Works Progress Administration
Collection 119-1 to 119-18

Prepared & Revised by:
Greta S. Wilson
June 1980

Manuscript Division

Scope Note

The Works Progress Administration, WPA (name changed to Works Projects Administration July 1, 1939) was created by an Executive order of May 6, 1935 under the direction of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Administration. The purpose of this organization was to devise a program encompassing useful projects providing work relief for the unemployed. Officials of the WPA were Harry L. Hopkins, Administrator, Aubrey Williams, Deputy, and Alfred Edgar Smith, Administrative Assistant. Mr. Smith donated this collection of papers to the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center in 1960.

The WPA provided training for Negroes in work in which private industry refused them opportunities for apprenticeship, and at the same time refused to employ them because of lack of experience and training. It was Alfred Smith's special division which was responsible for administering race relation matters throughout the WPA program. His division maintained close contact with Negroes employed on WPA projects nationwide; and was responsible for furnishing data to other government officials on the status of the program.

This collection consists essentially of correspondence addressed to Mr. Smith, Mr. Hopkins, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and other WPA officials. The majority of the letters are verbatim typescript copies of the originals which reveal the unrestrained, sensitive and often times poignant emotions of the writers, who in most cases were poor, elderly, disabled or unemployed Black Americans. The contents of the correspondence are varied.

There are letters of complaints and requests for jobs; requests for money and pleas for artificial limbs; requests for farms and livestock; and requests for food and clothing. These and other pleas for help and information cover the entire relief spectrum and every other related subject.

An interesting compilation of letters, also included in the collection, is addressed to "Charlie Cherokee," a pseudonym chosen by Alfred Smith, who also wrote two columns in the Chicago Defender called the "Grapevine" and "Adventures in Race Relations" in the early forties. These letters are similar in caliber to the other letters in the collection; however, many are complimenting Charlie Cherokee on his provocative columns and the columns impact on the lives of Blacks and other underprivileged folk.

There are manuscripts by Alfred Smith on the Negro and relief, employment, etc.; press releases from the WPA; annual and monthly reports. A general program of the whole WPA organization, with statistical data and survey information, is included and copies of the Negro Press Digest from January to December, 1942. The collection is contained in 14 boxes measuring 8 linear feet including several wrapped items. It covers the years 1934-51.
