The Sidney Hollander Foundation records were given to the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center in 1971 by Sidney Hollander, Jr., a co-founder of the foundation. The records span 3 linear feet and cover the years 1941 to 1964.

The foundation was established in December, 1941, as a sixtieth birthday gift from the children of Sidney Hollander, Sr., a Baltimore humanitarian whose name it honors. Funds were donated, however, no use was made of the funds until after World War II when it was agreed to present an annual award for an outstanding contribution toward the achievement of equal rights and opportunities for Negroes in Maryland. Each year a jury of interested Marylanders selected the recipients for the award, and at its discretion, one or more honorable mentions.
The trustees took no part in the selection, beyond interpreting the criteria established for the award, an exception, however, is indicated for the 1962 award. The honoree received a certificate and a monetary award.

After twelve years it was clear that the nominations solicited from prominent persons throughout the city, documented the civil rights history of Baltimore. The Foundation's records were therefore turned over to Baltimore Sun editorial writer, Edgar Jones, who wrote a history of desegregation in Baltimore, entitled "Toward Equality; Baltimore's Progress Report." This publication and the original manuscript along with annual supplements, are a part of the collection.

Correspondence under this series will reveal the impact of this publication on local state and national levels.

The Sidney Hollander Foundation records are arranged by yearly awards. The bulk of the records includes nominations for recipients of each annual award, correspondence, minutes of meetings, speeches of recipients, reports, invitations, programs, press releases and clippings. There are also phonograph and tape recordings of some of the annual presentation ceremonies and a scrapbook.

In 1964 it was decided that the award was anachronistic, since the objective and purpose of the foundation had been superseded by the civil rights movement. It was discontinued in that year.

Throughout the collection are clippings and articles on Sidney Hollander, Sr. and his civic as well as business contributions to Baltimore. The resolutions from the city of Baltimore and the state of Maryland indicate the impact Hollander had on racial progress. Also of special note is a brief vita listing the organization of which Sidney Hollander, Sr. was a leader or member.
