Dear Sir:

I would like to take up a small part of your time to tell you how much I enjoyed reading my copy of the Howard University Bulletin. There were many familiar names and faces which reminded me of happy days spent on the campus. You can't imagine how much it helps to relieve the weariness the men over here feel. Incidentally I think Howard will have a fairly large pool to draw from in the event you should need instructors in Italian. Possibly, some of we infantrymen would make better experts on the types of European soil. Well I shall have to close now with best wishes for the future.
