11-2-2009

The Hilltop 11-2-2009

Hilltop Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010

Recommended Citation
https://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_0010/666

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Hilltop Digital Archive at Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Hilltop: 2000 - 2010 by an authorized administrator of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact lpez.matthews@howard.edu.
Morehouse Band Students Survive Bus Accident

By AARON RANDLE
Staff Writer
Morehouse Band members, including students and faculty, were among those injured in a bus crash on Thursday night. The crash occurred on the way back from a performance at Grady Memorial Hospital.

The accident occurred on the way back from a performance at Grady Memorial Hospital. Four students and one faculty member were taken to the hospital for treatment.

According to the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, the bus was carrying a group of Morehouse students and faculty to the hospital for a performance. The crash occurred on the way back from the hospital.

Several students who were on the bus, including two from the Morehouse Band, were taken to the hospital. The band members who were injured are expected to make a full recovery.

The Morehouse Band is a well-known part of the university's cultural life, and it has been involved in various community service projects.

Students Taste the Mecca
By TAHRAH HARRISON
Campus Editor
Today, twenty student organizations will celebrate the diversity of the twenty organizations participating in the first annual Taste of the Mecca.

The event will take place on Monday, October 21, from 4:30-6:30 pm in Howard University'sPlayhouse, Room 101.

This is basically like a food court, where different organizations will be highlighting their culture. According to an ASU executive vice president, 10 percent of the money raised will go to a change a winner.

Sponsored by Target, Howard University, and the Millennium Foundation, the event will bring students and parents together to enjoy food, learn about different cultures, and have fun.

People with autism speak out for equal treatment in society

By LOUIE MONTGOMERY
Staff Writer
Autistic people are often treated unfairly, but many are speaking out for change.

The autism community is fighting for policy changes. They want to see more money go toward services and supports for autistic individuals.

For instance, in a recent study, only 4 percent of the federal budget is allocated to services for autistic individuals. This is despite the fact that autism affects 1 in 68 children. The community is calling for more funding to support autistic individuals.

The organization in 2005. The mentors intend to provide students with the necessary training and skills and begin a necessary network for success by conducting service and leadership training. We truly believe it is our responsibility to improve future leaders within the Howard University and other schools that will in turn enhance life for all Howard students and the Diaspora.

Erica is a former HUSA president. Eric said, “Without a program like this, many would not have access to those who have actually done what they want to do, and they might simply find themselves drawn into a position.”

Smart recalls fondly how a plethora of people, including former HUSA President Marcus Black, helped prepare her for leadership. “I realize that the more people have been able to do what I’m doing because someone pulled me aside and said if you’re something in you, I want to help you develop,” Smart said.

The mentorship intended to educate, professionalize, and skills and begin a necessary network for access by conducting service and leadership training. We truly believe it is our responsibility to improve future leaders within the Howard University and other schools that will in turn enhance life for all Howard students and the Diaspora.

Erica was a former HUSA president. Eric said, “Without a program like this, many would not have access to those who have actually done what they want to do, and they might simply find themselves drawn into a position.”

Smart recalls fondly how a plethora of people, including former HUSA President Marcus Black, helped prepare her for leadership. “I realize that the more people have been able to do what I’m doing because someone pulled me aside and said if you’re something in you, I want to help you develop,” Smart said.

The mentorship intended to educate, professionalize, and skills and begin a necessary network for access by conducting service and leadership training. We truly believe it is our responsibility to improve future leaders within the Howard University and other schools that will in turn enhance life for all Howard students and the Diaspora.
The University of Maryland, College Park, is a research university with a history of excellence in education and research. It is one of the premier public universities in the United States, with a rich history of contributions to science, technology, and the arts. The university is committed to providing a high-quality education to its students, regardless of their background or socioeconomic status. Howard University, a historically Black college and university, has provided excellence in education for over 150 years, and is one of the leading institutions for African American students.

Howard University's mission is to provide high-quality education to its students, and to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and understanding of the world. The university's research programs are designed to advance the university's strategic plans, and are focused on addressing important social, economic, and environmental issues.

Constitution

The Constitution of the United States, as defined in the Fifth Amendment, provides that no person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a grand jury indictment, or other lawful accusation. The university's mission is to provide a high-quality education to its students, and to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and understanding of the world. Howard University's research programs are designed to advance the university's strategic plans, and are focused on addressing important social, economic, and environmental issues.
Autistic Plea Less Pity

But Paula Dubin-Westby, organizer of the event and a political science major, said she plans to apply for the Leadership Academy. He said, "It's important to promote strong leadership at Howard, which offers a great atmosphere. The Leadership Academy will open its doors in the fall to accept its first members. It will be named after the founding donor, who wishes to remain anonymous."
The Bison lost another game against Norfolk State this weekend after losing the Homecoming game last weekend.

Ending a College Professional Dreams

BY JUSTIN AMEY

"In high school, I always played football and was a varsity athlete, and it was a lot of fun," said Howard. "The coaches were stars, and they cared a lot about development of youth play. But I also knew that my future was only available for a little while. You have to do this, you have to do that, but it was all great."

The demands of sports team in college and the professional level are even higher than those of high school. The competition gets much tougher, and the most talented athletes are in the world of professional teams.

"I played football in college, but I didn't play in college because I wanted to. I played because it was the only way to get a scholarship," Howard said. "I didn't have a baseball team, so I played football because it was the only way to get a scholarship."

"It's a dream to be in college and play football, but it's a dream come true," Howard said. "I'm happy to be in college and play football, but I didn't play in college because I wanted to."

"I'm happy to be in college and play football, but I didn't play in college because I wanted to," Howard said. "I'm happy to be in college and play football, but I didn't play in college because I wanted to."
Is Community Service a Student Responsibility?

Hundreds of Howard students engage in community service projects each semester, serving the community and helping children in underprivileged areas. But reaching out to the community, however, is not always easy. While some students use community service as an opportunity to learn about and better understand the problems and needs of society, others are more concerned with the benefits of the experience itself. The question of whether or not community service is a student responsibility is a complex one that requires careful consideration.

Our View: Students need to look at community service as their responsibility—not an assignment.

Always aim at complete harmony of thought and word and deed. Always aim at purifying your thoughts and everything will be well.

- Mahatma Ghandi

Sports Trivia Answer:

Nov. 1, 1946
Maple Leaf gardens in Toronto
Hilltops are printed everyday. The first 20 words are $1.00 and $.25 for each additional word. There is a 25% additional charge for small images.

All classifieds must be submitted and paid for by 10 a.m. business day in advance. We accept payment in the form of cashier's checks, money orders, business checks, and major credit cards. NO CASH

Any questions? Contact The Hilltop Office at 202-306-5258. Email your reservations and artwork material to classified@thehilltoponline.com, be sure to specify your run date, background and text colors.

The Ladies of Alpha Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated present:

"I Feel Like Dying: Depression and Suicide in the Black Community"

November 3, 2009
7:00 pm

Founders Ballroom Room

Young, Black, and Uninsured:

A CONVERSATION ABOUT CHILD HEALTH CARE IN BLACK AMERICA.

Featuring Dr. Greg Carr
and Dr. Michael Young

Tuesday
November 3rd
7 PM in the School of Business Auditorium

Sitters Wanted
$12 or more per hour.
Register free for jobs near campus or home.

www.student-sitters.com

Sister Stars
in conjunction with:
Alpha Chapter, Alpha Kappa Sigma, and Alpha Phi Thetas

November 2, 2009

Student Apathy Funeral
Friday, November 6
1:30 PM-3:00 PM
at the Rankin Chapel

Come enjoy food from all over the world with over 20 state and local organizations participating in this luncheon.

The ambitious Members of NSCS present Annual NSCS Week:
November 1st Call to Chapel
November 2nd: Movie Night
November 3rd: Induction Ceremony Meeting
November 4th: Can Food Drive
November 5th: Resume Interview Workshop
November 6th: Toga Party

Come and enjoy a play about the connection between Anne Frank and Emmett Till: "Anne & Emmett" by Janet Langhart Cohen. Dessert reception and discussion following the performance.

Wednesday, November 4, 2009
7 PM
Sixth & I Historic Synagogue
600 1 Street, NW
Washington, DC
Ticket Info: 202-234-683 or www.oudc.org

U.S.A. and HUSA presents:
Taste of America
November 6, 2009
5th on Blackman

The Hilltop

November 6, 2009

University of the District of Columbia
1200 11th Street, NW
Washington, DC 20059

(202) 234-6831

www.oudc.org