Funding for Retrofits Tunnel Rolls In, Hall Says

by Charles Coleman, Jr.

Hall, the homecoming chairman for 1999, is optimistic about the development and installation of "Retrospect," The Restoration of the Mess.

“Retrospect" is the phrase that Hall has coined for the restoration project, which will feature many of the original features of the building.

Hall said that the restoration project is "a great way to give back to the community." He added that the project will also provide a space for students to meet and socialize.

The tunnel is designed to simulate a walk through the original Howard University campus from 1912 to 1940.

Hall said that the tunnel will feature "the original flooring, the original ceiling, the original windows and doors." He added that the tunnel will also feature "the original heating and cooling system."
HU Marching Band Wows Kennedy Center

By ELIZABETH PHILLIPS

The Howard University "Showtime" Marching Band performed for the first time at the Kennedy Center Sunday. The band played the bigger crotch vision for the Star Wars Episode IV - A New Hope, after the film had begun.

"It was a historical performance for the Howard University "Showtime" Marching Band" said Assistant Director of University Bands Kelvin Washington. The band, which is the biggest student organization on campus, agreed to perform at the Kennedy Center because it wanted to get more exposure, Washington said.

The big band began its tour by performing in a parade for a crowd of nearly 15,000, according to Mary Alexander, manager of media relations for the Kennedy Center.

The marching band’s performance included the "Flyboy" flyboys and the Howard University Alumni, showing everyone why they are ranked among the nation’s leading marching bands.

"The performance shows the diversity of the group," said Assistant Director of University Bands Michael A. Price, the winner another of the band staff and Howard alumni. "Their ability to go from big giant to the concert hall shows the responsibility of the musicians’ ability."

"The ensemble grace swells of its era, and to share pictures and even video capturing the performance."

"A lot of people get excited when they see a black college band because it’s not seen very much," said junior trombone player Alvin Bivens. The band included such an inclusive aspect such as voices with three popular songs and difficult marches.

"I think it was something that will help us show our diversity as regards to being able to perform half hour shows and parade in addition to different types of music all while maintaining." said Director of University Bands July E. Taylor.

After the parade, Taylor said that "Showtime" Marching Band was performing due to the desire of an international performance. There is a large audience interest of the type music performed during half hour shows by playing some of the other favorites.

The crowd responded favorably by taking pictures and even video capturing the performance.

"Yes, I am kind of seeing blood rain and mud and girls on TV," said Rochelle Franklin, administrative assistant major.

"The NAACP helps others out but when the biases here, no one helps them out. Yes, I can help out."

"Yes, that the white washing of TV shows make it seem worse, ever."

"Yes. I would, but I don’t believe it would make them think. See people in position of power be in charge.

"First, second and third place medals were awarded to the fastest overall male and female participants and to the fastest participant in each age group. From 19 and under to 50 and above."

"The Five Miler race is used as a training device for upcoming events, such as the Howard 10 Mile and the Race Challenge."

"This is a special year, and this the best we’ve had."

"Howard University was chosen newly in the process because we wanted a large kick-off for the festival," said Tamara Wights, programming coordinator for the Kennedy Center. "We wanted something to kick off. And, who better than the Howard University "Showtime" Marching Band? We were very happy they chose us to be the opening show to make a wonderful impression, it sign of things to come. The performance was terrific."
The ring pull.

It's convenient. It's efficient. And it's simply brilliant.

Standing at the feet of one of the most prestigious African-American (AA) groups in the nation, a group that has been a major player in the AA community for almost a century, Dr. Patrick Swygert and Howard University President Dr. Manzo O. Howard ended their first meeting on Saturday by saying that they would work together to build a new church.

Dr. Swygert, who is best known as the founder of the Howard University Church and the Howard University Student Government Association, is also a key figure in the AA community. He has been a leader in the AA community for more than 50 years and has been a force in the AA community for more than 50 years.

The AA community is in deep mourning after the death of Dr. Swygert’s 88-year-old father, Dr. James Swygert, on Thursday. Dr. Swygert’s death was a profound loss for the AA community, and it is a loss that will be felt by many for years to come.

“Dr. Swygert was a true friend to many of us in the AA community,” said Howard University President Dr. Manzo O. Howard. “He was a leader in the AA community and a respected member of the Howard University community. He will be deeply missed by all of us.”

Dr. Swygert’s death has left a void in the AA community, but his legacy will live on through the work of his children and his grandchildren. Dr. Swygert’s family has been a driving force in the AA community for many years, and his contributions will continue to be felt for years to come.

The AA community is a close-knit group, and the death of Dr. Swygert has been felt deeply by many. However, the community is determined to carry on with the work that Dr. Swygert began and to build a stronger future for the AA community.

“I am committed to building a stronger AA community,” said Howard University President Dr. Manzo O. Howard. “Dr. Swygert’s death is a loss for the AA community, but his legacy will continue to be felt for years to come.”

Black Family Reunion Celebration Draws Thousands to D.C.

By Kristy Hiros

Black family reunion seems to be a construction action in the face of national concerns impacting the African-American family. In addition, health care, drug abuse, teen pregnancy and unemployment is a topic said today. These are issues that are offered to the public.

The event was very well attended. The service consisted of a number of African-American speakers and performers. In a positive way,哥斯达黎加 said that it definitely fulfilled the goals and visions of the Black family service.

The national sponsors of the black family reunion for this year were Ford, General Mills, Nabisco, Proctor and Gamble and Women United American Airlines.

Moro Magazine brings Latin and African Roots To The Forefront

By Kristy Hiros

Business Editor

A broad new, fresh faced magazine with a Latin edge will put out its second issue this fall. By the time this issue falls, 30,000 people will have seen the magazine for the first time.

Co-editor and owner Robert Apriella is a native of the Bronx, New York, and Maryland College Park. Moro's other editor is Mutsumi Mauer, a graduate student at Howard studying Latin American and Diaspora History.

Moro has been in the works for some time. The partners discovered a need for a magazine involving the Latin American world.

The founders of Moro are Robert Apriella, the magazine's editor-in-chief, and Mutsumi Mauer, the magazine's co-editor. They are both in their mid-30's and have been working on the magazine for about a year.

Moro is a magazine designed for people interested in Latin America and its issues. The magazine has a political and social focus, and it is published twice a year. It is available at newsstands and online.

The magazine's name is inspired by the Latin American country of Morocco, which is known for its rich culture and history. The name also alludes to the fact that the magazine is a platform for Latin American voices and perspectives.

Moro's first issue was released in December 1998, and it was well received by readers and critics alike. The second issue, scheduled to be released in October 1999, is expected to build on the success of the first issue.

In this issue, Moro continues to focus on important issues facing Latin America, such as social justice, human rights, and the environment. The magazine features articles by well-known Latin American writers and activists, as well as emerging voices from the region.

Moro is published by the Latin America Initiative, a non-profit organization based in Washington, D.C. The initiative was founded in 2000 with the goal of promoting greater understanding and respect for Latin America through the publication of Moro Magazine.

The Latin America Initiative is committed to supporting Latin American writers, artists, and thinkers who are working to build a more just and equitable world. Moro Magazine is an important part of this mission, and we hope that you will continue to support us by reading the magazine and spreading the word.

We are always looking for new writers and artists to contribute to Moro Magazine. If you are interested in writing or illustrating for the magazine, please contact us at info@lataminitiative.org.

Genocide and Slavery Stalk Sudan

lavery and genocide have raked Sudan for nearly two decades, and the African-American community has through its silence condemning a Rwandan horror taken the lives of millions of innocent people. In terms of mortality Sudan is a virtual living hell: it has had the longest continuous civil war in the world—32 years. Over 9 million Sudanese have died in the past 15 years—more than in Bosnia, Kosovo, Afghanistan, Somalia, Chad, and Angola combined. Sudan has 4,350,000 displaced persons and refugees, and 2.5 million famine-affected people. There are an additional 5 mil- lion solely impoverished people in the south, a third of the country. Last, the Sudan is in the world's greatest tragedy of black slavery.

Where is our outrage at the carnage and suf- fer ing of our brothers and sisters in Sudan? Such horrible details should make this country's front-page news. Our brain-dead, narcotized industry, particularly movies and television, behooves us as a community to betray our own kind and continue to offer our support through our viewing habits despite the demands of minorities. It is the unique black identity behind the support of our own. Our failure to act gives the wrongs of slavery and the black Holocaust at the breast of all of us. We cannot get into a time machine and undo the wrongs of slavery and the black Holocaust of the past, but we can stop the black Holocaust of today. We must fight the high calling of Uni- versean Abolitionists and demand peace and the rule of just law in the Sudan and the whole of Africa. Every day 360 people die in Sudan.

Dear Editor

I would like to thank the staff of The Hilltop for their coverage two weeks ago of the signing at The White House of the Addis Ababa Agreement between the Ministers of Althea Kappe Sorority, Inc., and the men of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. I feel it is important that student organizations get recognition in their attempts to serve Howard and the community at large.

I plan to say this, but I believe fraternities and sororities have become too exclusive. To put it plati- tely, it seems to me as though, except for patry- ties, the only people who go to greek events are people who want membership.

You have the best when we say we are in greek land honestly throw Amherst students. Do not let our failure to reach the masses and fail so short because the letters on the black hand feel emotions. Do not let the ignorance of others stop us from attending something of great interest or value.

Greek life is a part of college life, especially here at Howard. I hope your interest in us does not end when we stop stepping.

Sincerely,

Kathia M. Vidal

Health Articles No Place for Smutty Verse, Steamy Adjectives

MARIE BAWIDINSKI

On Thursday, Sep. 9, The

Community News

ran a story in its issue that was quite distressing to read.

The article in question was entitled "The First Amendment's Protections For DC College News" by

Erich Hall.

The article discussed the right of students to publish content in the college newspaper, The Howard University

Magazine, without interference from the university administration. However, the article also raised concerns about the inclusion of smutty and steamy advertisements in the newspaper.

The author, Marie Bawidinski, points out that the college newspaper is a public publication and should not be used as a platform for explicit content that violates community standards. She advocates for a more responsible approach to advertising in the newspaper.

She concludes that the university should take steps to ensure that the content published in the newspaper aligns with the values and standards of the college community.

NOW SHOWING AT A STADIUM NEAR YOU

BY CHRISTOPHER WINDHAM
Hilltop Staff Writer

"They can't stop both of us. We can go left, we can go right, we can go up the middle and we can go outside. They can't shut both of us down." The "risky" Howard University running back David Johnson is referring to is the opposing defense that will try to stop Howard's "Men In Back." This season, John's players have deemed them "The Dynamic Duo." Others prefer to call them "Rollin' Thunder." But these two running backs just want to be themselves.

"I'm going to perceive myself as David Johnson and he's going to perceive himself as Jerome Hutchinson," said Johnson. "We're going to let our action on the field form our names." Junior running back David Johnson and Jerome Hutchinson are the major reasons why Howard has hopes for the 1999 football season.

"Dating back to last year, we were basically a pass-oriented team," said Johnson. "This year, it's going to be more of a running team. The running backs we have, Jerome and myself, are going to perform up to our duties."

Last season, Johnson gained 467 yards on 59 carries, Hutchinson followed with 516 yards on 77 carries in an injury-plagued season. This season, Hutchinson is a goal for himself.

"I want to gain 1200 yards and score 20 touchdowns," said Hutchinson with a smile. If he can repeat his performance during the Urban League Classic against other opponents this season, his goal could be attainable. Hutchinson rushed for 132 yards on 23 carries and four touchdowns against Hampton and was named Most Valuable Player of the game. Jerome Hutchinson is the son of the small town of Hahndorf, Fla. White growing up, he never had many NFL heroes, but there is one NFL great who Hutchinson tries to imitate, he never really idolized anyone, but his game is similar to Walter Payton's style of play, because we both use power and strength," said Hutchinson.

"Hutch," as Jerome is called by his teammates, said he chose Howard three years ago for numerous reasons. "I thought I could change the program," said Hutchinson. "I wanted to change the offense from a mostly passing attack to a running attack."

This Bowl's offense wants to improve from last year, they will have to do it with the addition of another running back, in MEAC history, Ted White, White's departure allowed Bobby Townsend to step in as Howard's new starting quarterback. "He's going to take a lot of pressure off us, being that a (Townsend) is little more mobile and faster than Ted," said Hutchinson.

"If they try to shut us down, we can go to the air," said Johnson. "Going into week three, Townsend is now one of the top passers in the MEAC. Townsend's success is very important to Jerome Hutchinson." A lot of teams were saying because Ted White is gone, Howard is gone," said Hutchinson. "Bobby Townsend is going to surprise everybody, he's a great athlete."

Despite the dropping bowl ranking and 6-2 start, Johnson still has high hopes for this season.

"Rankings don't mean anything," said Johnson. "It's how you perform on the field. They can rank us last but we'll come up number one in the end."

Holding the distinction of being the underdog each game doesn't bother Hutchinson either. "I'm generally, I like being the underdog," said Hutchinson. "I like to come in and surprise people."

Hutchinson believes that there are similarities in Johnson's and his styles of playing.

"Some characteristics we share are great speed, great strength, the ability to read holes and the ability to make opponent miss tackles," said Hutchinson.

Surprisingly, the only difference in styles, according to Hutchinson, is the way head coach Steve Wilson utilizes his two running backs. "I'm not sure in blocking situations and David is used to more passing plays, like screens," said Hutchinson. Last season, Johnson had nine receptions for 124 yards, while Hutchinson racked up five receptions for 78 yards.

In most college backfields, running backs are very competitive with each other. Competition on the field usually eliminates chances of friendship off the field. Johnson and Hutchinson prove that wrong again. They consider good friends off the field and well as on. Hutchinson has no problem sharing the work load with Johnson.

"He's been good friends ever since we arrived and we're looking forward to playing together," Hutchinson explained. "I just want to win."

But Hutchinson has still want Johnson. "What else besides running back?" Hutchinson asks. "I don't consider Hutchinson as the team's most valuable player."

Opposing defenses, looking for a scared, insecure running back to pounce on should look elsewhere. Johnson and Hutchinson are confident in their abilities. When asked how he would stop himself if he were on an opposing defense, Hutchinson replied, "I would think the ball with nine men. But, if the offensive line does their job, we can't go wrong. There's no real way to stop me."

If running backs David Johnson and Jerome Hutchinson continue to improve their stats, this season as they have done since their 1997 arrival, the 1999 season might become the season of Howard's "Men In Back."
Bison Face Wildcats in Riverfront Classic

By KIMOTKY K. BROWN
Managing Editor

Our very own Howard University Bison will look to avenge last week's heartbreaking loss to the Hampton University Pirates, 27-24. The Bison, 2-2, will square off against 2-0 Bethune-Cookman as part of the Riverfront Classic in Cincinnati, Sunday. Last year's contest between these two teams saw the Bison defeat the Pirates, 28-27, in a heart breaking loss to Howard University's (HU) head coach Joe Taylor. The Bison were able to avenge last year's 38-31 thriller when the Pirates held off a furious Bison rally late in the game for the victory.

This year, the Bison, who are averaging 335 yards, with 200 yards coming from HU's leading rusher, Zulmaire McDonald, who had two touchdow n passes, and 404 yards total offense, will look to avenge last year's loss to the HU offense. The namesake of Wildcats' head coach Larry Smith, who is trying to prove something this season. On the other hand, Bethune-Cookman is trying to prove that they are worth all the pre-season accolades. Kickoff is at 3 p.m.

The fourth quarter opened with a HU touchdown. HU drew 37 yards on five plays, and the drive ended with a 22-yard run by Hutchinson for the score with 14:52 in the fourth quarter. The Bison were able to match 65 yards from their own 25-yard line to score with 10:22 in the final quarter. The Bison were able to come back down the field, starting at the 28-yard line, the Bison offense is still as active helped me more when I finally got out, said Townsend. The secondary played much better against Hampton's receiving core. Though the defense did not allow Hampton a four-yard run by HU running back David Johnson, it did allow four receptions for 119 yards. The defense redeemed themselves by providing solid coverage and defensive end Oby Arah had two sacks and burned for three touchdowns against JSU quarterback Roy Johnson completed 15 of 30 passes for 131 yards and had one interception. Hampton quarterback, Ryan Johnson completed 35 of 50 passes for 212 yards on the day and had one touchdow n pass. Hutchison's tremendous effort on the field caused him to be selected Most Valuable Player of the game.

Quarterback Bobby Townsend completed 12 of 17 passes for 133 yards and half a interception. Hampton quarterback, Ryan Johnson completed 35 of 50 passes for 212 yards on the day and had one touchdow n pass. Hutchison's tremendous effort on the field caused him to be selected Most Valuable Player of the game.

Howard's capable arm and leadership. People he said, but got better after Omar Evans walked up the victory. HU drove 77 yards on five plays, and the drive ended with a four-yard run by HU running back David Johnson, who had two touchd ow n passes, and 404 yards total offense, will look to avenge last year's loss to the HU offense. The secondary played much better against Hampton's receiving core. Though the defense did not allow Hampton a four-yard run by HU running back David Johnson, it did allow four receptions for 119 yards. The defense redeemed themselves by providing solid coverage and defensive end Oby Arah had two sacks and burned for three touchdowns against JSU quarterback Roy Johnson completed 15 of 30 passes for 131 yards and had one interception. Hampton quarterback, Ryan Johnson completed 35 of 50 passes for 212 yards on the day and had one touchdow n pass. Hutchison's tremendous effort on the field caused him to be selected Most Valuable Player of the game.

Quarterback Bobby Townsend completed 12 of 17 passes for 133 yards and half a interception. Hampton quarterback, Ryan Johnson completed 35 of 50 passes for 212 yards on the day and had one touchdow n pass. Hutchison's tremendous effort on the field caused him to be selected Most Valuable Player of the game.

Jenkins Starts at Strong Safety in St. Louis' 27-10 Victory in Season Opener

By William Brawley

The St. Louis Rams defeated the Baltimore Ravens 27-10 Sunday in the season opener at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. Former Maryland tailback Billy Jenkins started at strong safety in the Rams' victory.

It was a great start for the Rams, who defeated the Ravens 22-17 and 17-10. The win proved that Jenkins had solidified himself as the starting strong safety. "I think this is a great opportunity for us to start," he said. "I'm not sure how it will end, but I am not happy to start against the Ravens." When the Rams signed Devin Bush from the NFL Combine, it was a surprise move for the Rams. "I thought we'd go with the Rams when he was drafted," said Jenkins.

Jenkins led the Rams in tackles with six, which is key for the Rams' defense. "I think we played well on the Rams' side of the ball," he said. "I thought we'd go with the Rams when he was drafted," said Jenkins.

Jenkins, who was the leading tackler in the MEAC, had a total of 133 tackles in his three-year career at Maryland. He was a three-time first-team all-MEAC selection and a two-time team captain. "When Minnesota originally drafted me as a safety," he said, "I knew I was going to be an important player for the Vikings. I was happy with my decision to stay at Maryland, but I think Minnesota's decision to not pick me was a mistake." While at Maryland, Jenkins was a three-time first-team all-MEAC selection and a two-time team captain. "I think Minnesota's decision to not pick me was a mistake," he said. Tennis Team Gets Off to Winning Start

By TERRA MCKINNEY
Hiltop Staff Writer

W hen last we checked in on the Howard University tennis team, they were just 3-1 in their season. Now they are 5-1 after their first match of the season. The team returned to action on the tennis courts by participating in the Mount St. Mary's Invitational on September 10-13. The team had a strong showing, winning all of their matches on Friday afternoon through Saturday afternoon.

The tennis team displayed their endurance, technique, and skills during their matches. The women's team placed first in the A flight division and Jackson placed first in the C flight division. The women's team placed second in the B flight division and Pruitt placed second in the C flight division. The team impressed with their teamwork and their competitive spirit.

The intense practice the team endured during the summer paid off as they improved their game. The team's effort, intensity, and dedication will continue throughout the entire season.

Student Athlete of the Week

BY NICCY CAP
Hilltop Staff Writer

Lauren Pruitt, a sophomore International Studies major and goalkeeper, is the student athlete of the week. Pruitt has been a key player on the women's soccer team since she joined the team in high school. She has played in all 16 games this season, with 10 goals scored on her watch. She has been the captain of the team, Most Valuable Player, and was selected to the All-Country, League, and Metropolitan teams. She likes the game.

"It's one of the worst feelings in the world," she said. "People may look only thing that can intimidate opponents. When she gives her intense glare to opponents at the coin-toss circle, watch the girls get the feeling she is staring them down, daring them to look away. Pruitt won three conference championships with the All-African American Tigers in the spring when we scrimmaged against the same teams. She is a force to be reckoned with on the soccer field. She has played both soccer and tennis in high school. She maintains a cumulative GPA of 3.82. She is a member of the Howard University tennis team, now Hampton University, and won the All-County, Orange and Yellow, and Men's Western championships.

Despite the lack of players on the men's team, Howard fans have called their team an "unbeatable" and "incomparable" team. Howard University students could care less about Hampton. Kirchoffy K. Brown.

Boothe Booters Get Back On Track

Men's Soccer Team Boods Fecelian and Ties Towson

BY TYRONE MCCONDELL

After dropping their first game of the season, the Booters defeated Fecelian University in a 2-0 match and tied Towson University in their second game. Despite their loss to Towson University, the Booters have continued to show improvement.

During the first game, Howard faced a young and talented team from Towson. The Booters were off to a first goal with a goal by Darren Turner, off a free kick delivered by Turner in the 7th minute. The next six minutes, the Booters finished off with a goal by Kevin Hallman. Fecelian was down 2-0 and had a goal by Thomas Adams placed first in the C flight division. The women's team placed second in the B flight division and Pruitt placed second in the C flight division. The team impressed with their teamwork and their competitive spirit.

Howard Gets Taste Of Music Industry
Two Day Event Included Panel Discussion and Fashion Show/Concert

By JOHN WILLIAM IV
Tempo Editor

It was no stretch to close Howard's day of music because Mason recording artists, music executives, and the "who's who" of the industry converged on Campus Mall for two days of entertainment and education on Oct. 9.

Howard graduate and president/CEO of University Music Entertainment, A. Haqq Islam and friends, led the arrival of window dressing for black music panel discussion on the first day. The Black music panel focused on some of the biggest names in the industry. Executives like Beyonce's mother, Tina Knowles, and Sismo Emanuel, president of Philadelphia International joined A. Haqq Islam and others to share their expertise in the music industry.

After the panel reminded and educated the audience, it was the audience's turn to take the mic. Questions ranged from whether Deff Daddy was true hip hop to inspecting career decisions. Some audience members felt that some of the music executives were held in too little esteem.

"Some of [what students had to say was] great," said Tori Choice, a junior telecommunications major and college radio station DJ. "I was just presenting their questions to the music executives. We had quite a few questions ranging from general desiring to know about becoming a music executive. I asked them how they became music executives. Some responses made it very clear that this isn't a career you can go to school for. You have to go out into the world and gain experience, so it was enjoyable. It was actually very interesting and I learned quite a bit from the music executives." Choice felt that the students were taken seriously and appreciated the panel.

The second day of the panel included Howard students and the Violinist duo of Jonathan "Lightly" Williams and "Baby" Chris Lightly. "Murda Muzik" was once again proving why both Mobb Deep is misunderstood, underrated and influenceful.

The Howard Bisones took the stage, dancing to J. "Jay" Z's "Big Shaq." After the stage was cleared, Lil Cease took the stage and performed several songs before a glowing performance. The Black music panel praised the event, saying it was one of the few entertaining and thought-provoking events that occurred. The panel provided some insight into the music industry. Some students made music executive impressions on the panel, and said the panel was as energetic as it was informative.

Howard native Terry DeVier was one of the many artists who performed at University Music Entertainment's fashion show/concert. She has been involved in the music industry for many years and was the perfect host for the event.

"It was a fun event. It was a great experience. It was a lot of fun and I would definitely do it again. I hope to do this again next year. It was a great experience for me. I had a lot of fun," said Terry DeVier.

The fashion show featured a variety of designers, including Beyonce's mother, Tina Knowles, and Sismo Emanuel, president of Philadelphia International. The models walked the runway, showcasing their talents and designs. The show was a great success and attendees were all smiles.

After the show, the audience was treated to a Q&A session with the music executives. Questions ranged from general advice to specific career opportunities. Some students were able to ask questions directly to the music executives, and others were able to ask questions anonymously through a survey.

The event concluded with a panel discussion on the music industry. The panelists included Howard students and music industry professionals. The discussion was moderated by A. Haqq Islam and focused on topics such as the future of the music industry, the role of music education, and the importance of networking.

The event was a great success and attendees were all smiles. It was a great opportunity for students to learn about the music industry and to network with professionals. The event was a great success and attendees were all smiles.

A Deep Rebuttal

By RACHAEL BROWN
Hilltop Staff Writer

Only the pure of heart feel the music, not those who follow success, friends, and trends with their songs and music.

Beyond last year's homecoming, a mixture of sounds ended up in circulation on HU's campus and on it was given a hip, gypsy rollercoaster ride entitled "Go." The plot focuses mainly around three teenage employees of "The Shop," a clothing store in the area of "The Shop." Each story fills in the blanks from proceeding stories.

"Go" is a real winner. Funny, sexy, tense and a completely original take on old material. "Go" is as worthy as it is informative. "Go" is as worthy as it is informative.
MAWSLOT'S ALBUM ASSESSMENT

By MAWSLOT

Special To The Hilltop

Artists: The Beatnuts

Album: A Musical Massacre

Production: The Beatnuts

Pertinent Artists: Common, Dead Prez, Biz Markie, Guru, Masta Ace, Cantonese Link, and Triple Seis (Turror Storm •· remix featuring Lil' Kim).

Assessment: A-

For those familiar with Corona Queens native Vy-Clar and Joe Gipmier, members of the hip-hop duo The Beatnuts, this review is an acknowledgement of their hard work over the last eight years. However, for those not privy to who The Beatnuts are, please allow MAWSLOT to embellish.

The Beatnuts have become renowned for producing some of the best collaborations and plain filler, ever since their debut MITU Intropact (Demeter). Thus, what they do to us is different than what fellow hip-hop producer DJ Premier and Pete Rock do, it's the Beatnuts who have managed to maintain a creative balance between being decent collaborators and plain filler. Stories of the duo have been exaggerated to the point where the group is better than even most rap groups.

Production: Approaching perfection, The Beatnuts have a way of keeping their beats interesting throughout the entire album. On "Too Deep" featuring Bliss and Method Man, the group fluidly produced a sound track that flows well throughout. "Bliss and Method Man's theme song," the producer himself, proclaimed. "That's how I know they're good!"

MAWSLOT'S HILLTOP PICK OF THE WEEK

The former frontman of SWV has a winner with her debut album, "Hot Coffee!" Fans of Coko's voice will be delighted to listen to a gospel/soothing tracks produced by Rodney Jerkins, who has produced for the likes of Mary J. Blige and Jennifer Lopez. Brian Alexander-Morgan produced the hot track "Tri-Fold," featuring Rudy Rudey's first lady Love. Though the album has a good mix of uplifting songs and slow ballads, the content is backloaded and Coko's voice can become monotonous after awhile.

Q. I had sex with this upperclassman guy I thought I was in love with. For a moment, I thought he loved me too. We had been going out for less than two weeks when I had sex with him. I haven't heard from him since. I see him regularly on the Yadd and he acts as if nothing happened between us. My question to you is, did I do something wrong? Am I a slut for sleeping with a guy I barely knew? I feel the need to confront him and discuss what happened.

A. Well you have one thing right: you need help.
