Panel Confirms 'My Black is Beautiful' Strategy

By NATALIE THOMPSON Staff Writer

Procter & Gamble issued a disappointing Thursday in one of the most anticipated moments in the history of black advertising. The company, which is the world's largest consumer product manufacturer, issued its quarterly earnings report on Friday, January 3, 2008.

The report showed a significant decline in sales, particularly in the beauty and personal care categories. The company attributed the decline to a decrease in consumer spending due to the slowing economy. Procter & Gamble's share price fell more than 5 percent following the release of the report.

Despite the strong showing in the second quarter, the company's third quarter earnings were below expectations, leading to a decrease in stock price.

Forum Explores Political Views on 'Both Sides'

By EDDIE PARNER Contributing Writer

"Don't play the blame game," said Angela McGowan, president of the group "Colorblind," during a panel discussion on black politics.

The panel, entitled "Both Sides of the Story," was convened to address the complex issue of black politics in America.

Professor of Political Science at Howard University, Dr. John Forrest, moderated the panel, which included Dr. Karen Georgia, political scientist at the University of California, and Dr. John Jones, a political analyst.

"We cannot afford to play the blame game," said Dr. Georgia. "We need to work together to find solutions to the problems we face as a society."

Sgt. Russell Mills was doing his job. During his six-year term, he has worked side-by-side with other officers to ensure the safety of the community. His dedication and hard work have earned him recognition from the Police Department.

"He is a true leader and has a great deal of respect from his peers," said Captain Tom Peters, Chief of Police. "He always goes above and beyond his duties." Mills is the recipient of the Police Officer of the Year Award.

"Mills has consistently demonstrated his commitment to our community," said Chief of Police Tom Peters. "He is a true leader and a role model for younger officers." Mills is the recipient of the Police Officer of the Year Award.

Mills is known for his leadership and dedication to the community. He is always willing to go above and beyond his duties to ensure the safety of everyone.

Howard University Presi­dential Women's Salon, the women who are invited to the event are provided with the opportunity of meeting with the president of the university. These expectations are relatively high because many students at Howard worry about the expectations and concerns about meeting with the president.

According to Blackwell, the students are more satisfied with black women than white men and 15 percent are in the 2000-2010 school year.

Movie Driven: How What Students Are Cooking Up

Senior biology major Nor Reid Phillips talks about the entertainment and college culture rating of the cuisine in瞒teri by exhausted or indexed on the website.

"I'm not a fan of fast food," she said.

"But there's no need to eat unhealthy and quick food."

Phillips has also taken up a role in the culinary arts of her family. Her family is from New­york, so her mother never actually prepared traditional Indian food. Primarily, she concentrated on making curries, stews, and other culinary dishes. Phillips has also adapted this approach into her cooking.

With the help of Rachael Ray's cooking show, "30 Minutes," she is able to come up with her own unique recipe.

"It's healthy, it's quick, and I like it," she said.

Pakistan's Vegetable Stew

Ingredients: 2-4 (depending on the size of the serving), chopped vegetables, tomatoes, salt, garlic, onion, pepper, salt, chopped celery, rice, black beans, and olive oil.

Cooking:

1. Heat oil in a pot with this amount of oil.
2. Add onions, garlic, and black beans.
3. Add some water in your pot of vegetables.
4. Add chili powder to taste.
5. Add family beans.

Montel Williams Ends Career as Talk Show Host

Montel Williams announced earlier this month that he will be leaving his talk show, "The Montel Williams Show," after 17 years of airing on thesyab.com. The show will air its final episode on March 15th.

Williams, who has been with the show since 1995, made his name in the talk show industry with his unique blend of humor, seriousness, and passion. He has been known for his ability to connect with his audience and for his dedication to social issues.

Williams' decision to leave the show has been met with mixed reactions, with some fans expressing their disappointment and others celebrating the end of a era.

Williams has been a fixture on daytime television for over two decades, and his departure marks the end of a chapter in the talk show world.

South Carolina Teens Expelled for Being Gay

Two South Carolina teenagers, Dominique Greaves and his unnamed friend, were expelled for kissing in the back of their public school. The school officials said the couple was holding hands at the time of the incident.

Greaves' mother, Michelle Greaves, says that her son was expelled for kissing with his boyfriend. "He is just like any other teenager," she said.

The school district has been criticized for its treatment of the students, with many calling for reform in the school's policies.

Dorm Delights: What Howard Students Are Cooking Up

By BIANHAYA LEWIS

Unfortunately, "Mad Money:" is a show that is not the only show that has been criticized for its treatment of young people. Despite its success, the show has been accused of promoting unhealthy body image standards and unrealistic beauty standards.

"We need to do something about this," said one of the mothers who appeared on "Mad Money." "We need to start making a change."
Commentary: Students Work Around Dorm Limitations for Super Bowl Parties

BY DRAWN DURAND Contributing Writer

They sit around the dorm rooms, mic'd up and speaking loudly, catching each other's attention. In the age of a communication that’s made mostly about who “will own” whom, there’s a new kind of “know” in the air. The sound of the Super Bowl, the game of the year when in a classroom. Pope said. “I have to get used to my team and get it going up a few touchdowns.”

Meanwhile, Pope was at the Miami Dolphins as a free agent. But before the second Sunday, he was on the team’s roster. Not long after, Pope was signed by the Giants and placed on their practice squad. Among the many things Pope has done, he has substituted in the Super Bowl. Last year, Arizona Bestia won a ring with the Indianapolis Colts.

Getting to the Super Bowl was a dream for Pope. He won the year's top playing football in the NFL, but he's been a part of the league for years. Pope was a member of the team when the Giants won the Super Bowl in 2007. Despite his success, he was not on the field for the game. Pope said that while he has tasted victory, he has also been part of the team's success. He realizes that winning the Super Bowl is not just about the team, but about the people who make it happen.

Pope has a perfect reason to celebrate. He has been a part of the team that won the Super Bowl last season. Pope has experienced the excitement of playing in a championship game, and he is determined to make history. The New York Giants and the New England Patriots are set to battle for the title in February.

The New York Giants are looking forward to another Super Bowl appearance. The team has a chance to win its fourth Super Bowl title in six years. The Giants have been a dominant force in the NFL, and they are determined to continue their success.

The Super Bowl is a time for celebrating the best of the best in sports. The game is about more than just winning; it's about the stories behind the players and the teams. Pope is one of those players who has experienced the thrill of playing in a Super Bowl. He is determined to make history and continue his success in the NFL.

The Super Bowl is a time for celebration, and Pope is determined to make the most of his opportunity. He is excited to play in the biggest game of the year and is determined to make the most of his time on the field. Pope is focused on the game, and he is ready to play his part in the story of the Super Bowl.
