Lest We Forget!

The photographs featured here are from a traveling national exhibition that was on view on the Howard University campus for about a month starting on September 13. Titled "We'll Never Turn Back," the exhibition of approximately 130 photographs is the work of 13 photographers who were associated with the Civil Rights Movement.

"We'll Never Turn Back" is one phase of a project titled "Voices of the Civil Rights Movement"—a series of regional and local conferences on the movement. It was developed by Bernice Johnson Reagon, director of the Program in Black American Culture, Smithsonian Performing Arts, and sponsored by Howard University and the Smithsonian Institution. The university's participation was made possible by grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities. □
