

10-1-1986

Poems

Editorial Staff

Follow this and additional works at: <http://dh.howard.edu/newdirections>

Recommended Citation

Staff, Editorial (1986) "Poems," New Directions: Vol. 13: Iss. 4, Article 6.

Available at: <http://dh.howard.edu/newdirections/vol13/iss4/6>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in New Directions by an authorized administrator of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact lopez.matthews@howard.edu.

The Making of Staff Poems

shrapnel like
characters
imploding (mostly in slow motion) after the initial creative
explosions

to construct rather than destruct a characterized whole

pre-word maneuvers (butterfly fittings) of
c-h-a-r-a-c-t-e-r-s
and charac-t-e-r-s
to concretize a
thought

character hook ups
which bang together as coupling trains
or the raw gooy glued beginnings
cellular connectors
water drop touching water drop SMMmaaack a passionate kiss no less

wordless shadings or shade combinations of no known word or language

the before word
initially it might be scalinkacooks
to sca
to sclas
into scale
the finished word
fused with easy-going permanency
but it could have been another more electric word right up front
a crowd pleaser
take the verb hate

Robert Bowie
College Park, Md.

conjure up an image

conjure up
an image
of life
without purpose
trees without leaves
gardens without flowers
no sounds
to be heard
in the rustle
of pine needles
the beat
of bird's wing
or
the howls
of roving wolves
in silent concert
to a dead shell
who recognizes
no seasons
even when the sky speaks
and
the air whispers
of autumn colors
and
winter snow.

Janet R. Griffin
Howard University

Ongoing Fragrances Halt The Whispers of My Mind

Yesterday the dreams of a youth Today the sorrow of yesterday Tomorrow rainbows high in the sky Leading to the future

Why wait for tomorrow
Let's do it today
Why decry yesterday
When we still have today — and tomorrow

Dreams tumble silently
Along the tracks of time
And reflect elegantly
Within our mind
The reality seldom matches

But we are the author of our lives We create the mind machine which dictates our vibes
Spring forth the dawn of your new day Melding yesterday today and tomorrow as one

LarSi Claiborne
Washington, D.C.

NEW DIRECTIONS

Department of Publications
Howard University
Washington, D. C. 20008