Twenty-two are from the British West Indies, and one from the Republic of Columbia.

The Bermudas, Porto Rico, and Canada are to be mentioned. Out of the whole number, the District of Columbia contributes about one tenth. These facts show the wide range of patronage.

In the list of Graduates of June, 1913, in the College of Arts and Sciences, two were graduated with magna cum laude, and one of these entered from the Academy. There were ten with cum laude and six of these were fitted in the Academy. Of the thirty-three graduates thirteen went through the Academy, and one other took his course therein.

These statements are made in no spirit of boasting, but simply to show the position the Academy occupies as a secondary school.

Later it may be well to speak of those who have passed out directly after their graduation into the various fields of effort and the uniform success that they have achieved.

Mr. Chester A. Carpenter,
1107 You Street,

Dear Sir:—

Your framing of Leon’s picture was very artistically done. Kindly send me an estimate of what the framing of a small diploma would cost. Several young ladies are interested in the answer to this. The diplomas are to be exchanged with those of our special friends among the young men and we wish the frames to be as handsome as possible.

Yours truly,

Ruth E. W.

Sub-Middlers

The Sub-middle Class under the auspices of the English History Club, held a very interesting debate in Library Hall, May eleventh, on the subject, Resolved: that the reign of Queen Victoria was greater than that of Queen Elizabeth. The affirmative side was supported by Messrs. T. A. Brown, O. W. Winters, and Miss Deborah Kennedy. The negative was defended by Messrs. J. E. Matthews, D. D. Mattocks and B. B. McFarland.

The work of both teams showed careful preparation and a complete mastery of the subject. The affirmative, however, had a slight advantage and was successful in capturing the debate as well as both prizes. The first prize of $5.00 offered by Mrs. Gibson, in honor of her deceased nephew, was won by Mr. O. W.
The Academy Herald

Winters, and the second prize of $2.50 offered by Miss Sarah N. Merriwether, was awarded to Miss Deborah Kennedy.

Sufficient credit cannot be given to Miss Merriwether for the success that is attending her work in the Academy. The splendid performance of her students on Monday indicated that the college debating team will be supplied by well trained students from the Academy.

The Phyllis Wheatley

The Phyllis Wheatley society was organized in 1910 at the suggestion of Miss Hardwick, our Preceptress. She saw that the young ladies of the Academy and the Commercial College needed training in appreciation of good literature and in public speaking. This training they could get most easily through the activities of a literary society.

Graduating Class

Let each make unto each, with solemn lip,
Make unto each, now at this final hour,
One mutual vow: let it be that the tie
Made by these four long binding years
Shall never end with this material ending.
