

Dedication

In September of 1939 we entered college with the incompatible forces of pending war ahead of us. We brought with us the fervent desires of youth to acquire an education and to accomplish something. In December of 1941 our nation entered war and many of the enthusiastic and ambitious members of our ranks were taken away to join the defense of the country. These men are with us yet in the realization that we are all contributing to the progress of history, and so to them we sincerely dedicate this book.
