2 TWO MORE AWARDS

New Directions has won two more national awards in competitions sponsored by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education.

The first award is a Silver Medal, given in recognition for excellence in magazine publishing program. The second is a Bronze Medal, given for excellence in periodical writing.

Howard University was the host institution for the university magazines contest, which was coordinated by the editor of New Directions. The writing contest was held at Colgate University.

More than 100 university magazines were submitted to Howard for judging. John A. Limpert, editor of the Washingtonian magazine, served as the jury chairperson. The judges were: Robert J. Armbruster, award-winning former editor of university magazines; Raymond H. Boone, lecturer in journalism at the university's School of Communications and former member of the Pulitzer jury; Leigh Jackson, assistant editor of American Visions magazine; Jill Nelson, writer for The Washington Post magazine.

Besides New Directions, top awards in magazine publishing were won by Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Pennsylvania, Boston, Brown, Duke and Notre Dame Universities, among others. A total of ten gold, eight silver and five bronze medals were awarded to the winners by the Howard jury. □
