

FACULTY ADVISER

*T*HE publication of an annual should be the ultimate realization of every graduating class of Howard University. It occurs at the climax of a period in life that is experienced only once. Through this medium a summarization is given of the collegiate activities and the cultural appreciations that are indicative of a successful academic career. In such an endeavor opposition is to be expected, there will be groups who will attempt to discourage such efforts, other experiences of a bitter nature will be encountered, but the more obstacles that are overcome the greater the reward. This compendium of pictorial and statistical data is a summons to all graduating classes of Howard University.
