kyoto global warming pact went into effect this week. The treaty requires countries to limit their greenhouse gas emissions and reduce their dependence on fossil fuels. The United States is one of the countries that has not ratified the treaty, and it remains unclear whether it will do so in the near future.

Greenpeace Endorses Private Accounts for Social Security

Greenpeace has endorsed private accounts for Social Security. The group argues that a restructured Social Security system would provide better retirement benefits and ensure the long-term solvency of the program.

Federal Reserve Chairman Greenspan says that a portfolio of stocks and bonds is the best way to diversify one's retirement savings. He also points out that only private accounts have the potential to provide the kind of returns necessary to fund Social Security in the long term.

British Officials Search for New Chlorine Princess's (Sta's) Death

Using the latest in high tech equipment, a team of British detectives searched the Paris train station where Princess Diana died. The team scanned the entire train station, took notes and photographs. The photographs and measurements will be used to create a 3-D computer model of the train station, which will be used to help identify the location of the body.

It doesn't take multiple sexual encounters. I don't know how many sexual partners. According to the study, Black women are at a higher risk for contracting HIV. The CDC report indicates that Black women are twice as likely as White women to contract HIV. This is due to the high prevalence of HIV in Black communities, which is also reflected in the rates of HIV among Black men.

The study also found that Black women are more likely to contract HIV through sexual contact with men who have had sex with men. One of the reasons for this is that Black men are more likely to have sex with other men, which increases their risk of contracting HIV. This also highlights the importance of promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women to reduce the spread of HIV.

Moreover, Black women are more likely to contract HIV through injection drug use, which is a common risk factor for HIV transmission. This underscores the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts.

In conclusion, the study highlights the need for targeted interventions to address the specific needs of Black women in prevention efforts. This includes promoting safe sex practices among Black men and women, as well as addressing the high prevalence of injection drug use in Black communities.
Bush Says He'll Work With New Iraqi Government

BY KEVIN HARRIS

President Bush announced this week that his administration would work with leaders of the newly elected Iraqi government, despite fears by some that the new administration would go in a different direction. "The world saw the scale of the upheaval and immense challenges at the start of the first time in their lives," Bush said in a statement Sunday. "The United States and our coalition partners can take pride in one role in making that great day possible, and I congratulate every candidate who stood for the elections and those who will take office once the results are certified."

Scott McClellan, the White House Press Secretary, introduced Bush's statement himself at a press conference, telling reporters the administration will work with the new government as it seeks to draft a constitution and organize elections in the permanent lead up this year.

The Bush administration said the new government and supporting them as they move forward...on putting the leadership in place, drafting a constitution and then holding an election at the end of the year for a permanent representative government. McClellan said.

The significance of BWI is that Bush is a proper way to have a Black History Month, political science professor Howard University students, and many a professor have been in a3.

The importance of BWI is that Bush is a proper way to have a Black History Month, political science professor Howard University students, and many a professor have been in agreement with the Bush administration to lead the Internet reform government after Saddam Hussein's removal.

The significance of BWI is that Bush is a proper way to have a Black History Month, political science professor Howard University students, and many a professor have been in agreement with the Bush administration to lead the Internet reform government after Saddam Hussein's removal.

BWI Might Be Renamed in Thurgood Marshall's Honor

BY AMANDA NEMBHARD

Washington Post

Maryland Delegate Emmett Howard (D-Bowie) has introduced legislation to rename the Baltimore/Washington International (BWI) airport after the late Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. Maryland, who died in 1993, was the first African American to graduate of Howard University's law school and the first African American in the fight against segregation in the courts.

Howard, introducing the legislation Monday, said it would be fitting for which ended segregation in public education.

Marshall represented and argued in front of the Supreme Court since more than any other American before becoming the first African American elected to the U.S. Supreme Court, in 1937.

Deluged with renaming BWI, the property owner has Maryland's State Board of Revenue, "I can't think of no other person who has the name and craftsmanship that has "Thurgood Marshall." He has done more to change the course of a race than anyone else," Burns told The Hill.

"It was beginning with the names when he represented a Black man successfully who was 'being pulled into the University of Virginia law school, and that's all because of the handful that had never been before," Howard told the Supreme Court during his nomination hearing. "It's a great honor not only to his legacy, but to the future of our country, and I would regard...in which he has a win product," Burns said.

Davis said passing this bill would "ensure that the world saw that these abuses, or possibly committed any of them while he was in office," Burns said. "I was against them," Burns said. "It's that simple. It's that simple."

Chertoff Confirmed to Head Homeland Security Dept.

BY KEVIN HARRIS

The Senate voted 91-0 to confirm Michael Chertoff, the former judge for the U.S. Court of Appeals, to replace Tom Ridge as the new head of the Department of Homeland Security. Chertoff, a former judge for the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals, will replace Tom Ridge who left earlier this month, Chertoff, a former judge for the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals, will replace Tom Ridge who left earlier this month.

The Senate confirmed Chertoff's nomination by a vote of 91-0, with 16 abstentions and no roll call vote.

Chertoff was in charge of the Justice department's criminal division when hundreds of foreigners were detained on minor charges for an average of ten days.

"The majority of this request will ensure that the world saw that these abuses, or possibly committed any of them while he was in office," Burns said. "I was against them," Burns said. "It's that simple. It's that simple."

The Justice department was referring to a secret FISA memo which the agency sought guidance from the Justice department on surveillance treatment for detainees at Guantanamo Bay.

The Justice department was referring to a secret FISA memo which the agency sought guidance from the Justice department on surveillance treatment for detainees at Guantanamo Bay.

Prime Minister Ayad Allawi was chosen by the Bush administration to lead Iraq after the capture of Saddam Hussein, Allawi came into third place in the elections. Prime Minister Ayad Allawi was chosen by the Bush administration to lead Iraq after the capture of Saddam Hussein, Allawi came into third place in the elections.

Chertoff was in charge of the Justice department's criminal division when hundreds of foreigners were detained on minor charges for an average of ten days.

"The world saw the scale of the upheaval and immense challenges at the start of the first time in their lives," Bush said in a statement Sunday. "The United States and our coalition partners can take pride in one role in making that great day possible, and I congratulate every candidate who stood for the elections and those who will take office once the results are certified.

The Bush administration said the new government and supporting them as they move forward...on putting the leadership in place, drafting a constitution and then holding an election at the end of the year for a permanent representative government. McClellan said.

The significance of BWI is that Bush is a proper way to have a Black History Month, political science professor Howard University students, and many a professor have been in agreement with the Bush administration to lead the Internet reform government after Saddam Hussein's removal.
Conference Inspire Young Girls

WICHER, from Campus A2

was caught for his involvement in the drug world. Smith fell victim to the involvement with him, and was sentenced to 24 and a half years in a federal prison.

Her story drew a magnanimous involvement in the issue of lengthy sentences to non-violent and first time offenders. After eight and a half years served, Smith was granted clemency by President Bill Clinton in 2000.

She told the girls the story, and asked them to not travel her same path. She also warned them to watch their acquaintances, because she was convicted for involvement in the drug ring, even though she had never seen the drugs or touched any of the money.

The luncheon attendants were certain Smith's speech and personal story made an impression on the girls.

"Her speech didn't touch everyone, it touched that one person that really needed to hear it," Pickett said.

The Woman to Woman Conference was chaired by Nubia Murray and included speaker Shawn Yancy of Fox 5 news. It encouraged young women to 'go for what you want in life.'

Eater Returns to Previous Menu

LOC0, from Campus A2

their food was up to Howard University students' standards," Hughes said.

Junior electrical engineering major Khalid Abubaker feels the new Loco Moe's menu does not cater to all students and is unhappy with its limited selection of food. The older menu had a larger selection of food.

"The new menu has a lot of pork products, and I don't eat pork," Abubaker said. "I can't eat now is chicken and pasta. I miss the large variety of the old menu."

"I miss the soul food," Marshall said. "They had barbecued chicken, curried chicken, almost like a home-cooked meal."

Senior marketing major Bruce Douglas, on the other hand, is happy about the change back to the pizza menu.

"It's pretty good pizza, a great alternative to other places that service the Howard community," he said. "Besides, the idea behind soul food is the soul, and the old menu lacked that, so I'm glad to see them sticking to what they know how to do."

Marshall, who is concerned about students and normal customers missing the soul food, has vowed to try to return some of those entrees to the menu, but at the same time is making sure there is a substantial difference between the old and new facility.

The School of Communications Student Council in association with The Talented Tenth presents...

THE OTTOMAN CLUB

A Night on the Red Carpet

APRIL 1ST 2005

Let's take it back.
Proposal in Works to Rename Airport After Marshall

MARSHALL, from N&W A7

big thing for Howard and the fact that you have such a prominent African-American having this honor bestowed upon them to have an airport named after them," he said. "I don't know if there's ever a civil airport named after an African American."

Companion Fares and free ways to unleash this Spring Break.

As the new homeland security director, Michael Chertoff plans to work on improving American security and continue looking for members of Al-Qaeda.

Push the limits with FedEx

As an Inside Sales Account Executive, you'll play a big part in keeping a $21 billion supply chain moving. Bring your enthusiasm for sales to a company that will give you the tools to reach and surpass your goals. Join FedEx Services, Account Executive - Inside Sales

The successful candidate will sell FedEx transportation services and manage an account base of existing and potential business customers within a geographically defined territory remotely from Pittsburgh, PA, Phoenix, AZ or Mentor, TN.

Requirements:
- Bachelor's degree - All majors are encouraged to apply
- Must be self-motivated and possess strong time management and PC skills
- Strong verbal and negotiation skills

To apply for the Inside Sales Account Executive position please send your resume to salesresumes@fedex.com noting your preferred location by February 28, 2005 and also attend the Information Session to be held on March 1, 2005 at 7pm in the School Of Business Student Lounge.

Lobbyist Finds Way to Top of Politics

PARTY, from Campus A

"Holding that hand-written note in her hand, I said, 'Martha, thank you and I get you from Ron Brown. I just want to know where my office is.'" He served as Brown's renegade guy that summer. Afterwards Stewart worked on Capitol Hill and in Los Angeles. When he moved back to Washington, he had saved $400,000. He and two other deceased would begin their own lobbying firm.

"If I was happy," Stewart said, "I felt like somebody actually believes I can do something for them in Washington." Stewart's firm's top five-year restaurant included all types of the Black and had to work hard to "be acknowledged for it.

"Before the bill can be passed, it must go through a series of committees in the Maryland legislature. After passing both the House and Senate, the bill will then be sent to Gov. Robert L. Erholtz Jr. for endorsement.

Senate Appoints New Security Director

SECURITY, from N&W A7

"It may be only a matter of time before Al-Qaeda or other terrorist groups attempt to use chemical, biological, radiological or nuclear weapons. We must be prepared to face this threat," Goss said. "Their capture along with key military personnel and their weapons to destroy America has never been calmer this year," said.

"While we still assess that a mass casualty attack using relatively low tech methods will be the most likely approach, we are concerned that they possess weapons of mass destruction including chemical weapons or some type of biological agent such as anthrax." Despite the remaining threat, Goss noted that Al-Qaeda has taken a serious hit in recent years due to increased international terrorism mechanisms.

"We're aggressively pursuing leads with all key federal natural partners," he said. "The U.S. has had as far as tracking Al-Qaeda, any Al-Qaeda members in all the 101,000 areas that we've had a good idea of."

FedEx Services

"I want to be in advocacy, and special interest lobbying. I want to do that," Stewart said that he is proud of all he has achieved, and that he still gets a substantial feeling when he sees the Exon from Pennsylvania Ave. "I got a call this morning and all my clients said they didn't want to have anything to do with me, it's just because I had been a good guy," he said.

Students were impressed by Stewart's speech. One even was inspired to return to her first career path. "Flashback how much of a dreamer," senior Jessica Johnson said. "Sometimes you think I want to be in advocacy, and special interest lobbying. Stewart made me realize I want to go back to that path," Stewart also talked about the Democratic Party. He said that the party needs to "get to the bottom of this Black community and the Bob Johnsons, because they can write a check," he said. "There is a huge group in the middle that we're missing and we are losing them to the Republicans."

The problems with the Democratic Party, Stewart said, is that "they act so 'militant,' but when they are asked 'what is your plan?' they don't have anything." He stressed the formerly aiming giving the student a crucial piece of advice. He said that the education that permits enforced can only "get you to the door."

"Build your network," he said, encouraging students to seek contacts while in college. "If they don't know you, they won't like you."

Come Laugh & Unwind

Marc Patrick • T-Rex
Tony Woods • Chris Thomas

Saturday, February 19th
Lincoln Theater
8pm & 10:30pm

As an Inside Sales Account Executive, you'll play a big part in keeping a $21 billion supply chain moving. Bring your enthusiasm for sales to a company that will give you the tools to reach and surpass your goals. Join FedEx Services, Account Executive - Inside Sales

The successful candidate will sell FedEx transportation services and manage an account base of existing and potential business customers within a geographically defined territory remotely from Pittsburgh, PA, Phoenix, AZ or Mentor, TN.

Requirements:
- Bachelor's degree - All majors are encouraged to apply
- Must be self-motivated and possess strong time management and PC skills
- Strong verbal and negotiation skills

To apply for the Inside Sales Account Executive position please send your resume to salesresumes@fedex.com noting your preferred location by February 28, 2005 and also attend the Information Session to be held on March 1, 2005 at 7pm in the School Of Business Student Lounge.
The Howard University Bookstore Presents:

AFRO-AMERICAN History Month

Empowerment Through Education / February

Writer, Miles Marshall Lewis

Tuesday, February 22, 2005

2:00 - 3:30 pm

Join us as author, Miles Marshall Lewis, signs and discusses this coming of age account set in the Bronx, during the birth and evolution of the hip-hop culture. Described as a book that captures the political ambitions of Russell Simmons, the Black Spades gang foundation of Afrika Bambaataa and the Universal Zulu Nation, the spiritual sensibility of KRS-One and the Temple of Hip Hop, this is one event that hip hop lover's and critics alike will not want to miss.

Miles Marshall Lewis,

During the late 1990s, Mr. Lewis was the Music Editor of Vibe magazine, the Deputy Editor of XXL, and the Literary Editor of Russell Simmons's One World. His essays and criticism have appeared in The Nation, The Village Voice, Rolling Stone, Spin. He currently resides in Paris, France.

February Author Events

Join us as some of the industry's newest author's share their work with the Howard University Community!

The industries newest stars have arrived!

INDEPENDENT AUTHOR'S SERIES

FEBRUARY 17, 2005 4:30 - 6:30 P.M.

Matthew Portis

Sybil Pentasil

Angela McNair

Sundiatu Kamara

Jacqueline Lawrence

Fifi Pentasil

2225 Georgia Ave., NW, Washington DC 20059 1. 800. 919. 5997 or 202.238.2640

Go to WWW.HUBOOKSTORE.COM for more information on our events.
led them to the Rose Bowl in halfback at Brown University and comes during Black History Month. Five years into the new millennium, Pollard is making headlines at Brown and not just at 5'9 and 165 pounds, he was one of the most feared backs of the time. After just two years at Brown, he became the league's first Black coach in 1992. Eighty-four years ago, Pollard was an outstanding player and his story is ahead of its time. In fact, I never heard of him before the Feb. 26, 2000, McNary finished third in the women's 400m with a time of 1:11.65.

The Blitz on Equality

BY ZACHARY KENNEDY

The move was unprecedented and indicated that the American Professional Football Association was ahead of its time. In fact, I would even argue that the biggest difference between the NFL and the All-America was the All-American coach in 1927; Major League Baseball didn't have its first All-American player in 1934; Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier in 1945. But Pollard's progress in Major League Baseball is so swift and startling and happened at a time when the right thing to do was widely perceived as asking too much. According to Forbes Magazine, the Blitz on Equality is located on 8001 Sheriff Road, adjacent to FedEx Field.

The Inside Track

The Last 5 Winners

Year | Men | Women
--- | --- | ---
2005 | Virginia Tech | Hampton University
2004 | Hampton University | Florida A&M
2003 | Hampton University | Hampton University
2002 | South Carolina State | Hampton University
2001 | Norfolk State | Hampton University

Competition in the 2005 MEAC Indoor Track & Field Championships begins this weekend with the men's and women's sprints at Florida A&M. Hampton Lady Fliers is looking for its third consecutive MEAC Track and Field Indoor title while the men are the only team to have won more than one championship since 1998. All-American player, Cliffone Ault, said he was pleased with the performance of guards Will Gant and Brandon Carter. "We overcame and started playing like ourselves; we did what we keep up with the hard work," Mitchell said.

Lady Bison Face S.C. State After Dissapointing Loss to Coppin

BY LINDSEY WALTON

In the final stretch of competition at the MEAC Indoor Track and Field Championships, the Hampton men's and women's basketball teams will take on the University of South Carolina State tomorrow.

The Lady Bison (12-5, 4-6) are coming off a disappointing home loss to No. 2 Coppin State (12-6, 5-6) on Monday night. Coppin State led by 5’10” junior forward Sherrie Tucker and 5’11” senior Sherri Mitchell, who each scored 14 points. The Bison were able to do against the men's triple jump with a distance of 16.42 meters. Additionally, the 4x relay was ahead of its time, though he was just one of the American players and was noted for his elusive running style. He led the Akron-Penn to an unfounded 8-0-3 record in his first season and, eventually, the league's first championship. He was considered the most feared back of the time.

After just two years at running back for Akron, he became the league's first Black coach in the newly formed American Professional Football Association. Today, he is located on 8001 Sheriff Road, adjacent to FedEx Field.
Jacoby DuBose, a 60m hurdles runner, and the rest step up, senior economics major David Wynn said. Wynn noted that DuBose is one of the top distance runners in the nation. The FAMU team recently netted 10 top-10 finishes at the 2005 Niswonger Invitational in Johnson City, Tenn. Other teams competing this weekend include Hampton University, Norfolk State University and North Carolina A&T.

Coach Merritt approaches the MEAC Championships as many do,-warily. Despite obvious strengths in the team, he suspects, a few surprises may be in store for the defending MEAC champs. He warned that his team will face some of the strongest teams in the country. "You have to remain positive. We're working on things we feel we need to work on," he said. The team must get off to a good start, he said, to have a competitive edge going into the MEAC finals.

The Bison feel that their game on Saturday versus South Carolina State is a must win. In Lady Bears' last 10 games, the team must get off to a good start, he said, before early breakdowns on offense and defense could affect their chances effectively from the start. The Bison know they have to play well if they want to go as far as they want to go. They have a good shot at winning the tournament but at the same time we’re working on getting stronger. We’re not taking it for granted. Some players still have time for weight training and time to work on individual shooting so that each player can work toward their individual goals," Hicks said.

Based on conversations about making team corrections, expectations are high. "We’ll work on making the things we have to do in order to win the tournament but at the same time we’re working on getting stronger. We’re not taking it for granted. Some players still have time for weight training and time to work on individual shooting so that each player can work toward their individual goals," Hicks said.
IF YOU DON'T HOLD FIRM TO YOUR PLACE IN HISTORY, YOU'LL BE EASILY MOVED

FACEBOOK PARTY
FRIDAY FEBRUARY 18TH
THE INSTITUTE
AQUA
1818 New York Ave NE
18 TO ENTER
21 TO DRINK
DOORS OPEN 10PM
DRESS CODE: SEXY
Music By
DJ Natural Reaction
Hosted By Byanymeanz
FIRST 100 LADIES FREE WITH FLYER OR PROFILE PRINTOUT
DISCOUNT ALL NIGHT WITH FLYER OR PROFILE
SHUTTLES LEAVING H.U. QUAD @ 9:30PM
WHBC Lacks Equipment, Student Support

By Candace Jones

Communications

Entering the School of Communications through the lower level, with just minutes to spare before class, students can find the entrance to WHBC by walking towards the back of the basement of the School of Communications.

WHBC has limited the total number of traffic in and out of the station, even though the station has occasioned heavy traffic on television and radio. "WHBC radio station is located in the basement of the School of Communications. It is a small radio station with basic facilities, however the problems they have are significant," said Taylor.

The station has a full staff of personalities, a program director, news reporters and all the equipment needed to make a radio station successful, however the problems they face are significant. The station is the only radio station on the Howard campus that has a full time staff of personalities, a program director, news reporters and all the equipment needed to make a radio station successful.

WHBC has a full staff of personalities, a program director, news reporters and all the equipment needed to make a radio station successful, however the problems they face are significant. The station is the only radio station on the Howard campus that has a full time staff of personalities, a program director, news reporters and all the equipment needed to make a radio station successful.

The station has a full staff of personalities, a program director, news reporters and all the equipment needed to make a radio station successful, however the problems they face are significant. The station is the only radio station on the Howard campus that has a full time staff of personalities, a program director, news reporters and all the equipment needed to make a radio station successful.

WHBC's marketing strategy is focused on attracting students to the station and engaging with the campus community. The station actively seeks out student volunteers to help with programming and on-air events, providing opportunities for students to gain valuable experience in the field of communications.

Despite the lack of equipment and technology, students are finding a way to keep the station running, but it’s not an easy task.
Comedy Show: Laugh...It’s Funny

BY LAUREN STEPHENS

Comedy lovers of all ages will have an opportunity to see the very best of comedy at the D.C. Heavy Hitters of Comedy this Friday night. The show will feature four comedians, Chris Thomas, Tony Woods, and Todd Rexx, each bringing a different style of comedy to the show.

While each comedian featured in the show has appeared in comedy shows and specials on national networks including Def Comedy Jam and Comedy Central, one of the most well-known comedians of the group is Chris Thomas. Once Big Tega and Mad Linn, who was the host of the first Kings of Comedy Tour, Thomas has made a name for himself touring with major rap artists, appearing in an HBO special with Whodini, and as the host of the first Kings of Comedy Tour.

We used to do skits and have guests like major rap artists, appearing in an HBO special with Whodini, and as the host of the first Kings of Comedy Tour. As the host of the first Kings of Comedy Tour, Thomas has made a name for himself touring with major rap artists, appearing in an HBO special with Whodini, and as the host of the first Kings of Comedy Tour.

In the show, the host for the evening, is known for being one of the most energetic comedians. Comedian Marc Thomas has appeared on BET’s Comic View and Def Comedy Jam. His style, making audiences laugh with his familiar style of comedy, is known as his signature style of comedy. He is known for being a master of impression and is skilled in making audiences laugh with his familiar style of comedy. He is known for being a master of impression and is skilled in making audiences laugh. Whatever mood I’m in is what they are going to get. But they should expect to have a good time. Some funny stuff [from everyone on the show], Woods said.

While such comedians may have a different style of comedy, they are connected by their appreciation for the nation’s capital. It’s a city which has called home at one point in their career.

“Washington is only the nation’s capital but a lot of comedians come out of here. D.C. has its own brand of comedy,” Thomas, who has been in the show since the start of the group’s career, said. “There is a cultural difference and diversity in D.C. We have here. Black people come here and found their niche and are very supportive of each other. Almost any comedy show you come here and do well.”

Howard Law alum Loni Hinsch, president and CEO of Hinsch and Associates, an agency specializing in contacting entertainers for shows at a variety of venues, organized the show.

Hinsch took special care in handpicking the four performers to find the right blend of comedy for the show. “I had this concept for over a year, and it took me over a year to put together the right bunch of guys so that the show would have a range of styles and variation of comedic talent. Each comedian has a unique style that makes them a presence in their own right,” Hinsch said. “They each are appealing to different types of audiences, from young to old and not remain stuck in one genre of comedy. These four comedians offer an eclectic view of their world and guarantee to make the show a huge success.”

For those who miss out on the Heavy Hitters’ free DVD of the show being mailed, the D.C. Heavy Hitters of Comedy will be doing two shows at the Lincoln Theater on 1st Street on Saturday at 8 and 10:30pm. More information is available online at www.dchihitters.com.

Recipe of the Week: Chocolate Banana Bread

INGREDIENTS
1 cup mashed bananas
1/2 cup white sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
1/4 cup vegetable oil
1/4 cup milk
2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup semisweet chocolate chips

STRETCH.

DIRECTIONS:
Preheat oven to degrees F ( degrees C). Lightly grease two 9x5 inch loaf pans.

In a large bowl, cream together margarine, sugar, and eggs. Mix in bananas and vanilla. Stir in flour, baking soda, baking powder, and cocoa. Stir in sour cream and chocolate chips. Pour batter into prepared pans. Bake in preheated oven for minutes, or until a toothpick inserted into center of a loaf comes out clean.

Sampling Spinal Stenosis Surgery
In the late 1990s, Dr. Mario Ledesma, a neurosurgeon at George Washington University Medical Center, performed a groundbreaking spine surgery on a patient suffering from chronic low back pain. The patient was a 62-year-old man who had been unable to walk for over a year due to the degenerative condition.

The surgery was successful, but the patient’s condition continued to deteriorate. Dr. Ledesma’s team continued to monitor the patient’s progress and eventually decided to perform a second surgery. The second surgery was also successful, and the patient was able to walk again. The patient was able to return to his daily activities and was able to enjoy his retirement.

The surgery was successful, but the patient’s condition continued to deteriorate. Dr. Ledesma’s team continued to monitor the patient’s progress and eventually decided to perform a second surgery. The second surgery was also successful, and the patient was able to walk again. The patient was able to return to his daily activities and was able to enjoy his retirement.

The surgery was successful, but the patient’s condition continued to deteriorate. Dr. Ledesma’s team continued to monitor the patient’s progress and eventually decided to perform a second surgery. The second surgery was also successful, and the patient was able to walk again. The patient was able to return to his daily activities and was able to enjoy his retirement.
Last Year's New Jersey Party Was The JUMP OFF
HI-NEW JERSEY CLUB
20 FEB 2005
KILI'S KAFE
2009 8TH ST. NW
No School Monday

... AND THIS YEAR IS EVEN MORE...
SERIOUS!!

HOWARD UNIVERSITY NEW JERSEY CLUB & HEAVY SYNDICATION PRESENT...

-Z-Jerzz + Back-

GRLS FREE
B4 11PM
DISCOUNTED ADMISSION
ALL NIGHT W/ ID

DRESS CODE: DO YOU
18+ ENTER 21+ DRINK
SUNDAY, FEB 20TH, 2005
FOR MORE INFORMATION WWW.HEAVYSYNDICATION.COM
Become a Howard University Transition to Teaching (T^3) candidate and return the gift of education to a deserving young mind.

T^3 program is designed to recruit talented and committed recent college graduates to be trained and hired as teachers in Alexandria, Virginia; District of Columbia; and Prince George's County Public Schools, Maryland.

You can be teaching Science, Mathematics, Spanish, or Elementary Education in one of these urban school districts this time next year, if you:

- Have a Bachelor's Degree (By June preceding the summer training).
- Have a minimum GPA of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale.
- Are a U.S. citizen or permanent resident with a valid green card.
- Are a Secondary candidate: have 36 credits in subject area to be taught.
- Are an Elementary candidate: have 36 credits in content with a minimum of 6 credits in Science, 6 credits in Mathematics, 6 credits in Social Studies, and 6 credits in English.
- Take and pass all parts of Praxis I, or meet the composite score of 527; scores must be reported in writing before the start of training.
- Take and pass the Praxis II content exam in the discipline in which (s)he is eligible to teach.

A teacher affects eternity...
He/she can never tell where their influence stops.

Log on to www.transitiontoteaching.org to begin step 1 of the application process.

Let us hear from you:

Transition to Teaching Program
Attn: Dr. Joan W. Brown, Director
E-mail: gmorgan@howard.edu
Tel.: (202)-806-4947

TRANSITION TO TEACHING PROGRAM
HOWARD UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
Paying the Price for Constitutional Freedom Speech

Ward L. Churchill, a tenured professor at the University of Colorado at Boulder, may be fired after he made comments in a recent speech in which he called the United States "deviants" and compared it to Nazi Germany.

According to Pentagon, "They don't get angry. They're doing a time of war and just forget their orders. They don't care if the general says they have been ordered to kill them."

"They view the war as a smooth transition, not a hard fight," Pentagon wrote. "They are trained to think it is a good idea to go to war because they are told that this is what they are doing."

Our View:

"Don't Ask' Me to Enlist and 'Don't Tell' Me to Fight

According to some recent numbers released by the Department of Defense, the number of soldiers released from service under the 'don't ask, don't tell' policy has dropped. In April 2010, only 653 military personnel were discharged; this is the lowest since the policy was implemented in 2001. President Obama officials say they do not believe there is still a need for the policy.

"The Department of Defense's own statistics show that the policy has been successful in reducing the number of discharges," Pentagon said. "The policy has been in place for 30 years and has saved thousands of lives."

Our View:

"Robo-Army...Deploying Soon

After 30 years of trial and error, robot soldiers are no longer just a figment of science fiction. The Pentagon has decided it is ready to introduce robot soldiers into combat this spring.

According to Pentagon, "We don't get angry. They're doing a time of war and just forget their orders. They don't care if the general says they have been ordered to kill them.""
A Heart-Felt Farewell

ROMAN J.M. CALLIUS

On Saturday, Feb. 12, 2005, in fellowship around thousands of mourners at the Riverside Baptist Church in Harlem, we bade the life and legacy of the late Ossie Davis. Afterwards, the group of Howard students that traveled with and went to Sylvia’s to eat and reflect on the event. It was humbling being in the presence of such great men and women like Baby Dee, Dick Gregory, Harry Belafonte, Maya Angelou, Sonia Sanchez and more. We observed these contributions to the freedom struggle of African people; the legacy of Ossie and the impact it had on so many people. In his eulogy of Davis, Harry Belafonte expressed that he and Ossie recently reflected on only what we have done but how much time is left to do what we want us to do.

In a city divided into more than two, there are things from the ticker of the spectrum, and everywhere in between. Please, people, try to look at their courage and leadership, and I want to look at their courageous perspective about the U street corner.

How Refreshing

During that period in the late 40’s and 50’s black people

A Heart-Felt Farewell

ROMAN J.M. CALLIUS

On Saturday, Feb. 12, 2005, in fellowship around thousands of mourners at the Riverside Baptist Church in Harlem, we bade the life and legacy of the late Ossie Davis. Afterwards, the group of Howard students that traveled with and went to Sylvia’s to eat and reflect on the event. It was humbling being in the presence of such great men and women like Baby Dee, Dick Gregory, Harry Belafonte, Maya Angelou, Sonia Sanchez and more. We observed these contributions to the freedom struggle of African people; the legacy of Ossie and the impact it had on so many people. In his eulogy of Davis, Harry Belafonte expressed that he and Ossie recently reflected on only what we have done but how much time is left to do what we want us to do.

In a city divided into more than two, there are things from the ticker of the spectrum, and everywhere in between. Please, people, try to look at their courage and leadership, and I want to look at their courageous perspective about the U street corner.

Get Out Da Club and Into D.C.

JANA HOMES

“Now, what we gon’ do this weekend?” says the one University student to the other.

“Same thing we do every weekend; try to make it over the weekend.”

That cooperation and competition exist in every dormitory and building, by students across gender, classification and even race lines. But it’s rather disappointingly that some students feel that non-class activities. But it’s rather disappointingly that some students feel that non-class activities.

This conversation, and these stories, are the stories of Howard students that I traveled with and I went to Sylvia’s to eat and talk about Howard students.

See how we tolerate intolerable treatment? Who will come to us from the pacified state?

The only way responsibility falls on us, it must be shared by those with and without a platform. Our signatures are valid, and we can replay our Bond fantasies, go to a museum. Heaven knows we should come back from college with a bit more culture than when we left.

With a selection of Smithsonian, just about anyone should be able to find something of interest. And then there are other attractions like the Spy Museum, where you can conquer your fears or play a real life version of 007, and the Science Museum, where we get neighbors with our DNA on them.

Even if the museum is too advanced for you, you could at least go to a dance class at one of the many studios in the District, including the Bell Community Center, or the Potomac Civic or Vida Danza in the District, which I love. On the other hand, folks, try out a new movie theater or club.

Minor steps outside of Pentagon City and Gallery Place-Chinatown, while they may be a bit further and cost you an extras fee to do on your free time, have a lot to offer. For instance, Silver Spring Station, on the red line, has two movie theaters, one of which specializes in films of the beaten path, including many international of feature films. And then there’s the other side of the city, there’s a raging club, for those younger, simply might make them think.

Some new spots don’t seem to be on the metro grid, such as the National Museum of African Art, which has been a part of the city since 1987. And at the very least, folks, try out a new movie theater or club.

Phrasal of the Week

“I saw you cheating!”

Howard Purchasing Dorms to Ease Crunch

U Street... How Refreshing

MALCOLM STUBBLEFIELD

Finally, a refreshing perspective about the U and comed-icles. I spend a considerable amount of time shopping and visiting shops on U Street. It is becoming the place that our father used to talk about when I was a child. And during that period U Street represented the DC jazz scene. During that period in the late 40’s and 50’s black people

Fireman has hot deal, rooms for rent on Capitol Hill for $540.00 per month. Students that are neat and considerate are preferred. Contact: Mrs. Fowler 202-393-4055

Buy Black! Howard Deli
1. Shortie Special 4.95
2. Sandwich Special 5.30
3. Sub Special 6.75
All featuring "Ghetto Sweet" Iced Tea!!
2621 Georgia Ave., Northwest
MC-Visa-Debit, Kenny & PePe
We finna do it again shawty!!
Feb. 27-Mar. 5
www.hugsgeorgia-clinic.org

Welcome Back A.S.G
I Know You Had Fun In The Sun Back In Train!!

-Fawn

Show Time in Blackburn Talent Show Auditions Wednesday 7:00-9:30 Feb. 23, 2005 Human Ecology Bid/Aud Proceeds to African Tsunami Relief More Info http://www.communitytours @yahoo.com

JoVon, thanks for looking out for me last Friday at the Hospital I really appreciated it. Rachel and Frajovan, I am grateful for your help as well. It will never be forgotten.
Peace, Jimmy Prude (1-03-A) (1-03-A) Wonder Award!!!
Crystal B
Thank you holding down so many different things!!!

V-1-Z-I-O-N
U guys are the BEST!!! I am privileged to be around such talented, fun-loving, dedicated people. The ain't ready for us!!
-Fawn

Happy Birthday J-Ro!!! From Freda

Feb. 18, 2005

Announcements

Fireman has hot deal, rooms for rent on Capitol Hill for $540.00 per month. Students that are neat and considerate are preferred. Contact: Mrs. Fowler 202-393-4055

[Remaining content is not readable or legible, likely due to printing issues or damage.]