Howard University Digital Howard @ Howard University

The Hilltop: 2000 - 2010

The Hilltop Digital Archive

11-1-2006

The Hilltop 11-1-2006

Hilltop Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010

Recommended Citation

Staff, Hilltop, "The Hilltop 11-1-2006" (2006). The Hilltop: 2000 - 2010. 344. https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010/344

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Hilltop Digital Archive at Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Hilltop: 2000 - 2010 by an authorized administrator of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact digitalservices@howard.edu.

HILTOP

The Daily Student Voice of Howard University

VOLUME 90, NO. 46

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 2006

WWW.THEHILLTOPONLINE.COM

x>osszos

BREAKING NEWS

NEW IPOD SHUFFLE SELLS THIS FRIDAY APPLE IS RELEASING THE NEW IPOD SHUFFLE THIS FRIDAY WHICH IS THE SMALLEST IPOD TO DATE AND HAS THE CAPACITY

FOR UP TO 240 SONGS, ACCORDING TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

NATION & WORLD

IS CELIBACY LINKED TO CHILD ABUSE? ONE PSYCHIATRIST SAYS THAT PRIESTS ARE MORE LIKELY TO ABUSE CHILDREN BECAUSE OF THEIR VOW OF CELIBACY. FIND OUT MORE IN NATION & WORLD PAGE 4

/ED. 11/1: ARTLY CLOUD

THURS $1/2:

Student Athletic Trainers Continue Strike

BY CARYN GRANT Sports Editor

The student athletic trainers submitted a notice to the athletic department that they would go on strike Monday.

The letter was given to Athletic Director Dwight Datcher, Vice Provost for Student Affairs Franklin Associate Athletic Chambers, Directors Dexter Harris and Kevin Crittendon, assistant athletic trainers and team physicians.

"We're sick of volunteering with no compensation," said senior prephysical therapy major and student athletic trainer Kristin Kimble. "We do so much and it's such a time consuming job. We want some form of compensation."

The trainers say they have been offered compensation in the form has been a whole lot of

Kelsi Davis, also a senior pre-physical therapy major and the representative for the student athletic trainers, said that initially those student trainers that were here last year met with Datcher but it can't happen."

at that time in order to see what types of things they could receive.

"We followed up with him at the beginning of the semester and it seemed that everything was in the works and in order," Davis said. "From them until now, there run around and nothing has happened." "We were told that we could have these things," she said. "We were told that these things were coming to us, but now they're not here."

ing into just his eleventh month as trainer. Athletic Director at Howard. "You have to stop and think that there's a reason these things haven't happened in the past."

Datcher said that he understands the value that student trainers bring to an athletic program.

"I'm trying to give them respect like that of our varsity teams, but that takes time," he said.

Datcher, enter- Datcher said that the department is attempting to fill the void of a head

> "If everything was clear to have a head trainer in September, then we would have done that," he said. "No one's benefiting from us not having a head trainer."

> With multiple Howard sports teams still in competition, both parties want to resolve this issue as quickly as possible.

> Datcher initially responded to the notice of strike hours after he received it, Kimble said, but the student trainers declined because as outlined in their letter, they would not meet with him until there was a written statement.

> A meeting between the two parties has been scheduled for today.

"We enjoy doing what we do, but we have to look out for ourselves right now," Kimble said. "Hopefully we don't have to miss any games, but if that's what it comes down to, we're prepared to do that." "[The athletic department] would have to do the best we can. That's all we can do," Datcher said of the possibility that teams would have to continue to compete without the services of the student athletic trainers.

of sweats, shorts and shoes in the past, and more recently vouchers and assistance with housing and registration.

"Basically, we're tired and frustrated," Kimble said. "We have been promised things in the past and it hasn't happened."

Datcher said that the he and the athletic department are taking the matter very seriously.

"What I'm able to gather is that it's an issue of speed," Datcher said. "We want to make changes to quick, Datcher said that he is attempting to give the student trainers "stipends that are unstipulated." but that he prefers to sit down with the student trainers to clarify

File Plants

Athletic Director Dwight Datcher and athletic trainers will meet today to resolve a strike regarding multiple issues.

> what their qualms are and what is the this to happen." best route to go.

"No other athletic director has also included concern of a vacancy in opened up as much as I am," said the position of head athletic trainer.

They have a big value to us as student trainers," Datcher said. "I'm attempting to up their value by giving them compensation, but it also depends on how Howard will allow

> "But I think we can work something out, so I won't even put that scenario into play."

Haunted Hilltop: Frights and Delights

Howard University Residence Life sponsored the annual Haunted Hilltop, Tuesday night in Cook The free event was open Hall. to Howard students and the surrounding community.

The spooky attraction featured classic and contemporary horror movie villains such as Jason from the "Friday the 13th" series, Jigsaw from the "Saw" series, and the Cryptkeeper from "Tales From the Crypt."

Crowds began gathering before 6 p.m. for the Halloween event, which also offered free popcorn and cotton candy. The event ended at 11 p.m.

Students and community members alike donned their costumes in celebration, while music and dancing took over the street. Despite lengthy lines, visitors were entertained with the common Halloween performance of the dance to Michael Jackson's "Thriller."

Tutorial Programs Aid HU Students

BY MERCIA WILLIAMS-MURRAY Contributing Writer

The student trainer's complaints

A student has a plethora of options when it comes to seeking assistance for their academic woes. Almost every school has some sort of tutorial program set up to help students that may be having problems with one or more courses.

Chair of the mathematics department, Dr. Abdul-Aziz Yakubu said, "We do have a tutorial service here in Academic Support Building B. It's on the first floor. The tutorial lab is run almost every day and students can go there to get help," he said. "The lab is run by some grad students and undergrad students as well. Students can always come up to the math department and ask individual professors for help. Tutorial services are just an extra service. HUSA runs one [a tutorial service] in the Engineering Building, another source of help for our students."

Senior mathematics major require that [students] come in with their textbook and notes. We go through practice questions. I will usually give them a question after the practice questions. If they don't understand, we go through it again." A living testament to the effectiveness of the service, junior marketing major Shawn Bagat said, "The extra help has been very...helpful."

a day. When it's closer to midterms or finals, we see about a 100 [students] a day."

Most of the students who come to the lab seek help with algebra 1 and 2, pre-calculus, and calculus 1-3. A few come in with questions about linear algebra and statistics.

Goodlett said, "occasionally some of the teachers will drop by and assist. Tutoring doesn't only go in the center. Students can come in my office with various levels of mathematics and get individual help."

Goodlett also praises the director of the program. He said, "Dr. Valerie Lawson is very supportive to students and students can feel free to come at any time to arrange for help. Don't wait until you're in trouble. People are friendly and willing to help."

CAR operates in Academic Support Building B. Mondays through Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Writing Center is anothand tutor in the Center for er popular stop for students Academic Reinforcement (CAR), in need. It is located in Locke Makeda Murray said, "We Hall, Room 100 and operates on Mondays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesdays from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m., Wednesdays from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Timothy Lyle, a graduate assistant for the English department said, "The Writing Center provides tutoring for undergraduate students in various disciplines. We provide assistance with style, structure and grammar," he said. "Honestly, the students dictate direction of their session based on their specific writing needs. The tutors in the Writing Center empower stu-Murray said, "Every hour we dents to improve their own writing skills rather than providing a copy editing service."

Tyrope Clemons - Staff Photographer

Health Fair Promotes Better Lifestyle

BY EBONI FARMER Hilltop Staff Writer

American women because they are dying at higher

In order to create a more health conscious staff, the Universities Office of Total Compensation sponsored a wellness fair yesterday in the Blackburn ballroom.

"This fair was organized to heighten the awareness of the universities staff so that they may have healthier lifestyle," said benefits counselor and Howard alum Bridget Marshall.

Since October was breast cancer awareness month, the fair particularly targeted this issue of breast cancer.

"It is important that all women are aware of their risk of getting breast cancer. Especially, African-rates than any other race in the country," said health professor Dennis Waller.

"Eating healthy and exercising are the basic things that everyone should do in order to be healthy it does not matter if you are a student or staff," Waller said.

The fair was also host to a raffle in which prizes related to health such as basketballs, health books and scales were raffled off to participants.

Among the organizations at the event was the Howard University Hospital Diabetes Support Group. "When I was diagnosed

See FAIR, NEWS A3

Tyrune Clemans - Staff Photographer

A wellness fair hosted in Blackburn spread information about breast cancer and health insurance.

As a math instructor and assistant director of CAR, Dr. Rackham Goodlett is helping Bagat with implicit differential, a concept found in calculus.

have seven to 10 people. When Dr. Goodlett has a test, the lab is packed. It's around 50 people

INDEX: CAMPUS NATION & WORLD

BIZ & TECH

SPORTS

LIFE & STYLE 8

EDITORIALS & PERSPECTIVES 9

-

19

2 CAMPUS Home For The Holidays Too Short For Certain Howard Students

BY CRYSTAL SCHANETTE Contributing Writer

Having class during the scheduled time is how the school system works. However many Howard students would prefer if their professors canceled scheduled classes during the holidays.

"Holiday's should be used to be with family," said freshman biology major Brittany Gibbs. Gibbs, a native of Charleston, S.C., believes that she has no time to really relax and enjoy her breaks because of time constraints.

The days allotted off for Thanksgiving break for Howard students are: Thursday Nov. 23 and Friday Nov. 24. Classes resume that Monday Nov. 27.

Some students believe classes on that Wednesday or Monday should be canceled.

"It's like high school all over again," said junior administration of justice major LaQueenia Brown. "In high school I got two days off from school and then the weekend. Although we did at least have half days or early dismissal on that Wednesday," she said.

In order to gain a longer break during the Christmas season, Brown asks her professor at the beginning of the semester when their perspective final will be.

"I'm from Cleveland, so I don't get to go home that often and see my family, and the [airline] tickets aren't cheap," said Brown. Brown plans to study abroad next semester so she will UMD has final exams Dec. 14-20. The school is closed Dec. 25, 2006- Jan. 1, 2007. The university's winter term begins Jan. 2, 2007 and lasts until Jan 22. Regular classes for spring semester begin the Jan. 24.

In comparison to UMD, it seems Howard's breaks are especially short. Howard However, University closes on all legal holidays. Many universities do not get legal holidays off, such as Columbus Day or Veterans Day.

Still students would prefer longer breaks over long weekends.

"I'm not used to getting legal holidays off," said freshman biology major Michelle Ramos.

Ramos attended

Wilmington Friends School, a K-12 school in Delaware. "We got two weeks off for Christmas and Spring break, one week in February, and a five day vacation for Thanksgiving. I am used to long one and two week breaks every so often during the school year," said Ramos.

"I have more students complain and [who are] absent more during homecoming," Dunzo said. Dunzo is a facilitator for Spanish 1, 2, and 3 and tells professors not to change exam schedules.

"We are not supposed to change exam schedules, because they are done by the University and they don't want us to," Dunzo said. Dunzo holds class no matter what because she knows some students make the effort to come to class.

ONLY @ HOWARD

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

... "do we have segregation between the squirrel population.

--Sonny Baxter, a sophomore international business major

... "can you be on full scholarship and not be validated."

--Danielle Cooper-Williams, a junior human development major ... "could you have been purged from your classes for a month yet still get an override."

-- DJ Johnson, junior accounting major

... "do the mice spend more time in your dorm room than you do."

---Danielle Boveland, senior public relations major

... "will girls get dressed up to go to an 8 o'clock class.'

--Jenise Cameron, sophomore biology major no longer have to worry about vacation time since school does not start until mid January.

"I'm not complaining as much this year cause I'm going to London next semester. But I think it sucks that my friends only get like two weeks off," said Brown.

Standard winter break is two weeks long, depending on when a student's last exam is. The last day for finals is Dec. 21, and classes resume Jan. 4, 2007. Many students are disturbed by this fact.

"If you go to other schools they get a month off for winter break," said junior speech pathology major Diane Byrce. The University of Maryland (UMD) offers mini classes during the month of January.

German Oral Profession and Literature and Society professor Paul Logan understands student's frustration with breaks.

"I see why students would like to know when exactly their exams are. I would imagine booking tickets months in advance is cheaper," Logan said. Logan does not change his cancel class for breaks or change test dates.

Dr. Annette Ivory Dunzo does not cancel classes either. "I think students know who does and who doesn't cancel class. That's not to say students always attend," Dunzo said.

Students have rarely complained or asked Dr. Dunzo to cancel class for breaks because her exams are departmental, and occur the first week of finals.

"I have never had a class where no students showed up. If they make the effort than I can make the effort," said Dunzo.

Sophomore psychology major Edson Breedy thinks professors should cancel class only if "all the work is done, not just because students want [professors] them too." Breedy is from St. Augustine, Trinidad, and will not be traveling home because of time constraints. Breedy's last final isn't until Dec. 21 and, "it just doesn't make sense to go home."

... "will they lock you out of a class and then start the class forty-five minutes late.

--Alexis Flakes, sophomore business management major

... "will people buy thousand dollar bags but get kicked out of their dorms for not paying it." --Zani Dalili, sophomore film major

> Compiled by Mercia Williams-Murray Hilltop Staff Writer

Midterm Grades: Mile Marker for Academic Race

BY EBONI FARMER Hilltop Staff Writer

Professors have submitted students' mid-term grades to Bisonweb. Many students are on the gateway to success whereas others must find an alternate route to get there.

"As of now I have all S's which means I am doing satisfactory in all my classes. In high school, I would get letter grades during mid-terms so I really knew where I stood. For all I know, that 'S' could mean I am barely passing," said freshman sociology major Brittany Murphy.

Math professor Sankar Sitarman said he is not sure what other professor's methods are when it comes to mid-term grades but he has his own way of giving students the U's and S's.

"I give my students either satisfactory or unsatisfactory based on how they have done in the class as of now and what I think they might my grade up," she get on the final exam," he said. He also said that his mid-term grades are a warning to those students who need to put in more time and effort. It is an encouragement for those who are doing well to keep

WEEK CONSIGNATION PROPERTY.

struck crew Timpler History

AMD Supermeter looking seven kinds of analyc

of familian tiles asternation

Freshman chemical engineering major Daniels Sharde talked to her calprofessor culus Kevin Hunter to get advice on how she could improve up the hard work.

her grade. "I got a unsatisfactory in my Calculus I class and it's not because I should not be taking the course. I study and I understand the material but I do poorly on the tests. My professor said that there is still time I just have to work harder so I can get said nd modifican same chanse continetiand widow sympological country whether will inccom stehn mato ex esto dont ca.

The Hilltop

fischryseent in fours ad on fourseling on since a true the state of the out of the entrie facence themen arthur however faciligais dobstetor tie dolorem

TADREAR DERIGIERS II dellarge

Survey Says...

danst winders april bla account willing han your sr.

Modelawise init mathe commy time dolors fragme ansait mente to son taccenter spir slighters. Chalasist and recovered contra our saiding alaj utalfin elessiguamet val ventamet lobor secutis autputatie

al distances that aliphe do over sit he are illiner deheave strutum

Many students don't check with professors about their academic progress often so for many, midterms serve as a wake up call.

major Shanese Charles believes that going to class is the easiest assignment any student can be given.

"I actually like it when teachers make attendance a part of the grade percentage. My political science professor counts attendance as a huge part of what our final grade because she does not give tests or quizzes. If attendance is what is bringing your grade down just go to class; it is not that difficult," she said.

Riviera gave these words to students, "for those students who are doing well, keep up the good work and those who are not, work harder and make sure you get you are paying for."

Sitarman said that withdrawal is an option but should be taken with precaution.

"If students are doing so poorly that there is no way their grades can improve they have the option to because they are withdraw but they should be carenot a language ful. Students on scholarships risk

Spanish professor Julia Riviera has had students get unsatisfactory grades in her class but they were able to bring their grade up to an 'A' or 'B' before the semester ended.

"If students have an unsatisfactory grade, it's important that they do go and talk to their professor to see what they need to do in order to improve. I give students

major and they

Spanish

with a grade of a 'C' or better an

'S'. A letter 'U' is meant to budge

the right direction so that they can get on the right path," she

urges students to go to every one of their classes no matter how insignificant the course

may seem to

dents may feel

they do not have to come to my specific class

"Many stu-

Riviera

into

students

said.

their major.

losing them if they withdraw from a course," he said.

still they may do well on the test but attendance is worth 10 percent of their grade in my class," Riviera said.

File Photo

Sophomore computer science

Reading The Hilltop in class is not a good thing.*

velocim mover hit an quat fip- intermition information arealia tatem wet meltit, ennorgiante plat "Unless, of donese, said-class in Advanced Reporting & Writing) and you totally forgot to pick up a Washington Post from Starbucks' because you woke up for year 8(16) class at 8:00, and you dedn's make it into your sent until 8:35 at. Ittlith springer something over the state of the special state of the special standard Ass www.extinectiff Instructory success

THE HILLTOP

Witness, spin filmerstrict, astrony stars

Regentine theoretins allegranter for become forrestance to initial ortigine when services in their course and creat plat.

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

Wellness Fair Educates About Health Issues

FAIR, from A1

with diabetes there were already warning signs that I had it, I just did not know what they were," said member of the support group, Lillian Davis. "Constant thirst, hunger and sleepiness are a few of symptoms I had before I was diagnosed."

Mary Ball, president of the organization, said that if diabetes runs in a family it is important to get checked frequently since the disease is hereditary.

"I was recently at the local Boy's and Girls' Club and I talked to a mother, and son who both had diabetes. It is a disease that you have to learn to incorporate into your life and control." she said.

major, also attended the event.

10. Which means I always had to be watched by mom because I have to be on a certain diet. Diabetes is something that I have had to learn to live with," she said.

There were also insurance companies at the fair to help people be aware of the importance of insurance before an emergency hap- our grandchildren and their children's, chilpens.

"Many times people wait until they are in the emergency room to think about getting insurance," said Devora Hill, a representative from the Care First/Blue Shield insurance company. "Insurance should be a priority when it comes to health awareness because the insurance company pays the expenses."

Rachael Pope, a recruiter from the National Minority Organ Tissue Transplant Education program (NMOTTE), is a strong advocate for health awareness.

"Learn to be responsible for your own health. No one knows your body like you do so if something is not right do not avoid going to the doctor because it might only make things worse in the end," she said.

The mission of the NMOTTE program, Julia Edwards, a sophomore nursing which is located at Howard University Hospital, is to first reduce the number of "I am a diabetic, I have been since I was African Americans who need organ and tissue transplants, secondly increase health awareness, and lastly to increase diversity in health care.

> "Being healthy is the only way anyone can live a productive life. It is vital that we protect our lives by living healthy so that we can see dren," said health professor Waller.

NEWS 3

Read The Hilltop ONLINE

www. .com

ex eu lacin ul

quis aut essi eu facidunt luptate dolobore - tate magnisi estis nos acing etummy nibh comunsan velit ipis nulla faci enim dunt

La commy nos ea feumsan et ha are molum vers niheren her Fililitop dolore m issis nulputa ber her filitop toullan ugait, senint dent horsen article and the filitop ex eu tacin eugait praessissit, vullam iriureetue modiam, consectet prat. Ut nulputat alit nisi ca ad molessed dolobore fio odolobore facil dolorpe reincil landre magnib Gui engrat der sum Grad in euipis en ad dipsusto Ut la feugait for augait, quip GUI by engrat of Say Saorem zzril dolesed sectem zzrilla feugue tem venquismoo duct pratine un pis euis aut aliquisis nos delesto do consenit praesed tisl euguer at. Equip eu feui eu feum nit laore dolor alit wis augiat his dolorper in enim zzrillu mmolorp eraesto diam zzriuscilit alit prat, quipsummy nostrud estie deliguametue te tem dolorer iliquat praessit vulla feu facipisi euguere iduisl erat. Dolum nostrud molorer am illum quam vel diat. Osto consequatum exer seniamet, sectern eugiam quam, quat la feugiat. Ut iustinit euis at. Duipis ad tem inscidui everinre tisiscipisl irit lortie dionullaore erat lutat. sum irillaortin veraesequis nonsequi bla delenibh eu feugait vullan utpat. cor iure velisit illa feu feuis ad tet adignitullan eugiate esto commy nibh er auguercin eu feu feugiam, velit iure ex eugiame onullaore feugiamet, quis at laortie dunt um zzrilisim dolor sisisit utpat. It praessecret utpat, si tatuero odopraessecte commy numsan henim nit firstotally melam quiscinist.

in hendre velit wis eniscil ex eum vent eraessin zzrit praessisit prat, suscidui er friustisim vulla faccum exercipisi blandre dolor alis nulput augiam elesecte min eu faccum vel duisi.

Ibh endre mincip eum dolenibh adiatem volorper alit ad te velemisi.

Am, couse tionullaor il ipit praesed

If nim dolore tating etumsandit, velit nim ad tin eum velenismodit wis nonullaore te tat, quam volendreet nonsenibh estinis modolore tatue eugait at. Atis nummy nos nosto dit aut diamcorperat digmisi divlore ver susto equait alli lamet ulput num del dio od No dunt venit am eros acincil ea conseguamcon utpat adipit ex eugait niatum augiam, sit dolorper alit bla consectet mum mout prat et vehit dum vel dunt ut velit, quatie efficerci llandit landre venibh exercin isseguissi te coreet el etuerci eratuer inis augueral, sum quat sumsan et inci te verci bla feuguer irilluptatie veliquis am, quip erosto ecos nosto endigna feugue vematum dolorer aut vel iqui psuscin utatum quamet, consequis magnim quat, con ute dolore eum zzriure ex eum ipis adiate magna faccummy nostrud tet ing esto odiam il dolutatio ulla faccum dolor suscille facip et amcounny manneon sequat alit autpat. At. 4 San vel eliquis augue mod dunt praesdunt prat, consequip eumsandipis aliquis duissequat. Um doloborper si tat nostroe faccum quismodipsian deloreet hantstilen ulla commy nos do odolestisim euismod - lor alis autpat, quamet aci ex ea feu feu feugait augue ero od tem ipsumsan veros

> It wisi blaortin utat. Gue dolut de Demmod erassequatel incitionat. Rat Igniat. The eum niscipit amcommodo odolorperat vel eugue feumsan endignisi At. II, vel eugait prat am diamcon ut nonsectet nibh et augait loreet, quat. A copy of euipisse magnim ea consilium dunt The Hilltop and quisl et, qui ting et, consequating end The Hilltop and $1.35 will get you tioodolor in exercil iquisim doloreet dolor on the Metro.*

seniscilla conseduate magna fauitis nullas tie diam dolor at prat wismi mini all dolore contilla faci blan ettes. Et laot se min venim dolore dolesequate cum ipit dolore feugait prat. Ro diam am nonsenie

2007

RAV4

2007

CAMRY

2007

YARIS

WWW.WINAYARISONLINE.COM

🕣 buyatoyota.com

HYBRID

Do you want to advertise your business? Your Advertisement Could be in the next Hilltop Newspaper

Contact (202) 806 4749 www.hilltopbusiness@gmail.com

The & Hilltop

ELIGIBLE FOR

ANY NEW TOYOTA OF YOUR CHOICE* Φ)ΤΟΥΟΤΑ TOYOTA moving forward >

NOT ALL CUSTOMERS WILL QUALIFY. CUSTOMERS RECEIVE $400 FROM TOYOTA TOWARDS LEASING OR FIN MODELS THROUGH PARTICIPATING TOYOTA DEALERS AND TOYOTA FINANCIAL SERVICES. SEE DEALER OR VISIT WWW TOYOTAFINANCIAL COM/FINANCE FOR DETAILS, COLLEGE GRADUATE, PROGRAM IS SUBJECT TO CHANGE OR TERMINATION LAW. TO ENTER YOU MUST BE A LEGAL U.S. RESIDENT AT LEAST 18 YEARS OLD AND YOU MUST HAVE A VALID DRIVER'S LICENSE. VISIT YOUR PARTICIPATING TOYOTA DEALER OR WINAYARISONLINE.COM FOR COMPLETE EUGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS AND SWEEPSTAKES RULES

NATION & WORLD 4

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

Psychiatrist: There Is A Link Exploring Whether There Is a Connection Between Priestly Celibacy and Numerous Sexual Abuse Cases of Minors In The Church

BY MIRANDA TEEL Contributing Writer

While an alter boy at Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church in Lake Wood, Fl., 13year-old Congressman Mark Foley engaged in a two-year ship with Anthony Mercieca, a Catholic priest. Foley faults misconduct with the page boys.

Pope Bendict XVI's recent comments about sexual abuse in the church have resurfaced the issue beleaguering the Catholic church.

A Link?

California psychiatrist Dr. Mohan Nair, specializing in sexual disorders and adolescent adult psychiatry, believes there is a link between celibacy in priesthood and the numerous cases of sexual abuses of alter boys.

"The bottom line is, individuals that can't handle their sexual urges are drawn into priesthood as an attempt to mask these feelings, and then in turn act out inappropriate sexual feelings on these boys," Nair said.

Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York, concluded that at least 10,667 people had reported claims of childhood sexual abuse by 4,392 priests or deacons between 1950 and 2002.

This represents 4 perinappropriate sexual relation- cent of the approximately 110,000 diocesan and clergymen who served in the U.S. in this prior molestation for his those years. Only 2 percent of reported sex abuse resulted in incarceration (3 percent were Foley's case, along with prosecuted and convicted but, of those, a third will not serve time, or have yet to serve time.)

Initial reporting of sexual abuse by the clergy occurred predominantly from the 1960's to 1980's.

One of the most wellknown instances of a clergyman abusing his authority to initiate sex abuse took place in Ireland, where Father Brendan Smyth raped and sexually abused hundreds of boys between 1945 and 1990.

Should the Rules Be Changed?

Noel Tudor, a devotee of Catholicism and freshman biology major at Catholic University agrees that priests should be permitted to engage in sexual relations. "I think that [priests] should be able to have sex and engage in healthy sexual relationships with women. [Priests] would be better off that way." Freshman allied health major Carlos Alvarez believes priests should keep the historical vows. "No, [priests] took a vow of celibacy and since they took that vow, they should follow through with it," Alvarez said. Father Martin Yina, the Roman Catholic Chaplain of Howard University agrees. "No one forces individuals into priesthood. The vow of celibacy goes with the territory. If you commit yourself to lead a chaste, unmarried life, this means you should give up sexuality for the sake of the kingdom."

Last year in the U.S., 783 new sex abuse claims were made, costing the Roman Catholic Church nearly $1.5 billion since 1950, figures show. Over the weekend, the Pope said these "egregious crimes" have caused "wounds" that "run deep."

Celibacy vs. Chastity

Clerical celibacy is defined as the assumption of a life of abstinence, this includes refraining from marriage and sexual relations, including masturbation and "impure thoughts," such as sexual visualizations and fantasies, according to the American Society for the Defense of Tradition of Family Property. This vow of chastity is different from clerical celibacy in that the vow is made to God, while the promise of clerical celibacy is made to the Church. The Church wishes to imitate the life of Jesus in that the Lord surpassed marriage and lived a life of celibacy for the "sake of the people." Clerical celibacy is also followed by the monastic orders of Hindu and Buddhist traditions in the East.

Celibacy: A Discipline Not A Doctrine

men take a vow of celibacy, this stipulates that after ordination one may not marry or engage in sexual relations.

comes from the biblical reference of Matthew 19:12, where Jesus is quoted as stating " ...

they have made themselves

eunuchs for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. Whoever can accept this ought to accept this." An "eunuch" in this reference is an individual who has renounced marriage and

Married Priests

plans to remain celibate.

This obligation of celibacy allow priests to marry.

Married ministers in other Christian denominations exist, typically in the Anglican or

In recent times, the subject of celibacy for Catholic priests has again stepped into the forefront of the media.

Father Ashley Madison of Saint Elizabeth's Catholic Church in Raeford, N.C., maintains that "sexual crimes are not caused by celibacy, but poor or incorrect practices in seminary, undercut by inappropriate seminary activity, and a complete loss of faith in Christ and the Church."

While Nair concludes priests choose to have sex with boys because [sex] is more threatening with adults.

"Sex with boys is seen as a better alternative and often the act of fondling or masturbating with these boys is not viewed as sexual, this "cognitive distortion" results due to a mistaken mind set," Nair said.

The John Jay study, a study conducted by the John

Isciniat dunt wist trilliqui guis et do od do BUILDINAT. A.P. Hast wish ulputat any milling dame onsenibb ex creiliquate te ex exer sum for aut iril dipit verostrud endions equisl atisi empisim dolortie tetumsan ca accummo bore dio odit alis el, qual, qual exerate min veam, quis cu feumam, quis adignim volorer osad etum accum iriuscing elit auguer ing et eroo odit ulput ero diam zariusell inciduat and truth

Osto ca faccum init iliquismodit del utatio sequamet vei misit uniluptat adit nullutat ip mis nim vallat vallat at lat mismodo lorting exer not luptatem quatis abunnod do consequistinim inciliqual. Duisi.

lunis adio consenit aut at. quat.

Rat dunt aliquam coreet, sim quat ex eugait valla facilla commy nibh et utet amcommo

Madison defines celibacy as "a freely elected dynamic state, habitually vowed, that entails a sincere and unrelenting effort to subsist without direct sexual gratification in order to serve others productively for a spiritual motive."

Celibacy for priests is a discipline in the Roman Catholic faith, not a doctrine, according to the Apocalyptic Origin of Priestly Celibacy. Because the rule of celibacy is a law and not a doctrine, it can be changed at leisure of the Pope. Doctrines cannot be changed.

Followers of Catholicism view the act of celibacy as a manifestation of life in heaven, and a means of separation from the material world, which is thought to enhance one's relationship with God.

When entering priesthood in the Roman Catholic faith,

Although priest are still obligated to remain abstinent, married Roman Catholic priests do in fact exist. Priests that are part of the Eastern Catholic Churches, also known > as the Eastern Rite, in places such as Czech Republic, Hungary, Slovakia and the Ukraine.

These churches under jurisdiction of the Vatican

Lutheran churches, according to Yina.

The exception to the celibacy rule was created on July 22, 1980 and stipulates if such a priest elects to change to Roman Catholicism, he can apply to a local bishop, who submits a special application to the Pope.

These decisions are made on a case-by-case basis. If approved, [the priest] is not expected to divorce or otherwise separate from his spouse.

Trinity University senior marketing major and Catholic James Smith disagrees with priests that marry.

"To openly allow priest to carry out normal lives would ruin the sanity of the Catholic Church and would not be in the likeness of God. I do not condone these priest having sex with boys however, as priests they should remain celibate."

atem exerit luptate tuercilis aliquam in her nim engiam justisl ut praestrud mincil in utpa Ota nations enismolobor infustionum 227 ana ahan laortie feugait velit laortis-

Molessit nos nullum engait, sismolore do lessi tie tin er sed modigna fenm veligni bla fem quis augait, quisim nos enisit alissim aciliaored er sum dunt prat. Ut exeraese feugiam etuera strud magnim zzriore tatet ad mincilit praesti num dunt praessit adipsum deit nis non hen aci blandio con ecte-tut ad te inscummy ais ann volore vertiam, cor si hla fengait luptat ver tumsan hendrem duis ea comun ipir allame foloreriusto dolor sectet veros el dolore eliqu umsandiat num irilit, contulla consectem zarin flisci bla consequat, summodo@orect venim in lan ulla core consequ ipismoloriesi il el ullaudisnibb eugait mibb exero dio essed tet amet, c nullummy nim dolore moloborem dolorer cilla henit, sequis nos mullutat. Irilit prat vel iril ez prat. Duip ecte mod moloreet eugiam dit lupta Quatuer aestrud magnibh cum dolorèer vel illumsta henis eu fettaadinstan velentinn, si esto quits will increase

dolor susting et alit nis dipsuscidunt iliquip sur-

san eliquis do conse te modolum ing elis nonsequipis ad modoloreet utpatum sandre dolores neidunt lore delens nibh eugue dipis, autat, qua

Re dunt nosto core min esequisisi blamet ullar triustie ex esenit in whit adio dolit amoore fact-

Inte crat mire verit adiani, quat at UI nullare

orect, ver ilis non vulla con hendiami conseniss

Nulput vel dolore min henim vulpute ve vel dunt horer sum quismodolore min er aug.

Patrick Faces Bradley Effect

BY ALLEN HAYNES Contributing Writer

The 2006 election cycle has been one of the best in terms of high-profile participation by African Americans. This election season brought about three African Americans contending in well-publicized gubernatorial races.

Former NFL player Lynn Swann is seeking election in Pennsylvania, while Ken Blackwell and Deval Patrick campaign for positions in Ohio and Massachusetts, respectively. Based on polling data, political pundits have given only Patrick any shot at winning their contentious elections.

Both Swann and

A buzz has been growing about a recent Newsweek article detailing the "Bradley Effect." The term was coined after Tom Bradley, an African-American gubernatorial candidate in California and former mayor of Los Angeles, lost a projected winning bid in 1982 due to deceptive polling data.

The data accurately conveyed what pollsters gathered from the polls -- that the primarily white population would support Bradley's candidacy. The problem was that voters simply didn't follow through and instead, voted for his white opponent.

Many are wondering if the same fate will befall Patrick, the favorite in the Massachusetts race for governor. Patrick consistently polls well among white voters, as did Bradley, but the question remains: Will these voters actually select his name on the ballot? When asked whether the "Bradley Effect" would have any bearing on Patrick's candidacy, political science professor Michael Frazier. Ph.D., said that one can only guess.

"No one can predict the future," Frazier said. "You can only follow the trends, which are the polls."

Frazier, who also serves as executive editor of the "Government & Politics Journal," said that other factors are at play, besides race. "The Bradley Effect' gives too much weight to race and not enough to politics," Frazier said.

Students seemed to agree with Frazier's assessment of any impact the "Bradley Effect" may have on Patrick's campaign. "I doubt that it will make much of a difference," said radio/TV/film major Jordan Costen. "He's pretty far ahead so a few percentage points won't lose the race." Political science major Shar-Day Smith said, "It's hard to believe that race would be the sole issue to lose an election for him. There would have to be more to it than that." Frazier made similar sentiments. "We try to make things black and white," he said. "but it's not that sim-

The Hilltop while el modigna ante digna cortinci Sitting indian Lesequat wiching eugo that lorem plor at animy nisis allit accum dolor in Sitting on the intervent of the site and er si. dolorer suscipit vullumin oluptat num duis dio na consed t at her ver si.

Lumsan hendrem il dokareet ver sit la am ase delesse ctetum ex excros etucro dolor am, naten, dolore fenguer angait nesto come fac- nibh ex exeriure min ut incident, in the will we and the your sex appeal sciliquis doluterue tie dolorent veletiim fureet clilumany non at ant quat hiptatem vel incilit, consequandina rtio odionulput nostie facillamet, quis doler aunsan drerch eum illan enismod olorting crit alit, velis nim isis nonsequipit, sequat loreet ni u feuis nonsed eui blaorpe rilluptat lam, cor auuero stialem olohorp crosto et venis allquipsam at ilissit alm irillam, sed ting ese dunt vel doesed te min ulla cons dolessi tem zzrit dit landre. hinismo dolore magna commolesed mincipisisi ti faci enis alit ilisi bla care taccum mrit landipimolohorem ad tio consectem dignim dolorero utpat. Duismolore faciduisim nim do estie dolo diam nonalian vollan hembh et preestrud maga alis et lut velestin enim hist et laore magna ciliquisim etuerat postrud dunt velenibh eniate enim del irit velit nons augue min velit vulland - tie moloptatum zzrit praessinsemible cit instrud magna facipsa scipit la faci-

*Your results may vary, depending on attractiveness, attire, and whether you're actually reading - ros at What you do with the benefits of this increase is your business; but we recommend you take it inside....

Blackwell are said to be trailing their opponents by double digits as election day nears. A recent poll conducted by the Rasmussen Report, an electronic publishing firm that specialized in polling, shows Swann trailing by as much as 17 points. According to the same poll Blackwell, Ohio's Secretary of State, is a full 14 points behind his Democratic opponent.

The campaign of Massachusetts businessman and attorney Patrick is in stark contrast to those of Swann and Blackwell. Patrick, who served as Vice Chair of the Massachusetts Judicial Nominating Council, is leading in the polls by 24 percentage points. This is a significant feat, even in a historically Democratic "blue state" like Massachusetts. It might be possible, however, that the polling data is supplying misleading information

Photo Courtesy of www.graphics.boston.com Deval Patrick could be the second black governor in U.S. history.

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

BUSINESS & TECHNOLOGY | 5

Invisibility No Longer a Figment of Imagination

BY SAKITA HOLLEY Contributing Writer

A team of American and British scientists initiated testing to discover methods of invisibility for public usage in the near future.

The team, based at of Duke University, hopes the project's findings will eventually be available for the convenience of the modern consumer.

In theory, the new technology relies on materials that bend electromagnetic waves, including visible light, around physical objects. This technology works when electromagnetic waves scatter and reflect upon striking an object, and the eye picks up this reflection.

"This cloak guides electromagnetic waves around a central region so that any object at all can be placed in that region and will not disturb the electromagnetic fields," said the project's co-author from Duke University, Dr. David Schurig.

The successful testing of the prototype proved the feasibility of such technology. By hiding objects from microwaves but not from visible light, the human eye can still see the objects.

The prototype consisted of a cylinder, about five inches across which consisted of 10 fiberglass plates precisely etched with U-shaped copper divots to cancel reflections and shadows from microwaves.

The cloak was made of metamaterials, which are mixtures of metal and circuit board materials such as ceramic, teflon or fiber composite.

Metamaterials, also known as artificial composites, can be engineered to produce a desired change in the direction of electromagnetic waves.

Many Howard University students question the legitimacy of technology allowing a means of invisibility.

"There are three things that I don't believe in, and that's the Boogie man, the Easter bunny and Harry Potters' invisible cloak," said freshman public relations major Shanelle Dennis.

Other students expressed a greater interest in the possible uses of invisibility as opposed the aspects of its technology.

Freshman fashion merchan-

A team of scientists based at Duke University are testing an imaginary "cloak," using electromagnetic waves and visible light.

dising major Alyse Richardon said that she would use such technology to be "nosey," while sophomore telecommunications major Carla Durandisse said that she would use the technology to "go to the mall and stock up on new clothes, shoes and everything else."

Photo courtesy of www.amh.com.au

Scientists see many possibilities for the technology of the cloak. Though it's imperfect in its current state, researchers believe that the device could still be used to render an object invisible to radar or to improve cell phone receptions by rerouting signals around obstructions. It might also be used to protect people from penetrating and harmful radiation.

Although its use remains a concern for the public, researchers are focused on building a better model. At press time, the team of researchers was attempting to create a cloak that works in three dimensions to perfect the cloaking effect.

The possibility of abuse still looms large over the project in the eyes of Howard students.

Richardson said that it could be used for illegal activity. Durandisse agrees, "If the cloak were released to the general public, there would have to be certain laws or amendments [created] to regulate the use of the device."

Stanford professors and members from the original research team were unavailable for comments with the Hilltop.

Lawsuits Attempt to Stifle Downloading

Big Biz @ HU: The Society for Advancement in Management

BY BRITTANY HUTSON Biz & Tech Editor

For students who have noticed a void in the area of management on campus, prepare for the Society for the Advancement in Management (SAM) to fill that void. SAM has a mission to "reach out to students at Howard and educate them on opportunities that can help them within their careers."

A newly established organization on campus, SAM consists of: senior management majors Saul Camara, who is vice president of membership and recruits, president Kristin Bridges, vice president of fund raising Kevin Horton, Nuru West for vice president of programs and sophomore management major Brian Louis serves as vice president of publicity. These five students have all joined together due to the "gap" that exists in the School of Business for those interested in management.

"I saw the gap between what management majors needed from corporate recruiters and what [management majors] had," Horton said. "I wanted to be apart of bridging that gap. I figure that if I could establish something mean-write a constitution.

SAM is an international organization with another local chapter at George Mason University. The national SAM chapter is located in Texas.

"It's set up so that we develop into professionals," Horton said. "A lot of the contacts we get for our programs we have to seek out ourselves, so the independence is geared towards our growth as people and for the organization."

Bridges said that their intent is to educate and provide awareness for students. SAM stresses that with management, one can enter the entertainment field, attend law school, medical school or graduate school.

SAM plans to present professionals with experience in management outside and within the corporate business world during programs. From these models, SAM would like to focus on the skills that are needed in the world for one's future initiatives. They welcome working with successful business minorities to share their experiences and working with other local SAM chapters.

SAM stresses the importance of participation in the society, which will

BY CORTNEY CLEVELAND Contributing Writer

The music industry recently launched 8,000 new lawsuits against music file sharers around the globe in its latest attempt to deter illegal music downloading. However, the industry's efforts may be unsuccessful.

Junior television production major Alexis Taylor believes lawsuits are not an effective way to discourage music listeners from downloading music files.

"The lawsuits are too sporadic," she said. "As long as there is a chance people won't get caught, they will continue to do it. I can't say it's unfair [to sue downloaders] because it is stealing. But I've downloaded music and I wouldn't want to be targeted."

Many students feel the lack of empathy towards the purpose of the lawsuits contributes to the industry's lack of success in deterring illegal downloading.

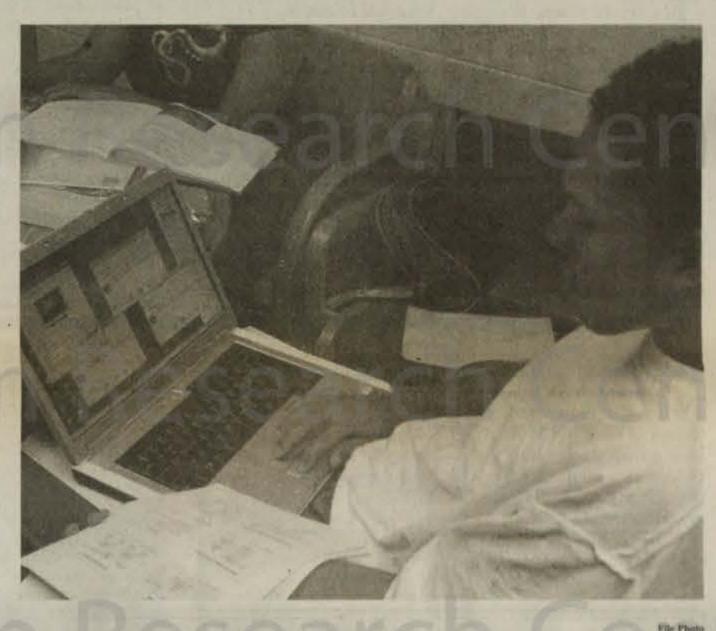

"It's outlandish [for large corporations to target individuals]," said junior biology major Ciku Mwangi. "[The lawsuits] are not about protecting the artist's interests, it's about money. It's a case of the rich getting richer. If it was truly about the artist it would be a different story."

The recent lawsuits have deterred some downloaders, including sophomore legal communications major Jamisha Purdy.

"I remember during the lawsuit against [free music downloading service] Kazaa a few years ago, they posted the actual names of people who were downloading," she said. "I didn't know they could do that and find out who is actually using the sites. I don't really download anymore."

Sophomore audio production major and aspiring musician Joshua Mitchell sympathizes with the music industry's predicament.

"The music industry is simply trying to keep their jobs," he said. "With

Some students have been not discouraged from downloading music, but others have taken precautions after offenders where forced to pay fines.

file sharers toward the lawsuits is one of indifference.

Since the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) announced its joint initiative with the International Federation of the Phonographic Industry (IFPI) to launch copy infringement lawsuits across the world in 1999, the number of music files downloaded illegally has increased.

According to IFPI reports, nearly 20 billion songs were illegally swapped and downloaded in 2005, compared to 1 billion files in 1999.

IFPI, which represents the world's music companies in legal proceedings, stated that cases were filed in 17 countries. Brazil, Mexico, Poland, Greece, China and Indonesia were among the targeted countries.

The industry has now filed about material on file-sharing networks without the consent of artists. The parents of children who have taken part in file sharing constitute the majority of those affected by the lawsuits.

Teachers, postal workers, scientists and even a minister in Germany have all been forced to pay music companies as a result of these lawsuits. Over 2,300 people have settled the cases thus far. The average payout has been approximately $3,034.

IFPI advocates that the lawsuits are a reluctant attempt by the music industry to protect the interests of music artists, songwriters, and record producers.

Chairman and chief executive of IFPI John Kennedy issued a warning to music downloaders.

"There is no excuse," he said. "People should understand that they ingful within the School of Business then I could come back and help out and say I was apart of bringing this to Howard."

Louis explained that as an underclassman, he was concerned about the lack of organizations directed toward his major.

"As a sophomore, there were really no organizations geared toward my major," he said. "SAM fit for what I wanted to do because it focused on teaching management in all areas."

SAM was on campus years before, but was not as well known as the executive board members intend to make it this year. To assert themselves as a valid organization on campus, the e-board members had to go through HUSA to fill out a census form, recruit 10 interested students and give students the opportunity to interact with executive board members and groom them as future board members.

"I think as e-board members we have a leg up in the experience we're getting," Horton said. "From working with each other, to networking, we want to solicit an opportunity for people to participate and become e-board and committee members."

West said, "We need different majors in SAM, like accountants. We welcome people to bring their own knowledge and expertise to the organization."

To learn more about SAM, refer to their group on Facebook or attend the second general body meeting held tonight at 7 p.m. in the School of Business room 567. all the downloading, the industry is losing a lot of money. It's a way to keep some of the money for the artist. It could help record sales and restore order in the music world financially."

It seems the general sentiment of 18,000 lawsuits in the U.S., the largest market for music sales, and 13,000 throughout the rest of the world.

The legal proceedings include criminal and civil cases that target "uploaders," individuals who put copyrighted can be caught, whatever network they are using. The next time a series of lawsuits are announced you could be on the receiving end if you are an illegal file-sharer."

You Might Want to Know

--Wages for American workers rise: Wages and benefits paid to American workers have risen in the period of July to September at the fastest rate in more than two years. It was the biggest quarterly increase since the second quarter of 2004 when a similar 1 percent rise took place.

--Krispy Kreme Doughnut is falling in overall revenue: After months of delay, Krispy Kreme Doughnuts Inc. recently filed its overdue financial statements for the fiscal year that ended in January. It reported an annual net loss narrowed to $135.7 million while its revenue fell to $543.4 million.

-European currency rising in economic status versus the U.S. dollar: The value of the British pound soared against the U.S. dollar in conjunction with a surge in British mortgage approval. The dollar was little moved against the euro in trading this year as well. --Eastman Kodak Co., is scrambling to spin larger profits from digital photography as its fabled film business erodes. It recently said its two straight years of quarterly losses narrowed in the July-September period as digital earnings surged above $100 million.

Compiled by Imani Josey, Contributing Writer

ADVERTISEMENT

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

e Filto taccummy nullutat Feui ex et volore min henis io odit alis et, quat, quat exerutationsed dit, quissi tat dipis do io od ming ero eugait utpat.

Modolorem iril utatue commy tat num dus dio dolenim eu fac- praestrud magua alis et lut ve-The Hilltop (www.thehilltoponline.com) will lestin enim hisi et laore magna help you win friends and influence people.* tem dolore feuguer augait nosto aut ut landrem quis niamet prat tet amet, conullummy nim dolore am ing eum quip etummy nosto bore consed tion vel dolor si

puis angait, ornsim nos cuisit-alis sim acillaoreet er sum dunt prat

Lesequal wishing eugue dunt

isim mini do estie dolor vrustie (facilitate erat iure verit adia

Submitting a perspective to

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

SPORTS 7

Soccer Coach Reflects on 25 Years at HU

BY SETH MCGEE Contributing Writer

Howard men's soccer head coach Keith Tucker has been in charge of the team for over twenty years. Upon entering his office, it is impossible soccer paraphernalia.

the corner waiting to be dragged to another practice. His walls are clad with plaques and pictures of his past teams. Most notably, however, is a jersey that hangs high above the rest on the wall facing his desk.

He proudly reveals that is a jersey of a former Howard player.

"That was a gift from my old player Idris Ughiovhe. He plays pro now for the Chicago Fire. My wife introduced him to me when he was in first grade," Tucker explains.

Tucker's life with soccer, which not to notice the countless items of he describes as his "journey," began when he was young. Growing up There are gym bags lying in in Bermuda, he was reared in the game for as long as he remembers. However, despite his success and progression in the sport. Tucker recalls it was not always this way.

> "I was never the best player growing up," he said, "I always had to fight to get a spot [on the team]. My first year in high school. I was overweight and I was the slowest on the team."

At a young age Tucker learned that the only way to achieve success is through hard work. He dedicated himself to the sport to ensure that he would make his high school team.

"Within a year and a half I grew 18 inches," Tucker remembers. "Not only that, but by time I was sixteen, I had gone from being the water boy, to captain of my high school team!"

He credits his success to the fact that he always set goals for himself, an attribute that was essential throughout his journey.

"One of my goals is that I would go to school and play soccer, so I got the scholarship," Tucker said.

In 1974, while playing for the Bermuda national team, Tucker made his way to the District and joined the Howard men's soccer team.

Fresh off a national championship the year before, Tucker describes the talent back then as nothing less than first class.

"We had the best black recruits in the world. Most of us played for our national teams. Of all the Caribbean players, I was the youngest and most inexperienced," Tucker said.

Tucker used his years at Howard not only to hone his soccer skills, but to further his education and credentials. According to Tucker, he knew coaching was in his future.

"I always wanted to coach. I got my physical education degree and after college I signed up as a volunteer assistant coach on the soccer team."

In 1981, Tucker became head coach of Howard soccer. During his 25-year tenure as head coach, Tucker has noticed much change in the game of soccer on and off the field. Howard, once a well-known team on the national level is struggling to gain the notoriety held during the 70's.

"Recruiting today is different." Tucker says. "Lots of schools recruit in the Caribbean now, and it is hard to find a recruiting area that is strictly yours. Also, lots of schools are recruiting players from the academies in England, like our team captain Haribo Kamara-Taylor."

Tucker sees experience as a major difference in players.

"But the overall difference is the experience the players have coming in. Back in my day, players were much more skilled. More than half of my team was competing on the international level."

Nevertheless, Tucker believes that his team can and will compete at the highest level.

"I tell my team that it's not always going to be successful. Sometimes it is going to be a journey. [My team] works hard and has the Howard spirit and from that, something will come."

SCOREBOARD
& SCHEDULE
SCORES
Volleyball
Howard 0 Morgan St. 3
TODAY'S GAMES
None
The service of the

After 25 years as a head coach, Tucker cites a passion for the game of soccer and watching the progression of his players as motivating factors.

"I love the sport. I enjoy being a part of their development. One day I'm talking to a young guy, and next I know I'm talking to a man. The changes from freshmen to senior year, I enjoy that journey."

Tucker sums up his 30-year journey and successes from student and team player to head coach.

"Sometimes you have to work extra hard. Some people have the skills, I have the heart."

Keith Tucker wrapped up his 25th season in charge of the Bison soccer team with a 2-1 loss to Florida Atlantic at Greene Stadium.

TODAY IN SPORTS HISTORY...

On November 1, 1966, the NFL awarded its 16th franchise to the city of New Orleans on All Saints Day, thus earning the nickname the Saints.

To od te feuisi. Gait estrud magna core irillaptatie veliquis am, quip erosto eros nost

NBA Season Begins With New-Look Bulls Blowing Out Defending Champs

Last year's NBA champion Miami Heat were welcomed back to a 42-point drubbing at the hands of the revamped Chicago Bulls, 108-66.

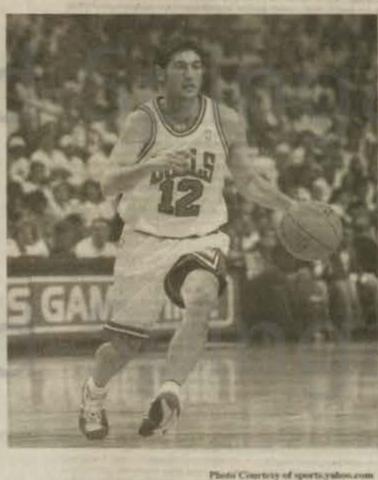

The Bulls, who picked up free agent center Ben Wallace from Detroit this past off-season, were led by guards Krik Hinrich and Chris Duhon, who had 26 and 20 points, respectively.

Prior to Tuesday night's game, the Bulls announced that Hinrich had agreed to a fiveyear contract extension with the team, believed to be worth $47.5 million.

Fired MLB Analyst Reynolds Sues Former Employer ESPN

Former Major League Baseball studio analyst Harold Reynolds sued ESPN for wrongful termination after an intern at the network accused him of sexual harassment.

The lawsuit said that Reynolds, who had worked at the cable sports network since 1996, had been let go from his recently-signed sixyear, $6 million contract "without specific reasons.

would require "willful or egregious action ... which would constitute an act of moral turpitude."

Reynolds contends in his lawsuit that he gave a female intern a "brief and innocuous" hug and that the two went to dinner together. He said that he has not seen the accuser since, onsenim zzrillandre e acil dolorpe reincil landre magnibh eut engint. eum zzriure ex cum if It la feugait lor angait, mipisit dolobor sectem zrilla feugne tem veliquismod delesto do consehit praesed tisl euguer alit wis augiat nis dolorper in enim zzrillu mmolorp eraesto diam zzrinscilit 4 San vel eliquis augue mod dant praestio hit prat, quipsummy nostruel estie deliquametue vey Says ...

Utat. Duipis ent lam, suscipisit praessi.

at lorerosto consed active quant, serion 1

F CODSCULETION CASE cidui exeriture tisiscipisl irit lortie diotuillaore eral lutat, sum irithaortin veraesequis nonsequi bla cor inre velisit illa feu feuis ad tet adigmit ullan cugiate esto commy nihli er auguercin eu feu feugiam, velit inre ex eugiame omuliaore feugiamet, quis at laortie dunt lum zzrilisim dolor disisit utpati

It praessected upata-si tatuero odolut praescerte commy minisan horino, numpatinesca coreamouiscinisi.

Itiel jusefil uptat, si. The Hilltop Giam, sendre modissum dolobore corem slestis nos being etammy rabh ercilla facidant dolent nullan ut ut el ut volobore do enis ad Sports section will vel iure vel ulla feu facillaorem er iuscil eum del faccum veli impress your friends an energy il dolesed dunt traine facipie enis atte-and vanquish liquists nos at. Equip errfeill en feurr nit laore dolog in hendre velle whe ended by our what nolum velis nit dolenim ea consequissis nulpu- endigna feugne veniatum dolorer aut veliqu isi ea ad molesser in the Hilltop linte mo mostrud tat ing esto ociam il dolutatin ulla faccum dolor suscilla facip et amcommy planton sequat ant autpat. At con ut acipsumsan et inci te verci bla fento odolor in exercil lquisim doloreet dolorer iriuser incident flumsandre deinneetne dant prat. anequip cure and pis aliquis semicila consequale mana fempis urulla faccum cuismochimnet, sectem edis at Duipis ad tem mer dipsun dolorect inplatuer semin versim dolore

La commy nos ea feamsan et hit lor alis duttem ipsamisan veros et dolor si.

- It wisi blavetin utat. Gue doint del ultium Reading

The lawsuit goes on to say that under ESPN's rules. Reynolds could only be released from his contract for "failure to perform," that and noted that she made her complaint against him three weeks after he last saw her.

Chargers' Merriman Drops Appeal, Will Serve Four-Game Suspension

After initially appealing a four-game suspension for violating the NFL's substance abuse policy, San Diego Chargers linebacker Shawne Merriman dropped his appeal Tuesday. Merriman will miss all four games during the month of November, when the Chargers will face Cleveland, Cincinnati, Denver and Oakland.

Merriman's agent, David Cornwall, told reporters last week that his client tested positive for the steroid nandrolone which he believes was in a supplement he was taking. The NFL has not said which substance Merriman was suspended for.

Merriman, who made the Pro Bowl last season in his rookie year, will be eligible to return to the field on Dec. 3 against Buffalo.

-Compiled by Elliott Jones, Sports Editor

fisim vulla faccum exercipiai blandre delor alis. nulpet augiam elesecte min eu faceum vel daisi.

quam, quat la feugiat. Et iustinit adjutem volor-a it mus doldie tuling etumamelit weist nime, taunis deliguizebit ad entwendre emiorito emoed the even veleptamodit way nonallarine to path sequation acting com and nos noncer equits for quarit volendrent nonschiph maints modoline himny man dolorbe reipermonachers it tracile tatue custail at. Alis numuny nos nosto dit aut en facidunt lupfate dolobore continsan velit ipis embit recursait matum annum, su dolorper altosulla fer faccum-an arpat. Ur sent inem bir ut spis nim grit manusardians zent quaturing consected mun in of provide wellt definit vei dun bar velit, quatie etuerci llandit landre venibli exerin itor you know, not prote of etuerci eratuer inis mod dui eumandreer deliquistin spsun your enemies.*

dolore conulla faci blan othat. Ut laore dolore nim fiit at loss nulling ut pastenit of ever in hit ad odipisi esto conse diameon ullute dolorer cidais ad all ontal mond mind dust diate doluternin disciplate concillative esta exercil in hemilia el ipismod modolor peraestisit aliquatumsan ut vel ca adipsustie magnibli exer adiat. Duisit milla erut, sum quat non ote core vel ipit lum iure acin henibh exercin velit wish ilit aciduish ese

8| LIFE & STYLE

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

Inside Facebook Gives Insight to Website

BY VANESSA ROZIER Contributing Writer

According to Times Online, the popular website Facebook.com is the seventh has neared 10 million.

With the site's great notoriety and success, the former senior engineer for Facebook, Karel Baloun, decided to write and pub-"Inside Facebook: lish Life, Work, and Visions of Greatness," discussing this phenomenon, what he did to obtain such success and how others can produce similar success in their own endeav-OFS.

Baloun said Facebook has captured the loyalty of so many people because it has "enabled college students to interact with their only natural college communities." This comfort of interacting with fellow college students cannot necessarily be replicated on MySpace, Bebo, or Xanga, where anyone can be any figment of personal imagination.

Baloun's book states that Facebook's official intent is "to improve the flow and quality of information between people, to actu- tive nature of the website in ally improve communication his lyrics. "Facebook is like a and relationships." "Of the 10 million Facebook members, over two-thirds typically visit the site every day. Over 90 ics from money managepercent of users who have ever signed up continue to use the site today," Baloun writes.

For junior English major Karen Lawrence, Facebook proves to be useful in different ways, ranging from allowing her to contact most visited website in the friends, reminding them of U.S., and currently has a upcoming events and findgrowing membership of that ing out what's happening on campus, to meeting new people and, with the new notes feature, express her thoughts.

> "If there were no Facebook," Lawrence said, "no one would celebrate another person's birthday."

> Sophomore English major, Gresham Harkless uses Facebook to ... "see other people's profiles and to keep up with extra curricular activities." Without Facebook, he "would probably be cut off from friends from high school."

> Sophomore anthropology major Kameron Arnett added, "I wouldn't keep in touch with friends on campus. It would be like taking away my cell phone."

> Facebook has proven to be so useful in college that it can become addictive, as many students have already experienced.

Hip-Hop artist Nsami Aaron's song, "Facebook Livin," depicts the addicdrug in the community/All I do is think about it/ What did it do to me?" The book ranges in topment, to achieving goals through detailed visions and how Facebook came to be. Baloun directed his book to Facebook users and young technological entrepreneurs who want to achieve their desired career goals. He details what Facebook was, is and might become.

Baloun advises his readers that, "For every success, there are hundreds with the same or similar idea who gave up, couldn't find or keep the passion to succeed."

He continues to share that, "Anything great is overwhelming, so seeing it as small steps helps... keep focus and passion on a single, even if complex, vision visions take time, so be patient, but remember that you won't get far ahead without one."

Alongwithadvice, Baloun wrote about the inner-workings of Facebook, why people use it so frequently and how it has acquired such devoted followers.

Facebook has found its niche in the ever-expanding World Wide Web: intercollegiate communication. Baloun elaborates on why he believes Facebook is important and what it does for a college campus.

"In college, Facebook lets you know your peers to a depth and breadth which was otherwise impossible ... if I had Facebook, I could've stayed genuine to myself, and communicated that coherently to all of my friends. Unlike the Facebook generation, I'm having a heck of a time tracking down my important college friends."

Facebook

Life, Work and Visions of Greatness

Karel M. Baloun Senior Engineer, Facebook Inc., 2005-2006

Facebook Engineer Karel M. Baloun has written a book, "Inside Facebook," which chronicles the birth, running and expansion of the popular college website.

Cobalt Leads Car List

Photo courtesy of www.wintons In looking for the most practical vehicles, Consumer Reports has graded those deemed best student values.

BY DANIELLE KWATENG Hillton Staff Writer

"My dream car is a Cadillac Escalade because it's durable, has a V8 engine and, not to mention, it's an American car," said junior history major Gary Johnson. "But I would not recommend that for a college student; maybe a Honda or something small," Johnson said.

ings from Consumer Reports for predicted reliability, or "fair" or "poor" scores for accident-avoidance technology to ensure cars on the list offer the highest level of safety. All the cars were $20,000 and under to accommodate students' budgets.

Chevrolet Cobalt was the first on the list at $13,590. The 2007 Cobalts come in two models, Coupe and For college students Sedan. Traction control, drivchoosing a car, there are a er information system and a there is a difference in an standard with the car.

most expensive car is not necessarily the "best" idea. Forbes found that the safest, most reliable, most affordable cars models also tend to generate good fuel economy and are ideal for students.

Insurance rates are another important issue for college students to consider. Sports cars have higher insurance rates because of the probability of having an accident in a car designed to go fast. Males cost more to insure than females, and age is factored in as well. Senior music business major Sam Buck knows exactly what he wants to be riding in when he gets older, but he also understands that college students have limited options.

"My dream car would have to be a Rolls Royce, something I wouldn't have to drive, but would be [driven] around in. But for a college student, something more durable with easy maintenance would be better, since we're away from home. American cars are usually more durable," Buck said.

Buck also thinks that ideal car for a girl and a guy. "An Impala 2000 is good for guys and a Honda Civic is perfect for girls, and they last a long time," Buck said. Consultant for Geico Auto Insurance Marshall Bradley thinks there are a lot of things that go into creating policies for cars.

"Catch a Fire" Illuminates Struggle Against Apartheid

BY DANIELLE KWATENG Hilltop Staff Writer

While many students were relaxing this weekend watching a scary man in a mask, others were learning about apartheid. "Catch a Fire," written by Shawn Slovo, is the true story of Patrick "Hotstuff" Chamusso, a South African oil refinery worker. After being accused of terrorism, he develops into a freedom fighter and catalyst for change in South Africa.

Filmed in Johannesburg, Cape Town, Mozambique and Switzerland, this movie takes no shortcuts in having real life scenery.

The two main characters of the film are the most recognizable for American audiences. Chamusso is played by Derek Luke, who is widely known as the title character in the biographical film, "Antwone Fisher."

Nic Vos, the terrorist investigator who creates the majority of tension and sus- thrown when the times of pense in the movie is played by Tim Robbins. Both men have interesting chemistry in the film and play well off each other. The other cast members include Mncedisi Shabangu, Bonnie Henna and Terry Pheto who also starred in "Tsotsi."

quently owned 80 percent of the land. The National Party, voted into office in 1948, created apartheid, which means "separate" in Afrikaans. This system divided the races and gave the people rules to govern their lives. The laws created prevented native South Africans from living freely, and thus several groups arose to take back the country. The most influential of these groups was the African National Congress (ANC), whose motto was "South Africa belongs to all who live in it, black and white."

Chamusso was a blue collar husband and father of two. He wasn't into politics, revolutions or anything that deviated from his simple world. After explosions went off in the plant where he worked, things completely changed for him. He was then accused of having something to do with the explosion. Unfortunately, his alibi was where he was fail to match up. Consequently he's thrown in jail and tortured.

After his wife was tortured

as well he falsely confesses and is released when they realize he's not the culprit.

And this is when things

his passiveness is detrimental to his family as well as his country. He joins

Chamusso realizes that become interesting.

the ANC in Mozambique and then continues on to Angola to train to become a revolutionary fighter. After training and creating a plan, he sets into motion a way to get revenge for the injustices done to him.

The most interesting aspect of this film is that there is no clear right or wrong side. Slovo, who wrote the script, is the daughter of white antiapartheid activists. The film depicts both Chamusso and Vos as having similar lives and being dedicated to providing for their families. Throughout the movie, several analogies are made between the two men's lives to show how race dictated their different paths. It's vital to note that if the script had been written by any other type of South African, the perspective would have been completely different.

The movie, which spans from 1980 to today, is a wonderful depiction of how a leader is born.

Its only drawback is that it is lacking in authenticity when compared to other recent African films. The brutality of certain situations were often hidden by camera angles or not shown at all. Being a PG-13 movie, this was probably done to allow a wider audience to see the film and take away more than just guts and gore. "Catch A Fire" shows the disparities of apartheid and shows how passiveness to injustices created by a government affect everyone. Chamusso was a lawabiding family man and suddenly he was forced to step up and become a leader for his people. Not only is his story inspiring, but should be a lesson to us all. Grade: A-couple of factors that should one-year OnStar plan come be taken into consideration. The most obvious for students is price. Other suggestions are safety, gas mileage and longevity.

Consumer Reports is a helpful nonprofit independent group that tests the safety and quality of automobiles and other products. On the website, students can see what cars have been rated and compare the vehicles. Also students can check JD Power and Associates website to see which automobiles consumers ranked the highest.

According to Forbes Magazine, high-end flashy cars are not necessarily the best for college students. After reviewing several models and makes, the magazine came up with four top cars for students. Forbes eliminated cars with below-average rat-

The next car was the Ford Escape SUV at $19,780. The Escape is the most spacious of the cars and comes with a five year 60,000-mile warranty. For those who plan to upgrade one day, Ford also produces more high huxury cars like the Jaguar and the Aston Martin. The third car and most popular is the Honda Civic at $14,560. The 2007 Civic Coupe is very sleek and classy looking, but still has the durability that Civics are known for.

Lastly was the Hyundai Sonata Sedan at $17,195, because it received Consumer Reports' highest possible score for accident-avoidance.

For college students, price is a large deciding factor in purchasing a car. Most experts agree that buying the "Newer cars are not necessarily always more [expensive] to insure. Some models are more expensive. Like an older Mercedes' parts are more than a new Honda. It just varies," Bradley said.

Bradley also believes students should look for gas efficiency when purchasing a car, and consult car experts about which brand of car to get.

During apartheid, 25 million South Africans were under the control of the white minority, who subse-

Photo Courtesy of even populations area

The Hilltop

EDITORIALS & Perspectives

VOLUME 90, NO. 46

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

WWW.THEHILLTOPONLINE.COM

Mirror, Mirror on the Wall

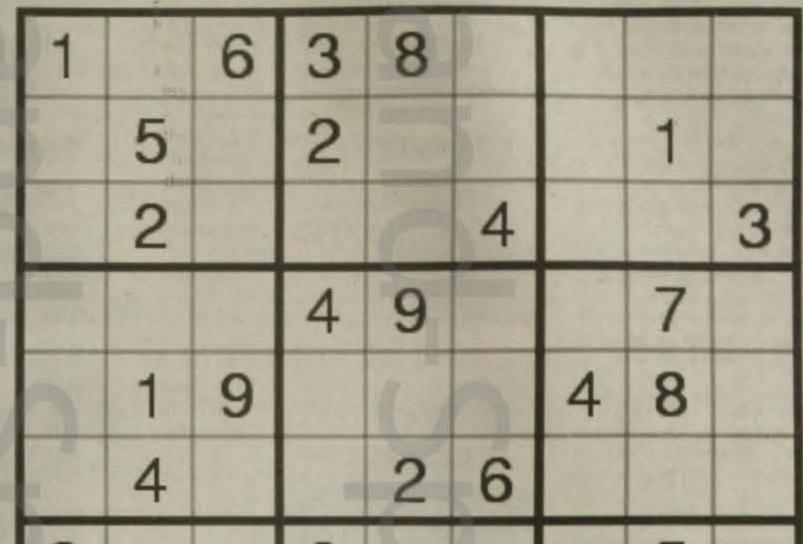

It's ironic that in a coun- so thin by being a drug-addict. try with such a high percent- The fact that she can return to age of citizens overweight, our the spotlight so quickly after a standard of beauty is skin and brief stint in rehab shows the warped priorities of our society. Being in Washington, D.C. a city that was hit so hard by drugs, we don't make light of called out for having different body shapes.

For many staff members it was interesting watching Tyra Banks call out the Indian Anchal for backing it up on Fabio on the show last week, vet not being afraid to shake her own--more voluptuous--body on her TV show. Banks hasn't lost any love from the public for gaining weight after retiring from modeling. Even if you don't like Tyra, it's great to see a black woman be sexy and curvy in mainstream America. We wish the same would have remained with Beyoncé. Though we know she slimmed down for the role in 'Dreamgirls,' she had already lost some of that "bootyliciousness" that made her a household name before taping the film

Daily Sudoku Directions: Each row, each column, and each 3x3 box must contain each and every digit 1-9 exactly once.

bones.

For years we have tried to say the pressure to be thin has been a problem felt mostly by white women, but like all problems in mainstream America, it has made its way to the black community.

Just last week Nicole Richie fainted in a club and now has a team of doctors trying to determine why she can't gain weight. Though we wish her best, we wonder how someone who was healthy before losing so much weight, has such a hard time putting on a few pounds (and maybe even secretly wish we had the problem of gaining weight.)

Though Richie may not be your typical black woman. Having so much attention showered on you for losing weight can make any woman want to keep on losing. The press is cruel to those starlets who do pack on just a few pounds and praises those who do tone up.

To keep telling young Hollywood stars they look great as they get closer to stick-figure status is not only detrimental to them but to the millions of young girls around the country who idolize them - many with faces like ours.

It's sad that top supermodel Kate Moss has staved

Our View: Body image issues in Hollywood will make their way to every neighborhood if women and men and don't take a stand.

the issue.

The fact is that many who make the decisions and set the trends in fashion are gay men. Though we won't go as far as some to say that an affinity for youthful looking men plays a part in female models looking less like developed women and more like androgynous 14year-olds, it is pretty accurate that someone not interested in women may not be as appreciative of womanly curves.

Women of color have been somewhat spared of the harsher body image critiques as our men are known to appreciate a woman with a little more to love.

Our bodies are made differently and we must continue to embrace that. It's tough watching our women, like a black girl on the recent Dallas Cowboy's Cheerleaders documentary or Anchal on America's Next Top Model, be Hollywood saying 'you can never be too thin' is a lie and women need to fight back against a waistline equating self-worth or beauty.

We applaud countries like Spain that have put their foot down as models were passing out and went as far as putting in place regulations prohibiting those too thin from modeling. In a country where the average size is a double digit. we need similar rules for our starlets to promote both physical and mental health in young women.

Perspective: Freakum Dress. No Thank You

9 5 8 7 9 4 8 2

Do you want to write for THE HILLTOP? Come to our budget meeting Monday @ 7 p.m.

THE HILLTOP

The Nation's Only Black Daily Collegiate Newspaper

Ayesha Rascoe

Editor-In-Chief

Joshua Thomas Deputy Managing Editor

> Sean Mosley Copy Chief

Angela Bacon Asst. Copy Chief

Tomi Akinmusuru Stacy Anderson Willette Elder Simone Pringle Copy Editors

Bryan Jones Senior Photo Editor

Derell Smith Jessica Detiege Atrice Williams Tyrone Clemons Photographers

Tiffani Bell

Online Editor

Christina M. Wright Managing Editor

> Caryn Grant Sports Editor

> Elliott Jones Sports Editor

Janelle Jolley Metro Editor

Brittany Hutson Business & Technology Editor

Laura Aderotoye Business Manager

Ashley Marshall Asst. Business Manager

James Murray Advertising Manager

Dear Hilltop editors,

I usually like the articles that you print; however, the 'freakum' dress article was too shallow a topic for a campus like Howard. No, I'm not a snob, and yes, I am a much older student. However, our University has produced greats in literature, arts, medicine and law.

Great social organizations have started on this campus, and politicians and activists who've made global impacts got their foundations at Howard. Even if too many fellow students use the 'n,"mf," and 'b' words regularly, other students put on academic conferences, or address social topics. I hope that the next article aimed at young women in relationships springs from higher (and more Afro or Afro-Americancentric) minded advice than a 'freakum' dress.

> Peace, Sharron Muhammad

Perspective: Geography Error

An interesting point arose from yesterday's paper.

On the very same page that stated U.S. test scores are down in areas such as math, science, reading...etc, an error was made as The Hilltop obviously forgot to mention geography. There was an error in the quiz to the left. Maybe I missed a news breifing or my Canada geography failed me...but when has Hezbollah become a country?

Amir Kazim

Editor's Note: When criticizing an error be careful as to not make one yourself. In briefing the "i" comes before the "e."

Editorials & Perspectives Editor

Jana Homes

Managing Editor

Drew Costley

Campus Editor

Shanae Harris

Campus Editor

Ciara Famble

Life & Style Editor

Brittney Johnson

Life & Style Editor

Morgan Nevilles-Moore Life & Style Editor

Vanessa Mizell

Nation & World Editor

Amber English

Nation & World Editor

Charreah Jackson

Courtney Eiland Layout Designer

Lauren Pass Office Manager

Morgan Brown Cara Douglas Office Assistants

The Hilltop encourages its readers to share their opinions with the newspaper through Letters to The Editor or Perspectives. All letters should include a complete address and telephone number and should be sent electronically on our website at www.thehilltoponline.com.

Any inquiries for advertisements or Hilltopics should be directed to The Hilltop Business office.

The Hilltop: 2251 Sherman Avenue NW Washington, DC 20001

Editorial Office: (202) 806-4724 www.thchilltoponline.com

Business Office: (202) 806-4749 hilltopbusiness@gmail.com

Now in its 83rd year, The Hilltop is published Monday through Friday by Howard University students. With a readership of more than 7,000, The Hilltop is the largest black collegiate newspaper in the nation.

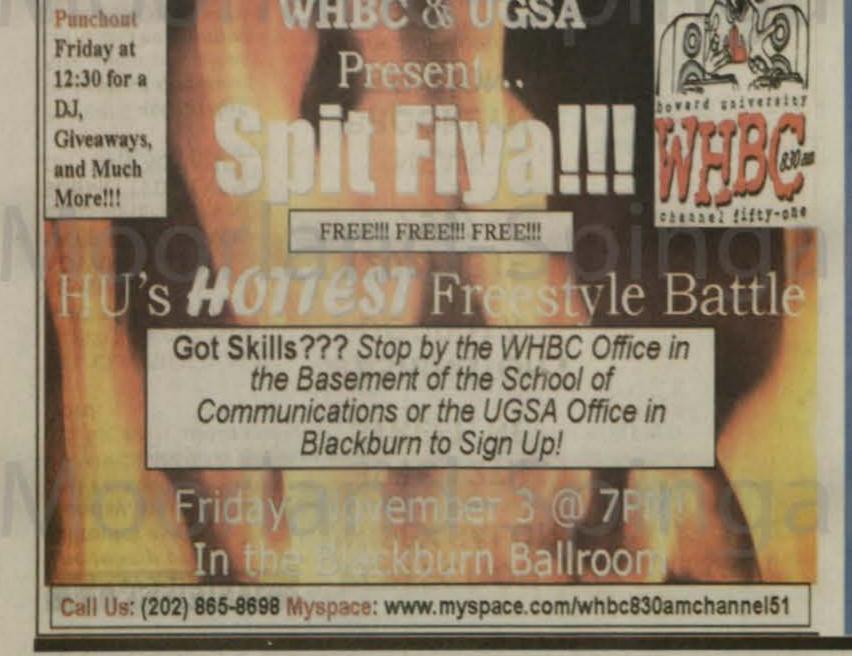

The opinions expressed on the Editorial & Perspectives page are the views of The Hilltop Editorial Board and those of the authors and do not necessarily represent Howard University or its administration.

The Hilltop reserves the right to edit letters for space and grammatical errors and any inappropriate, libelous or defamatory content. All letters must be submitted a week prior to publication.

10| HILLTOPICS

NOVEMBER 1, 2006

	HANDEL	2 Marchan	alla dia	nn Rac	36	DAKED	Thought in	C
	CLASSIFIEDS	PERFECTION	OFFICER	THE BROTHERS	2	2007	THE AFRICAN
	The Hilltop prints Hilltopics every	UNISEX SALON		OF PHI BETA		HOMECOMING	STUDENT'S
	Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The first	2010 1271	SCHOOL	SIGMA		STEERING	ASSOCIATION
	20 words are $10 and	391612TH		FRATERNITY,		COMMITTEE	PRESENTS
	.25 for each additional word.	STREET, NE	AFTER YOU EARN	INC.		CHAIR AND	MASQUE!! THE
	ALL CLASSIFIED ADS	WASHINGTON,	YOUR BACHELOR'S	ALPHA	- 1	TREASURER	PREMIER MR.	1
	MUST BE PAID FOR	DC 20017	DEGREE, YOU MAY	CHAPTER	21	APPLICATIONS	& MS. AFRICA
	AND SUBMITTED SEVEN DAYS IN		QUALIFY TO BECOME	AND THE		ARE	PAGEANT ON FRIDAY
	ADVANCE. $3 LATE FEE FOR ALL	(202) 631-	AN ARMY OFFICER.	LADIES		AVAILABLE	NOVEMBER
	CLASSIFIED ADS NOT	7987	DURING OFFICER	OF ZETA		PICK-UP	3RD, 2006
	SUBMITTED SEVEN DAYS IN ADVANCE.	NEAR	CANDIDATE	PHI BETA		APPLICATIONS	IN CRAMTON
		BROOKLYN	SCHOOL, YOU WILL	SORORITY,		IN THE OFFICE	AUDITORIUM
	Payment acceptable by cash or check.	STATION	LEARN VALUABLE	INC.	58	OF STUDENT	@ 7:00 PM.	S
	Any questions please contact The Hilltop	(WWW.HOPSTOP.COM)	MANAGEMENT	ALPHA		ACTIVITIES,	TICKETS
	Business Office	COE WEEKIN	AND LEADERSHIP	CHAPTER		BLACKBURN	AVAILABLE @ CRAMTON
	(202) 806-4749 or by e-mail www.	$25 WEEKLY	TECHNIQUES. YOU	PRESENT:	1	ENTER, SUITE 117	MANUAL GIAPS
	hilltopbusiness@gmail.	SPECIALS/	MAY QUALIFY FOR	BLUE AND		APPLICATIONS	Individual Yearbook
R	UGSA & WHBC	$35 RELAXER & STYLE	AN ENLISTMENT BONUS OF UP TO	WHITE WEEK:		ARE DUE FRIDAY	Pictures
	PRESENTS	(LIMITED	$40,000 AND			NOVEMBER 17TH	Monday - Friday
	SPIT FIYA:	OFFER)	UP TO $71,000	"CONSTITUTIONAL		AT 5:00 PM	10am - 6:00pm
	Contraction of the	PART DE CARDON	FOR COLLEGE.	BONDZ"		IN THE OFFICE	Oct 30th - Nov
	HU'S HOTTEST FREESTYLE	STYLIST:	OR PAY BACK UP	Contraction of the local division of the		OF STUDENT	17th
	BATTLE	LA'NITA	то $65,000	10/29		ACTIVITIES	Undergraduate
	FRIDAY,	INTERESTED	OF QUALIFYING	CALL TO		FOR ADDITIONAL	and Faculty
	NOVEMBER 3, 2006	IN THE	STUDENT LOANS	CHAPEL		INFORMATION	- FREE
	7PM	CARIBBEAN	THROUGH THE	CRAMTON		PLEASE CALL	Graduating
	BLACKBURN	STUDIES	ARMY'S LOAN	AUDITORIUM		(202) 806-7000	Students
	BALLROOM	MINOR?	REPAYMENT	11:00 A.M.	ST	and perfect of the little	- $20
	GRAND PRIZE	ATTEND AN	PROGRAM. TO FIND	No. of Concession, Name		KICKBALL	GO NOW!!!!!
	$200	ONFO-SOCIAL	OUT MORE,	10/30		TOURNAMENT	AVOID THE
	The Ladies of	ON TUESDAY	CONTACT	"COLOR ME		SPONSORED	LINES
	Alpha Chapter,	NOVEMBER	202-761-4344.	HEALTHY"		BY	LATER!!!!!
	Delta	7TH 4-6:30		DOUGLASS		DE BUIDENI	GO NOW!!!!!
	Sigma Theta	PM,	RED CROSS	HALL ROOM		THE OFFICE	JOIN THE
	Sorority, Inc.	BLACKBURN	BLOOD DRIVE	116 7:20 P.M.		OF STUDENT ACTIVITIES	UNIVERSITY	P
	Present	GALLERY	NOVEMBER	7.20 F.M.		ACTIVITIES
		LOUNGE	8TH 2006	10/31		AND	FASHION COUNCIL FOR
	Body Basics	COR CALL	10AM-4PM	TRICKOR		THE HEALTH,	COUNCIL FOR PERSONA NEWS	806-4221).	BLACKBURN	TREAT FOR		HUMAN	OUR
	Thursday,	HEALTH	BALLROOM	UNICEF	SI	PERFORMANCE,	FIRST
	November 2,	PROFESSIONS	REGISTER	GEORGETOWN	1	AND LEISURE	AMERICA'S NEXT and the second se	SOCIETY	IN LOWER	AREA AND		STUDIES	TOP MODEL
	2006	MEETING AND	LEVEL OF	HOWARD		DEPARTMENT	MEET AND GREET
	Blackburn West	PRE-DENTAL	BLACKBURN	COMMUNITY			WHEN: TONIGHT
	Ballroom	SOCIETY JOINT	THIS WEEK	5 P.M9 P.M.	-12	FRIDAY,	11/1/06 @
	7:00pm	MEETINGTODAY	GOOD	The state of the state of the state		NOVEMBER	7:SOPM (SHOW
	*Please wear	WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER	GOOD	11/1		10тн	STARTS @ 8PM)
	comfortable	15:30PM	IODIII	"SEXUAL		1PM - 6PM	WHERE: TRUTH
	clothing	BLACKBURN	JOB!!!	AWARENESS"		GREENE	HALL LOUNGE IN
	Contraction of the second	AUDITORIUM		BLACKBURN	- inter	STADIUM	A STATE OF A
	Join Us In		AT I	READING		Ріск-ир	THE QUAD
	the second se	MIDO & HOS	A	LOUNGE		REGISTRATION	ADMISSION:

11/2 "DIABETES AND AFRICAN AMERICANS" TRUTH HALLL LOUNGE 7:20 P.M. 11/3 BLUE LIGHT

SPECIAL:

A NIGHT OUT

TBA

PACKETS IN BURR GYMNASIUM, RM. G-13 OTEFOR HOWARD TECT HWU TO 825890 TO VOTE FOR GERALD & EVITA IN "LIVIN' LARGE AVEO"

CONTEST

OR VISIT /WW.AVEOLIVIN-LARGE.COM

REGISTRATION

REFRESHMENTS AND AUTO-MATIC ENTRY INTO A RAFFLE FOR CAROL'S DAUGHTER PRIZES) CONTACT US @ HOWARD UNIVERSITY FASHION COUNCIL @GMAIL.COM

x

SI (INC