The Hilltop 9-11-2008

Hilltop Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010

Recommended Citation
https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010/513

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Hilltop Digital Archive at Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Hilltop: 2000 - 2010 by an authorized administrator of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact lopez.matthews@howard.edu.
Statistics Show Suicide Attempts Remaining Lead Cause of Death for College Students, Young Adults

BY DEREK FARRAR

By Bruce Cameron

When Anthony Jiquchocho was in high school, he applied to the University of Oregon. During his senior year, he was accepted to the University of Oregon, which he thought would be his ticket to a better future. However, when he moved in with his roommate for the first time, he realized that he would have to find a job to afford his education and that he would have to take care of himself as well as his little brother and sister.

"I didn't have a lot of friends, and I was very lonely," Jiquchocho said. "I didn't want to be alone, but I didn't know how to handle the pressure."

Jiquchocho said that when he was a senior in high school, he thought that he had a plan for his future. He was going to save his life by going to the military and he thought that he would be able to take care of himself and his family and that he would be able to provide for them.

However, when he moved in with his roommate, he realized that he didn't have a plan. He didn't know where to go to get help, and he didn't know how to handle the pressure. He thought about quitting school and that he wouldn't be able to go to college. He thought about taking his own life.

"I didn't have a plan," Jiquchocho said. "I didn't have a plan for my future. I didn't know what I was going to do."
Financial Aid Crisis Hits Tennessee State

TIDELIGHTS

Quick funding efforts helped to recruit nearly 800 of 1,313 students who were purged from Tennessee State University due to their inability to meet the requirements of the Tennessee Board of Regents for Enrollment Management.

Also, a local church has raised over $25,000 to help the remaining 80 percent of students who were purged at Tennessee State. The church's donations went to students who still face financial hardships.

The students are from all walks of life, including working and upper-class families. They have lost their financial aid awards and are struggling to make ends meet. The Tennessee Board of Regents has adopted a new policy that requires students to be continuously enrolled and to maintain a certain GPA to receive financial aid.

The board's decision has sparked controversy and criticism from students and educators alike. Many are concerned about the impact on students from low-income families who have lost access to financial aid. The Tennessee Board of Regents has been criticized for its lack of transparency and for not adequately communicating with affected students.

The board's decision has also raised concerns about the impact on the state's economy. Many students are unable to afford higher education and are forced to drop out or seek alternative pathways to success.

The Tennessee Board of Regents has been criticized for its lack of transparency and for not adequately communicating with affected students. The board's decision has also raised concerns about the impact on the state's economy. Many students are unable to afford higher education and are forced to drop out or seek alternative pathways to success.

The Tennessee Board of Regents has been criticized for its lack of transparency and for not adequately communicating with affected students. The board's decision has also raised concerns about the impact on the state's economy. Many students are unable to afford higher education and are forced to drop out or seek alternative pathways to success.

The Tennessee Board of Regents has been criticized for its lack of transparency and for not adequately communicating with affected students. The board's decision has also raised concerns about the impact on the state's economy. Many students are unable to afford higher education and are forced to drop out or seek alternative pathways to success.

The Tennessee Board of Regents has been criticized for its lack of transparency and for not adequately communicating with affected students. The board's decision has also raised concerns about the impact on the state's economy. Many students are unable to afford higher education and are forced to drop out or seek alternative pathways to success.
World Premiere!
In a unique blend of storytelling and music, OBIE Award winner Daniel Beaty, who directed Arena Stage's resuscitation last year with Emergency, brings us six African-American men whose lives collide in one evening in an unforgettable look at identity, redemption, and, above all, our human connections.

resurrection
by OBIE Award winner Daniel Beaty / music by Daniel Bernard Roumain / directed by Oz Scott / a co-production with Hartford Stage
Now through October 5, 2008
In Crystal City

$10 tickets for patrons 30 and under!
TICKETS:
www.arenastage.org or (202) 488-3300
Groups of 10+ call (202) 488-4348 Ext. 404
ARENA STAGE IN CRYSTAL CITY, 1100 S. B St (E St), Arlington, VA 22202

Directed by Oz Scott, who originally directed For Colored Girls... on Broadway, with original compositions by Daniel Bernard Roumain, a Haitian-American composer who has classical roots with a variety of unlikely songscapes. Features mixed music by Elan Vybil Lake DJ Scientific.

CHECK OUT
WWW.THEHILLTOPONLINE.COM
FOR YOUR NEWS
ALL DAY, EVERY DAY
The Biz

Ethical Capital: Don’t Let The Pursuit of Capital Get You Down
BY CHARLES TAYLOR
Contribution Editor

Sloppy accounting, and the financial bad habits of individuals, rather than a mere kink of conscience, have brought us the collapse of WorldCom and a Professor of Ethics in Residence, Martha Stewart, and the Enron scandal. It seems so obvious, and yet, how are we to avoid it? The answer is not simply to require greater accuracy, but to understand the psychological mechanisms that lead to ethical lapses. So, what can we learn from these examples of ethical lapses? Perhaps the most important lesson is that all of us, including ourselves, should be prepared to reflect on the consequences of our actions. The consequences are not always obvious, and we often fail to consider them. But if we want to avoid ethical lapses, we need to consider their potential consequences before we act.

BY TAYLOR SMITH
Contribution Editor

In the early 2000s, the collapse of WorldCom and Enron shocked the business world. The financial accounting and bad habits of individuals, rather than a mere kink of conscience, have brought us the collapse of WorldCom and Enron. It seems so obvious, and yet, how are we to avoid it? The answer is not simply to require greater accuracy, but to understand the psychological mechanisms that lead to ethical lapses. So, what can we learn from these examples of ethical lapses? Perhaps the most important lesson is that all of us, including ourselves, should be prepared to reflect on the consequences of our actions. The consequences are not always obvious, and we often fail to consider them. But if we want to avoid ethical lapses, we need to consider their potential consequences before we act.

Ethical Capital: Don’t Let The Pursuit of Capital Get You Down

Two men have opened during their absence and have been competing with them for the same market. However, in addition to competing with other people, they also have a responsibility to protect the environment. They produce goods and services in a way that is sustainable and does not harm the planet.

The bottom line is: be careful!

Stephanie L. Johnson, Martha Stewart, Enron, and the consequences of their behavior. Everyone is familiar with the stories. We’ve all heard the stories. We’ve all heard the stories of people who have made mistakes and paid the price. One of the most famous stories is the Enron scandal, where employees were forced to resign and were later charged with fraud.

Dwain M. Jamison and a neighborhood friend chat about Redskins football inside of the store during some afternoon downtime (top). His store was the only black-owned business in the D.C. area. It is the first time in 10 years that Jamison has seen anyone go inside the store. It is the first time in 10 years that Jamison has seen anyone go inside the store.

Student Hustle: Sophomore In Intercom

BY MACY FREEMAN
Contribution Editor

The Hillytop

Contribute...!

...or send your story ideas to hilltpb@gmail.com

In her spare time, Mason enjoys writing, singing, and dancing. Other than Mason’s class schedule, she also has a part-time job at a local coffee shop. Her parents support her in her endeavors, and she has a great friend who always gives her advice.

Two stores have opened during his absence and have been competing with him for the same market. However, in addition to competing with other people, he also has a responsibility to protect the environment. He produces goods and services in a way that is sustainable and does not harm the planet.

Dwain M. Jamison and a neighborhood friend chat about Redskins football inside of the store during some afternoon downtime (top). His store was the only black-owned business in the D.C. area. It is the first time in 10 years that Jamison has seen anyone go inside the store. It is the first time in 10 years that Jamison has seen anyone go inside the store.

Black Grocery Endures in Trinidad Area

Dwain M. Jamison and a neighborhood friend chat about Redskins football inside of the store during some afternoon downtime (top). His store was the only black-owned business in the D.C. area. It is the first time in 10 years that Jamison has seen anyone go inside the store. It is the first time in 10 years that Jamison has seen anyone go inside the store.
The wait is over... Experience the classic new album from a soulful veteran eric benét

iPod Listening Party
Friday, Sept. 12, 2008
12-2pm - PunchOut

The Office of Residence Life presents...

GET ON THE BUS
PART 5
VS.
SEPTEMBER 13TH

$35 Buy Your Ticket at the Cramton Auditorium Box Office
September 3rd through September 12th

GET ON THE BUS
TRIP PACKAGE INCLUDES:
- Roundtrip Transportation
- (1) Game Ticket
- Game Favors
- The FAMOUS ResLife Tailgate
  (Deep Fried Fish, Hamburgers, Hotdogs, Fries, Coleslaw and Soft Drinks)

PLEASE NOTE: BUSES WILL LEAVE FROM CRAMTON AUDITORIUM AT 10:00AM AND WILL RETURN IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING THE GAME!!!
The African-American Fatherhood

A local organization targets absentee fathers in the community, strengthens family ties

BY MALISSA MONTGOMERY
Contributing Writer

Statistics have shown that the failure of active African-American fathers has significantly increased over the past 20 years. Media attention has shifted black fathers' responsibilities to the single parent. Though many programs promote the idea of single parenthood, the concept of a "deadbeat" dad is often associated with black fathers.

Dr. James Chesley, a gastroenterologist from Charles County, Md., is a father's decision to leave his marriage. A strained relationship with the mother of his children, their families, and other women in his life lives. Many reasons why some black men choose not to be active in their children's lives. According to a recent U.S. Census Bureau report, 50 percent of African-American children are being raised in a female, single-parent home. The National Partnership of Community Leadership (NPC), a non-profit group, is an organization designed to help community African-American men with the tools needed to be an effective parent. The organization provides free counseling, in addition to the support of other parents. It also assists urban fathers in other facets of their children, who are now in college.

The African-American Fatherhood Initiative has found fathers and helped them to turn their lives around. The African-American Fatherhood Initiative is a District-

The Initiative provides training and visits basketball courts in attempts to visit the child of the child

Statistics have shown that 50 percent of African-American children are being raised in a female, single-parent home. According to the recent U.S. Census Bureau report, 50 percent of African-American children are being raised in a female, single-parent home. The National Partnership of Community Leadership (NPC), a non-profit group, is an organization designed to help community African-American men with the tools needed to be an effective parent. The organization provides free counseling, in addition to the support of other parents. It also assists urban fathers in other facets of their lives.

The Initiative has found fathers and helped them to turn their lives around. The African-American Fatherhood Initiative is a District-Community Leadership (NPC) initiative that helps urban fathers in other facets of their lives.

The Initiative provides training and visits basketball courts in attempts to visit the child of the child.

However, the Initiative has found fathers and helped them to turn their lives around. The African-American Fatherhood Initiative is a District-Community Leadership (NPC) initiative that helps urban fathers in other facets of their lives.

The Initiative provides training and visits basketball courts in attempts to visit the child of the child.

However, the Initiative has found fathers and helped them to turn their lives around. The African-American Fatherhood Initiative is a District-Community Leadership (NPC) initiative that helps urban fathers in other facets of their lives.
Gentrification to Improve City Street Safety, Aesthetic Value

Many readers, especially those who live in Meridian Hill or in the surrounding area, see the advantages of Gentrification, Black Bank & Beyond, Meridian Hill and other streets and museums that are within walking distance.

If you look out of the windows, you will probably see more white people than ever before. This is thanks to the ongoing demographic changes. The area of Washington, D.C. is becoming more and more attractive to people walking their dog or jogging. New condominiums are popping up, making the area safer, cleaner and more enjoyable. Even the Howard neighborhood sell for more than 10 African countries on the map. It is a block down from the area walking their dog or jogging.

Many people are against gentrification, but it is important for the future of the city. Howard's campus is being gentrified as well, making the area safer, cleaner and more enjoyable. The fear of being safe near dorms is appealing and for this reason, the Howard neighborhood sold for more than 10 African countries on the map.

Our View: Gentrification is not all bad, but it is important for the cultural and historic landmarks to remain on and around Howard's campus.

Although some people are against gentrification, the reason why the non-Western students are against it is the fear of being safe near dorms. But in order to make changes, the fear must decrease in our neighborhood. Howard's campus is home to many different students from around the world, and it is important to make the area safer for everyone. The fear of being safe near dorms is appealing and for this reason, the Howard neighborhood sold for more than 10 African countries on the map.

Howard students are required to reach African American Studies classes to reach beyond those students who major in African American Studies. This is important for the future of African American students. Howard should be at the forefront of African American studies. Stronger ties with Africa can help Howard students be educated about African Diaspora class as a requirement.

We all love our city, but in order for the area to be cleaned up and for Gentrification to move out of their homes, these changes must occur. Every student knows that having restaurants, retail stores and entertainment is walking distance is appealing and for this reason, the Howard neighborhood sold for more than 10 African countries on the map.

Perspective

Howard Should Contribute to Zanzibar

I was planning to enter into the business of writing the other day while the article about the book about a month after 1980 was made in Zanzibar, and I thought, "What's Howard's contribution to Zanzibar? What's Howard doing for Africa?" When we are not doing these things, it is like we are not contributing to Africa. This is the reason that Howard students were required to reach African American Studies classes to reach beyond those students who major in African American Studies. This is important for the future of African American students. Howard should be at the forefront of African American studies. Stronger ties with Africa can help Howard students be educated about African Diaspora class as a requirement.

When I read how Howard students are required to reach African American Studies classes to reach beyond those students who major in African American Studies, I was pleased. Howard students were required to reach African American Studies classes to reach beyond those students who major in African American Studies. This is important for the future of African American students. Howard should be at the forefront of African American studies. Stronger ties with Africa can help Howard students be educated about African Diaspora class as a requirement.

We all love our city, but in order for the area to be cleaned up and for Gentrification to move out of their homes, these changes must occur. Every student knows that having restaurants, retail stores and entertainment is walking distance is appealing and for this reason, the Howard neighborhood sold for more than 10 African countries on the map.

CORRECTION: In the Sep. 10, 2008 article "Son of Nation of Islam Founder Passes Away, Leaves Legacy," The Honorable Elijah Muhammad was falsely labeled as the founder of the Nation of Islam. Master Fakir Muhammad, also known as W.D. Fard, was in fact the Nation's founder. Also, Imam W.D. Muhammad was born in 1923, not 1920, as stated in the article. The Honorable Elijah Muhammad was the head of the Nation of Islam from 1934 until his death in 1975, at which time his son, the Honorable Louis Farrakhan, became the leader. For a variety of historical reasons, Farrakhan did not reestablish the organization in 1977, but was incorrectly labeled as Supreme Minister. Farrakhan is the National Representative of the Nation of Islam.
Classic Comedians Hit the Stage at DAR

The Dirt

By LINDY BETTERS

The Hilltop

Life & Style Editor

At the DAR Constitution Hall in Washington, D.C., takes place a new event every year: the National Comedy Festival. This year, the festival celebrated its 30th anniversary. The event brings together some of the greatest comedians in history, all of whom have made significant contributions to the world of comedy.

The festival kicked off with a performance by the legendary comedian, Roger Miller. Miller was known for his humorous and satirical style of comedy, and his performance certainly did not disappoint. He had the audience in stitches with his witty and clever jokes.

Next up was the legendary comedian, Richard Pryor. Pryor’s style of comedy was known for its raw and honest humor, and his performance did not disappoint. He had the audience in stitches with his witty and clever jokes, and his ability to deliver them with such confidence was truly impressive.

The highlight of the festival was definitely the performance by the legendary comedian, John Lithgow. Lithgow is known for his versatile style of comedy, and his performance was no exception. He had the audience in stitches with his witty and clever jokes, and his ability to deliver them with such confidence was truly impressive.

The festival concluded with a performance by the legendary comedian, Robin Williams. Williams was known for his energetic and entertaining style of comedy, and his performance did not disappoint. He had the audience in stitches with his witty and clever jokes, and his ability to deliver them with such confidence was truly impressive.

Overall, the National Comedy Festival was a tremendous success, with some of the greatest comedians in history taking the stage to entertain and amuse the audience. The festival was a celebration of the art of comedy, and it was clear that the audience had a wonderful time.

LIFE & STYLE

Students Breakdown the Art of House Parties

Quick Guide to Safe Partying

1. Don’t go to a party by yourself: travel in large groups of people.
2. Know your surroundings. Just because you have been invited to a party doesn’t mean you have a safe place.
3. Design a map of where you need to go and where you need to stay. This will help you stay safe.
4. Always have a reliable way home. If you took the metro there, know what time the metro stops running. If you rode a car, there should be a ride share app that you can use.
5. Designate someone to drive who is sober.

Close Up

Marsai James is an American actress known for her roles in popular movies and TV shows. She was born on January 25, 2002, in Los Angeles, California. James began her career at a young age, landing her first major role in the movie “Annie” in 2014. She has since gone on to star in several other movies and TV shows, including “Black-ish” and “This Is Us.” James is known for her talent and dedication to her craft, and she continues to be one of the most promising young actresses in Hollywood.

Design

The key to a successful house party is to make sure that everyone is having a good time. This means keeping an eye on the alcohol consumption of everyone, as well as making sure that no one is driving under the influence. It’s also important to make sure that everyone is staying within the limits of the party, and that no one is getting too rowdy.

Decision

The last thing you want is for your guests to feel uncomfortable or unsafe. This means that you need to be mindful of the alcohol consumption of everyone, as well as making sure that no one is driving under the influence. It’s also important to make sure that everyone is staying within the limits of the party, and that no one is getting too rowdy.

Decision

The key to a successful house party is to make sure that everyone is having a good time. This means keeping an eye on the alcohol consumption of everyone, as well as making sure that no one is driving under the influence. It’s also important to make sure that everyone is staying within the limits of the party, and that no one is getting too rowdy.

Design

The key to a successful house party is to make sure that everyone is having a good time. This means keeping an eye on the alcohol consumption of everyone, as well as making sure that no one is driving under the influence. It’s also important to make sure that everyone is staying within the limits of the party, and that no one is getting too rowdy.

Decision

The last thing you want is for your guests to feel uncomfortable or unsafe. This means that you need to be mindful of the alcohol consumption of everyone, as well as making sure that no one is driving under the influence. It’s also important to make sure that everyone is staying within the limits of the party, and that no one is getting too rowdy.

Design

The key to a successful house party is to make sure that everyone is having a good time. This means keeping an eye on the alcohol consumption of everyone, as well as making sure that no one is driving under the influence. It’s also important to make sure that everyone is staying within the limits of the party, and that no one is getting too rowdy.

Decision

The last thing you want is for your guests to feel uncomfortable or unsafe. This means that you need to be mindful of the alcohol consumption of everyone, as well as making sure that no one is driving under the influence. It’s also important to make sure that everyone is staying within the limits of the party, and that no one is getting too rowdy.