Dear Friend:

After your paper having undergone a long and circuitous journey I finally received that interesting bit of correspondence. Mere words would never portray my inexpressible feeling of jubilation when I read your most unique paper. It is quite gratifying to realize that in spite of ones remoteness from a civilized world; there are still some friends who consider you.

Your paper acted as a sort of incentive to my dwindling inspiration which has been greatly affected by my temporary period of stagnation. Do not be misled by the term stagnation, I mean stagnation in so far as my life's work is concerned and those ideals which I strove to attain. Such ideals I realize could only persist in a calm and peaceful world; therefore, it follow that if such ideals are worth working for surely they are worth fighting for also. Strange as it may seem, I have met very few Howardites, however, I did meet Major Hugh Simmons who is in charge of the 268th Station Hospital, he proved to be quite an interesting character.

Give my regards to Dr. Parker, Professor Coleman, Dr. Henry, my corpulent friend, Dean West, Dean Hawkins and Dr. Seiferh. Oh yes, just before I came overseas I met Yvonne Walker who majored in physical education at Howard. She is physical education instructor at Florida A&M College.

Respectfully Yours,

Thomas F. Luck
